

THE GRANT COUNTY NEWS.

April 24, 1890.

A recent school census taken in Marion county, shows an increase of nearly 8000 children over that of 1889.

One hundred and thirteen Philadelphians have petitioned congress to authorize and direct the coinage of a 15 cent coin. The next demand will be for a 12 1/2 cent coin.

A Jersey canal-boatman neglected to rescue his drowning child when he could easily have done so. Shortly afterward an express train ran over and mangled him to death. The San Francisco Chronicle calls this "the vengeance of heaven."

The Czar of Russia is seeking to work off the danger energy among the princely army attaches by encouraging duelling among the army officers. Killing them off that way may be a more economical method than getting up wars for the same purpose.

Of the 2,250,000 soldiers in the Union army during the war of the rebellion, 1,270,000 are now living. Of the living and widows of the dead, there are now on the pension rolls the names of 435,000 persons. Nearly 300,000 original applications and 200,000 applications for increase are now pending in the pension office.

There is a good woman in Glynn county, Georgia, who has spoken to nobody but two women and a little girl in sixteen years. She lives within two miles of a railroad, and can hear the whistle of the engine every time it passes her house, yet she has never seen an engine or ridden on a train. She has been living on the same place for sixteen years. There's good material for the right kind of a mother-in-law.

A dispatch from London says that an indescribable reign of terror is spreading itself like a black fog over St. Petersburg. All the local prisons are so crowded with arrested students that impromptu places of detention are being provided, and half the people one meets on the street are out striving to secure influence to aid in the release of some son or brother who is imprisoned. Many of these are young men who belong to prominent families. Some are nobles, and the most cruel forebodings are caused by an understanding that some kind of a nihilistic plot has been discovered which the authorities mix up in their minds with the students' demonstrations.

A small select galaxy of fools formed themselves into what they term the Bridgeport Suicide Club at Bridgeport, Conn., four years ago. It was agreed that one member should end his life each year, not because of any dissatisfaction with or weariness of life, but merely for the excitement the agreement brought. The agreement, so far, has been lived up to. There were at first five members, and in last January there were only two left, the president and secretary. The latter, whose name is Wendell Bann, sold his farm the other day, turned the proceeds over to his wife, and then cut his throat, leaving all the glory of the club to the chief officer. The sooner now he carries out his part of the agreement, the better.

The grand inquest of Fairview township, Pa., charged on March 31, 1890, to inquire after what manner Elizabeth Seaton of said township came to her death, in their report to the court found: "That the said Elizabeth Seaton not having God before her eyes, but being seduced and moved by the instigation of the devil in the village of New Market, being then and there alone, in her bedroom, with two certain handkerchiefs and a certain hempen cord of the value of 20 cents, which she then and there had and held in her hands, and one of the handkerchiefs then and there put about her neck, and the other end of the rope aforesaid which she had fastened to the clothes hook on the bedroom door of her house, herself then and there, voluntarily and feloniously, and of her malice aforethought, hanged and suffocated, and so the jurors aforesaid upon their solemn oaths and affirmations aforesaid, say that the said Elizabeth Seaton, then and there in manner and form aforesaid, as a felon of herself, feloniously and voluntarily and of her malice aforethought, herself killed, strangled and murdered against the peace and dignity of the commonwealth.
