A Chinaman by the name of Lu Wing is the complainant, and says young Taggart struck him in the face and knocked him down without provocation. Taggart and two confederates claim that they were walking down Fourth street on no particular business, when they met "another gang" of hoodlums running away from a Chinaman lying in the street. The Chinaman called to a friend, who blew a police whistle, and then followed Taggart and his friends as they turned down Oak street. They soon met a policeman and the Chinaman pointed Taggart out as his assailant.

WAS THE BIG FIGHT A FAKE?

Many Believe Fitz Laid Down to the Boilermaker—Jeffries Terribly Punished While Fitz Is Unhurt.

(Scripps-McRae News Association.) SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—Jeffries spent last night and today in the Hammam baths. He shows the effect of the terrible punishment administered him in the fight. His face is cut and bruised, his nose is broken, and both eyes are so swollen that he can scarcely see. Fitzsimmons passed an uncomfortable night and became delirious at 3 o'clock this morning from pain as a result of the knockout jolt. The doctors state his condition is not serious. He bears no marks of his contest.

A story has been published here to the effect that the fight was a fake. Fitz purposely pretending to be knocked out. The report is not generally credited by the majority of those who saw the fight, and is vigorously denied by all concerned.

Major Schmitz will prohibit all future contests if he is satisfied it was a fake. Jeffries' share of the receipts is $14,345, and Fitzsimmons' $3664.

Fitz's manager, Ball, stated this afternoon: "Fitz is without a scratch or a mark as a result of the fight. His bruised eye was received during training from Griffin in boxing previous to the battle. He is only sore in the body. Fitz has not yet made definite plans for the future. He will probably go on an exhibition tour en route home, having received offers from Portland, Seattle and other Northern and Eastern cities. He will not again meet Jeffries, as he is satisfied it would be useless as the champion is the better man, and is simply invincible. The fight was not a fake. There could be no object in faking. It was fought for honor and the championship rather than the purse. It is pretty tough to put up as good a fight as Fitz did, and then to have it declared a fake. What could Fitz gain by being knocked out if he could have won the championship and more money by winning?" Both Fitz and Jeff are very indignant over the fake story. They say it originated from a prediction by an old woman fortune-teller at Harbin Springs, and that it was merely a coincidence that the fight lasted eight rounds as she foretold. Mayor Schmitz stated this afternoon that he was not yet positively convinced the fight was a fake but that he thought it was and that in case of verification he would stop all professional fighting in San Francisco, merely permitting local amateur contests.
