BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

The Board of Public Works yesterday afternoon pronounced the First and Second street bridges in South Portland unsafe, and ordered them closed. The front street bridge is now the only one open to the public, and will have the strain of the three structures to bear. The condemned bridges have not yet been barricaded, but persons who travel over them do so at their own peril. The Board has spent $1500 and the City & Suburban $1000 on the front street bridge and it is in fairly good condition.

FIGHTING A SALOON

Lents People up in Arms Against a Man Named Juke.

A woman who declined to state her name, and who possessed a plentiful flow of words, called at the office of the County Judge yesterday to enter her protest against the issuance of a retail liquor license to a man named Juke, to enable him to open a saloon at Lents.

"Juke attempted to secure a license several months ago," she said, "but we remonstrated him out of court." Since then he has been conducting a blind pig. When the Lents voting precinct was enlarged, taking in a settlement of Italians in one direction, two miles away, and a number of dairymen in another, the gentleman loomed up with a new petition, and I understand, Judge Cake felt inclined to grant the license. Now all who reside in the village of Lents object to this saloon and to persons whose homes are two miles distant fastening it upon us. And we will fight the proposition so long as it shall be agitated. If the license be granted we will be like Banquo's ghost—and at it just as if we had not been defeated. We do not want, and will never tamely submit to, a saloon in our village."

Judge Webster was at Salem yesterday, so he missed something.

JAPANESE PORTLAND GROWING A BIG CROP

So Is All Oregon--Minnesota Colony of 300 Coming This Fall.

Consul Urges Oregon Exhibit at Osaka.

IT WILL BRING TRADE

Interesting Talk on the Subject by Japan's Representative.

In an interview with The Journal Sumuro Tokagi, the Japanese consul, gave his views on the benefits to be derived by Oregon as well as the whole Pacific Coast from an exhibit at the Japanese Industrial Exhibition to be held at Osaka from March 1 to July 31, 1903.

Mr. Tokagi said: "If Japan would see the products of Oregon and have a person to demonstrate the uses of them before the eyes of the people, the business men of the West would be surprised at the amount of orders they would receive."

"You know that during the last 35 years the Japanese have emerged from a feudal state to the present state of enlightenment. The higher classes of people are already buying from America and Great Britain, but the lower classes do not. These are the people you must educate to your views. You must have a person there to demonstrate the uses to them of tables, chairs, butter and canned salmon, also cheese, wool, wooden fabrics, dried fruits, rice, sugar, linen, farina, dried salmon, cotton, and especially paper of all kinds. Paper is what we need very badly--this is a chance for the Oregon paper mills."

"Before I forget let me remind you that Great Britain is doing three times as much business in Japan as the United States, in spite of the distance, yet Portland is the nearest enlightened port to Japan. Japan has a population of 47,000,000, and if the American goods get a foothold in Japan, they will naturally drift into Korea and from there into China."

"Besides an exhibit, I would suggest that some commercial organization take up the matter of publishing a booklet, describing Portland; this booklet is to be part English and part Japanese. If this is done Portland will be advertised all over Japan, as our young men will naturally read it--study it--and consequently become familiar with Portland. Portland is nearer to Japan than either Seattle, Tacoma or San Francisco, so there is no reason why Portland should not get our trade."

"Another thing, if Oregon does not place an exhibit in Japan, do you expect Japan to place an exhibit here in 1903? It would be against common sense for us to do so."

CONSUMERS' LEAGUE

Mrs. Julia A. Marquam Chosen President, and Mrs. Addition, Secretary.

The Consumers' League of Oregon was organized late yesterday afternoon in the chapel of the Unitarian Church. Mrs. Julia A. Marquam was elected president and Mrs. Lucia Faxon Addition secretary.

The meeting was not well attended because of the hot weather, but the league was organized and the next meeting will be held in October, the exact date to be decided upon by the president.

The progress on the Falling building, the new Weinhart building, the Scottish Rite temple, and other structures is progressing satisfactorily.

BATH HOUSE POPULAR.

The Public Bath-House is becoming one of the most popular places in the city and the question of enlarging it is being seriously considered. Mr. Holman says that over 200 persons bathed there in one day not long ago and that a number of little boys were waiting at 8 a. m. for the baths to open at 9 a. m. Tuesday morning.

From some of the statements made by Mr. Holman it would seem that the bathers are a virtual crop of young financiers, for out of a crowd of more than 200 Monday forenoon, the small sum of 105 cents was taken in. It took the boys only a few days to learn that it was cheaper in the end to buy a 25-cent suit of their own than to pay the sum of 5 cents for the use of a suit each time they take a bath. Arrangements are being made to have a number of those who contributed heavily toward the construction of the bath go over together some afternoon and see the boys when 400 or 500 are enjoying themselves in the water.

LABOR OFFICIALS.

Spent Busy Day Yesterday--Left Today for Tacoma.

Samuel Gompers, Max Morris and W. P. Mahon, the visiting officials of the American Federation of Labor, departed early this morning for Tacoma, where they will deliver addresses tonight.

Yesterday they spent the day enjoying the sights of the city and other places of interest. In the afternoon they went to Vancouver. They were accompanied by J. E. Wilson, H. A. Duke, Charles Mickle, H. G. Kundset and G. Y. Harry, of Portland, and J. E. Dole, of Coos Bay. They went on the street cars and returned by boat. While in Vancouver President Gompers and Editor Kundset engaged in a foot race for the entertainment of the populace and visitors. They were so evenly matched that neither contestant won, and all bets had to be returned.

Before leaving, the local labor situation was thoroughly inquired into by the officials, but no change was advised. They were in perfect accord with everything that had been done.

IMPROVING THE ROAD.

The Oregon Water Power & Railway Company has received a new steam shovel which it has put in operation along its line at Milwaukie, near where dirt is being procured to fill and level up the new railroad just completed on the west side of town. Construction work on the new trolley line eastward is expected to be commenced soon, and it is very probable that the new steam shovel will be kept in active operation for some time to come.

Oak Street Improvement.

A largely signed petition from residents on East Oak street will be presented to the City Council, asking for the improvement of East Oak street between East Third and East Twelfth streets. Because of the dangerous condition of the roadway between Union avenue and East Sixth streets, Oak street has been closed to the public for the past five years.

A BIG CROP

Fine Harvest Being Garnered in Oregon.

BIG YIELD CERTAIN

Grain, Root and Fruit Crops Have Seldom Given Greater Promise--Plenty of Potatoes.

A great harvest is in process of garnering in this state at this time. Grain everywhere is reported up to the usual average, and in many localities far in advance of last season.

In Wasco and Sherman Counties for example, the Columbia Southern people report the wheat yield equal to the most productive of any year in the history of that section. In 1900 Sherman County produced one-sixth of the wheat crop of the state, the yield averaging 35 to 40 bushels to the acre. The crop now being harvested is fully equal to that of that prolific season. And the acreage is much larger than ever before. Ever since the completion of the railroad to Shaniko new land is constantly being broken up; hence, the aggregate yield of Sherman County is steadily increasing.

Hon. D. M. C. Gault of Hillsboro, Washington County, says the wheat yield of the West Side Valley will be about the average, except in spots where the Indians have done some damage. The oat and hay crop, especially anything grown for several years, the hay crop is especially large.

The same report comes from the Willamette Valley as far south as Ashland. According to the Pendleton East Oregonian the wheat crop of Umatilla County will be a "bumper." W. E. McComas, representing the Northwestern Warehouse Company, informs that paper that Umatilla will produce between 3,750,000 and 4,000,000 bushels of wheat, which will be better than the average annual yield. Other grains show up equally well.

Further east, as in Union and Baker Counties, an unusually good crop is being gathered. The sugar beet crop in the neighborhood of La Grande will be very large and all kinds of tree fruit will be up to the average.

Throughout Western Oregon cherries and prunes suffered some from the effects of two severe gales of wind, something unusual to this region, which shook fruit from the trees. This damage, however, will not be perceptible in the market when the prune crop is sold.

Apples will be a good crop. Rootcrops look well. The indications are that potatoes will yield enormously, still it is not believed that prices will fall to those of three or four years ago. Nor are they likely to reach the fabulous figures of 1901 and the early part of this year.

Altogether, Oregon's crop outlook is most encouraging. If prices are maintained the ranchmen of Webfoot will have reason to rejoice.

Some of the railroads have this year adopted the plan of charging by the day for freight cars, instead of by the mile. It being the presumption that this will spur consignees up to more speedy discharge and return.

A RALLY OF VETS

Boys in Gray United at Annual State Confederate Re-Union.

NEW ORLEANS, La. Aug. 6.—The "boys who wore the gray" have rallied here from all parts of the state to "round noses," renew acquaintances and exchange reminiscences of the experiences of war days. The occasion is the annual state convention and reunion of the Louisiana division of the United States Confederate Veterans. As many of the veterans are accompanied by their families the total attendance is considerable, though there is sad evidence of the fact that the ranks of the soldiers are gradually but surely growing thinner. The formal opening takes place this evening when the gathering will be called to order by Major-General Leon Justremski. Much interest centers in the big tournament and festival to be held at the fair grounds tomorrow and it is expected a good sum of money will be realized toward adding the Buregard monument fund.

CHOICE ADVERTISING BITS.

Two desirable bits of advertising have recently been issued by the Northwestern line which are worth more than passing notice. They are both issued by the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha. The one is a very elaborate brochure with a beautiful cover in rich colors, and the illustrations are first class. A birds-eye view of Minneapolis, St. Anthony Falls, the Campus of the Minnesota State University, Minneapolis Falls, Summit avenue of St. Paul, a view of St. Paul, the new state capitol at St. Paul, and historic Fort Snelling are among the fine half-tints.

The other brochure is less pretentious in the matter of decoration, but will be prized by many as a keepsake. It contains the last public address of President McKinley, delivered at the Pan-American Exposition, at Buffalo, September 8, 1901. It also contains President Roosevelt's address before the Home Market Club of Boston, on April 30, 1901, entitled, "Our Place Among Nations."

CHURCH PROPERTY MAY BE SOLD

It is stated on reliable authority that Archbishop Alexander Christie of the Roman Catholic Church is desirous of selling the half block held by him as trustee for the church on Third street and extending from Oak to Stark streets. The north quarter is covered by a two-story stone structure known as the Columbia building and connected with it and extending to Stark street is a two-story brick. The site was occupied for many years by the old St. Mary's Cathedral, which was torn down about seven years ago. The property is valuable, but so far as ascertaining the Archbishop has not divulged his price for it, or what he intends to do with the proceeds arising from a sale.
