SUPREME COURT

SALEM, April 15.—The Supreme Court on Monday afternoon rendered three decisions as follows: Nannie N. Starr, respondent, vs. Kate M. Kaiser, appellant, from Multnomah County, John B. Cleland, Judge; affirmed; opinion by Justice Wolverton.

Curtis E. Bowers (by Daniel Bowers, guardian), respondent, vs. Star Logging & Lumbering Company, appellant, from Columbia County; affirmed; opinion by Chief Justice Bean. S. Spencer, respondent, vs. V. C. Peterson, appellant, from Marion County, George H. Burnett, Judge; affirmed; opinion by Justice Moore.

The case of Bowers against the Star Logging Company was an action for damages arising out of the loss of an arm by Bowers, a boy of 18 years, in March 1899, while working for the defendant company. The judge held that the boy had not received sufficient warning of the dangerous nature of his work, and that the company was responsible for his injury by contributory negligence.

The action of Spencer vs. Peterson was an attempt to obtain damages for the obstruction of a highway in the Waldo hills. Peterson had laid out a tract of land as a townsite and sold lots therein, afterwards claiming a property interest in the same streets. The court held that all title therein had passed to the public.

GUARDIANSHIP CASE.

County Judge W. M. Calks this morning heard the argument of J. H. Hitchings, attorney for Margaret Ferris, petitioner for dissolution of the final account of her guardian, Thomas Gibbons.

Attorney Hitchings attempted to show, first, that no citation for Margaret Ferris to appear at the time of making the appointment of Gibbons was ever made by the court; that the clerk had issued the citation without any order. The probate books were sent for and, contrary to the counsel's contention, the order of citation was found duly recorded.

It was next claimed that the order referred to Margaret Ferris as an "incapable person," when the statutes provided for "insane persons." This point, however, was not well taken, in the opinion of Judge Calks, and the objection was overruled.

Mr. Hitchings then proceeded with the argument of the case on the testimony and the general merits of the claims. Attorney Spencer will address the court in behalf of the guardian, Thomas Gibbons.

CAN GET NO LICENSE.

One of the most prominent city officials, commenting upon the proposed erection of a saloon and sporting resort on the east side of the river, opposite Ross island, today gave it as his unqualified opinion that the City Council would not grant a liquor license for that purpose. It will be remembered that a similar project tried to locate at a park north of Piedmont, several years ago, but the citizens of the community made such vigorous protests against it, that the Council acceded to their demands and refused to issue a license, although about $5,000 had been expended in improvements of the park.

The citizens of Brooklyn are considerably worked up over the proposed establishment of the resort in that locality, and have called a mass meeting to be held there this evening, to determine upon the means best to adopt to defeat the project. A committee will likely be appointed to wait on the Council.

Howard Wanted to Die.

Benjamin Howard, an actor known here through his prominent connection with the Neill and Frawley companies, attempted suicide in Salt Lake recently. He took a large dose of laudanum and then hacked his wrist with a razor. Friends discovered him in time to save his life. The cause attributed for the attempted suicide is worry over sickness and other misfortunes this season.

Condensed Milk Sale.

NEW YORK, April 15.—The American stockholders of the Anglo-Swiss Condensed Milk Company met in this city today and ratified the sale of the holdings of the company to the Gail Borden Company. The Swiss stockholders agreed to the sale some time ago and today's action by the American holders of stock places the Anglo-Swiss concern in the hands of the Borden company.

HARDWARE COMBINE

Represents $120,000,000—Portland Out of It.

A dispatch from New York, under date of April 9, stated that "authoritative announcement of a consolidation of the great hardware jobbing interests of the country, capitalized at $120,000,000, has been made. The consolidation embraces the Simmons Hardware Company, St. Louis; Binsley Hardware Company, Pittsburg; William Bingham Company, Cleveland; Suplee Hardware Company, Philadelphia; Pacific Hardware and Steel Company, San Francisco; Marshal Hardware Company, Duluth; Bigelow & Downes Company, Boston; Van Camp Hardware and Iron Company, Indianapolis; George T. Richard Hardware Company, Denver; Janney, Semple, Hill & Co., Minneapolis, and 40 other houses representing nearly every important trade center of the country. Negotiations are still pending with other companies."

In addition to the general outline as stated, it is said that there are 22 firms in the combination of the hardware jobbing interests. Of these there are eight in Boston alone, besides four in Cleveland. Several houses in San Francisco are included, as well as in Los Angeles, but not one in Portland.

The general headquarters of the combine are at St. Louis. The Eastern headquarters, which has charge also of the finances, is in New York City. The buying headquarters are at St. Louis, where large contracts will be placed. Each house in the consolidation will maintain its own selling prices and be held responsible for the conduct of its business. Those who conduct such business unsatisfactorily will have the same taken out of their hands. The change will not affect the status of traveling salesmen, who are best calculated to handle the trade.

W. E. Robertson, manager for Corbett, Failing & Robertson, said to The Journal this morning:

"I have foreseen the formation of this consolidation for a long time—even before Mr. Bigelow, its representative, appeared on the Pacific Coast. I could see that matters were trending in that direction. I was approached by Mr. Bigelow last August but declined to enter the combine. He asked me if the business of Corbett, Failing & Robertson could be purchased, and I answered in the affirmative, providing we received our price. When informed that that was Mr. Bigelow's speedy lost all interest in us.

CONFESSED MURDER.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 15.—The mystery that completely puzzled the police last spring, when August Layton was murdered near Turtle Creek, has been solved by the arrest of William J. Byers, the brother of Layton, now the wife of Frank Williams. Byers has confessed.

"I killed Layton," said Byers to Detective McGovern, as he threw himself on his breast. "For God's sake, save me! I was in love with her, and she loved me. She hated her husband and said we must kill him. It was arranged on the night of June 10 that I must kill him. I was to accompany him to McKeesport and kill him on the way. When we were on the farm of Edward Taylor I stepped back of him and shot him in the head. Layton fell to the ground. Then I put four shots in his head. I dragged the body to a clump of bushes and threw brush over him. I went to the home of Mrs. Layton and spent the day and night with her. We went to a dance that night and had a good time together."

WOMEN FIGHT.

Ada Wilson and her husband John (colored), are in Judge Cameron's office this afternoon awaiting the arrival of bondsmen. Frankie Woolridge, also colored, is the aggrieved one, and she charges that "Big Ada," as she is known to the police, and John Wilson attacked her Sunday and gave her a drubbing which has kept her in her room since. The complainant bears evidence of hard treatment. Under the right eye is a deep and long incision which was evidently made by some sharp instrument.

Miller Succeeds Gomph.

H. J. Miller is the newest appointment with the O. R. & N. Company. He comes from Pittsburg, Pa., and has worked a short time at Baker City, before coming here. In Pennsylvania he was in the service of the Pittsburg & Erie. Mr. Miller took the place yesterday left vacant by Fred Gomph, who recently resigned his place as assistant rate clerk, to accept a position with R. H. Countiss, secretary of the transcontinental freight bureau at San Francisco.

WILL HAVE TO WAIT. Just before going to press this afternoon it was learned that a special train of seven cars had pulled out from Del Monte, Cal., and was headed for San Francisco. It had on board E. H. Harriman and party and left Del Monte at 2:25 P. M. The train dispatcher at the Union depot here has been on the lookout, and is constantly expecting to be advised as to the probable time of arrival of Mr. Harriman in Portland. Orders have been issued from local headquarters to clean up the several O. R. & N. Company's docks, and to get matters in readiness for Mr. Harriman's inspection, in case he should unexpectedly arrive. There does not seem to be the slightest doubt that he will visit Portland, but whether he will do so or not remains to be seen.

"Old Horse" Sale. On Thursday the O. R. & N. Company will have a clean-up sale of unclaimed baggage, etc., that has piled up on its hands. This is to be conducted at Gilman's auction rooms under the auspices of the General Passenger Agent. The goods to be disposed of comprise trunks in zinc, painted canvas and russet; telescopes, little and big; valises, chests, boxes, bundles, tent poles, bicycles, etc. There are bound to be some surprises. The mass of stuff to be sold represents the accumulation of a year. This sale will be the fourth one since 1894.

Confessed Smuggler. William Anderson, the accommodating man who brought $500 worth of opium from Olympia in a trunk which he said belonged to another fellow, went before the United States Commissioner this morning and pleaded guilty to the charge of smuggling. He was fined $50. This he at once paid and was liberated.

AGED DEAD. Two persons well along in years passed away last night. Ashford Clayton, a Cobbs Valley granger, died at Good Samaritan hospital, aged 76 years.

Mrs. Eliza Loretta Wood, well known here, died at her residence, 213 Third street, at the age of 77.

GUARDSMEN

Preparing for the Annual Encampment Next Month.

The Third Regiment, Oregon National Guard, is considering the question of the next annual march and encampment. At a meeting of the Military Board the question of selecting a suitable location, was discussed, and the solution of the subject was left to a committee consisting of General C. F. Beebe and Adjutant-General Ganter. The time most in favor with the members seems to be either the last 10 days of June or the first 10 days of July.

A number of locations have already been talked of, among them Salem, Hood River and the Coast.

The boys are all looking forward with the usual degree of interest in the outing, for besides affording valuable outdoor exercise, military training, etc., each member is allowed $1.50 a day and all expenses for the time out.

Under the new law, every member of the Regiment will be required to attend the encampment.

The new kiwi uniforms have been received and will be ready for distribution in a few days.

ROUND TOWN.

Claud Jotes, a delivery boy, was fined $5 yesterday for depositing garbage under a bridge on East Fourteenth street.

Councilman Mulkey has called the attention of City Engineer W. B. Chase to a building that obstructs the street at the intersection of Washington and Burnside. Mr. Mulkey said that several feet of the structure was occupying the sidewalk, and that the obstruction would have to be removed.

Oregon Castle, No. 304, of the Royal Highlanders, will give another of their series of popular dances tomorrow evening at Mulkey Hall. Invitations may be obtained from members.

An elderly man named McDonald is detained by the police. He is said to be feeble minded and should be taken care of by some institution.

LITTLE THINGS

IN LITTLE LIVES

"Mamma, I don't think the people who make dolls are very pious people," said Mabel.

"Why not, my child?"

"Because you can never make them kneel. I always have to lay my doll on her stomach to say her prayers."

A small girl told a falsehood. Her mother with great dignity led the youthful offender to the library, and, sitting down beside her, said: "You know, Katherine, grandma has gone to heaven and papa has gone to heaven. But if you tell untruths you can not go to heaven with them. You will have to go to the other place."

The little maiden looked very grave for a moment, and then said: "Say a swear word, mamma, and come to the other place, too."

"I feel dreadful, but I'm goin' to stay with you, mamma, and be a vegetablearian, even if I die," was the loyal expression of a little girl whose mother is a member of a class that is studying vegetable cookery. A child the daughter of another member, was less loyal. She was missed from home, and found sitting upon her uncle's doorstep, crying bitterly. When asked why she had run away from home she sobbed out: "Ise walked all the way 'cause my mamma's learning that kind of cooking I don't like."

To a query as to what she meant, she explained: "They calls it nootison food."

JUST THINK OF IT.

A man never poses as a hypocrite when he is alone.

Misery loves company—and she usually has a houseful of it.

Gymnasts wear spring and fall clothing regardless of the season.

It was an Irish philosopher who said: "Idleness clothes a man with nakedness."

Nearly every woman on earth has lost a pocketbook at some stage of her career. Methuselah was fortunate enough to have lived before patent medicines were invented.

If a man is inclined to lead a fast life he should lead it to the nearest hitching post and tie it.

An old bachelor says it is evidently a greater pleasure to die for some woman than it is to live with them.

A girl's idea of genuine misery is to get new bonnet on Saturday and then have it rain all day Sunday.

The pessimist believes that the tide of life swells in from a sea of troubles.

The traveling salesman shouldn't let the baggage man check his enthusiasm.

There's enough of the world to go around, but some people want the earth.
