"WHAT I SHALL DO WHEN GOVERNOR"

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE

By W. J. FURNISH.

At the outset, I can promise the people of the State of Oregon that if I am elected Governor their every right shall be deeply respected. I believe that I can truthfully say that when my term shall have expired the people will have no cause for complaint against my administration.

My every act shall be in accord with the rights of the entire people. My administration of public affairs shall correspond to my administration of my private business—shall be conducted on a plane of economy commensurate with the best interests of a progressive commonwealth.

It shall be my ambition to serve the state as the trusted manager of a great private business would be required to serve those by whom he was employed.

There will be no unnecessary frills or furbelows about the gubernatorial office if I am chosen to fill it. I shall seriously contemplate the trust reposed in me and shall aim to discharge it in the interest of all the people as my best judgment shall dictate.

In my hands the office of Governor shall conserve the entire state, preferring no one section to another section, nor one class of citizens to another class.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE

By GEO. E. CHAMBERLAIN.

If elected Governor, I will do whatever is necessary to correct abuses in the way of official extravagance which are recognized as existing.

I have no hesitation in saying that whatever may be the political complexion of the Legislature, my first aim will be to scrutinize every act that comes to the Executive for his approval, and if vicious or extravagant, I will have no hesitation in placing upon it the seal of my veto.

I believe that the officers of the state should be placed upon salaries, and the constant and repeated violations of the Constitution with reference to increase of salary by the creation of useless commissions with salary attachments ought to be abolished, and I will do all in my power looking to the accomplishment of this result.

I promise, if elected, a business administration in every sense of the word, and a saving to the taxpayer for the state an amount as large in proportion as I have been enabled to save the taxpayers of Multnomah County in the administration of the affairs of the office which I now hold, and I appeal to my record in that respect as a guaranty of my good faith.

With reference to the management of the public lands of the state and the common school fund, and other matters connected with the fiscal affairs of the state, they will each and all receive my undivided and careful attention.

MURDERER CONFESSED

The Music Teacher Killed the Girl He Wronged.

(Scripps-McRae News Association.)
DETROIT, April 11.—J. M. Miller broke down today and confessed to the murder of Marie M. Jannette, whose horribly mutilated body was found in the street Wednesday night.

He said he killed her with a hatchet during a fierce quarrel, after she wanted him to run away with her.

He admitted that he had previously intended to kill her.

The murder is the sensation of the city. Miss Jannette had always been looked upon as a most exemplary young woman, and her parents were respected by all who knew them.

Miller, after long and arduous attention to his pupil, who had been taking music lessons at his studio, succeeded in accomplishing Miss Jannette's ruin.

Both the Jannette and Miller families are prostrated by the tragedy. Miller has a wife and several small children.

OPPOSITE OPINION

Schofields Does Not Agree With Miles.

(Scripps-McRae News Association.)
WASHINGTON, April 11.—General John W. Schofields' testimony before the Senate military committee with regard to Secretary Root's bill to increase the efficiency of the army by creating a general staff and consolidating the various staff departments, was made public today.

General Schofields made a strong argument for the creation of a general staff with a chief of staff at its head, to take the place of the present office of commanding general of the army.

He declared that the present system is to blame for the friction that has always existed between the Secretaries of War and the commanding generals, and that the chief of staff would have more power than the commanding general now has.

A MOTHER MURDERS HER FAVORITE SON

Then Turns the Weapon Upon Herself—Insanity the Cause.

(Journal Special Service.)
FOUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 11.—Unspeaking sorrow was brought to a home of luxury in this city early this morning when Mrs. A. Edwin Towers, wife of the multi-millionaire iron merchant, shot and killed the favorite child of the family, their 15-year-old son, Alfred, and then ended her own life by turning the deadly weapon upon herself.

The tragedy occurred at the beautiful family mansion, while the wife and mother was temporarily deranged.

Mrs. Towers has for years been one of the leading society women of this part of the state, and her warm friendships extended to New York City, Philadelphia, Boston, and other large cities.

She was remarked for amiability and sweetness of disposition, and a favorite with all acquaintances.

The son, Alfred, was likewise a neighborhood favorite. The best young men of Foughkeepsie courted his society. In his school and at the athletic clubs he was looked upon as a most promising character in the affairs of this community, and a career of great usefulness among his fellowmen and in the business world was predicted for him.

Mr. Towers is almost dumb with grief. He is dazed with the shock of the blow and the black pall of mourning that envelops the great mansion in which he has spent so many years of his busy life.

Mrs. Towers appeared unusually happy when she retired last night. Husband, wife and son were to go to New York today to meet friends from Europe who were to accompany them home for a protracted sojourn. Mrs. Towers seemed especially happy in the anticipation of their coming, often remarking that she would then not be so lonely when her husband was absent on business and her boy at school.
