

COUNTY NEWS.

26, 1891.

passed by the recent state legislature empowers the county court to pay for panthers or cougars not more than $10 nor less than $1; for each bear, $5 to $1; wildcat or catamount, $2 to $1; wolf or coyotes, $20 to $1; muskrat, 25 cents to 5 cents; blacktail, 5 cents to 1 cent.

at Coburn, Mass., one of the wool firms in the state has just placed a large order with the Pope & Co., of New York, for the purchase of Oregon wool. It will be the winter or sheep, and the city increasing exportation of this year is a success of any kind.

A Washington special says: President Harrison has determined summary measures to relieve the American pork which is subject to much German opposition. Phelps has been notified by the president that the German authorities should be at once recalled, else the president will proceed to exercise the authority given him by the last congress and proclamation close our ports against German imports. The announcement amounts to nothing less than a threat, and the result is interesting.

It is very evident that the United States will be placed in the humiliating position of apologizing for the acts of the mob at New Orleans, and paying any indemnity it may demand for the Italian subjects in Orleans last Saturday. The will be that our courts are our juries corrupt, and the advertisement that the public of the western will receive before the of free institutions in the. There is evidently some extremely "rotten in the of Denmark," and it is high that it was "burnt and purged," so that Americans wherever are need not blush with at the government of which should be justly proud.—lineer.

Abbott, the New York diarist, was resolved to keep the thief, Albert H. Smith, in prison in full standing on of Plymouth church during the celebration of eighteen years ago. Mr. Smith's splendid home for eight years week committed which helped to drag his friends down to ruin, was stealing and forging the Plymouth church, occupying a prominent seat, and every meeting was loudest in the and a star performer in. He never showed the first repentance till he was out. The action of Plymouth church in carrying a course of rebuke on its rolls of christianity has lowered the high standard of christian character which finds its highest exemplification in the person of the lowly sinner.

Senator Ingalls, of Kansas, asked who would be the candidates in 1892, replied: "and will be the next nominee of the democratic party, no what views he may express silver or other questions. Mr. Harrison will and that he is entirely unwritten law of the precedents of the west. Hill is not West as a candidate to the attitude on the silver question. Ingalls said: "If the party nominates an anti-candidate in 1892 plank of the same platform, it is could carry two of the Alleghenies. the situation is not and nor appreciated by western people because of the abundance necessary to activity and that the scarcity of occasioned the stagnation prices, but the fiat or the paper money idea has sent."

A man in Chicago has paid $14,800 for a bible. He had never heard of the book before, and thought he had made a great literary discovery, particularly since his specimen was a very old and time-worn one.

Lane county has set a good example in digging up a stone man. The state ought to offer a premium for fossils of this sort, till it gets enough of them to fill the legislature. They would cost less than the regulation kind, and would serve the state just as well.—Oregonian.

The conviction that the second coming of the Lord is close at hand is strong among large numbers of Christian believers, and therefore a convention of Baptists is now in session in Brooklyn to give solemn consideration to the momentous subject, says a New York paper.

Many years practice have given C. A. Snow & Co., Solicitors of patents at Washington, D. C., unsurpassed success in obtaining patents for all classes of invention. They make a specialty of rejected cases, and have secured allowance of many patents that had been previously rejected. Their ad. in another column will be of interest to inventors, patentees, manufacturers, and all who have to do with patents.

The strangest of all matches for making money and a certain kind of fame was made in Detroit by Andrew Hunt, a sturdy Scotelman of 38, and William Bomerman, a slightly built, determined looking Irishman of 28. The conditions are as follows: Each contestant shall be on the stage of a local museum at midnight, March 30th, to begin a sleep fasting contest, which shall end at the expiration of the 168th hour from the start, or when one gives up.

In the eternal and infernal strife designated as "business," the men who make profits without making them out of their fellowmen are the producers. The miner who digs out his ton of silver or gold bearing ore, says the Mining Industry and Tradesman, adds its value to the wealth of the world, without taking anything from anyone. He opposes no man, feels no heartburnings from the opposition of any other person, because no opposition reduces his profits or interferes with his business; and because he is a public benefactor he should have the good wishes of all. His success means benefit to every human being in the land. His is a business which gives full scope and chance for the development of all good and generous impulses, unchanged by the forces of envy, jealousy and strife to get the best of "the other fellow," and it makes the miner the whole-souled, generous man that he is.

In New York and Brooklyn associations are formed by grocers who meet every day and fix the price on all staple articles. The butchers assemble each week and fix the price of your rib-roast, your porter house and sirloin steaks, your legs of lamb and your mutton chops; your milkman falls into line and he tells the farmer that he will give him three cents a quart for his milk, and he tells the consumer that he must pay eight cents a quart for it. No wonder that we are in a state of incipient revolution, and no wonder that the poor man is in a state of chronic rebellion. Yet the hod carrier or carpenter, the tailor or the blacksmith seems as ready to go into a trust as anybody. If the baker or the brewer refuses to pay tribute to the boycott, the boycotters maim him or kills him or starves him to death. The millennium is yet some distance off, and if the supply of angels is dependent on the present generation we are afraid there won't be enough left to raise a respectable hallulujah—when we get ready to go.
