THE BUGLE WILL SOUND.

Europe Resounding With the Clang of Arms.

The New York Tribune's cablegram from London says: The continent has through the week resounded with the clang of arms. Austria has had her military maneuvers. Holland has renounced the world, not necessarily, that there is such a thing in existence as the Dutch army, and Belgium has named some troops of cavalry in the field. England, not to be outdone, has mobilized as many as 12,000 men near Aldershot. All this is a farce. But there is something grimly serious in the maneuvering of the French army. This has been called out on a colossal scale, a sort of rehearsal of what might take place any day next month or next year, should the trumpet-call sound the inevitable war with Germany. Twenty-one years and a few months ago there was a similar muster. General Le Bon had assured the doubting emperor that there wasn't lacking a hutton in the quarters to impede their march to Berlin. But all whom it may concern know that France's army today is very different from that which in 1870 marched out to Sedan and got no further than the Marston. It appears after all that there was something more than froth in the cup that France has drunk to Russia. The czar will in a short time have in it not less than 500,000,000 francs. This is the loan he wanted to raise in May last through the ordinary channel, the Rothschilds, but the great Jewish financiers, putting patriotism above percentage, declined to serve the monarch who was responsible for the atrocious persecution of the Jews with which Europe at that time was raving. Then came the voyage of the French fleet to Cronstadt, the personal reception of the republic's ships and sailors by the czar, and all France was ablaze with enthusiasm and affection for its newly-developed friend, who bight some day help to regain Alsace and Lorraine. The Russian finance minister struck while the iron was hot and arranged with a group of Paris bankers for the issue of a loan on the most favorable terms.

THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA. A British army officer on his way to inspect the defenses of British Columbia says his government intends to strengthen the defenses of Canada on both oceans and also along the frontier on the St. Lawrence and the great lakes, and that the ships and armament of the Atlantic and Pacific squadrons will be greatly strengthened. At Halifax the British government is building immense fortifications. He says the general belief in England is that trouble with the United States is inevitable.

ON TO PORTLAND. And to the North Pacific Industrial Exposition in That City.

To those desiring to visit the Exposition the Union Pacific will sell tickets at one and one-fifth fare for the round trip on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays of each week between September 16 and October 18, 1891.

AN ASSAY WAS MADE Friday by Assayer A. B. Elder of a sample of ore from the Galena Hill Milling & Mining Company's mine, the Valparaíso, in new Lewisville. The assay showed 140 ounces of silver to the ton—East Oregonian.

THE COLORADO DESERT LAKE BILLS fair to be permanent. Recent reports from Valparaiso that the water continues to rise slowly and as a result the climatic conditions of the neighboring country are changing. Whether this change is due to the new sea has not been determined by men of scientific turn of mind, who have given the matter study, but that there is an unprecedented amount of moisture in the atmosphere is certain, and gardeners and fruit growers are puzzled and fear they may have to suffer some costly experiments. It is asserted by some that this unusual moisture is not due to the lake, for moisture taken into the atmosphere from a surface of water is not precipitated in the immediate vicinity. The new lake may prove a dual freak. Anything is liable to occur in California.

CANADA IS BECOMING an underground railroad for Chinese immigration to the United States. Our advisers today from a special correspondent, who has been investigating the matter, show that more than 70000 Chinamen have been smuggled into the United States across the Canadian line during the last six months, or at the rate of nearly 15,000 a year. Here is a chance for Jingo Jim to twist Johnny Bull's tail. Let the twisting proceed.—Portland Telegram.

BETTER THAN EVER. The North Pacific Industrial Exposition at Portland, September 17 to October 17, 1891. Reduced rates via the Union Pacific.

Rare American Coins.

The United States coins are of all centers the hardest for one to secure a complete collection. The coinage of 1793 is very rare, and sells readily at $15. And a dollar of 1794 has been sold at $190, and then not in the best condition. The half-cent of 1793 is rare, and sells readily at $15, while the silver dollar of the same date is valued at from $1 to $5. The half-dollar of 1796 is worth $10, and that of 1797, $25. The cent of 1793 is a bargain at from $5 to $10, and the half dime of 1802 is rare to excess, a specimen that was lost and badly worn having been sold in 1875 for $17. A fine specimen would probably command double that sum. All the coins of 1804 are rare, except the half-cent, which is very common. The dollar, of which 19,579 were coined, is for some unknown reason the rarest of all American coins, but eight copies being known. This coin has been largely counterfeited, and will sell for from $800 to an unknown sum, according to condition. The half-dollar, of which 19,579 were coined, is extremely rare, and is seldom sold. Probably there is no limit to its value beyond the desire of the buyer to acquire it. The cent of 1804 can be bought for $5, and the quarter for $2. The silver quarter of 1825 is also exceedingly rare, a very fine specimen having been sold for $75, though one good enough for a pocket piece can be had for $25. The quarter of 1825 is one of the rarest of quarters. A very fine proof sold for $105, and an ordinary copy is purchased by the dealers for $20.

The New South American Cable.

By the opening of the new cable from the West Indies to South America the United States is brought into direct communication with the eastern coast of the southern continent, and becomes independent of the circuitous route via London and Portugal and via Vera Cruz and the western coast to Valparaiso. These roundabout routes often caused vexatious delays, and these have been aggravated since the disturbance in Chili. The new route gives quicker and presumably cheaper and more accurate service, and therefore is of great importance to the business world. It is of especial value at this time, when efforts are being made to extend our trade with the South American republics through reciprocity agreements. The line is owned and controlled by French capitalists, but that fact does not greatly lessen its value to the United States.

To Subscribers, Old and New.

In order to put The Weekly Oregonian into the homes of those now without it, the publishers make the liberal offer of fifteen months for $2.00 to all who subscribe prior to January 1, 1892. This offer applies not only to new subscribers but to renewals as well. In addition to this, each new subscriber, or old subscriber renewing, is given his choice of either "The American Livestock Manual," or the "Standard American Poultry Book," which will be sent free, postage prepaid. These are valuable works of reference for the farmer.

The Weekly Oregonian is the great weekly of the Northwest. There is no weekly published on the Pacific coast, or anywhere else, that furnishes readers a fuller compendium of all the news of the whole world than does the Weekly Oregonian. No other paper gives such close attention to Pacific coast news, especially as to what is transpiring in the great Northwest.

Aside from its unexcelled news features, a large number of special articles, prepared for its columns by well-known writers, are published during the year. It furnishes descriptive letters from various portions of our own country and from foreign climes, as well as stories, poetry and well selected miscellany. There is a department maintained for the farmer, also for the women and children. All the advantages of a newspaper of the first class are offered by The Weekly Oregonian. No family in the entire Northwest can afford to be without it.

THE COLORADO DESERT LAKE BILLS fair to be permanent. Recent reports from Valparaiso that the water continues to rise slowly and as a result the climatic conditions of the neighboring country are changing. Whether this change is due to the new sea has not been determined by men of scientific turn of mind, who have given the matter study, but that there is an unprecedented amount of moisture in the atmosphere is certain, and gardeners and fruit growers are puzzled and fear they may have to suffer some costly experiments. It is asserted by some that this unusual moisture is not due to the lake, for moisture taken into the atmosphere from a surface of water is not precipitated in the immediate vicinity. The new lake may prove a dual freak. Anything is liable to occur in California.
