"Gregory is awful close," said a man to a friend. "Yes, but he is not nearly so close as his father was. The old man was pretty well off, and he did have a warm affection for a dollar. He was taken ill once, and his physician told him that if he did not go off to the springs he would die. The old man replied: 'Let me see. I'd have to stay there about two months at an expense of at least a dollar and a half per day. I can't stand the cost, doctor. It would be cheaper to die.' He didn't go and after the funeral the leading people of the neighborhood expressed satisfaction at the result."

Manufacturer to his office boy, who persistently sets the clock backward in the morning and forward during the lunch hour: "I can't understand why the clock is always behind when I arrive at the office and ahead when I leave it."

"I reckon it thinks it ought to hustle while you're here, sir," replied the office boy, innocently.

A philosopher is a man who don't want the things he can't have.

A Sage buried an atom. The atom increased in size until it grew bigger than an egg. "Lo, a Miracle!" cried the multitude. "No, a turnip," answered the Sage.

"What a wonderful age of invention it is," said Mrs. Peterson. "I see they are now making wire cloth, and I'll have some this very week to put a seat in Johnny's every-day pants."

KISSED ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE.

"You scoundrel," yelled young Jacob Green
At his good neighbor Brown,—
"You kissed my wife upon the street,—
I ought to knock you down."
"That's where you're wrong," good Brown replied,
In accents mild and meek;
"I kissed her; that I've not denied
But I kissed her on the cheek—and I did so because she looked so handsome—the very picture of beauty and health. What is the secret of it?"

"Well," replied Green, "since you ask it, I will tell you; she uses Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I accept your apology. Good night."

An unhealthy woman is rarely, if ever, beautiful. The peculiar diseases to which so many of the sex are subject, at profitto cause of pale, sallow faces, dull, lustreless eyes and emaciated forms. Women so afflicted, can be permanently cured by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; and with the restoration of health comes that beauty which, combined with good qualities of head and heart, makes women angels of loveliness.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. It is a positive cure for leucorrhea, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb.

The Fall of a Western Editor

When the first weekly in Washington territory was established the editor who was an Ohio printer, made a break in the first issue to establish his reputation as a dangerous man to fool with. He was surrounded by a rough crowd and he realized that the proper thing to do was to put himself in shape to be sized up according to Hoyle. To effect this he led off with an article abusive of Colonel Taylor. The Colonel was an imaginary individual, and it was therefore safe to call him a liar and a coward, and to declare that if he ever appeared in town he would be horsewhipped up and down the streets. Every issue for two months contained a hit at Colonel Taylor, and he was scored so vigorously, and the editor seemed so anxious for some sort of shooting match with him, that "the boys" treated him with that deference always accorded to a fearless man.

When anybody inquired who the Colonal was he was informed that he was a desperado of the worst type, and that he had solemnly sworn to have the editor's life. He was never exactly located or identified, but was always dared to come in like a man and have it out.

One day, just after an issue in which Colonel Taylor was stigmatized as a white-livered coyote, and defied to a duel with bowie knives in a dark room, a stranger came slouching into the office, looked about for a while with curiosity, and then said to the editor:

"Well, I'm here."

"Yes, I see, but what for?" was the reply.

"I'm Colonel Taylor!"

"No!"

"Him and nobody else. You've been lighting into me like wildcats for a long time past, and I haven't been saying a word. I've got tired of it, however, and now it's got to stop!"

"My dear sir, the Colonel Taylor mentioned in——"

"Pull yer gun!" interrupted the Colonel as he pulled his.

"But, sir, I beg to assure you that——"

"Git down on yoor knees!"

The editor slid off his chair, his face as pale as death, and his hair on end.

"Now eat that!"

The Colonel took from his pocket a lump of clay and tossed it on the floor, and he stood there with leveled pistol until the last crumb of it was devoured. Then he put up his weapon and turned to go, saying:

"Next time you open on me I'll come in with a whole bag full of it, and I may conclude to drive the last of it in with a bullet! Go for the rest of 'em all you want to, but when you strike the name of Colonel Taylor, handle it with care!"

And inside of a week the affair leaked out, and so many men came up to lick the editor, and so many did lick him, that he jumped the plant one night and was never heard of again.—N. Y. Sun.

Johnny (with inflated paper bag)—"Sh-h! See me bust this bag by grandma's ear."

Grandma (after the burst, placidly looking toward the door)—"come in!"
