Monopoly of Grif.

The colored people in a small town in Georgia had gathered at their church to hold funeral services over the remains of a woman who had died a couple of days before, says the Chattanooga Times, and the ceremonies were about to begin when the bereaved husband who was a large, corpulent man, leaped onto one of the men standing in the vestibule to follow him to the horse shed in the rear of the church. When they arrived there the bereaved turned on him with: "See here, Moses, I wants an understandin' wid yo' befo' dis funeral goes any furder."

"What is it, Julius?" asked the other.

"Las' week when we buried Henry Carter's wife, yo' was right at hand. Yo' crowded yo' self up to de front. When de weepin' begun yo' set yo' self to work and moaned an' took 'til Henry hadn't no show tall. Some ob de white folks reckoned yo' was de bereaved y'self."

"Yo' couldn't? Well, now, let me give you a pintet. Lucinda was my wife an' nobody else's. She libed wid me an' died wid me, an' Ise got to foot all de expenses. Now, den, when de sadness begins Ize No. 1 from start to finish. Ize de bereaved, while yo' is only an outsider who feels sad 'cause Ize left all alone in dis cold world. If yo' go to takin' on like yo' did last week Ize gwine to forget my great loss just long 'nuff to turn round an' gin you sich a lift under the ear dat y'all reckon you is de subject of de funeral. Do yo' hear me Moses?"

"I does."

"Den cum along un'recommender what Ize been sayin'. Better take a seat in de back row an' hole yo'self down, for at the werry fast whoop of sorrow Ize gwine to light on yo' wid a fo'e of fifteen los' power."

Numbers of Dakota settlers are crossing over into Manitoba, according to the reports of Canadian papers.
