

Grant Co. News

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY MORNING

April 18, 1889.

A New York "Christian" warns christian people not to give anything to the Confederate home at Austin, Texas.

Senator Gonzalo Esteva, a Mexican journalist, has written a book bearing the title of "Editorial Prison Life."

A New York paper admiringly exclaims: "Senator mined with a pick and shovel in California!"

According to a denominational paper it cost this government $1,848,000 to support 2,200 Dakota Indians for seven years while they were savages.

Thomas Jefferson, living on the North Fork near the junction of the John Day, in Grant county, sold a band of horses a few days ago to Messrs. Grant and Custer, horse buyers from Dakota.

Reveille: Baker City to-day is receiving more gratuitous advertising from the newspapers of Oregon, Idaho and Washington than any other town in the state.

The Duke of Westminster and other lords and ladies in London are taking an active interest in a movement to provide suitable quarters for homeless dogs.

The Nebraska legislature has passed a law making it unlawful for any person to fire off or discharge any firearm on any public road or highway in any county of the state except to destroy some wild or ferocious animal, or an officer in the discharge of his duties.

The following is a list of the names of the Times-Monument true, and Grant county, to be shame, must admit it. But the work of reformation has already commenced, and we trust it will not end with Pat McGinnis.

Grant county presents a record of seven murders committed within the past twelve months. The leniency with which in murders are dealt with in that county is not creditable to the people living within its borders.

So says the Union Republican, which shows that the cause of justice is being championed by our neighboring journals, which are coming to the aid of the News in the statement that lawlessness must be punished if Grant county expects to hold her head up among men.

Some one up in New York state has sent Bismark a barrel of fine mellow pippins. Bismark will not reject the pippins as he did the pork.
