

THE GRANT COUNTY NEWS.

Thursday, July 16.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Here, July 9, 1891, to the wife of Clay Luce, a girl.

See the fine and low priced clocks at the Watchmaker's.

Farmers up the valley are "summer following" for next year's wheat crop.

Itains greatly interfered with the alfalfa harvest, and much valuable hay was damaged.

First line of clocks never before seen in Grant county now at the Watchmaker's.

Harney county wool has begun to move towards the railroad, several loads passing through town lately.

Stock Inspector Hinton reports that Grant county's sheep are in better condition, as far as health is concerned, than they have been for years.

Miners throughout Grant county are enjoying at the prospect of plenty of water all summer, and will run their hydraulic until the streams freeze up.

Married, at the residence of O. Gagnon, at the new mill, Sunday, July 14, 1891, Mr. C. R. Gurnsey and Miss Anna Kelly, Rossford, Russian officiating.

This valley has the largest fruit crop that has grown here for years, and much of it will find a market in neighboring counties, after our own eating districts are supplied.

County Clerk Shaver is a busy man just now, while Deputy Herdley is over among the Britainers. Issuing script and attending to regular office work is no picnic for one man.

Every man who comes from the mining camps of Grant county brings glowing accounts of the encouraging outlook for deep and permanent ledges. And that is what capitalists are waiting for now.

If we cannot have a county fair the businessmen of this county are not to be deterred from exercising their annual on the speed ring, and the reputation of Grant county's fast lunch-grass horses will be maintained.

Mr. Bush continues to get fine prospects from his mountain side quartz, but is searching for a rich "pocket" in the ledge. It is undoubtedly in the immediate vicinity for the soil there always is "clay" with colors.

Mrs. Minnie Fields, of this valley, who was committed to the insane asylum some time ago, has been released and has returned to her home, we have been informed. It is hoped that the cure in her case is permanent.

The late rains were unusually heavy in the mountain sections. Canyon creek, which is 30-50m affected by rain after the snow leaves, was higher than at any time the past spring, in indicating a great downpour at its source.

Barometers are somewhat a rarity in this country, but occasionally one is met with, much to the disappointment of the ignorant who think it. Gray's dog "bumped up" one in the pasture last Monday, and Charley took it off with a stone.

Washington and Henry, Bailey, of Harney valley, were tried before Justice Robinson last week on complaint of Martin Lucas, action for damages, for mutilating Lucas' stallion. Defendants were assessed $200.00 damages, and will appeal the case to the circuit court.

Mr. J. A. Taylor, of Mt. Vernon, was in town Monday, and reports great exertion among ranchers in the endeavor to save the present large crop of alfalfa. Continued rains were damaging, and besides that it was necessary to remove it from the fields in order to make room for the next crop.

The resources of Grant county are literally unknown at this time. Besides all the precious minerals we have coal, the best timber in the world, and whole mountains of building stone, which is soft, light and strong. Railroads will awaken an interest in all these things, therefore it is necessary for us to encourage their construction.

Doc & Drant have started their new sawmill and are now prepared to furnish rough lumber in any quantity. Timber is used up that way, therefore they lumber is of excellent quality. See their "ad" in another column. And if you would save a trip to the mill just leave your orders with Mr. James Robinson of this city.

While on his way to attend the wedding last Sabbath, in company with his wife, George Sellinger saw at different times five rattlesnakes. No one doubts that George saw genuine snakes, for under the circumstances he could not be mistaken. But if some people we know of had been returning from a wedding feast and saw them they would have been nothing remarkable about it, other than the fact that rattlers are multiplying in this mountain country.

The Humboldt Co. a few days ago washed a piece of bone from the bed of cement in their mining claim, which was thirty feet from the surface and just above the pay gravel. The bone was tolerably well preserved, having doubtless lain for thousands of years in a deposit almost impervious to air. Dr. Orr pronounced it a human bone, from a leg below the knee. What a story relating to prehistoric man on this continent, that strange relic could relate if it only had the power of speech.

Hines & Mason dealt out some new notions to farmers down the river lately.

W. F. Paine, a Baker City artist, is busy decorating the interior of the "Red Front."

Get your eyes fitted with the right kind of spectacles at the Watchmaker's Canyon City.

The sheriff's sale of real property, which was to have taken place last Saturday was postponed one week.

Miss Minnie Swank accompanied by Miss Helen Cressap, departed for Portland on a visit yesterday morning.

R. Isonhoop, charged with attempting to kill Alton Henry at Prineville, has been held in the sum of $1000.00.

Bear valley and Harney haymen have commenced mowing the crop of wild grass, which is said to be less than an average crop.

Watchmaker S. Smith can do about any kind of work around a wagon except putting a new felloe in a wheel without removing the tire.

Mr. Thomas Kelly, who has some nice cherries for sale, favored the News office with a few bunches well filled with the excellent ripe fruit.

We are reliably informed that Indians are making much trouble for the ranchers in lower valley by robbing sheep camps and the killing of stock.

Watchmaker Hinesch, who accompanied Lawyer Downing to Long Creek the other day, is quite favorably impressed with that portion of Grant county.

Harvest hands are scarce in this valley. People who want work can find it now, at good wages, taking care of hay and grain crops, which will be abundant.

Go to the Red Front Billiard Hall for a cool, refreshing drink of the finest lager beer in Eastern Oregon. Bank beer on tap on and after May 1st.

This is the summer season, but people had to have fires in their parlors steeps pretty freely during the latter part of last week. But then this is an extraordinary season.

Four murderers were executed by electricity at Sing Sing, N. Y. a short time ago. Electricity is said to be ahead of hanging, in point of comfort, and is much more high-toned.

Last Sabbath some enterprising fruit growers followed the lead of the News office with a twig from a cherry tree, the fruit striking them so thickly that there was not room for more.

Finest line of pig material ever brought to Grant county just received at the News office. We are now prepared to execute the fine job work at Portland prices. Call and be convinced.

A few seasons like the present one, and the fine bunch-grass of years ago, on Eastern Oregon hills, would return. Growth has done the range more damage than sheep so the stockmen say.

Several loads of emigrants passed through town last Monday going south, their destination being Harney county. Harney is prospering this year, and our doubtless maintain a large number on.

An overflow of the Colorado river caused a great flood in the Colorado desert in California. The question of irrigation might be settled by this occurrence, and the desert soon made to bloom as the rose.

It is related here that an ardent artist will ascend a ladder and make a parachute jump at John Day next Saturday, thus risking his neck for a few paltry dollars. But we will all have a curiosity to see the performance.

Swine culture is beginning to receive some attention by the people of this valley, and just now there is no more profitable crop than hogs and their products. Alfalfa pasture puts on muscle, while grain will do the rest.

Josquin Miller, the famed poet, displayed good judgment when he planted the first orchard in Grant county in this city. However, the fruit does not taste any better for Judge Miller having planted it, but he is a good example.

The new process for working the ore of Crocker creek has been tried and pronounced a success. A run of one hundred tons of the ore is now being made to more fully test the new gold saving device. If all is satisfactory this will mean a great boom for Baker and Grant county mines.

George Roubelash and the News man are interested in some quartz on the mountain southwest of town that will assay all the way from eight to sixteen dollars per ton on the surface. There are ledges and ledges in these mountains, some valuable and others worthless, but it takes prospecting to determine which is which.

Look out for the agents of a so-called protective association for the benefit of farmers and other classes. They promise to sell you goods very low, but never intend to do as they agree, and you will be minus all you pay them without receiving any benefit. These fellows are said to be working southern Oregon at this time.

Oregon is far from a frontier state. Indiana comes near it. There is not a mile of railway in Brown county, nor within six miles of it. Nashville, the county seat, has 400 inhabitants and but one brick street, the court house. The jail has not been built for years. The county has not sent any one to the penitentiary for several years, and there is not a saloon in its limits.

A COMPANY FORMED.

To Develop the Galena Mines on the Middle Fork of the John Day. Facts of Interest Regarding the New Discovery.

The interest taken in the galena mines on the middle fork of the John Day has culminated in the organization of the Galena Hill Mining & Milling Company at Pendleton.

The incorporators and officers of the company are J. H. Robbins, N. B. Larmour and W. M. Folsom. Mr. Larmour has been elected president, Mr. Robbins secretary and Mr. Folsom treasurer.

The capital stock is $750,000, divided into shares of $1 each. Of this amount 400,000 shares have been subscribed, being used in the purchase of the mine. Only 100,000 shares will be put on the market. These will be sold at ten cents a share, and the proceeds devoted to development work.

The enterprise is not of a visionary order. Samples of ore from the mines, by which these who have not visited them have the only means of judging of the value of the property, are of an exceptionally fine character and indicate a splendid prospect.

The galena mines are located in the newly formed Camp Leadville district, so called from the similarity of the formation of the region to that of the famous Leadville mines of Colorado. They are on the middle fork of the John Day, fourteen miles below the old Susanville district, four miles above Ritter and four and one-half miles below the old field. They are surrounded by a settlement, and unlike the mines situated on the peaks of Greenhorn, supplies of every character can be secured with ease. There is a splendid site for a milling plant and unlimited water power is offered by the Middle Fork. While the mines were discovered a year ago, only recently have they been developed sufficiently to make their value known. Now many people have visited the district, and a number of claims have been located.

The ledge, or rather collection of ledges, is a deposit of an immense fissure vein, and there is every reason to believe that the quantity is inexhaustible. The principle feature of the ore is galena, carrying a large percentage of silver. Several assays of surface rock made some time ago by H. G. Hanks, ex-state mineralogist of California, to whom the ore was sent by Mr. Robbins, shows from $26.22 to $34.99 to the ton with 75.25 per cent of lead. More recent assays made at Walla Walla run from $40. to $118, and the last assay made by Mr. Gagnon gives 250 oz. silver. But the great value of the mines lies in the ability to produce any quantity of ore, for fluxing the base ores in the Greenhorn and Crocker creek districts, and in fact in the entire Northwest, where many properties would become valuable if suitable ores could be had for fluxing. An illustration might be found in the famous Crocker creek mine. It was sold for a $1,000,000 and $1,000,000 was spent for a plant which was found inadequate to treat the ore. Consequently the mine is lying idle for want of fluxes, which the Galena mine can furnish. The ledge is a vast one of low-grade ore, but it will not pay to ship, and the expense of shipping in fluxes is also too great to admit of operating the mine with profit until fluxes can be obtained nearer home. The owners of the smelter at Portland informed Mr. Larmour that the ore from Middle Fork samples of which were taken below by Mr. Larmour, was just what they wanted, and would be willing to pay for it more than the value of the precious minerals. It contained to secure it for his smelter. At present he is compelled to ship his supply of fluxing ore from Denver—East Oregonian.

Lat Dixon of Cass county, Oregon was bitten by a bear three weeks ago. He is suffering from his wounds but will recover.

The Louisiana Lottery Company tells the farmers of Louisiana that if they will vote for an extension of the company's charter the company will loan them money at one per cent per annum.

Fate seems to fit in nicely. Just as wood was giving out coal was discovered, just as whale oil was about exhausted, petroleum was found, and now just as we have about given up hope of being angels Mr. Maxim assures us that his flying machine will soon be ready.

A contemporary quotes a couplet by Benjamin Franklin, as illustrating the advances made of late years in the art of "getting on." Franklin wrote—"He that by the plow would thrive, himself must hold the drive." The Yankee version adapted to the times, is—"He that by his trade would rise, must either bust or advertise."

The Lost Cabin Mine.

Mr. A. Loosley, of Boise City, the other day received a letter from his brother at Fort Klamath, Oregon, stating that it was believed there that the old original Lost Cabin mine had been discovered at a point called Diamond Peak, thirty or forty miles distant. Three hundred men had rushed in, and more going, including nearly all the people in Klamath and Linkville. Rich gold quartz had been found and several claims taken up. It was supposed that the Lost Cabin mine had at last been discovered. The remains of two men who had been buried had been found. Also pieces of pack saddles, sluce boxes, and a quarter of a mile of a mining ditch.

Sumpter Valley Terminus.

It is reported that McEwen's station in Sumpter valley will be the terminus of the railroad for a time at least. The site is favorable for a small town or station for the railroad, as it is a distributing point for all the mining districts of that portion of Baker and Grant counties. As soon as the railroad is in operation the stage line from Canyon City to Baker City will make connection at McEwen's, and passengers and freight will be transferred.—Democrat.

Hanibal Hamlin, about the last of the founders of the great republican party, goes down to his grave at a ripe old age, full of honor.

There are men here before me today, said a 4th of July orator recently, who have sacrificed their lives just as freely as did the old patriots of the revolution.

Negotiations are pending for the purchase of the extensive nickel deposit at Riddles, in Southern Oregon, by the United States government. In that vicinity there are about 2400 acres which contain nickel ore in large quantities. The tract is owned by San Francisco heirs, and the sale of the property is being negotiated by Portland parties.

Almost a Serious Conflagration.

A party of tourists traveling south on the Baker road last Thursday, concluding to stop at the popular caravansary owned by Minot Austin, were royally entertained.

After most of the guests had retired a fearful cry of fire was heard, emitting from the office. After a careful investigation it was discovered that a promising youth of about forty summers, had in an unguarded moment made a sudden rise in the world, and in doing so his fertile brain came in contact with a huge coal oil lamp, precipitating it to the parque floor in close proximity to the marble mantle piece.

The room was immediately enveloped in flames, when the aforesaid youth gave an unearthly war-scream and started on an extended trip to the mountains, leaving part of his pantaloons on the front gate.

A party of friends have been carefully searching for him in the neighborhood of Dixie lute, and have not been able to find any clue to his whereabouts, so have come to the conclusion that he is running yet.

The flames were soon extinguished, only causing a slight damage to the wall paper. Tourists.

The Iowa Mining Company has been organized at Pendleton by J. Sheurman, F. H. Kemper, Gus Stanger, Joe Basler and Andrew Larson. The company will thoroughly develop its mine, the Iowa, in the Greenhorn district, which has every promise of becoming good property. One of the ledges located is fifteen feet in width, and surface ore assays $40 to the ton. It is the intention to tap it on a 400-foot level by running a tunnel 500 feet in length. Mr. Larson left today for Greenhorn with two wagon loads of supplies, bedlows, tools, camping outfit, provisions, etc.—East Oregonian.

It can certainly be said without fear of contradiction that The Dalles is a beautiful town. Nestled among the hills on the banks of the lovely Columbia, it presents a most picturesque appearance. To the south stands the sentinel Hood, glistening with the snows of countless years and around whose summit the clouds seem to gather as if to protect from the melting snows of the noonday sun. Doubly watchful it is far beyond the wooded hills of Washington, Mt. Adams looks down in silent contemplation. What tales those grand old mountains could unfold had they but speech! What marvelous changes have they intently witnessed! The very earth itself has been transformed. A hardy race of people at one time roaming at careless random, have passed almost away and in their place is found a new nation. 'Tis enough to tinge with reverence those quaint traditions which descend to us and are told of the roving Indians who roamed where now our city stands—Mountaineer.

The Oregon State Fair.

The prospects for a good state fair were never so flattering as they are this year. The premium list has been revised, and in many important points the prizes have been increased. The entries in the speed department are the largest and best in the history of the fair. The state fair is under the management of the state board of agriculture, and over $15,000 in cash is offered in premiums for exhibits of stock, poultry, agricultural products, fruit, etc., works of art and fancy work, and for trials of speed. The board is making every preparation for a great meeting. Many valuable improvements have been made, and the grounds have been cleared up and greatly beautified. Electric and horse-car lines now run from Salem to the grounds. All persons wishing a premium list for the fair of 1891, can obtain it by addressing J. T. Gregg, the secretary, at Portland, Oregon, or Geo. W. Watt, assistant secretary, at Salem. The fair begins on the 14th of September, and last one week. Send for a premium list and prepare something for exhibition this year.

Another syndicate of British capitalists has turned its attention to a new field for profitable investments, and has selected Chicago as the base of operations. The great lakes are to be used for the establishment of a direct and continuous water communication between Chicago and the seaports of Great Britain. The vessels to be employed in this service will be of such a tonnage as to pass through the Canadian lock canals in safety, and yet be thoroughly fitted for ocean travel. The proposed line will result in a great saving of freight.

An interesting feature of the world's fair will be a grand reunion of the Blue and the Gray. The plan is to build a large pavilion for the veterans of both armies and to have the war relics of all kinds stored in the building. The veterans are to camp in tents furnished by the war department, all camping together. The various states will be asked to furnish transportation for their own veterans. The government will be asked to furnish the rations, the Blue and Gray building is to be built by all the states combined and the reunion is to last from ten to thirty days.

Oregon is the thirty-seventh state in which a farmers' state alliance has been organized. The organization was perfected at a convention held in Portland last week. That the alliance is steadily growing in numbers and strength and influence cannot be denied. As to what political sheet it will take will be decided at the national alliance meeting in Baltimore next February. According to one of the leading organizers, the national alliance is devoting itself mainly to the questions of finance, transportation and land. One plank in its platform is this: "The brightest jewel which it garners are the tears of the widow and orphan, and its imperative commands are to visit the homes where lacerated hearts are bleeding; to assuage the sufferings of a brother or sister; bury the dead, care for the widows and educate the orphans; to exercise charity toward offenders, to construe words and deeds in their most favorable light, granting hospitality to others, and to protect the principles of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union until death. Its laws are reason and equity, its cardinal doctrines inspire purity of thought and life, its intention is, 'On earth, peace, and good will to men.'"
