THE ROCK REFINERY

City Prisoners Must Hustle for Their Bread.

There are at present 10 men on the chain gang. They put in their time on the rock refinery on First and Flanders streets. The city is under no expense in maintaining the prisoners. The system is a good one, besides being self-supporting, and the exercise is conducive to keeping many of the offenders from returning to the jail at frequent intervals. Heretofore the inmates of the city jail were placed in confinement. They had no labor to perform, and with fair food waxed fat, and the jail was at all times filled with a lot of lousy vagrants who had a better time in the lock-up than on the outside. Officer Roberts, who has supervision of the gang, states that all who are able to work must get in and drill if they are placed in the city retention shop to serve out a fine. The men are given plenty of wholesome food, and are treated with all the consideration possible under the circumstances. They are, as a rule, bad ones, and the majority of them are drinking and kicking most of the time, and when they are dismissed, you will never return again. As a rule they generally show up in a few days. The rock they crush is bought for $1 a load, and sold to the city for $1.75.

LABOR OFFICIALS IN PORTLAND

Joseph C. Skemp Makes a Visit to the Local Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers.

Joseph C. Skemp, third general vice-president of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon en route to his home in San Francisco. He stopped off here to pay a brief visit to the local union, and resumed his homeward trip early this morning. Mr. Skemp has been at La Fayette, Ind., attending a meeting of the executive board of the national organization which was in continuous session for four weeks. A large volume of business was transacted in this time and many general matters were discussed. "We completed an agreement with the Amalgamated Woodworkers," said Mr. Skemp last evening to a Journal reporter. In the future they only go on the building to touch up their work from the factories. Heretofore the woodworkers have been doing considerable of our work in the way of painting various finishings which they turned out. We now do all this and have the right to all interior painting in the factories. "We have made a larger increase in our membership during the past six months than any other labor organization in the country. We have organized over 200 locals, representing more than 12,000 men. Our total membership is now between 40,000 and 50,000. I think the painters, as a whole, are more energetic and better fighters than are those of any other branch of the building trades. "On my trip home I have visited Denver, Butte, Great Falls, Spokane, Seattle and Tacoma, and found the unions at the various places to be in a most prosperous condition. The painters in Seattle had some little trouble a short time ago, but that is about over and all the members are at work. They asked for higher wages and their demand was granted by all the contractors excepting three or four. The Portland union is in better shape, for the size of the town, I think, than at any other place I have been. "A special meeting was called last night by the union in Mr. Skemp's honor. The visitor made an address and a very enthusiastic time is reported.

PORT OF PORTLAND

Will Advertise for Oil--Reading of Dredge Report.

The Port of Portland Commissioners at their last meeting decided to name the new 30-inch dredge, which will be completed next month the Columbia. A petition from the J. B. Montgomery estate was read, requesting that about 600 cubic yards be removed from the river bed in front of Montgomery dock No. 2. This was referred to Superintendent Kelly, of the dredge Portland for consideration. A report of what the dredge Portland has done for the month of July was read by Superintendent Kelly. The report showed 49.29 hours were devoted to digging, during which time 1000 feet of channel in front of the Oceanic dock were dredged. This channel is 150 feet wide; from 3 to 11 feet deep and contains 200 cubic yards. The clerk was ordered to place advertisements for the supplying of lubricating oil to the Port of Portland for the coming year. Quite a few communications were read which were placed on file.

MUSIC AS A FACTOR IN PHYSICAL WELL-BEING

The value of music as an agency in maintaining health is just beginning to be recognized. It has been prophesied that the time will come when music, as a science, will be a part of materia medica. The soothing effect of a simple melody is well known; soldiers will attest the recuperative effect of martial music; it is a noticeable fact that that professional singers are rarely afflicted with respiratory consumption and that on the contrary music frequently dis of such affliction. The deep respiration which is a part of methodical, proper singing gives the best possible ventilation of the lungs, strengthens the intercostal muscles, improves the digestion and helps the heart. It has been shown to be of especial benefit to those with tuberculous tendencies for the respiration forces the air into the upper part of the lungs, the part that ordinary respiration scarcely brings into play. There are many cases to prove these assertions. Signor and Mme. G. Ferrari, teachers of voice production, located in the Mulkey building, on Morrison street, have met with marked success in the curing of catarrh, throat and respiratory troubles; the intelligent application of their method of voice culture, many of the cases were of long standing, as is shown by the many very highly commendable testimonials these people have received from grateful patrons. Signor Ferrari is well and favorably known, not only in Portland, but in the East and in Europe, as a vocalist of the highest order. As baritone with the Milan Opera Company he won laurels that he may justly regard with pride. As an instructor of the voice there are Portland people who regard him as a master.
