Parade Postponed a Day---Candidates for Queen Are Wanted.

The Elks' carnival will open on September 1, as has been published, but on account of September 1 being Labor Day it has been decided to postpone the first parade of the Elks, and the coronation ceremonies of crowning the Queen, until September 2

Letters are being sent to all lodges in the East and in California, inviting them to take part in the Portland carnival on their way home from the convention at Salt Lake. Many large and beautifully illustrated posters have just arrived from Cincinnati, and will be scattered out over the city and vicinity.

Communications in regard to wedding day are being received and one gentleman has applied for a place on the pro gram on that day. No names of persons desiring to be wedded at the carnival will be made public, and it is expected that quite a number will apply in the next

A number of votes for Queen are being sold and the contest has commenced in earnest.

Since Miss Durgess, who was a candidte for carnival Queen has withdrawn, there are only four candidates; but an effort is being made to get others to enter the race for the tempting prize of $500.

It is expected that the special photographs of Misses Douglas, Walton, Burgoyne and Mountain, which are being made for The Journal by Moore, the photographer, will be ready for publication by Monday.

Manager Rowe announced this morning that work on the buildings and fence would commence in a few days in order to get everything ready as soon as possible. In another column of The Journal will be seen an advertisement for sealed proposals relative to the sale of confections on the carnival grounds.

Miss Octavia Downing, of 262 Fourteenth street, has entered the contest for carnival queen.

CITY SUED

Five Former Employes Asking for Back Salaries.

William Braden, J. W. Brown, A. M. Shannon, R. Rueter and J. F. Bordman, through Sweek & Long, attorneys, today began suit against the city for back pay amounting to $390 each-$1950 in all-in addition to $591.50 interest and costs and disbursements. In 1896 the city reduced the pay of all employes of the street cleaning department from $90 to $75 per month. At the request of the employes the ordinance was not changed because, they said, when the city's financial distress was over it would be difficult to persuade the Council to increase the pay tolts former level of $90 per month. So the accommodating officials said, "We will do as you request. We will just pare your pay, but leave the ordinance as it

The plaintiff's now allege that the city had no right to reduce their wages, except b yordinance, even with their consent, hence the suit. A similar case of firemen versus the city some time ago, resulted in a decision favorable to the plaintiffs,

LOOUACIOUS HANSON.

The Council committee on Health and Police was in session today, most of its time being occupied by reading petitions from persons and firms desiring the privlege of erecting signs and awnings at their places of business, contrary to the city ordinance governing the subject. In most cases the ordinance was depicted a cracker-jack for the other fellow, but not applicable, as at least oppressive, to the petitioner. C. R. Hansen, a North End employment agent, wrote a two-page. closely-lined foolscap typewritten communication, which included an invitation to the august council to send a committee down to his shop to discuss the matter and be convinced that Mr. Hansen's business is a public benefaction, and, anyway, he ought to be permitted to act at his pleasure as his merchandise, human came off as arranged. Several applications, however, were granted.

MRS. NATHAN'S GOOD WORK

She Explains the Good to Be Derived from Organization.

Mrs. Frederick Nathan, president of the Consumers' League of New York, delivered an address on "The Evils Resulting From Sweat Shops and Tenement-Made Clothing" to a large and appreciative audience in the Scottish Rite Hall, Marquam Building, last night.

Mrs. Nathan's address was both logical and forceful and brought the subject before the people without dilly-dailying. Mrs. Nathan commenced by describing the Consumers' League and giving its history. She said:

"A Consumers' League is an association of persons who strive to do their buying in such ways as to further the welfare of those who make or distribute the things bought. Our standards are: An enlightened purchaser, a progressive league, a fair house and a recommended

"Goods bearing our label are made in factories in which the state factory law is obeyed, all goods are made on the premises, where overtime is not worked unless paid for, and where children under 16 years of age are not employed. before the use of our label is given to a manufacturer his factory is visited by the agent of the lengue, who asks both the local Board of Health and the State Factory Inspector for a special report on the establishment. When this is satisfactory the manufacturer signs a penalty embodying the four points guaranteed. After the use of our label is awarded, the factory is visited from time to time by our agents, and the local committee of the league reports upon the matter to the national secretary. We do not have a blacklist or boycott, but a white list specifying what are fair stores. An enlightened purchaser gives the preference to goods bearing the label of the Consumers' League, and to merchanis who comply with the requirements of the standard of a fair house. A fair house, for one thinge is where the merchant pays employes their wages weekly, not by the month, as in the course of a year the employes would lose a good deal in the way of wages."

Miss Nathan then continued by saving that it is their wish to abolish sweat shops as there is a frightful danger to the purchaser and consumer who wear and deal in infected garments. The people of the West are not immune from the evil, as the most of the clothes sold here comes from New York and Chicago the centers of sweatshop work. Before concluding Mrs. Nathan spoke of the evils of c..... labor, and hoped that Oregon will have labor laws which will prevent the employment of young children She also made a plea that no purchases should be made late in the afternoon or on Saturday afternoon, so as to promote the reasonable lelsure of mercantile em-
