OUEEN CROWNED

Carnival Is Successfully Launched.

CROWDS ATTENDED

Grand Street Parade Today---The Midway Is a Great Attraction.

With the music of bands, the blast of trumpets and a din of enthusiastic hawkers, the Elks' Carnival opened at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A large growd stood at the front approach to hear the band and watch the opening of the gates of the brilliant city.

The Midway was still unfinished but the Temple of Music, with its industrial surroundings and the long line of booths were all quite attractive. There were all sorts of schemes designed to please, Down in the Country Store the whir of the wagon wheel sounds like a wheel of fortune, the amateur farmers are attract. ing the attention of the passers by the fering inducements for people to try the games of chance.

The Midway is a dessling array of at tractions. The Japs are performing acts of wonder on the high platform, the acrobats are doing . ood-curdling turns in the air and the German village is Dutch in every sense of the word-with a good, cold glass of beer thrown in. In the little square at the right, as you go down the Midway, are the animals; clumsy bears and slepy monarchs of the forest; chattering monkeys and billy-goats with agricultural whiskers and whining bleats.

Portls, was a city of crowds yesterday. There is a great number of strangers in town and every train is now bringing in hundreds of enthusiasts.

Last night the Elk City was thronged with a happy crowd who had come to see Queen Maybelle I. crowned and for the first time wave her wand of authority over the attentive subjects.

The coronation ceremony was most impressive. Queen Maybelle I. presented a beautiful picture as she stepped forth amid the throng of attendants to ascend her throne and receive the crown. Her robe was gorgeous and today her people, who were not there last night, had an opportunity to see their sovreign.

The opening was successful, crowds of people attended and the Enks' Carnival was launched as one of the successes of

ON THE MIDWAY,

The Jabour Shows on the Carnival Midway are an unqualified success. Although not yet at their best, thousands of people last night laughed at the witticisms and marvelled at the acrobatic wonders there produced. The performance of the Arab acrobats alone was worth more than the price of admission.

The German village, too, was a source of attraction such as has rarely been seen in this city, and many were the expressions of satisfaction that the Elks should so well have fulfilled their promises of a show worth going far to see.

Another feature of interest was the animal exhibit. It is far above the average of such shows and many a youngster, and older ones, too, enjoyed it. The elephant, in particular, was a favorite. It seems to take a delight in startling the people who feed it with nuts and candy by hoarse whistles and feminine screams of surprise only make the huge brute cock his great ears and almost seem to wink with glee. High wire acrobatics, Turkish dances and excellent tumbling work round out one of the best shows ever seen in Portland.

DECORATION PRIZES. Citizens wondered what was going on today, when they saw Attorney George W. Hazen, Col. James McI. Wood and M. W. Catlin riding through the business atreets in an open carriage. It did look odd, but it is easily explained. They were viewing the decorations made in honor of the Elks' Carnival in order to decide who should have the handsome prizes offered for the best decorated buildings and windows. After much deliberation the following decision was made: Best decorated building, the Hotel Portland; second best, Meier & Frank. Pullman Cafe, owned by Conrad & Holton, deserves special mention. For the window decorations the judges gave the first prize to Pfunders, the ficrists; second prize to H. Liebes & Co., the Furrier on Morrison : eet, and special mention to A. & C. Feldheimers, the jewelers. TODAYS PARADE. Today's festivities began with a grand street parade. The Queen in a beautiful charlot, made her first bow upon the streets of the city and was heartily re-

DAMAGE EROM FOREST FIRES NAVY'S

Havoc Worked Near Springwater---Farmers Narrowly Escape Destruction.

OREGON CITY, Sept. 2.-Frank Bush returned yesterday evening from his ranch beyond Springwater where he went to ascertain the damage to his, place caused by forest fires. Contrary to late reports he says that the fire is now only smoldering and, should a north wind spring up, acres of valuable timber will be destroyed. Already 4000 acres have been burned over. All of the farmers of that section have lost many valuable cattle that were unable to escape. In one instance a cow jumped over a bluff to save her calf below. The fall broke her back but she died licking her offspring in an effort to protect it from the heat.

William Newman was entirely burned out, his family barely escaping with their Murderer Has Succeeded in Eluding the Police.

(Scripps-McRae News Association.) LONDON, Sept. 2.-A horrible crime was committed on New Cross street here yesterday. A paperhanger for some unaccountable reason cut the throats of his wife and four children at various intervals during the day. It was one of the most dastardly crimes that has been committed in this vicinity in years. - It was not until late in the evening that the wholesale murder was discovered. The sight was a sickening one to those who entered the place where the deed was done and found the bodies of the victims of the brute lying in pools of blood which flowed from the wounds made by the instrument in the hands of the assassin. The name of the flend is Frank Gavilla and no cause is known for his crime. Although the police have made a thorough search he has so far succeeded in elud-

FEVER LESS PREVALENT.

(Journal Special Service.) LONDON, Sept. 2.-The official report on the British Central African Protec torate, which has just been published by the foreign office, provides some suggestive evidence as to the degree in which the so-called malarian fevers may be expected to disappear as the result of the most careful preventative measures based on recent knowledge. Systematic experimenting conducted in certain sections of British Central Africa, lead to the conclusion that the fevers have been rendered much less prevalent where the mosquitos have been exterminatd by pouring small quantities of petroleum on the stagnant waters of the

Over the Most Troublesome Oil

ALBINA IS LIKELY TO WIN

Proposed Ordinance Gives no Relief to the East Side.

Attorney Linthieum, at the request of property owners on both sides of the river, is drawing up a new ordinance governing the location of oil tanks. Little is known of the provisions of the new ordinance as it has not been completed yet, but Councilman Rumilin, who will probably introduce it tomorrow, by request, said when questioned:

"Now, really, I cannot give you the provisions of this new ordinance. I have een given to understand, however, that a 'dead line' is to be established at Killingsworth avenue, which is just north of the flouring mills. No oil storage tanks will be permitted to be established this side of that line. "This will give tay Aibina people the relief they ask but it does not do qwoy with the present supply tanks at the East End of the Madison street bridge The ordinance will, I believe, prohibit the Standard Oil people from establishing any more tanks on the present site. While the people of Albina will be satisfled the ordinance will not meet with the approval of the people around the scene of the recent big fire."

It begins to look now that the Albinaites are going to win their struggle after all. They have worked hard enough at (Scripps-McRae News Association.) COOPER, W. Va., Sept. 2-The Pocoiontas Colliery Company's leading mine was fired this morning and is now burning and great damage is threatened. The mine has three entrances in West Virginia, and one in Virginia. Anticipating trouble a strong guard was on duty on the West Virginia side, but the incendiaries effected an entrance, on the Virginia side. A large number of guards pursued the sirkers to the wooded hillside and fired many volleys into the timber, but it is now known, whether any of the strikers were killed or injured. This is the mine where an explosion nine months ago killed so many miners.

POLITICAL WIRELAYING

State Senator Fulton and the U. S. House of Lords.

The genial and forceful State Senator from Astoria, Hon. C. W. Tuttle, is at the Portland and is followed about by the horrible suspicion that he is seizing the opportunity for mending of political fences and perhaps laying a few more or less active wires, in his candidacy for the United States Seants. And if appearances be relied on, the opportunity is according to the liking of the gentleman from the Clatsop capital. He is seeing numerous prominent men from out of town who are here sightseeing, as well as willing to bask in the smiles of a real live candidate for the American house of lords. To those, including the press men, who were after more of the real essence of Senator Fulton's candidacy, however, the Lower Columbia statesman was as cautious and non-committal as as-he usually is. It was said for the Senator that he would be in town for the entire week.

CAPTAIN TELLS OF STRIKE

He Says Men Asked Higher Wages and Won in Five Days.

The C. F. Sargeant began discharging her salmon cargo of 34,000 cases at the Ainsworth dock this morning. The Sargeant arrived here August 28 from Muchogak River, Alaska, from where she set sail August 14. Captain Gammans says that the trip was uneventful further than that he made the passage more quickly than any of the other vessels from that point. About the only thing of note which happened up there during the season, he says, was a strike. There were fishermen from Astoria, Seattle and San Francisco and they were being paid at the rate of 2 cents a fish for all they caught. They formed a union after they had worked for a certain length of time and demanded that the price be raised to 3 cents. The companies refused to comply with the demand and a strike was declared.

After Gellig up the limitative for five days the various firms gave up the fight and signed the men's agreement. The captain says, however, that the contract will not hold good, as the men signed for
