

October 25, 1888.

The man who answers all political arguments with a proposition to bet, usually has more money than brains, and frequently has very little of either.

The senate has passed a bill allowing any person who has relinquished a homestead entry before the expiration of the requisite six months to make another entry not exceeding a quarter section.

Bets have been quite lively on the election during the week. One $500 bet has been taken on the general result, one $50, and a check for $500 by a republican is now waiting to be covered.—Mountaineer.

Wiggins, the weather prophet, predicts that a great cyclone is to pass over the United States shortly. He did not mention the fact, but democrats expect one to strike the republican party on the 6th of next month, and vice versa.

In order to fumigate the mails which leave Jacksonville, Fla., they are emptied loose into a large box which has wire bottom, and brimstone or other disinfectants are burned under the box from eight to twelve hours. All the smoke from the burning matter has to pass through the mails.

Representative Hermann is very mad because of the difference or rather negligence of the administration in carrying out the law for the establishment of the new Harney land district. He proposes to find out who is to blame for the delay, and for this purpose introduced a preamble and resolution, demanding of the president the reason of the delay in the establishment of such office.

At Marshalltown, Iowa, last week, a democratic politician called the old soldiers "a pack of damned paupers" in the presence of an able-bodied veteran, who at once proceeded to threaten the democratic politician handsomely. The veteran had his fine paid, was presented with an elegant testimonial, and was made a member of the department commander's staff, G. A. R., by special order. It isn't altogether safe to monkey with the old fellows yet.

It is an encouraging sign of the times that the snarlers have begun to fight among themselves. Of course they must fight somebody, and seeing that it has grown unsafe to fight the public and the authorities, they wrangle together. Dispatches tell how four of these agitators were thrown through a window of Pythagoras hall in New York by a committee of their brethren, and how the incontinent ejected ran shoeless to their common enemy, the conservators of the peace, for protection. It is to be hoped that the Kilkeny cast fight will proceed among this vile mob until both sides are exterminated on that line.

Now then we stumble on to an antiquated curiosity in the form of an old mossback, who doesn't believe in immigration. We met one this week. He said that people were too thick in Grant county already, and by the time his grand-children were grown, land would be so high that they would have to light out for some new country in order to get a start. In considering the question of immigration these fellows forget, or haven't sense enough to know, that in one sense of the word we are all emigrants, and had it not been for the spirit of immigration we would all be to-day residents of other nations, or possibly would never had existed, and this delightful country of ours that now blossoms like the rose and yields cheerfully to the wants of civilization, would yet remain a wilderness wholly occupied by savages and wild beasts. Take a sensible view of the matter and invite people from other states and communities to settle among us. Some of our most thrifty and prosperous farmers are those who came here only a few years ago, and why not invite others to come? There is thousands of room and plenty to do, and why object. Let the country fill up and every foot of land be yielding something for man's happiness.

"NASAL VOICES, CATARRH AND FALSE TEETH."

A prominent English woman says the American women all have high shrill, nasal voices and false teeth.

But why should so many of our women have false teeth? That is more of a poser to the English. It is quite impossible to account for it except on the theory of deranged stomach action caused by impudence in eating and by want of regular exercise.

Both conditions are unnatural. Catarrh troubles everywhere (prevail) and end in cough and consumption, which are promoted by malnutrition induced by deranged stomach action.

These remedies, plentifully used as the fall and winter seasons advance, together with an occasional use of Warner's Log Cabin rose cream, to strengthen and protect the nasal membrane, give a positive assurance of freedom, both from catarrh and those dreadful and neglected, inevitable consequences, pneumonia, lung troubles and consumption, which so generally and fatally prevail among our people.

Conrad Eli Fisher, of Salem, Henry Co., Iowa, served four years in the late war and contracted a disease called consumption by the doctors. He had frequent hemorrhages. After using Warner's Log Cabin cough and consumption remedy, he says, under date of Jan. 10th, 1888: "I do not bleed at the lungs any more, my cough does not bother me, and I do not have any more smothering spells."

Warner's Log Cabin rose cream cured his wife of catarrh and she is "sound and well."

Of course we do not like to have our women called nose talkers and false teeth owners, but these conditions can be readily overcome in the manner indicated.

A $500 election general result bet was made at Arlington last week between a republican and democrat.
