

THE GRANT COUNTY NEWS.

April 17, 1890.

Over $150,000 has been contributed to the sufferers of the Louisville cyclone.

The legislature of Mississippi has changed the name of Bolivar county to Jeff Davis county.

Brazil has specialists at work copying our constitution as a basis for her new republican form of government.

The man who prophesies evil will always have a sympathetic audience. The man who prophesies good has hard work to get a hearing.

The Pan-American congress has concluded to have no wars in the future, but to submit all differences to arbitration by governments of South America.

Queensland, Australia, lays claim to the richest gold mine in the world. Its output last year was $6,000,000. The mine is valued at $50,000,000.

The Washington Post affirms that "there are worse men than Susan B. Anthony in the United States senate." But there are no better women, and never will be.

Now that the timber culture act has gone overboard, about all that the government is expected to do for the present is to prevent its own timber lands from being denuded by illegal means.

A bill has been introduced in the Maryland legislature to make voting compulsory. It provides a fine of $5 to be inflicted on every qualified voter who cannot give a good excuse for not voting.

Wyoming has one law on its statute books which has, it is claimed, no counterpart in any state, and that is the law securing equal pay for equal work to men and women as school teachers.

Prominent cattlemen of Crook county have recently expressed the opinion that hornless cattle were better able to endure severe cold than those having horns. They base this opinion upon the experience of the past winter.

An Oregon minister kissed his cook and his congregation asked him to leave the church. The minister was not wise. He should have kissed the ladies of his congregation, instead of the cook, and his salary would have been raised.

It is said that barley dealers of San Francisco are endeavoring to form a combination which will refuse to purchase barley this season unless it shall be put up in new sacks. The reason given is that weevil is propagated by old sacks in grain which before was sound and healthy, and that much loss is thereby caused to shippers.

Prof. Swing holds that when man is indifferent to his fellow man he cannot make amends by praying to the deity. "If there be a mind which cannot love God and man both, it would better in its awful dilemma let fall its God and espouse the more ardent the welfare of human life; the deity does not need our adoration as greatly as humanity needs our love."

The United States attorney for the southern district of California has been instructed to institute proceedings against all persons connected with the recent attempt to smuggle Chinese laborers into this country across the Mexican border, and the collector of customs at San Diego, Cal., has been instructed to arrange for sending back to China all Chinese captured.

The fools are not all dead yet, but the last one to come forward has only one hand left. An old bachelor of 72 winters by the name of Neil, of Watanga county, Ga., wanted to marry Miss Mary McCulleck, a pretty young girl 17 years old. Neil thought he loved the girl better than his own life, and when he proposed to her she refused to marry him. He begged and pleaded with her, and finally she told him she never intended to speak to him again. Neil immediately went away, and securing an ax, he laid his right hand across a log and with one stroke cut it off at the wrist, saying that it would be a mark of affliction upon him for learning to love a young girl whom he ought to have known would never marry him.

John Wesley Haslett, of Kansas City, claims the championship belt in a novel branch of industry. He is the "sticker" for a packing company, and claims that in fourteen years' service he has slain 8,400,000 hogs.

A New York court decided recently that an umbrella was property. But a smart contemporary asks: "Whose property?" and so bursts the whole umbrella question wide open.

The Portland members of the legislature will next January make another attempt to pass a law by which that city may issue on taxable bonds to construct water works. There are no objections to Portland's having works that will supply them with an abundance of pure fresh water, but the people of the state are opposed to authorizing the issue of non-taxable bonds. The reasons are many and various and it is not necessary to repeat them. Let the people of the "cow counties" keep their eyes open at the coming election and send one to legislature who will favor the issue of such bonds. —Allany Democrat.

General O. O. Howard in a temperance lecture at a meeting of the New York Religious Society, on the evening of the first day of April stated that General Grant had never drunk intoxicating liquors, and remarked that the great soldier had said that the reason he had never joined a temperance society was that if he did it might prove to the world that he was temperate, whereas if people did not say he drank they might say something worse about him. People who knew General Grant on this coast early in the '50's are asked to remember that this statement was made on the first day of April and to forget that General Howard never jokes. —Oregonian.

The Methodist ministers of New York repudiate the action of the Wisconsin supreme court in the matter of ruling the Bible out of the public schools as "un-American and pagan, and a menace to the perpetuity of our institutions. Everything depends upon the way a person looks at a thing and the bias that his teachings and convictions induce. Most unbiased people will find it difficult to see anything especially "un-American" in the decision that rules religious instruction entirely out of the public schools, while it will be equally difficult to discover a "menace to our institutions" in any such guarantee of religious and non-religious freedom. It is all in the way the matter is viewed. In the meantime the decision of the supreme court of Wisconsin rules in the premises, pending a decision by the people of that state at the ballot box, where from present indications a fierce fight will be made on this and kindred questions. This being true, ecclesiastical bodies outside of this state cannot hope to accomplish much by "repudiation" of the court's decrees. This being a free country however, they can relieve their minds by speaking out, a privilege dearly prized by the American citizen within and without the churches. —Oregonian.
