A SOLDIER'S REWARD.

When the long lost Aguinado was found and captured, it was considered a great achievement, and it was supposed that every man who had taken the desperate chances of the expedition into the enemy's mountain stronghold would be richly rewarded. Funston was made brigadier-general, but the rest seem to have fared pretty poorly. Lieutenant Hazard, who really took a more active part in the real capture than did Funston, recently passed through Portland on his way to receive his "reward," which consists mainly in being called to a tour of duty in Yellowstone Park. This tour may extend into years, and carries with it the greatest duty on earth.

It means to be held up in a little two-company garrison isolated from the world, at a little post where no one comes unless compelled to. Outside of the monotonous routine of keeping the troops stirred up so that they will not die of the blues, there is nothing to do but fight off the temptation of playing poker and destroying Kentucky hardware.

For a few months in its short summer the Yellowstone Park is a beautiful recreation ground, and then thousands of tourists visit there, and life is worth living. But during the rest of the long year it is Siberia and exile, and the men who have been sentenced there for capturing Aguinado will wish that he had not thus distinguished himself.

Twice a Tower.

He is not only a tower in stature, but he is a tower in intellect, and if he is nominated by the Republican party he will undoubtedly make another winning race. For Governor T. T. Geer has certainly given the State a good administration. Coming up from the soil and the ranch and the farm, Governor Geer has pressed to the front and lined right up with the prominent personages of the nation. He has shown that he is a man of ideas and brains, and his personality was plainly recognized when he was invited to stump Ohio for the Republican ticket. Not many men of the far West have that honor thrust upon them, for Ohio and her near neighbors abound in orators all anxious to take the field on the slightest provocation. Oregon's Governor held his own with all of them, and won the highest commendation from the prominent party leaders. He is a picturesque figure, and a credit to his State.

PERNICIOUS LITERATURE. Tacoma advertises in the New York Commercial that it is "the leading seaport of the Northwest, manufactures more flour than any other city in the Northwest, and more is shipped to the Orient than from any other port on the Pacific Coast."

Because hills look greenest far away is why Oregon people journey away off to Hot Springs, Ark., when they get a twinge of rheumatism. A Portland man just back from there says he would have been better off at any of the hot springs in Oregon. He ran into more snow and rain and cold weather in Arkansas than he ever did at home, and his sunny South anticipations were doomed to disappointment. Advertising was what caused him to go there.

That strangers are surprised at the condition of Portland streets is not to be wondered at, but they may rest assured that the present condition of things will not last much longer. It cannot. Relief is being arranged for and soon there will be a system that will cause the streets to be properly cared for.

The Democrats have turned to Ben T. Cable for a leader. Goodness knows the party needs some sort of a cond with which to tie up its hopes to something.

The building at Third and Morrison, whose props were suddenly pulled from under it yesterday, had long been a landmark in that central location. It was early years ago when Carpenter McDonaugh put it up, and had every reason to be proud of his work. Its destruction took many minutes as its erection took months. Mr. McDonaugh is still hale and hearty, and enjoying life at Forest Grove. The new building on that spot will be a most modern structure, and a credit to the Northwest. During its construction the large crowd that now uses Dan McAllen's sidewalk will be doubled. Thus Portland progresses.

Judge Frazier is entitled to the commendation of all honest men for the stand he has taken in connection with fees of receivers and attorneys. Heretofore it has seemed that owners and creditors have had no rights, and that the aim was to entirely eat up the assets of concerns that found themselves in the courts. The Goddess of Justice should remove the bandage from her eyes and look into the details of many such cases.

The job printer went up to the editorial sanctum to clean the institution out. But the editor plugged him with an editorial, the sharp reporter worked him up with a story of the reptiles of the Columbia bottoms, the engineer gave him the horse laugh, the farmer told representative growers and the sheep reporter bunted the fellow out of the elevator. Then it was all off with the job printer for about two days.

Leading figures among the regular Republicans say that they have no cause to regret any action of theirs, and seem to think that the "harmony" attempted to be handed out to them at the convention was a very raw article. They also question the legality of the convention appointing the committees, and think that such action was in direct conflict with the primary law.

Roosevelt's scheme to fill President Roosevelt with Oregon prunes and salmon is gaining headway, and promises to be a great success. The fruit and fish will speak for themselves, and their consumers will speak for their producers if they are properly reminded of where they come from.

Many Portland people who regret that John Vetter allowed bucket-shop speculation to cause his downfall, still point with pride to the way in which he managed the Horse Show at the Exposition last fall. He freely worked hard, and made a great success of the feature.

Missionary chaplains are again becoming a popular pastime in parts of China. Perhaps people there have been reading up on how the Chinese were chased out of Hoek Springs, Wyo., and Loon Creek, Idaho.

The man who gances over the order books of the mining machinery houses of Portland begins to realize what vast strides the mining industry is making in Oregon and her sister states.

Portland is keeping right up with the procession in the matter of dog shows, and other fine features of metropolitan life are not being neglected.

Still, the time may come when W. K. Smith will look differently upon the utility of fire escapes.

If it would break Cecil Rhodes' heart to die and leave all these diamonds in this happy world.

With a re-united party, Portland Republicans can now march to victory at the polls.

Hetty Green's husband is dead. We'll bet he's glad.

THE THEATERS.

The Cycle White, absolutely the most daring and dangerous performance on a bicycle ever presented to the public, will be the top liner at the Baker theater next week. It has been secured by Manager Baker at a large expense, and comes direct from the Orpheum theater in San Francisco. The bill at the Baker this week is composed of splendid features. Frank Bason and his capable company present a charming little play, "An Easy Lie," which has much comedy and a sufficient touch of pathos to compel its acceptance as serious art. "Sport," the bag-punching dog, is a marvel among canines. "Swan and Hathaway" are clever dancers, and in fact the entire bill is made up of well-known performers, who have been successful in the large cities the country over.

THE MARQUAM—Rose Coghlan will appear tonight and tomorrow night in Forest McNot, and at Saturday Matinee in Lady Harter. Miss Coghlan still retains her youthful grace and beauty, and her emotional work is given ample scope in both plays.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The paper currency of Spain now stands at 42 per cent. less on the gold standard.

The 16th anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's kite-flying is near at hand.

The microbes of tuberculosis may live in a book 100 days, as has been shown by experiment.

Venezuelan coffee planters get only one-third the price they used to before Brazilian overproduction ruined the market.

Concessions have just been granted to construct and run 27 new branch lines of the Swedish railways. The new lines will cover a distance of, in all, 250 miles, and it means that Sweden will again have occasion to purchase a large quantity of rolling stock.

There is a billiard table in London two centuries old. It belonged originally to Louis XIV, and in time passed into the possession of Napoleon I. The body of the table is a block of oak weighing 1,000 pounds, covered with a cloth of electric blue. The frame is of rosewood and the six pockets—perhaps the most striking feature of the table—are reproductions in bronze of hideous old gargoyles. When the ball falls into the pocket the lower jaw of the gargoyles drops and the ball is found in its mouth.

HINTS FOR WOMEN

Mayonnaise dressing is full of flavor. Many households have it, unless one has a very strong digestion. It is too rich, and yet it gives color and finish to French dressing lacks. The following will delight both the taste and the eye, and the slight cooking given the ingredients renders them more digestible than when raw. Break two eggs into a bowl; beat well, then first blend thoroughly through them a teaspoonful of sugar, then half a teaspoonful each of mustard and salt, next stir in gradually three tablespoonfuls of vinegar and lastly a tablespoonful of cream. A small paprika-lined double boiler is excellent for this, when the mixture can be all done in the inside kettle. If this is not at hand, place the bowl inside a saucpan of boiling water, with a muffin ring of the like between to prevent sticking. Keep the water absolutely boiling, stir constantly and in less than five minutes the contents of the bowl will be thick and smooth. Put aside to cool, after which it is ready to use.

It isn't correct any more to have things daintily pretty for the newborn baby. In order to have them daintily pretty, it is no longer the proper thing to swathe the little body in yards and yards of muslin and lace and put him in bed in bills of down and silk perfumed with roses or violet. Up-to-date mothers no longer vie with each other on the point of delicate elaboration. They do not vie at all any more. Their one object is to make everything as sanitary and comfortable as possible for the newcomer. Sometimes they give a bath for the baby or fill of lace; but, after all, everything in the new fashion looks so plain and sensible and wholesome they seem to see the other was only a perverted taste and take no pleasure in it. Things have advanced in the last few years. The nursery is one of them.

To make a good salad, open a can of peas if any good brand (except the small French variety), empty them in a bowl or two before using to eliminate any clots or canned flavor. Make sure the peas are tender by tasting. If not, boil them until they are. Wash and dry a nice head of lettuce, separate and arrange in the salad bowl. Chop any cold white meat at hand if prepared on purpose, sweetbreads are delicious—and spread over the lettuce and the peas over this. Just before serving pour over the whole a plain dressing of two parts olive oil and one part tarragon vinegar, pepper and salt to taste. Use cream dressing if preferred.

To color Easter eggs, procure packets of aniline dyes of the various colors you desire; pink, light blue, pale green, yellow, crimson and purple or mauve are effective. Dissolve the dye in hot water and boil the eggs in it until they are colored the shade desired. Make a large nest of moss or of green lumps paper cut in strips, if you cannot obtain moss, and place the eggs in it as a center-piece for the breakfast table. If you wish to give each child one egg in a keepsake, have a little nest beside each plate with the egg in it.

An easy way to soften hard water negligently is to throw orange peel into it just before the water is used. The peel will not only prove agreeable to the skin, but will give out a fragrance like that which follows the use of toilet water.

Red noses are due to the pores being especially open upon the nasal surfaces. Massage at night and bathe next morning with cold water and alcohol.

The shiny nose and forehead generally denote a butter loving, oil eating person, and unless the world ends the stomach will be the monitor of beauty.

A hair wash that is highly recommended—made of one pint of water, one ounce soda and a quarter ounce cream of tartar.

Try the effect of adding sea salt to your warm bath at night. It will refresh you wonderfully and help you to sleep well.

To whiten finger nails, put a lemon-half and rub in well at night. Wash off in warm water the next morning.

Over one-third of the manufactured goods which are made in France are the products of female labor.

Nothing but the use of the curling iron will make straight hair curl.

THE DOG SHOW.

Big Dogs, Little Dogs, Pretty Dogs, Many Dogs.

The Kennel Club continues to perfect its elaborate preparations for the Dog Show next month. Encouraging reports are daily received from every corner of the Pacific states of long strings of dogs to be entered as challengers for the scores of valuable trophies to be won. The value of which runs into thousands.

There are, however, so many fine specimens of highly bred dogs in the state that the boys feel confident of holding most of the trophies at home, and extend the welcome hands to allow fanciers from far and near to join in the present effort to make a new record for the Coast.

The premium lists giving all necessary information to intending exhibitors, will be ready for distribution in a few days, and may be had on application to the secretary, W. W. Poadine.

OLD SPANISH TABLE.

There has been an exhibition for several days in the furniture store of H. C. Bredson & Co., at the corner of Morrison and Second streets, the most interesting piece of furniture. It is a circular-topped Spanish table, 67 inches in diameter, and is in one solid piece. It attracts considerable attention, on account of its beautiful shade of color and also because it came from the Philippines. It dates back to the seventeenth century.

The information of the curious, there is a statement in the window of the street that the tree from which the table was made was growing in the time of Abraham.

The wood is what is known as "Barrá," or Philippine mahogany. These trees often attain, it is said, a diameter of from eight to ten and sometimes fifteen feet. One authority says that tables have been made from cross sections of the tree which would seat comfortably 12 guests, and from the planks of which an entire brigantine has been constructed.

THE NEW DREDGE.

The Port of Portland Commission, at its meeting yesterday, took up the matter of levying and collecting taxes for the payment of the new dredge. The question under consideration was whether the levy should be made in one or two installments. Judge Williams expressed the opinion that the entire amount should be collected at the next collection of taxes after the dredge is built.

It was reported by the treasurer that the collection of taxes this year had brought them $17,000, and as the amount should have been $50,000, the clerk was instructed to write the County Treasurer asking why the Port's share of the taxes had not been turned over to them. The filivulias Savings Bank offered to lend the Port $200,000 at 6 per cent interest; and the latter considered the rate rather high, and negotiations are now in progress to secure a lower rate of interest.

WOODLAWN.

Mr. South's little son is quite sick at Columbia Heights. Fred Keller is preparing to erect a new residence on his property, west of Frank Cotton's place. Frank Kubik is making progress on his new residence opposite the depot. An effort is being made to again establish a saloon at Woodlawn. It has been tried several times, but the petition was never signed by the majority of the residents.

Fat and Carl Carpenter are doing extensive grading at Columbia Heights. The Portland Railway Company has completed its improvements around the depot grounds. The company is also making improvements of the roadbed. An enjoyable whist party was given Tuesday evening in High Hall. A large crowd was present. Dancing was indulged in after the games. William Ryan is now employed by the White Grocery Company in Albion, driving the delivery wagon. W. J. Thomas, a motorman on the Portland Railway Company's Woodlawn division, is very ill at his home. J. Kubik is building a $1,000 residence at Highland.

Woodlawn is coming to the front as a residence section. Numerous dwellings are being erected in all sections of town.

W. C. T. U.

At the State executive committee meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union yesterday, several counties were represented, and one national vice president also. Mrs. Smith, General vice president of Montana. Mrs. Wyant, manager of the American Sabbath School Union gave an address on evangelistic work. Mrs. Hartford gave a comprehensive report of the outlook of the work throughout the state, and reported that Mrs. Tates, the national evangelist, had splendid reports of her work. She also announced that John Sodziecki will be in this city in the near future to deliver an address. At noon a luncheon was served for the committee. Tables were decorated very temptfully with smilax and a social-time enjoyed by all. The date was set for the first week in September for the State convention in Ashland.

Preferred Stock Pass. From here it can save day.

WORKMEN WARNED.

The Trades Council of Everett, Wash., will send out circular letters for distribution in the Eastern States advising mechanics to keep away from Sound cities unless they have money. The circular states that the literature sent throughout the East by the railroad companies is "false and misleading in character," and would flood Puget Sound with idleness if not contradicted.

PERSECUTED JEWS.

(Journal Special Service.) DENVER, March 21.—The local Hebrews yesterday agreed upon the re-establishment of the Denver Zion association, but did not complete organization. The meeting was held in the hall at No. 145 Larimer street, being largely attended. The membership lists were turned in, showing that 15 of the Denver Jews had agreed to assist in placing the movement upon its feet here. The officers will be selected at another meeting to be held a week from next Sunday. The speakers of the afternoon were Rabbi Tildens, Dr. Spaul and B. Rosen. The persecuted Jews, wherever they are situated, try to return to Palestine and colonize the old land. It is to be made that country a sort of place of refuge for Jews when driven from other countries. The headquarters of the main association are in London, and the last report showed that it had $150,000 pledged for the aid of those persecuted.

A LITTLE GIRL

Caused Trouble in the Murphy and Johnson Families.

Artie Murphy, a four-year-old girl, has been the innocent cause of much family trouble this week. The case was before Judge Cameron yesterday.

Mrs. Mary Johnson, the little one's aunt, who has had charge of her since the death of her mother, claimed that Jim Murphy and John Murphy, Artie's father, called at her home last Monday night and demanded the child, using bad language and striking her and her mother.

The evidence of the Murphy boys in court was that Mrs. Johnson and her mother, who is residing in the city and observed it giving her a beating. They had a copy of a verdict in hand, which claims that no blows were struck. Murphy was allowed to keep the child and Judge Cameron dismissed the case of battery.

DON'T WANT HEAD MOWED

(Journal Special Service.) MUSKOGEE, J. T., March 21.—Rather than submit to a hair-cut, eight full-blood Cherokee Indians were enrolled before the Dawes commission.

Judge Raymond of the United States federal court had ordered them to present themselves for enrollment under pain of contempt, and when they disobeyed ordered their arrest. The government officials pleaded with them to give in, but they declined stoutly. Red Bird Smith, their leader, making an impassioned speech in defense of their action.

Argument being of no avail, an order was issued today that each prisoner should have his hair cut. They were lined up to take their turn in the barber's chair. When the first Indian had lost his shoddy hair the others broke down, and admitted their willingness to enroll.

With sullen faces they signed their names to the enrollment and were released.

A GOOD SHOWING.

Food and Dairy Commissioner Bailey, who has been making war on watered milk, oleomargarine, etc., says that the market is now free of these and other forms of adulterated food. He says that the quality of the milk received in this city is excellent, there being an average of 4 per cent of butter fat shown.

BIG IMPROVEMENTS

The Pacific Lumber Company Spends $25,000.

The North Pacific Lumber Company is evidently a firm believer in the future of Portland as a lumber manufacturing center.

A great many improvements have been made by the company in the last few months. It has recently built a lumber storage, that covers a whole block of ground, put in a new blacksmith and also a machine shop at a great expense.

The company has had all the foundation piers renewed a short time ago, and lengthened the mill 40 feet. The mill can now cut timbers 100 feet long.

A new slip has also been added to haul up the logs, and another planer has been installed; also a new pair of engines that will develop over 250 horsepower.

The company has recently erected a new log carriage and equipment, the largest on the Pacific Coast.

The total cost of the improvements will cost the North Pacific Lumber Company over $25,000, and some more additions are being talked of for the near future.
