HAIRY NECKS

No-Shave Neck Club "Agin" the Barber's Union.

If all present porients do not fail, there will soon be more men in Portland wearing long hair on their necks than was ever seen before. It's all on account of the action of the Barbers' Union which has raised the ante on neck shaving to 6 cents per scrape where the customer's bill does not reach 20 cents.

A Portland man who felt that this was unwarranted, and who believes that barber shops should furnish all customers with a cheese sandwich to nibble at while waiting for the summons of "next" rather with a cheese sandwich to nibble at while waiting for the summons of "next" rather than to boost up their schedule, evolved a plan.

Fifty or more men who are unfortunate enough to be able to raise twelve times as much hair on their necks as on the top of their craniums, held a meeting to indiguantly protest against this innovation. They resoluted. It was decided either to have the members meet weekly and shave each others' necks, to exchange what necks they have for rubber necks upon which hair will not grow, to use depliatory preparations to kill off the hair or to let the hair grow. Finally the latter was decided upon. The new or-

He proudly exhibited two high turts of hair on either side of his neck which resembled fased bunch grass. Buch was the result of not interfering with the beautiful handiwerk of haire. The servetary of the club, whose head is entirely hald, and from whose glossy surface the lectric light rays glance and play, was much interested as the possibilities of hair culture on the neck. He thought he had been getting it in the neck already too long, anyway. The perspiration having somewhat dimmed the apex of his skull, he industriously burnished it with a silk handkerchief is its proper degree of justre, and arose.

In fervid language he painted a picture of how men with too much hair on their necks and too little on their heads could play a game of average with hature and come out somewhere mear even. He thought that when the hair had grown long enough on the neck it could be brushed with tiny black ribbons and prove effective.

WHOSE WINE?

PORTLAND, ORE.

Alice Roosevelt May Have to Decide It.

(Journal Special Service.) PARIS. April 4.—On account of the mportant part taken by Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the president, in he launching of Emperor William's important part taken by Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the president, in the launching of Emperor William's yacht, Meteor, in America, she may be called as a witness in several suits in Europe and the United States, threatened by a French wine company against a rival concern. The dispute is over the hrand of wine used in christening the Meteor.

It was Miss Roosevelt's hand which broke the wine over Emperor William's yacht and the French company says it will call the president's exughter as its witness. The German company asserts that it received assurance from Ambassador Hollenben that its wine would be used in the christening.

The French company entered suit for $250,000 damages against the German company three days ago in the imperial German court at Weisbaden and cabled today from Paris a demand to Ambassador von Hollenben that he retract his alleged statement of a suit would be entered in Milwaukee for $1,600,000 against the American agents there for pleted surveys for proposed extension of its line from Watersmeet to Mass City, Mich.

Active construction work is now in progress on the Salt Lake-Leamington cutoff of the Oregon Short Line. This will extend from Garfield to Leamington, Utah, via Tooele, Stockton and Silver City. When completed this will form part of the Oregon Short Line's main line from Salt Lake to Los Angeles, Cai.

It is reported that the Southern Pacific will build a line from Manion, Texas, to Braunfels, and that active construction work will soon be in progress.

The Baker City & Seven Devils Railroad is certainly to be, built. Thirty Baker City capitalists stand ready to put up $1,000 cash each to start the work of construction in case Lieutenant Farrow of New York does, not appear on the scene within ten days. The latter has promised to be on hand with his financial backers, but in case he should not the Baker City business men are detarmined to have the road built anyway.

There is a rumar affoat in Eastern Oregon to the effect that the Q. R. & N. is negotiating for the purchase of the Sumpter Valley Railroad for Limbo, One and that it would at once convert it into a broadgauge line. Nothing is known in Portland of any such move, although it is admitted that such an investment might not be a bad one.

At the last meeting of the officers and directors of the Portland, Vancouver & Yakima Railroad Company all the oid staff of officers were re-elected. By June i it is believed that trains will be running over the company's femilie extension to Dacoit, Wash. Had the delayed consignment of steel rails put in an appearance sooner trains would be running before that date. entered in Milwaukee for $1,600,000 against the American agents there for the German company. The dispatch to Ambassador von Hollenben concluded with the statement that Miss Rocsevelt will be called as a witness to dispreve his indorsement of the German company's claims.

A Wise Suggestion.

Traveling Freight Agent Harvey E. Lounsbury, of the Southern Pacific, has returned to Portland after a week's trip. He is an observing man, and offers a most excellent suggestion, which it would seem ought to be at once adopted. He said this morning:

"In my travels up and down the line I have observed that the various county seals through which the Southern Pacific runs are fully awake to the necessity of making the advantages of their respective sections known to the world. Their main object is to attract settlers respective sections known to the world. Their main object is to attract settlers from the persons now coming in from the East. Pamphiets are being issued in great numbers. East. Pamphlets are being issued in great numbers.

'I have found out that the Portland Chamber of Commerce could use this class of matter to great advantage, for it would be of benefit to the state at large. Portland being the largest city, the newcomers generally come here direct, branching out afterwards in various directions. They are all looking for accurate and definite information. It seems very plain to me that if the counties of the state would prepare pamphlets and send them to the Portland Chamber of Commerce for distribution, it would be of inestimable advantage to them.

"It would also seem that this suggestion should be speedily acted upon. I found that the Chamber of Commerce here has only printed matter relative to McMinnville, when every part of the great state of Oregon should find representation."

Northern Pacific Cut-Off.

Northern Pacific Cut-Off,

Information comes from Missoula, Mont., that a party of Northern Pacific surveyors are now at work in that vicinity preparing to make a survey to the Bitter Root summit on the Montana side to connect with a survey made from the western side of the mountains. The report has been made current that the party of surveyors operating along the North Fork of the Bitter Root River were laying the preliminary lines for an independent Eastern railroad company.

The rumor from Missoula rather tends to confirm the theory that the two surveying parties are working in sculping in and that they are making a definite survey for the Missoula-Lewiston cut-off. Three years ago the Northern Pacific found satisfactory grades in its survey of the Middle Fork route. If subsequent events should confirm the report from the North Fork, it would be an evidence that the Middle Fork route had been abandoned.

Why Tracey Refuses to Meet Young Gibbs.

Here is something interesting to Portland ring followers:

"Billy Lavings has matched Young Gibbs and Tominy Tracey to fight before the Acme Club of Cassand on the 22d of this month. The men were matched to fight in Portand, but on account of the uncertainty of police protection up there it was called off."

Tracey was amused when his attention was called to this article which is going the rounds of the 'Prisco sporting columns. It must be remembered that the Australian won the white welter-weight championship of the world when he defeated. Rube Perms, who then held it. Tracey is not in the rame now for his health and why should he go to Oakland for a "mill?" But read what he has to say;

"Why, when Lavings was here by told."

health and why should he go to Oakland for a "mill?" But read what he has to say;

"Why, when Lavings was here he told me there was no money in Oakland and that the La Tontics fight only pulled a $700 house. Now he sends me up a set of articles to sign offering the winner 50 per cent of the gross receipts, which is to be divided $6 and $5 per cent. Go on the basis of a $700 house and cut it in half. Take $5 per cent out of $350, which would be $27,50 a nice sum to go into training for and at the same time take a chance of defeat which would mean the loss of prestage for a measley $122,50, the short end of the purse.

"They must think old Tommy has gone suddenly insane. Portland turns out better to a fight than they do in Oakland and the Fastime Club is much more liberal with the principles in the way of percentage. Farms and me pulled over $1,000 more here than the La Fontice fight. No, you just say there is nothing to it and that thay will have to show me something better than they have."
