CORONATION OF OUR QUEEN

Grand and Beautiful Scene at Elks' Carnival Tonight—The Opening Event of a Happy Fortnight.

Midway Show Has Arrived—"Plans Are all Completed," Says Mr. Rowe—The Country Store Is Ready.

This is the night that Queen Maybelle ascends her throne to rule over the little kingdom of beauty and fun; the night of stately and stately when the great event of the season opens up with a flourish of trumpets and glare of lights and beauty.

All the Queen's company will meet at the Elks' headquarters at 7:30 tonight, with heralds, trumpeters, courtiers, pages and the necessary train of attendants to her Majesty. The company will then proceed to the throne where the crowning will take place at 8:30.

CORONATION ORDERS

The order of coronation issued last night is as follows:

The Queen's male attendants will assemble at rooms, southwest corner Eighth and Burnside streets, at 7:30 p. m., Monday, September 1.

When the Queen's carriage arrives at 8:30, the attendants will form as follows:

Four trumpeters, four heralds, Minstrel, Princes, etc., pages.

The trumpeters will sound an alarm at 8:30, which will be opened by the band.

The trumpeters will then enter the throne and take their station at the front of the throne and blow a fanfare and retire right and left.

The heralds will immediately follow and take position on the right and left at rear of trumpeters.

The carriage of the maids will follow accompanied by four Ministers, who will assist maids to throne, taking position, standing right and left of coronation chair.

The trumpeters will then advance to front of throne and blow fanfare as the carriage of the Queen advances, preceded by four Princes, who will assist the Queen from her carriage.

The Queen will take the throne alone, being carried on a throne.

The trumpeters will cease when the carriage stops at foot of throne and the band will strike up "God Save the Queen," while the Queen ascends and takes her seat.

Then will enter the archbishop accompanied by two boys dressed as altar boys, carrying crown and scepter.

When the band ceases, the archbishop will take position at front of throne, the Queen will advance and kneel, and the bishop, taking crown from boy at the right, will place it on Queen's brow, reciting the lines arranged for this ceremony.

The Queen will then rise and the bishop will take scepter from boy at left and place it in her right hand and repeat lines arranged.

The Queen will then take her seat and receive the homage of her subjects, the archbishop, and the boys retiring.

The plans have been carefully made and this year the great carnival will open with one of the grandest scenes witnessed here for many a day. Queen Maybelle is TRULY A QUEEN in her gorgeous and majestic way; Saturday night to the entire length of the city will be a blaze of light, but the most of brilliant was reached at the feet of the Host Portland, where the grand was dancing.

THE JABOUR COMPANY arrived last night a special train of 20 cars. There are 20 people, a menagerie of animals, elephants, camels and donkeys galore. There are scenes to delight the heart of the boy and even crowds of town people swarmed to see the animals this morning. They punched the bears the ribs to hear them groan, fed the elephant on peanuts and crackers, and watched the great lazy-looking camels as they trod around trying to appear at home. Activity! the midway is a picture of activity seldom seen in the city.

The company will present some of the most spectacular scenes ever witnessed in the city. There are Arab, Japanese jugglers and a swarm of light art performers.

THE LOOF-THE-LOOF will be set up and it is expected that this part of the show will come off. On account of the injuries received by the man who does this daring piece of work the event was not pulled off at Seattle but Mr. Jabour promises that it will be seen here and the people will see to it that he keeps his promise. Among the attractions are the German village, the Mexican village, the Oriental dances, flying ladies, high diving and scores of other of equal importance.

ORDERS TO ARREST

No Hostilities Reported Today--More Collieries to Start.

(Scripps-McRae News Association.)

PARKER, W. Va., Sept. 1.—A sensation was created here today by 11 members of the the Parkersburg Company of National Guards, who, on account of being in sympathy with the strikers, deserted their company. Orders were at once issued that the culprits should be arrested.

MORE NON-UNIONISTS

TAMAQUA, W. Va., Sept. 1.—The ranks of the non-union men at Lansford and Summit Hill were augmented this morning. It is reported that 300 additional men had reported at the former and 100 at the latter for work. The fact that this is a holiday is probably the reason that there have been no disturbances, as a majority of the union men are taking part in parades, etc. However, serious trouble is expected tomorrow, as it is believed to be the intention of the operators to start the No. 3 colliery.

TROOPS RETAINED

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 1.—Governor White has decided, in view of the conditions, to retain the troops at Thurmond a few days longer. However, quiet continues there at present.

MINISTER WU FAVORS LABOR

Makes Speech Supporting Arbitration in Disputes.

A PROFIT SHARING SCHEME

Said He Did Not Want the Unrestricted Admission of Chinese.

(Scripps-McRae News Association.)

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 1.—In the speech of Chinese Minister Wu today arguing in favor of arbitration of labor disputes he claims that China has solved the problem by the adoption of a profit sharing scheme. He said he favored unionism for self-protection, and paid high tribute to American workmen.

Discussing the Chinese exclusion act he said: "I assure you nothing has ever been said or done by me which was not beneficial to American labor. It has not been my aim to secure unrestricted admission of Chinese laborers but only to remove the unnecessary obstacles to coming merchants, students and desirable classes. The hostile legislation against China hurts the American laboring men because China retails by decreasing the purchase of American products. Americans must find markets for their surplus products or their workmen will suffer."

THE JOURNAL'S GREETING TO LABOR

It is trite, yet pertinent, to say that organization is the spirit of the era. The involved complexities of modern society require more thorough control of the forces of production and distribution than that of yesterday. Even though it eliminate individualism in some degree, the necessities of the period compel that complete organization of society be thrown into chaos.

Organization of capital and of labor are to be permanent phases of social development, until puzzling problems now causing unrest and trouble are solved.

The organization of capital is one of the wonders of the age. Its attainments in this line are little short of marvelous.

The organization of labor, too, is most remarkable, and it is more complete than most persons know. Its ramifications extend now from ocean to ocean.

"When reason guides the craft, they'll reach the harbor," is, perhaps, as wise a motto as any, for those who today are upon the sea of speculation as to what will be the end of present differences between stored-up labor, which is capital, and potential capital, which is labor.

That such a happy ending may come soon, is the earnest wish of the Oregon Daily Journal. To the laboring men, it extends its greetings. And, with faith in the triumph of good over evil, with confidence in the ultimate mastery of reason over prejudice, holding capital, legitimate capital, to be correlative with labor. The Journal awaits the coming of Labor Day, Monday, September 1, with pleasurable anticipation. May the men who represent that combination of brain and brawn that goes to make up the American laborer, for one day be in the foreground, and let all other Fortlanders stand aside and permit nothing to detract from the full enjoyment of the occasion.

SCHOOLS ARE INCREASING

Report of the State Superintendent Shows Great Improvement.

(Scripps-McRae News Association.)

SALEM, Sept. 1.—The statistical report of the schools of the state has just been issued by State Superintendent J. H. Ackerman, and some interesting facts in connection with the schools of the state are disclosed. Among the most important facts it shows an increase in the school population over last year of 23,322. This, of course, has necessitated the employment of more teachers and building more schoolhouses.

Superintendent Ackerman's report indicates a large population in the state for the reason that in the past year the number of legal voters for school purposes is much larger than it was last year and that salaries of both male and female teachers have been materially advanced.

He estimates the valuation of schoolhouses and buildings of the state in $2,112,602.

MITCHELL WON'T SPEAK

(Scripps-McRae News Association.)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Great disappointment is expressed here over the failure of President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers of America, to arrive this morning. He was advertised to make the Labor Day address and owing to his non-appearance the day was devoted almost entirely to parades only.

HUNDREDS ARE LOST

Many Vessels Washed Ashore and Dashed to Pieces--Storm Unabated.

(Scripps-McRae News Association.)

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 1.—A report to the effect that a terrific storm is raging over Algoa Bay today which is causing considerable damage has been received here. Advice so far say that thirty-eight vessels have been washed ashore, but no particulars are obtainable as to the amount of damage done. It is feared that unless the storm soon subsides, there will be a great loss of life. Everything possible is being done to rescue those overtaken by the storm.

A later report says that five more vessels have been dashed to pieces and all hands on board were lost, numbering almost one hundred persons. The storm is unabated.

MAIDENS WIN OUT

Messenger Boys' Strike in Chicago Declared Off.

(Scripps-McRae News Association.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—The strike instituted here about a week ago by the messenger boys employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company has been declared off. During the strike the downtown offices employed men to take the places of the strikers, but the men found it was a hard job and that the boys would make life a burden to them whenever they attempted to deliver a message, which they refused to do and as a result the company announces that it will retain the girls as long as they desire to work and will reinstate only such boys as it has vacancies for.

JUSSERAND TO COME

(Scripps-McRae News Association.)

PARIS, Sept. 1.—Great satisfaction is being expressed here that M. Jusserand is being expressed over the official announcement here that M. Jusserand is to become the French minister at Washington. He is to succeed Minister Jules Cambon, who is to be sent to Madrid.

THE UNIONS' GREAT PARADE

Not a Hitch in the Program Started on Time and Everything Worked Smoothly.

The Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers Carry Off the Silk Flag--Thousands of People Witnessed the March.

The Painters' Paperhangers' and Decorators' Union won the 375 American silk flag offered by the Pacific Regalia Company to the organization making the best appearance in the line of parades. Two other points were also taken into consideration, uniformity of dress and the relative number of men turned out by a union according to its membership. The judges were Rev. H. A. Barden, Dr. N. R. Cox and Attorney George W. Hazen.

All the principal business houses were closed in honor of the event and the employees were at their respective headquarters shortly after 3 o'clock donning their uniforms and making other preparations.

Before 10 o'clock all congregated at West Park and Taylor streets, and at precisely one-half hour later the sound of three taps of the fire bell the line of march was begun.

THERE WAS NO WAITING as is usual on such occasions. "It was the most prompt affair I ever saw," "I do not see how they could start so quickly without delay of any kind." "It is marvelous and they are to be congratulated," were common expressions heard on every hand when the long procession had gotten under way.

It is variously estimated that from 7000 to 9000 people were in the procession, and as they marched through the principal streets, keeping step to music provided by eight union bands, there was general surprise expressed at the number of wage-earners there are in Portland.

"I had no idea that there were so many of them," said a business man, "I supposed that several hundred men would march, and then that part of the procession would soon be concluded, but I must confess that I am agreeably surprised. It convinces me that Portland is a much larger and greater city than I had ever given it credit for being."

The parade was composed of THREE DIVISIONS. It was led by a platoon of police who were in charge of Captain John McNew. Immediately following came Grand Marshal Barry, who made a striking picture on his dark charger. Then came the Third Regiment Band in lead of the Building Trades, the latter being divided into two sections. The carpenters had the place of honor and created a splendid impression in point of numbers as well as in general appearance. In addition to their ordinary wardrobe they wore white crash hats and aprons. There were TWELVE OTHER UNIONS in this division of which particular mention might be made if time and space permitted. Each carried banners emblematic of the branch to which it belonged, and the workmanship and general design were of the very best character. In the second division were the Painters, Paperhangers and Decorators, the winners of the handsome silk flag.

Brown's brass band was in their lead. Both the Street Menial Workers and the Electricians carried flags of more than ordinary beauty in workmanship and design. In the center of each banner were large pictures which were easily interpreted.

Next came the WATER-FRONT FEDERATION, with the Team Drivers' Union at the head of the column. Closely following was a large battery containing about 25 children of the Portland public schools. Through a misunderstanding the second division broke the line of march and went down Seventh street instead of proceeding to Third, but the mistake was quickly rectified and all placed in proper position again. The Bridges and Structural Iron Workers made a splendid impression. A number of Craft Handicrafters gave an exhibition of the manner in which they do business.

Longshoremen were garbed in their best clothes and carried a very pretty float. THE PRINTING-PHYSICIANS gained considerable applause as they passed through the principal thoroughfares.

The Retail Clerks made a most favorable impression. Light automobiles, a battery and a large number of rigs were occupied by them.

The Machinists also gave an exhibition of their skill. The Brewsters created a fine impression, as well as a great number of other unions.

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE watched the parade, and so anxious some of them became for something would be missed that they crowded out into the streets almost blocking further progress at times. The whole affair was a grand sight not soon to be forgotten.

"The labor unions did themselves proud," is the general verdict.

EDWARD COMING

(Scripps-McRae News Association.)

LONDON, Sept. 1.—A report is current today that the King will visit America during the latter part of September aboard the royal yacht Victoria and Albert. The American embassy discredits any knowledge of it but admits that the report came from the Malborough House.

EAST SIDE ANGRY

Indignation Meeting Against Oil Tanks On Tuesday Night.

The residents of North East Portland are still excited over the prospect of locating the Standard oil tanks in their midst and do not take kindly to Mr. Flanders' assertion that the tanks will be an ornament to the district and increase the value of their homes.

Circulars are out for a meeting of the interested property owners to be held at Williams avenue and Hancock street, Tuesday evening to adopt measures to have the matter brought up at the council meeting Wednesday and disposed of one way or the other. They can see no reason why the council should delay a matter that is of so vital interest to the owners of homes in that vicinity.

It is expected that a large number of interested property owners will be at the meeting and their decision will be given to the council in no uncertain tone.
