

THE GRANT COUNTY NEWS.

Thursday, Feb. 27.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Lon Cleaver has been nominated Register of the La Grande land office.

Bill Whit, who is at Baker City, was to have a slugging match with one Sullivan, but the same has been postponed.

If you want to hit what you shoot at send to Smith & Clark, Baker City, for a new sight for your gun, and thereby save ammunition. See their ad.

Business men at Baker City believe in advertising their business in the NEWS. In this week's issue will be found the names and address of Smith & Clark, Elmer & Sanders, and M. Bird the tailor.

Hosna Guernsey who arrived Monday from Bear valley says the snow fell about eight inches over there. He had a difficult time coming out of the valley, being four hours once making as many miles with a team.

Snowshoes are the only means of locomotion between camps and settlements in the Robinsonville and adjacent countries at present. Miners travel out to the postoffice or stage road regularly to get their GRANT COUNTY NEWS.

Rev. Mr. Eads requests us to state that he has no desire to run for joint senator, as he is now engaged in a far nobler race. During his political life in 1874 he was not a member of the M. E. conference, and at this time could not think of entering the political arena.

Editor Patterson of the Long Creek Eagle, accompanied by Dr. Fell, spent a few days in our city last week. Mr. Patterson made many friends here, as he is a decided improvement over the "Peter the Poet" and "Happy Jacks" who formerly presided over the destinies of the Eagle.

Capt. J. W. Lewis of Dayville has received the appointment of register at The Dalles U. S. land office. His host of friends in Grant county congratulate Mr. Lewis on his appointment to this office of trust, and have not a doubt but what his appointment will be confirmed.

A letter from Haystack valley dated Feb. 16th, conveys the information that snow is eight inches deep in that section, and weather cold and freezing. Over 3,000 sheep have died already, and prospects for more to die, as the feed is about all gone. Cattle and horses were suffering from hunger.

Any one who does not believe that there is plenty of snow in the mountains this season should travel, and see with their own eyes. Between here and Baker City the snow is from 1 1/2 feet to 6 feet on the different mountain ranges, and still deepening. Griffin & McEwan are running sleds all the way from Flinn's to Auburn—snow 58 miles.

Elmer & Sanders, assayers and analytical chemists, Baker City, will attend to assaying and all other business in their line. Prospectors who send away specimens can safely rely upon the certificates signed by this firm, for they have had many years experience in assaying Eastern Oregon quartz, and have all the appliances for testing ore. Rock mailed to them will receive prompt attention.

It appears next to impossible for an Eastern Oregon newspaper to tell the truth about the weather. If the NEWS says "the weather is fine" the elements turn loose and it snows soon after the paper is printed, and before it is distributed. We must hereafter content ourselves with giving a report of the weather as it has been and not as it is now. For the past few days it has been rather snowy and stormy.

The ball given by the Grand Army Veterans Friday evening was hugely enjoyed, as is always the case with parties managed by that organization. McCoy's string band consisting of five pieces, furnished excellent music for the occasion. The lunch gotten up at the New Hotel was one of the best. The bean supper prior to the dance needs no comment, for those who were present will not soon forget the pleasant hour enjoyed.

Miners in the Middle Fork and Granite country seem hopeful and confident of realizing plenty of wealth from their placer ground the coming season. May all their fondest hopes be realized. There is no class of men the NEWS desires to see prosper so much as old miners who have toiled for years and persevered in the work of developing this country, enduring hardships and privations that the shining metal might find its way from the mountain gulches into the channels of commerce and trade.

Baker City, where the NEWS man visited last week, shows a marked improvement over a year ago, and in a few months will develop a still more improved aspect. The new three story hotel costing $60,000 will be completed before many months, and a street railway will be in operation from the business center to the U. P. depot. A complete system of electric lights is under contemplation, and Baker City gives promise of becoming an important railroad center. The rich quartz mines and gravel deposits on every side, to say nothing of the vast timber belts and farming lands adjacent, will be the means of building a great city, and her splendid location will help them in the work.

Circuit court and county court next Monday.

Jas. Gibbons is employed as cook at the New Hotel.

The Baker City National Bank has been authorized to begin business with a capital of $50,000.

Ed Dickens shot and killed his brother Wake at a dance at Hardman, this side of Heppner, on the evening of Feb. 14. Jealousy the cause.

Missouri women a few days ago commenced raiding saloons and destroying property. They put into use a poor argument for temperance, an argument that does more harm than good.

Sixteen degrees below zero Tuesday night on the north side of the NEWS office. That was colder than at any time during the winter, and the cold wave was a complete surprise to every one.

Dan Camblin brought out a number of horses from Silvies valley this week. Some time ago he picked the best ones out of his band and brought them out, and now has moved the remainder that survived.

Stock in this and adjoining counties are not yet doing, owing to our second edition of winter. Persons who have no hay left trust to luck, while those who have a stack or two pin all their faith to that.

They are hauling hay from the vicinity of Prairie City to points below ML Vernon to feed hungry stock. Crops on the upper John Day were exceptionally good last year, and there is now a market for them.

The sheriff of Wallowa county was found to be short in his accounts some $3,500, which his bondsmen have made good to the county. Placing so much confidence in deputies was said to have been the cause of the deficiency.

Joseph Robertson of Drewsey, Harney county, who spent last fall some $6,000 for hay, is losing a fearful lot of stock. A sort of distemper seems to be taking off horses even where they are well fed, many dying fat.

Judge Sawyer of the U. S. circuit court has decided that the rights of purchasers of The Dalles Military Road lands are affirmed. That settles the ownership regarding purchasers of these lands and many residents of this valley will hereafter sleep better at night.

Mr. Jewett informs us that J. B. Keeney has the contract for carrying the mail between Canyon City and Burns, commencing next July. Mr. Keeney represents the California, Idaho and Oregon Stage Co., and will doubtless control a through route between the railroad and Burns.

Jake Simons who left here between two days, arrived in Baker at night and immediately took the train for a more congenial clime. His tailor at Baker was anxious to the tune of about $12.00, and he forgot to pay this office a balance of about $2.00, besides other little items. But it sometimes happens thus.

We feel like murdering the flock of blackbirds which visited this town lately, and the frog which sang, including the NEWS to announce that the spinal column of winter was fractured. It certainly was dislocated, however, and maybe the birdlets and frogs were not so much to blame—only slightly off their base.

A Malheur county exchange says farmers will hardly know what to do with their crops this year. That sentence doubtless carries more weight than its originator intended. From the appearance of things now farmers all over this upper country will have more produce the coming season than they have stock to feed it to. Many who had plenty of hay have suffered much loss of stock.

Attention is especially called to the entertainments to be given at Masonic Hall on the evenings of March 4, 5 and 7. The people of this vicinity will then have opportunity to enjoy such a treat as has not been offered them since the cantata of Queen Esther was placed on the boards. Don't fail to witness the expose of the secrets of the "Ancient Order of Hercules" and also to go the last night and inspect the "Box of Monkeys" and get your "Love of a Bonnet."

Some effort should be made towards securing a daily mail from this city to Burns. For almost two months the line from Ontario to Burns has been blocked by snow so that it was impossible to transport the mail, and all the eastern as well as the western mail for Harney county has to come through the Canyon City postoffice, much of it being compelled to lay over here two and three days waiting for the departure of the tri-weekly stage to Burns. Nine sacks of mail were taken out Monday, and that is only a sample of the business done over this line. Several sacks of registered matter consigned to the U. S. land office came through a few days since, which mail being delayed might cause great inconvenience. The daily lines from here to Baker City and Heppner are kept running, snow or no snow, throughout the winter and Jewett & McBean's tri-weekly line from here to Burns has not missed a trip. This route should by all means be increased to six trips per week, for various reasons, one of them being the benefits accruing to the United States land office and its patrons.

SOUTH FORK OF THE NILE.

Ed. GRANT CO. NEWS: As you solicit correspondence for your valuable paper I thought I would write you a line or two. The "buckaroos" had a social dance on the South Fork last week and one David of old feeling as if he was aboard a whaling vessel crossed over the Nile and jumped in at Mathew Bond's door, slew 300 Phillips in one day and "can say thousands more if need be." The good officer D. directed a righthander at David's left ear and felled him. David after regaining his equilibrium directed a left hander at the good officer D's head and felled him, and while the good officer D. directed a right hander at David's head and felled him a goner, or at least sent him down to Davy Crockett's. So the good officer D. arose and quietly said to the chief musician V. "Play that good old tune they call 'Get there Eli!'" And David of old had to retreat to his stronghold and change his biggest boot to the muzzle and plant her on the Rosebud heights, and now says "let the good work go on," so all went serenely and everybody went home feeling as if they had a good time.

Work of Skookum Grange

Ed. NEWS: You have not mentioned anything of the doings of our beloved grange in your paper, so I must accuse you of being partial. Skookum Grange No. 00,000 is morally, socially and politically a great power. We meet once a month to deliberate our welfare and others, too: At our last meeting Master D. B. presided. First in order was reading the minutes of our last meeting, which did not take more than a minute. Then we debated on the winter and weather, but the members had the blues, and the subject was not ably handled. Next we had election and installation of officers. For want of time to elect and install them I made a motion that the same officers hold over for the ensuing term (which is about five years). I being the only member present not holding office the motion was carried. Miss Ruhamic's petition for membership was brought before the Lodge and we voted that she be initiated and be a member of Skookum Grange. Ruhamic being in waiting, was duly installed, after which she was introduced to all the brothers and sisters in the Grange, but here she made a great blunder in being unjust. Ruhamic kissed all the sisters, and nary a brother. The penalty for such conduct is expulsion. Now comes the feast, nicely served by the sisters. D. B. brought out the sweet cider which we brothers all had to test of its genuineness, you see, (this will make your mouth water, but I don't care; if you will print this communication you shall have some of the chickens mit cider next regular meeting). After we had our fill and some of them filled their pockets we went to work again on the good of the order. First was the question: "Is high license more effective to suppress the liquor traffic than prohibition?" Debated strongly, but prohibition carried—teetotal, that's it. By next June Skookum Grange will have a strong ticket out, for the democrats will help us if we don't put anything too luce on it. There were amendments to the bylaws suggested and the same were unanimously carried, after which the Lodge closed.

GRANGER.

Rev. Eads began a series of meetings at the M. E. church Sabbath evening.

There are now 326 convicts in the Oregon State penitentiary and more coming almost daily.

Sylvester Pennoyer seems to be the popular man for the Democratic nominee for governor.

The wife of S. H. Shepherd, who resided here in 1882, died at Vale, Malheur county recently of consumption.

Monday was reported as the stormiest day yet experienced in Bear valley. Stock which had not been gotten out of there it is feared would not survive the shock, as the weather turned extremely cold.

Thirteen millions of dollars go over the borders of Minnesota annually to Boston, Hartford, New York, etc., to pay skintint mortgages. Eight millions more go over border on bogus railroad securities.

Sandy Olds was for the third time found guilty of murder in the first degree on Portland on the 18th. The Oregonian is of the opinion that he will get a new trial, but the grounds for this opinion are not given.

J. C. Vaughn, seedsman, Chicago, sends the NEWS a package of flower and vegetable seeds, also the new catalogue for 1890. Vaughn's house is 48 hours nearer the Pacific coast than other seed houses. For a free catalogue of seeds, plants and flowers, address P. O. Box 688, Chicago, Ill.

We have been informed that Rice McHaley who was over in Harney county stated to stage driver Wash that Abner Robbins of Drewsey would lose his entire large band of horses, and that Peter Clements of Burns could not possibly save more than half his band. Since the recent storm we fear the loss will be even more fearful.

Read notice of the entertainment commencing at Masonic hall Tuesday evening, March 4th. There will be twenty-five actors in the play, and they have spent long weeks in rehearsing preparatory to their advent on the stage. It will be well worth the price of admission and the proceeds are for the benefit of a worthy order.

Hugh Smith who has just returned from Baker informs us that he has arranged for a wrestling match to take place at Canyon City between himself and Chas. Eytan the Australian wrestler for $100 a side, upon terms as may be agreed upon and at such a time as may be selected when Mr. Eytan arrives here, the event to take place within the next two weeks.

The naturalist, the progressive farmer and all intelligent and thinking persons will be interested in the series of six articles on the study of insects to be begun in the New York Ledger of March 1. The series is by Professor John H. Comstock, of Cornell University, the eminent naturalist, and will describe the insect pests which annually injure the fruit and vegetable crops of the county to the extent of $100,000,000. Particular attention is given to the pests which ravage cotton, rice and grain fields and orchards, gardens and vineyards. Professor Comstock shows that the cotton worm of the south has been responsible for an average loss yearly of $30,000,000 to the cotton crop. He considers the terrible devastations of certain insects, such as the locust in the west, the potato beetle and the cotton worm, have been shown in disguise, as they have shown the possible powers of those once despised creatures and have occupied the attention of the leading scientists of the world to such an extent, that growers may reasonably hope that the ravages of the insects mentioned may be confined within certain bounds. Professor Comstock also treats of insects useful to the farmer. His articles are of the greatest value.

LOST IN HARNEY COUNTY.

Feb. 23, 1890.

EDITOR NEWS: Noticing an item in your paper of the 20th in regard to the loss of sheep by myself and others, I will give in brief the contents of the letter received by me from my partner Mr. J. G. Chesbro, written on February 7. Mr. Chesbro says: "The storm was the most severe ever experienced in that region. We have between five and six hundred sheep alive out of 3400; 45 bucks out of 50; the bucks I feed grain; I fed heavy on the start and they froze their feed ravenously; the 65 tons of hay lasted 22 days. We worked three days getting the sheep to ground partly clear of snow, they done well for two days but it chinked for a few hours and then froze a heavy crust and the hardest wind I ever experienced blew continually and simply chilled the sheep to death, they would cover the snow with blood working through the heavy crust, the juniper grove did not seem to be any protection, but the wind went everywhere alike, on the 1st it commenced chinklike and now we have plenty of grass. Brown brothers have less than 3000 left out of 9600; McIntosh left his band on the 23rd ult., numbering some 3000 to their fate on the desert east of here and went home. They are mostly all dead. Then Jim Mackey lost 1500 out of 4000 and had lay left after the storm broke. The Laughlin boys were the luckiest of us all, only losing 450 out of 1500. Johnson & Street's, Buck creek's cattle men say they have not found a live cow brute on the desert yet, and don't expect to. The horses are three-fourths dead. I tell you this was an equalizer."

Mr. Chesbro is thoroughly reliable and you may depend it is fully as bad as he depicts it to be. Brown Bros., Mackey and McIntosh are pioneer sheep owners of that section, running back for 14 years and three more energetic, careful and intelligent sheep owners could not be found in Harney county. Our place is at West Glass Butte 65 miles west of Burns in the extreme northeast corner of Lake county, just on the Harney & Crook county line. Brown is at Wagonite 12 miles southeast, McIntosh 8 miles east. Mackey was feeding on Silver creek near Riley; Laughlin is at the mouth of Buck creek 16 miles north of Glass Buttes and 16 miles out on what is known as the desert. Hoping these few items of news may be of interest to the Harney papers.

I am yours respectfully

JOHN C. LUCE.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20, '90.

ED. GRANT CO. NEWS:—

The immense power given to the majority by Congress will be very short, perhaps reaching adjournment by June. This object is to be attained by pushing regular legislation through as fast as possible and when that is done to force an adjournment, despite the pressure of special legislation, on the ground that the essential work of congress has received attention. The committee on appropriations has been hard at work and it is believed that the final reports will be presented in May. The sub-committee on the pension bill has practically finished the consideration of that measure, which carries with it a proposed expenditure of about one hundred million dollars.

The friends of every one of the six thousand bills that have been introduced this session, hope for a favorable consideration, but it is likely that an unusually small proportion will be passed. The party in power feels the added responsibility granted by the new rules and knows that the people will be pleased to see small appropriations. The republican leaders recognize that an early adjournment, leaving the regular business of legislation cleared, would give them a big argument in the next national campaign. They see also the danger of possessing all branches of the government should special legislation and the host of private bills once get an opportunity to delay the House. The only possible scheme seems to be to close up shop and shut off unnecessary legislation.

A vote on the rules, under the Springer motion, will be reached Friday night. After that the contested election cases will be disposed of as rapidly as convenient. The new rules will strikingly expedite the necessarily partisan action taken in such cases. Filibustering will be impossible.

Apert from the question of political expediency, adjournment should not take place until some of the ever increasing claims against the government are settled. However great the amount to come out of the public treasury, the United States should pay its debts to private citizens. As it has been for years, the man with a private bill for reimbursement might as well have a suit in the English chancery court. Many of this sort of bills have been pending for twenty-five years. Everyone has known many of them to be just and yet the claimants have been allowed to die of worry and have deferred. Money has unjustly been withheld from political motives. And it is likely that it will be withheld. It is easy enough to get sympathy and influence for a measure that may be of advantage in elections, hard enough to get justice done, where only one man will be benefited.

Two significant instances of race trouble as far north as the Capital have occurred in the past week. Representative Grimes the other day walked into dinner at the Riggs hotel, and discovered a negro ex-minister to San Domingo eating at the same table. Mr. Grimes is from Georgia, and the effect can be imagined. He walked out to the cashier's desk, paid his bill and moved his quarters to a more congenial atmosphere. He has been followed by several other prominent guests. There is a strong prejudice against his action among the local friends of the colored race. Mr. Grimes simply states that the time has not yet come when he will stop at mixed hotels.

The second instance occurred over the appointment by the influence of Senator Hiscock of a bright young colored girl as a printer's assistant in the bureau of printing and engraving. The relations between a printer and his assistant are very close. They work all day side by side and the same printer may have the same assistant year after year. The appointment of a colored girl has never been thought of before, and the printers so far have refused to work with this one. She is now temporarily employed as a messenger, while the printers are determining what final action to take and mentally swearing at Senator Hiscock.

These instances illustrate as well as anything can the growing complications in the intercourse between the two races. Colored clerks in the departments have long been accepted, and have been appointed by both parties. Their political enee is often very strong, and nearly all professional politicians a small way manage to retain positions in the public service, ly-nilly. In the city hotels the is still supposed to be unsumrable, and the fact that so promi and fashionable a hotel as Riggs consented to allow a col man in its dining room is ra surprising. The bar rooms, w very few exceptions, have long given up the light, and some class places find no small reve from the better off colored poe You can number on your fing nearly all the bars that refuse sell liquor by the drink to color people and at regular prices. T years ago you could have number on your fingers all that would ha sold to them.
