ROUTED A BIG LION

Lou McLain Worked a Big Bluff on the Forest King.

(Journal Special Service.)

MARYSVILLE, Cal., July 28.—Lou McLain, one of the owners of the well-known McLain brothers' mine, one and a half miles from Laporte, has outdone the famous deed of David of Israel in slaying the giant Philistine, Goliath of Gath. McLain was seeking bait for a fishing trip when he stumbled upon an exceedingly large lion. The beast was only a few feet distant, and crouched to spring. Being familiar with the nature of these animals, McLain knew that any exhibition of fear meant his death, and with rare presence of mind he began to call loudly. At the same time he stooped and picked up a handful of rock and advanced on the lion, pelting him as he did so. At first it looked as though his game of bluff would be called, but the strange attack finally had the desired effect and the animal turned tail and ran. McLain is the hero of the mining camp now.

NEEDED MONEY

Strong and Yohe Said to Have Worked His Relatives.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The departure of May Yohe for London and her statement prior to leaving this city that she still loved Captain Strong gives support to the belief now freely expressed that the whole story of Strong's stealing her jewelry was concocted by the two for the purpose of getting money from Strong's relatives.

It is now fully asserted that the application to the police on the part of May Yohe for the arrest of Strong was merely carrying out an arrangement between Lord Hope's divorced wife and the disgraced captain, by which Strong's mother and other relatives could be induced to give the pair money.

If that were the plan it succeeded. The next chapter will probably be the announcement of the reconciliation of the pair and another report of the squandering of their funds.

WANT THOSE DOLLARS.

LOS ANGELES, July 26.—An old man in tattered clothing and apparently penniless, who gave his name as Charles Hill, died a month ago after a short illness in the charity ward at the Good Samaritan hospital in this city. The body was buried in potter's field.

While destroying the grimy clothing of the old man some one found receipts for room rent, a silver watch, a bunch of keys, and a lot of milk tickets in a pocket. One of the keys proved to be that of a safe deposit box.

In the box was $141,150. There were 27 $1,000 bills, 43 $500 bills, and the rest of the money was in the denominations of $100, $50 and $20. The box contained nothing else—not a scrap of paper to give the smallest clew to Hill's identity.

With so large a fortune at stake the public administrator set about a vigorous search for information concerning Hill. He found that Hill had lived for a few years in a back room in a cheap lodging house, that he had never been known to have any friends or callers, had never been known to write or receive letters, and was unusually taciturn, going for weeks without speaking to any one. Sometimes he cooked his meals in his own room and at other times he ate at 10-cent restaurants. No one has yet been found who knew the old man, save by sight.

The news of the finding of Hill's $141,150 was published far and wide. Forthwith a stream of letters and telegrams came pouring in upon the public administrator, the Mayor, the Sheriff, and the County Clerk from almost every part of the Union and Canada. Up to date more than 2000 letters and telegrams have been received from people who say they are next of kin to the dead man and therefore his heirs.

The law of California provides that if the courts find no heir or legatee of an estate lying within this state, the proceeds of the estate shall be turned into the school funds of the state after seven years.

Queen of Scots, a Norwegian bark, has been chartered by Balfour, Guthrie & Co. to load wheat for South Africa. She has been lying at Port Townsend since June 23.

The month of August promises to be exceptioanly lively along the water front, as several grain ships are now due here. Old crop wheat is still coming in and there will be a sufficient quantity on hand to supply them with cargoes.

The French bark Gael has been chartered to load wheat here at 27 shillings. This is the lowest rate paid for new crop loading, and it is stated that but very little profit can be made at such a low figure. The bounty paid by the French government will enable the Gael to make a profit, but as vessels flying other flags receive no assistance from this source, they are placed at a disadvantage.
