The third annual dog show of the Portland Kennel Club, which is a member of the Pacific Kennel League, was formally opened at the Exposition building this afternoon.

On entering the doors, one is imvivile, Lady.

On entering the doors, one is impressed with the fact that these are real dog days. The baritones of hounds, the yelps of terriers in a falsetto key, and, in fact, even tenors, altos, sopranos and basse profundos everywhere to be heard, showed that the dog was much in evidence everywhere, and this is no dogmatic state-

One was forcibly reminded of all the things that have been written about dogs, in all the ages of the world. If some of the big bulldogs are typical of the dogs of war, it would not be pleasant to have them let loose. It would be far better to keep them in

As the tones of the inharmonious dog chorus strikes the ear, it was evident that they all knew that "every dog must have his day," as Swift said long ago. These lucky dogs are going to have several. They know it, and hey're all working overtime. It isn't that the dogs lack voices, but they have never been trained. Notwithstanding, to his master's fond ear, there is no sweeter music than the voice of his favorite canine. To all such, "there never was a better dog than old dog Tray."

Dogs, after all, are very much like cople, and they show every grade of temperament. There are the gay, the olemn, the joyful, the meditative.

The pupples are all interesting, as babies of any kind usually are. The funny-faced pugs looked very droll, Some of the animals reared up on their hind-legs and looked about as though inspecting the place they were in. Many of them showed a friendly inclination to lick the hands of the vis-Itors. Nervous little black-and-tans skipped about in their inclosures.

But the highly interesting period is feeding time. Dogs enjoy eating. Dogs are philosophers. They never worrythese canine aristocrats-over the condition of affairs. They don't have to. Somebody else does all that for them. They have a soft snap, and they sppreciate it.

From the huge mastiffs, who lick their chops expectantly, down to the pug who vainly tries to straighten the kink in his tail; or the dachshund, which can be utilized for a boa but can not successfully be shortened up like a telescope—all these dogs view eration for their delight.

There has been no little rivalry between Seattle and Portland in the matter of bench shows. The Puget Sound city, it is said, hoped to surpass Portland, but there is no question but that Portland has the top-notch show in the circuit. It has fully 75 more dogs entered. It looked for a long time, and, indeed, up to within four days before the entries commenced coming, as though the bench show would prove "a frost," but that can not be said

The efficient work of the Secretary, W. W. Peaslee, is evident, and he has performed splendid service.

Politics interested people more than dogs, and it was almost impossible to get all owners to put in their entries. Secretary Peaslee stated today that Julius Rettelsheimer, who is President of the Pecific Kennel League, will come dog at the show, but there certainly down from Seattle and attend the

The FIELD OF SPORT

The outlook is good for the match games next Saturday and Sunday between the Portlands and Monograms on the league grounds. The former team is on the field every morning, hard at work, and each afternoon is put in with practice games with le-cal teams and picked nines. In this way the professionals, who are fast rounding into shape, will be in condition to put up as good a team work game as if they had made the circuit. The Monograms, who are acknowledged to be the best team independent of any college or professional nine in Oregon, are not neglecting their practice in any way. Every evening, after the Vigneux men finish hey take the field and put in a couple of hours hard practice. They are al-ready well up on team work, many having played together last sea-son and hope to break even with In the smooth-coated St. Bernard. class I. N. Of the six bids submitted, that of the Nutmeg Club, Cincinnati, was the highest. The offer is $14,-000, and the little fellows will battle for it between October 7 and 15. O'Brien appears to be very strong at 142 pounds and is looking after a match with Tom Tracey. He says: "My fight with Turner shows that I can no longer fight in the lightweight class, and in the future I will not try to make any lower than 135 pounds." . H. L. Baggerly, sporting editor of the San Francisco Bulletin, has received a letter from Tom Tracey of this city containing a draft for $10. Tracey wrote: "Divide this between the Bishop and Dempsey funds."

All the persons interested in the Century Athletic Club are disgusted over the dilly-dallying of the various cards proposed, and as a last resort Manager McCarey is negotiating for a fight between Jack Jeffries, brother of the champion, and Jack Johnson, who defeated Kennedy recently. Kid Parker has finally induced Jimmy Britt to meet him, and the club that will give the most money will handle the fight.

Kid Finnerty announces that he is ready to fight either Eddie Hanlon or Frankie Neal at 115 pounds. Charley Goff has returned from the North, and is now running his fatherin-law's ranch near Blanken's, San Francisco. He says that he expected to go back to Seattle just as soon as his father-in-law recovered his health. Jack Johnson is matched to fight Jim Tremble at Bakersfield, May 2. Kid McFadden states that he would fight Ben Jordan in place of Jim Wil-liams during coronation week in Lon-don. He left Tuesday. "Spider" Kelly, who has returned home from Seattle, says the town will be all right very soon. Gambling will be resumed without interference.

Buddy Ryan and Young Mowatt will go the windup at the Wabash Club's show April 18. This will be a corking bout.

> Charles Mays, the hackman, is not going to escape as lightly this time as he has on numerous other occasions, as the authorities say he has run his limit and will, this time, be forced to take his medicine. Mays will have to explain in the > police court this afternoon why he did not take Peter Nergood to his destination, when engaged to do so, at a rea sonable rate. Instead of driving Nergood to the vicinity of the rolling mills, as requested, it is alleged that he drove to the East Side and after travesing a number of streets, came back over the Madison-street bridge Then driving up to a creamery Mays is charged with stopping to make a pretence of consulting a directory to find the street Nergood wanted. The latter says that Mays then demanded $10 for services already performed and $5 in advance for the balance of the haul. The $10 was paid under protest and then Nergood laid his case before the District Attorney who issued a > warrant. This charge is not all that Mays will have to face, as there are several other complaints against him which will be investigated, and if found to be as they appear the hackman stands a chance of going to the penitentiary.

WATER COMMITTEE

To Lay 14-Inch Main on East First Street.

On the recommendation of the Board of Fire Commissioners, the Water Committee has instructed the construction committee to proceed with the laying of a 15-inch water main from East Twelfth down East Main to East First, and north on East First to East Oak. The work will cost about $16,-

Geo. J. Walker, City Electrician, submitted a report on the damage to water pipes by electrolysis.

A communication was received from the Port of Portland Commissioners, asking that the water mains at the river bed near Inman & Poulsen's mill. be submerged deeper to allow a, 25-foot channel to be dredged there. The matter was referred.

A delegation of Irvington citizens informed the board that the supply of water in that section was inadequate, since the system had been detached from the Albina plant, and connected with the Rull Run pipes. They want-ed to be again connected with the Alblna system. On motion of Mayor Rowe, the change was ordered made. The contract for supplying cast iron water pipes was awarded to the Oregon Iron & Steel Company. They will furnish pipes of all sizes for $37 per ton; and specials, 3% cents per pound.

M'KINLEY AND HOBART WINDOW

LONG BRANCH, N. J., April 16 .-The most interesting feature of the dedication today of the magnificent new First Reformed Church was the unveiling of a friendship window in memory of the late President and Vice-President of the United States, McKinley and Hobart. The window is a handsome work of art and occuples a conspicuous place in the new edifice. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. Charles J. Young, D. D., of the Church of the Puritans, New York.

PORT COMMISSION.

The letter and contract from Faber, Du Faur & Donnelly have not yet been received by the Port of Portland Commission. President Banfield said this morning that he had received a telegram from them about a week ago, saying that the letter and contract had been forwarded. but as yet they have not been received. He expects a reply from them sometime today, but the meeting of the commission has been postponed.

PIANOS

PLAIN UNVARNISHED FACTS

Nearly all the good and medium-grade planes can be counted on the fingers of your two hands. We do not claim to carry all the good planes, but we do claim that all the planes we carry are good. We certainly have the BEST plane in the world, and as good medium-grade planes as were ever put on the market. Below that we never go. We carry a splendid line of planes—planes that we are sure are as good as money and brains can produce for the price, and we are not constantly changing our lines of instruments. We have the same make of planes today that we had last year, and you can rest assured that we will be representing the same manufacturers next year, and so on. We are here to stay, and consequently do not think if prudent to take on a cheap plane for a while; then, as soon as the people "get next," drop it and take on another of the same grade. The people will not be fooled all the time.

There are certain names in the plane world that mean "value received," "100 cents for a dollar," and they are STEINWAY, has ERSON, ESTEY, STARR, A. B. CASE and RICHMOND PIANOS. Sold only by
