Church News and Views. The New York Sun comments upon the production of a mass for St. Patrick's cathedral, Newark, by six amateur composers, three of whom are Protestant clergymen, thus: "That two Episcopal ministers should assist in writing a mass is not surprising, but that they should write it for a Roman Catholic church is rather remarkable. That a Presbyterian minister should be a colleague in the production is very remarkable. A generation ago such a circumstance would have struck Protestants with amazement. Now it is likely to pass without any very serious comment or, at least, any bitter rebuke."

One hundred and thirty heads of families in Oxford, England, who are unable to attend their district churches on account of the type of ritual observed in them, have memorialized Bishop Paget respecting the building of an evangelical church. But the patronage of the same supplies a bone of contention. The memorialists, in order to make permanent evangelical worship in the new church, wish to vest the patronage in the council of Wykfield hall. The bishop of Oxford refuses his consent and claims that the patronage should be vested in himself. An offer has been made to build and endow the church at an outlay of £10,000.

De Wet and Scotch Whiskey. De Wet is possessed of humor. One of the leading officials in a refugee camp is a Scotman, who, during the dinner took occasion in offering the dinner drink to say to De Wet among his captured amount of whiskey among his captured amount of whiskey. De Wet was much amused at this, and said that before attacking a convoy he made inquiries if they were guarded by Scotsmen. If this were so, he further inquired if it contained any whiskey. If the second condition accompanied the first, he always gave the convoy a wide berth, because he knew the beggars would fight to the last man. —St. James' Gazette.

He Followed Directions. Murphy being sick and alone in his cabin, Hogan volunteered to take care of him. The patient had been getting very little sleep, so the doctor let some powders and told Hogan to give Murphy one about bedtime in the evening. Hogan went out for a few minutes, and when he returned Murphy was fast asleep. He slept soundly until 10 o'clock, when Hogan went to the bedside, shook the sleeping man vigorously and shouted: "Wa-ake up, here, Murphy, till O! give ye these powders 't ma-ake ye sleep." —Colorado Springs Gazette.

THE MARKETS.

The wheat market shows a slightly better under tone this morning and with an expected advance in the Eastern centers today, a slight rise may be expected tomorrow. A few transactions are reported at a shade below the ruling quotations, but nothing of sufficient magnitude to change the situation materially.

Oregon tomatoes and peaches are coming in quite freely and meeting with fair sale. The market is about stationary, so far as prices are concerned, and the usual amount of business is being done.
