

THE GRANT COUNTY NEWS.

Thursday, Jan. 16.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

See change in Caspary's ad this week.

How are your apples and potatoes, since the freeze?

Don't fail to read the various notices under head of New to-day.

Coffin & McFarland will advance cash on next season's wool clip. See ad.

This will be referred to by future historians as "the hard winter of '89-'90."

La grippe is carrying them off at the rate of 250 every 24 hours in New York City.

Cattle companies are disposing of their stock in eastern Idaho on account of the heavy fall of snow in that locality and the high price of feed.

S. S. Denning of Long Creek will perhaps secure an office at this place and remain until after the March term of court, as he finds business much better than he anticipated.

Cattle are suffering. We understand that Dan Camlin of Silvers valley gathered about a hundred head lately, and not having hay for them the poor beasts began eating each others tails off.

Our neighbor the Heppner Gazette denies that it was quarreling with the Harney Items. Well, it might not have been a regular quarrel on your part, Bro. Gazette, but the Items intimated that the editor of the Gazette was suitable timber to send to the Oregon legislature. We would have become real mad at that fling.

Crook county is having all the winter weather it wants. So far stock are not suffering; but several parties who do not live adjacent to the desert are feeding, and if a few more inches of snow should fall during this month and the weather remain cold, stock of all kinds will suffer accordingly.—News.

Attention is directed to the change in the ad of the Morrow County Land & Trust Co. The News feels no hesitancy in recommending the gentlemen of this firm, as they are men of their word. They also have over $25,000 in real estate and $5,000 in other assets, buy no wool and do not speculate, therefore consignments are made at no risk.

When you wish to discontinue your subscription to a newspaper ask your publisher to send you a statement of your account, on the receipt of which remit the amount due and say "Discontinue my paper from date." There is a right and wrong way of doing everything, and the right way to discontinue a newspaper subscription is as above stated.

Ex-Gov. Geo. L. Woods died in Portland Tuesday last week, after a long and painful illness. His memory will probably not be cherished by many who are acquainted with the incidents connected with the alleged building of The Dalles Military Wagon Road through Eastern Oregon. Outside of these cases his record is about as good as any one's and his chances fair for the land of rest.

Ever the News was circulated last week information was flashed across the desert wastes of snow that M. D. Clifford had been appointed to succeed Judge Ison. Clifford's many friends here hailed the good news with joy, and congratulate him for being appointed among such an army of competitors. Judge Clifford immediately resumed the responsibilities of his new office, and is now holding court at Vale.

The fate of Gardner, Idaho, one of the principal camps in the Coscar d'Alens mining district, which burned the other day should be a warning to other towns similarly situated. The town was without water and the fire had to be fought with snow. Not a drop could be had from the reservoir on the hillside, which was the only source of supply. The severe cold weather of the past few days forced everybody in town into letting the water run in their houses to keep it from freezing. The consequence was that the reservoir was exhausted and all the water drawn off. The one horse cart was therefore useless, and leave men, with ropes and ladders, climbed from building to building and dashed snow on the flames with shovels, and even with bare hands, without checking the flames until about twenty-five mercantile houses and their contents were consumed.

Chas. Bouchner obtained a license from the county clerk last week permitting him to marry Miss "Toney" Stubblefield. Charles and Toney thought for a number of days that they were married, but such proved to not be the fact. Some days ago an old gentleman known as Howard, and also as "Hamlet," persuaded the fond lovers that they could just as well as not get married without going to the trouble and expense of procuring a license, as he had authority "from the president" to marry any couple without a license. He thus worked upon the credulous groom and friends of the would-be bride, and they accordingly permitted him to perform a marriage ceremony at the residence of Senator Hamilton. Of course when it became generally known there was a great stir, but the man with the unlimited "authority from the president" had skipped the country.

COUNTY COURT.

COMMISSIONERS JOURNAL.

License was granted to Jesse C. Glover to sell liquors in South Fork precinct for a period of one year.

In the matter of the proposed county road commencing at a point on the survey of the Pendleton and Canyon City wagon road and terminating at Wm. Carter's, C. H. Lee, Walter Brown and D. G. Browning were appointed viewers, and Geo. Knisely surveyor.

In the matter of the proposed county road from Elk creek to Horse creek, Wm. Richartz, J. Elmer Tucker and J. Gilchrist were appointed viewers, and Geo. Knisely surveyor.

The following proposals were received and opened for keeping the county poor: J. W. Bates $5.00 per week; Clara S. Lockwood $10.00 per week; Ed. O. Stansell $6.00 per week; D. W. Jenkins $5.50 per week. J. W. Bates being the lowest bidder he was awarded the contract for the ensuing year, and required to enter into an undertaking with the county in the sum of twelve hundred dollars, with two or more sureties, viz: Peter Kuhl and J. L. Miller.

A new voting precinct called Austin was established, with boundaries as follows: Commencing at the mouth of Butte creek on the Middle Fork of the John Day river, running south to the summit of the mountain between the John Day river and the Middle Fork, thence in an easterly direction along said summit to the Baker county line, thence in a northerly direction on the line between Grant and Baker counties to the summit of the mountain between the Middle Fork of the John Day and Burnt river, thence in a westerly direction along said summit to a point due north of the place of beginning, thence due south to the place of beginning.

Boundaries of road district No. 17 were changed and made more definite.

Resignation of J. L. Cary, justice of the peace of Shoo Fly precinct was accepted, and Joseph B. Meador was appointed in his stead.

Resignation of C. C. Massiker, justice of the peace for Haystack Precinct was accepted.

M. M. Bradley was declared a county charge, and placed under the care of J. W. Bates.

C. G. Caspary was appointed justice of the peace of Haystack precinct, to fill the unexpired term.

It is further that the rate of ten per cent per annum from this date, and the residue of said judgment bear interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum from date. It is further that the town and the residue of said judgment be sold and proceeds of sale applied on this judgment.

Geo. Shearer vs Henry Drewett. Judgment for plaintiff for want of answer, for $321.99, and for costs and disbursements of this judgment and ordered that attached property be sold and proceeds of sale applied on this judgment.

This country was treated to a tail end of a Dakota mind storm yesterday, when the snow drifted high. It was the forerunner, however, of a chinook.

The net value of all property in the state is $101,586,472, and a six mill tax will raise a revenue of $609,518, which ought to pretty well grease the wheels at Salem.

Sixteen of the more prominent members of the Pendleton bar express satisfaction over the appointment of Morton D. Clifford, judge of the sixth judicial district.

Commissioners court will be occupied the remainder of this week. The reports of road supervisors, appointing new ones and drawing the jury list are no small undertakings.

Much complaint has been made regarding the roads leading out of Baker City to the interior of the state. The best investment that can be made by the merchants and business men of Baker City is by putting their hands into their pockets and pulling out enough coin to improve the condition of the roads.—Oregonian.

MOUNTAIN CREEK MUSINGS.

Mountain Creek, Jan. 12.

The epidemic which has been raging at Mitchell is abating.

Has moderated considerably today, and there are hopes of a chinook.

All is quiet since the holidays. About a foot of snow. The past week has been pretty cold—from twenty above zero in the middle of the day, to thirty below at night.

We heard a few days ago, of the death of Mr. Brown of Shoo Fly. He was feeling as well as usual Monday morning, but complained of being sick at noon, and was dead before sundown. The cause was probably heart disease.

The loss of sheep has been light so far as known, but will be very heavy should the snow last till the end of the present month, owing to the lightness of last season's hay crop.

Bobbie Cannon is recovering from his wounds. Lark Belieu is under bail of $500.00. S. M.

Heppner, Morrow county, is to have a $40,000 hotel.

It is stated that England will have to import the present year over 150,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Snow is at a great depth in the Blue mountains and it is with difficulty that the trains are kept moving.

The Willamette valley is enjoying a season of winter and snow. It is no longer the land of perpetual mists.

The Czar of Russia, at last accounts, was able to drink his brandy before meals and Bismark to take his schnaps three times a day.

Prairie City and Long Creek were well represented at the county seat during the week, a great many having business in the county court.

All the appointments of road supervisors have not been made, but the efficient worker Tom Smith has received the appointment of supervisor for this road district.

GET SHAVED—I have purchased the John Day barber shop, and can always be found at the same ready to fix you up in style.

To sneeze or not to sneeze, that is the question. Whether it is more honorable to sit like a drone and get unscathed, or getting a move on, catch the grippe.

President J. M. Thurston, of the Republican League of the United States, has issued a call for the third annual convention, to be held in Nashville commencing March 4.

The people of Florida want tariff on oranges of a dollar a box, and the people of California want to be exempted from the tax on distilled spirits with which they fortify their wines.

J. A. Rosa, editor of the Western Reporter, the organ of the negroes, will, in a few weeks, bring to Tacoma three or four car loads of members of his race for permanent settlement.

A young man named Ed. Keeney, tried to commit suicide the other day by taking poison. At last accounts he was alive, but had frequent fits, at which times four men were required to hold him.

Baron Lienthal, an Israelite, has bequeathed to the pope $3,400,000. One can believe in the millennium when a Jew lavishes his wealth upon the chief prelate of the Catholic church.—Mountaineer.

Last year was a year of casualties, of great fires, of disastrous floods, of social scandals, and of political upheavals. Let us hope that the year 1890 will not be like it in this respect.

North and South Dakota, Montana, Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Colorado, Idaho and Wyoming, have by their delegations in congress formed a Northwestern association to further irrigation, mining and cereal legislation.

The best holiday number of any newspaper was the midwinter or January number of the San Jose, Cal., Daily Mercury. Profusely illustrated with representations of fruits and flowers, such as no other land but California can produce.

Reports from Northern Nevada state that cattle are dying at an alarming rate from the effects of the severe storms. In the southern part of the state, however, the winter thus far has been mild and loss of stock has been comparatively light. Cattle all through Nevada were in very bad condition at the opening of the winter, and owners anticipated heavy losses, whether the season was severe or not.

Governor Penoyer has issued a circular to the various county assessors of Oregon, respecting the holding of a convention of assessors of the state, for the purpose of securing, if possible, a more uniform and equitable assessment of property throughout the state. Pursuant to request, he suggests that such convention be held in Portland Tuesday, February 11, and requests the presence at the meeting of various assessors. Such a conference would undoubtedly result in securing more uniform and equitable taxation of property within the state.

With the tea lands of China yielding $1,000 per acre, as they are reported to have done this year, it seems as though John might live comfortably enough at home.

The tax levy for 1890, made by the state executive board at Salem, for the general expenses is 5 23-35 mills; university tax, 1-7 mill; military tax, 1-5 mill—making a total of 6 mills.

A tramp who died recently in a New Jersey hospital was found to have belonged to an aristocratic English family. He preferred to be a sturdy vagrant to being an effete English lordling.

A ship loaded with petroleum caught fire at Sunderland, England, Wednesday morning. The burning oil escaped from the ship and floating on the tideway set fire to three other vessels. Great damage was done.

They are telling of a Salem man who asked two boys to carry half a cord of wood from the sidewalk up a flight of stairs to his office, and when they had finished the task handed one of the lads a nickel, with instructions to "divide it" between them.

The most graphic and artistic engravings published by any illustrated weekly in the United States are the large colored plates in the West Shore. In its contents and general nature this is the best illustrated paper a resident of the Pacific coast can take. It deals with subjects he is interested in, and during the year he is certain to find something in it that he deems alone worth the year's subscription. Everyone should take it. The price is but $4.00 a year for fifty-two numbers, making a splendid volume of engravings. L. SAMUEL, Publisher, Portland, Oregon.

COME FORWARD.

All persons indebted to Miller & Mettschman for stable bill, will please come forward and settle by the first day of March, 1890, or costs will be added.

Wool Business of Heppner.

Last year, the Heppner warehouse handled over two million pounds of wool, although a large amount of wool which will probably go to that place has not yet been secured from the shipping points at which growers have been in the habit of delivering before Heppner became a railroad town. The warehouse is owned by the Morrow County Land and Trust Co., a company incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000.00 having $25,000.00 paid up. The stockholders are solid business men of that place. Its president, Nelson Jones, is one of the oldest shepherms of Morrow county; he and T. W. Ayers, a director, are among the wealthiest men of Eastern Oregon. E. R. Bishop, cashier of the National Bank of Heppner, is treasurer, and T. E. Fell, who while member of the last legislature, secured an appropriation of $10,000.00 for the wagon road which leads from Heppner to the northern part of Grant county, is manager. This company are working vigorously to get roads to their town from this section, and expect to make Heppner one of the leading wool markets of the state.

That was a strange suicide of Charles Schellenberg, cabinet-maker, in New York. He was engaged to be married and had promised his betrothed a Christmas present. His wages were not due until Saturday, and when he asked for an advance Tuesday to buy the present, he was refused; so he hanged himself.

It is reported that a couple of young men are canvassing the valley for the purpose of inducing farmers to join what they term "The Merchants Union." They charge a membership fee of five dollars and give the farmers to understand that they can then send to Portland and get goods at greatly reduced prices, which of course they can not do. It is probably one of many schemes of obtaining money from the unwary so common these modern days, and the farmers of the valley are warned to keep both eyes on their pocket book.—Albany Democrat.

$10 REWARD.

Strayed from the pasture three miles southwest of Canyon City, some time last July, the two following described animals: One dark brown horse about 5 years old, branded a diamond on left shoulder. Also one sorrel horse about 12 years old, no brand. The horses will each weigh about 1100, and are both work horses. Sorrel has a little white in forehead. I will give the above reward for information leading to their recovery. Address, GEORGE LEAZER, Canyon City, Or. Jan 7, 1890.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7, '90.

Ed. GRANT Co. NEWS:—

Despite a heavy mist, occasional lapsing into a decided rain, the New Year reception at the White House had about the usual attendance. The crowd on foot was a good natured one, and the patience with which women in the line watched their dress skirts ruined by the rain was remarkable. The perseverance exhibited by the average woman at a presidential reception is remarkable. She will keep her hand in the line in front of the State department, a block away from the Executive Mansion, and remain in that moving column for three or four hours, only to find at the end that 2 o'clock has just arrived and the doors are closed. A man pines before such an ordeal; a woman will go through it again, quite as cheerfully next year.

There were women in the line yesterday, accompanied by their daughters, whom I first saw in the same line in Grant's time and have noticed at every New Year reception since. There were some very queer characters mingling in the public procession, harmless cranks of many sorts, faded half-demented old ladies in dresses of an unknown period, dignified colored brethren in impossible silk hats, as quaint and picturesque a crew as ever attended a Roman carnival.

The president was assisted in the reception of the guests specially received, that is from 11 to 12:35 o'clock, by the Mrs. McKee, Mrs. Morton and the ladies of the cabinet circles, with the exception of Mrs. Blaine. Mrs. Blaine, like Mrs. Harrison, was absent on account of the death of a sister. Mrs. McKee wore a trained gown of white faille Francaise. The fluffy bang and the loosely-tied bunch of roses, the new Duchess variety, gave her a very simple and youthful appearance. Mrs. Morton's appearance was truly regal. She was undoubtedly the finest dressed lady in the line of well-dressed women. The French gown of steel-gray satin had panels of satin down the skirt sides, divided down the front by a pleated strip of pink crepe, which was laid a heavy jet fringe. The jet passementerie striped all the side panels down to a deep fall of black Chantilly lace, edging the skirt. The train was long, and the low cut bodice was bordered with folds of rose pink crepe. There were diamonds in her hair, and she carried a bouquet of white hyacinths.

The rooms were decorated much as usual, save that flowers were not so profusely used as during some years. The marine band was in attendance and the programme rendered was very fine. The president stood the hand shaking very well and in this he was assisted by the trained White House servants, who kept the line moving as fast as possible. With the exception of an awkward hitch in the line when the senators and representatives were led in too soon and became mixed up with the diplomatic corps, there were no disturbances of the arrangements for the day.

The presence of the Pan-American delegates in addition to the diplomatic, made the assemblage of representatives of other nations the largest ever seen at a president's reception. Baron Fava, the Italian minister, making his first appearance as dean of the diplomatic corps, headed the procession. Introductions were made by secretary Blaine. The delegations of Russia, England, France, China and Corea attracted most attention.

The number of congressmen present was small and could not have included half of those in the city, there being not over fifty in the line. This was the most significant feature of the day, and was after made a subject of comment.

When the doors were closed at 2 o'clock and such of the public as were unlucky went away without seeing themselves of the house, the leader of the band took a drink with the captain of the watch, and the president, very carefully carrying his tired right hand against his breast, went up stairs with Baby McKee. And the initial reception of the second century was over, it being just one hundred years since President George Washington had given his first New Year reception.

The reception at the residence of members of the cabinet were very brilliant and well attended. Mrs. Morton's reception was all that might have been expected. After their reception at the White House the diplomatic corps was driven to the residence near by of the secretary of state. The old Seward mansion has been so altered that the reception rooms extend across the entire front. Breakfast was served in the elephant banquet room below.

PRIVATE WORDS WITH WOMEN.

Oregonian.

The eminent and successful electro-magnetic physicians, Drs. Darrin, have discovered and perfected a system of treatment that has caused a revolution in the treatment of female diseases. Whenever their treatment is tested and known it has done away with so much nauseous drugs and surgical operations whereby so many precious lives have been lost.

As a discovery, it ranks with Harvey's discovery of the circulation of the blood. It has proved in more than a thousand cases of the worst kind to be a positive cure for the following female diseases:

Ovarian tumors, polypos ulceration and dropsy of womb irregularity, inflammation, congestion and falling of womb, leucorrhoea, painful and suppressed menstruation, flooding, frequent urination, bearing down pains, backache, headache, hacking cough, melancholy, absence of ambition or desire to live, or, in fact, any complaint having its origin in a disordered state of the generative and accompanying organs, whether from contagious diseases, hereditary, accident, tight lacing, miscarriage or other causes.

Their method of treatment is harmless, pleasant and mild. It is applied directly to the womb without the use of instruments; can be applied by the patients themselves, thus securing correct local treatment at home, and its application is easy and simple. Its curative action on the inflamed, congested and ulcerated parts is immediate.

Drs. Darrin refrain from making public the names of hundreds of ladies who have been restored to health, with due deference to the delicacy of their afflictions.

Dr. Darrin will straighten cross eyes from Jan. 13th to 18th. Those not able to pay will be treated free.

Dr. Darrin's New Place of Business.

Drs. Darrin can be consulted free at the Washington building, corner of Washington and Fourth streets, Portland. Rooms 16, 17, 22 and 23 second floor. Ask the elevator boy for room 16. Office hours, from 10 to 4 o'clock daily; evening, 7 to 8; Sundays 10 to 12. All curable chronic diseases, loss of manhood, blood taints, syphilis, gleet, gonorrhoea, stricture, spermatorrhoea, seminal weakness, or loss of desire of sexual power, in either man or woman, catarrh and deafness, are confidentially and successfully treated. Cures of private diseases guaranteed, and never published in the papers. Most cases can receive home treatment after a visit to the doctor's office. Inquiries answered and circulars sent free.
