ON EXPORT ORDERS.
SALEM, Sept. 8.—Salem flouring mills are just finishing up an order of 15,000 quarters of flour for Kobe, Japan. For some time past the mill has been running on export orders only, the present run having extended over an even month. This year's wheat is about all in and the yield taken generally will amount to about a half crop. One Saturday morning a consignment of wheat from W. B. Clark, who lives south of Salem, was received at the mill and it was learned that this man secured 45 bushels per acre which is among the best yields reported this season. The average around here has been 25, ranging from 15 and lower to 45.

LOWEST YIELD IN MANY YEARS.
J. K. Sears, of McCoy, one of Polk County's best known farmers and warehousemen, was in Salem Saturday. He reports the year's wheat nearly all in and says the yield in his locality is the lowest in many years. As evidence he says the bins in the warehouses will contain nearly all the wheat in bulk and that as yet he has not heard of a single warehouse sacking grain. Mr. Sears also has high interests near McCoy and reports a good yield and picking progressing nicely. He says 40 and 50 cents is being paid for picking but that in his opinion all will have to pay 60 cents or more many days, as first-class yards are already paying that figure and pickers are learning that they can get that price.

THREE NEW PROFESSORS.
Three new teachers will greet the students of Willamette University this year. They are: Charles A. Dawson, of Ohio, English Law and Literature; G. A. Warfield, of Astoria, Latin and Greek; N. D. Moser, of the University of Wooster, O., Physical Culture.

The first named, Mr. Dawson, assisted during a part of last year in Science. He was married August 28, and with his wife will soon take up his abode in Salem.

Prof. Warfield has been in Salem for some time in readiness to take his position in the chair of Latin and Greek. Prof. Moser is expected to arrive soon. Besides being an efficient instructor in Physical Culture, he is also a first-class football coach and will officiate in that capacity with the Salem team. The football outlook is good. Many of the old players and several good new ones will be in the team. Manager H. W. Swafford returned Friday from Eastern Oregon, where he has been employed during the summer. He already has his football schedule partly mapped out and it includes two games with Corvallis.

A new instructor on the piano has been secured for the College of Music. He comes from Boston.

A PLEASANT OUTING.
A party consisting of R. R. Ryan and family, Mr. Merrill, of Fox Valley, Mrs. H. B. Begun, of Lafayette, and E. F. Potter, a brother-in-law of Mr. Ryan, have just returned from a somewhat extended pleasant and eventful outing along the beach. Their trip extended from Newport to Yachats. From Newport they went to Seal Rocks. Mr. Ryan thinks this point should now be called Stone Park. Edwin Stone of the Corvallis & Eastern having purchased it and will take steps at once to make it a great resort. Mr. Stone's purchase includes 1000 acres, the bulk of which he will convert into a stock ranch, and Mr. Ryan thinks it will be one of the best in the state. Its beach area, which includes Seal Rocks, will be improved for a resort. From hence the party went to Alsea, in which bay crabs and good fish abound, and are easily caught. Thence to Yachats (spelled Yachats at home), where smelt fishing is simply to gather them up. The waves threw them out on the sand and rocks so that the crowd was enabled to gather them up from 300 to 400 pounds in 30 minutes. Camping facilities here are splendid, fishing likewise. Mr. Ryan says none should take the mountain route to go to Yachats, but all should go down the beach via Newport. On their return they came through the mountains and were five days getting out, the roads being rough almost beyond description. At Yachats Beach are beautiful agates in abundance. Below Cape Perpetua bear and deer furnish splendid hunting.

A NOVEL ENTERPRISE.
Independence is the headquarters of a somewhat novel enterprise though of beneficial design and withal logical and up-to-date modern operandi. It is known as The People's Homebuilding Employment and Investment Association. It has been incorporated under the laws of Oregon and capitalized for $100,000 which is divided into 10,000 shares of $1000 each. Its objects are to co-operatively acquire lands for the purpose of farming, dairying, stock-raising, mining, and logging; to purchase, construct and operate kinds of industrial plants such as brick and tile factories, fruit, vegetable and fish canneries, bottling, shoe, clothing and all kinds of mercantile establishments, and to make all kinds of purchases and investments of profit to its members. Its list of eligibles comprise all worthy and industrious persons who desire to secure for themselves a prospect of constant employment and to own a home of their own, provide for old age and insure themselves and families against the possibility of want.

In other words it is a complete co-operative working system. All its members who can keep up their assessments until the enterprise is on its feet, will be furnished employment and a home with a prospect of perpetual immunity from all the uncertainties incident to competitive business strife. In short it is socialism applied to all branches of business instead of to one or two branches as many of the previous co-operative efforts have been. Its proponents are Socialists and they believe their plan is superior to every other plan introduced to the present time. It will profit by the experience of every other co-operative enterprise, its promoters having watched and studied the causes which have most hindered such efforts. It is a combination of interests among an actual working membership who expect to furnish both the capital and the labor, and by working together they expect to be able to compete successfully with the outside world. Not unlike the trust in many ways it supplies what is lacking by the big combinations of capital in that men of moderate means and in fact the poorer classes may become members and that the enterprise depends equally as much upon justice and right to its workers as upon the profit to its capitalists for both are one and the same. Its efforts will doubtless be watched with keen interest by many people. E. Piekel is president, E. E. Montague, secretary and W. F. Hammer, treasurer.

To advertise their plan and solicit public patronage, the association has issued a very attractive two-color folder and a booklet setting forth its objects and aims with cost, terms, etc. Under the heading "The Need of Co-operation," the booklet says:

"Long and severe has been the struggle between capital and labor, working as they have been along independent lines, the laborer has worked for his wages, and when his toil is done and his wages received all connection between him and the result of his labor ceases, and it remains for the capitalist to obtain the profit and to grow rich upon what the laborer has produced. No matter how honest the capitalist, may reap from a sudden rise in price, or by the cornering of the products of the laborer, no benefit whatever will come to him who has produced that from which the capitalist now makes his millions. Take for example the man who grows the wheat or the man who makes the shoes we wear. When he has produced by his labor, either from the earth, or the raw material, an article that is worth a certain sum (if it be far in excess of his daily wages, yet he is not the one who shall reap the full benefit, for if the wheat be cornered by the capitalist, or if the price of shoes is advanced it makes no difference to the man who has spent his strength and is wearing out his life in toil. He simply gets his wages and the capitalist reaps the profit. . . . Let the producer become the capitalist. Let the laborer combine their strength and skill so that every man may obtain his legitimate share of that which his labor produces, so that they may not labor to make one man rich but to enrich the many. . . . We are living in an age where individual effort cannot succeed and where in co-operation effort alone, lies success."

BRIEF LOCAL NOTES.
Walter Swartz, who lives on his mother's farm, four miles east of Salem, was in the city Monday. Walter keeps pretty good track of the crop of Chinese peaches and during the game season bags a liberal quota of these fine birds. He says there will not be so many this year as last, but that they are quite plentiful, nevertheless. He reports very little poaching on account of utter lack of desire to break the game laws. No deputies are in evidence and none are needed.

J. M. Haberly, of near Silverton, formerly in the employ of Fred Legg, drugist, of this city, will open the Palace drug store, a new enterprise, on the corner of Main and Commercial streets, in the location lately vacated by the Ladies' Bazaar. The room is being entirely refitted with the most up-to-date of druggists' fixtures.

McMINNVILLE.

(Journal Special Service.)
McMINNVILLE, Sept. 8.—The great bulk of the threshing has been done in this county and but a few scattering piles of grain is all that remains yet in the fields, and a day or so more will see them threshed. This is the first time in several years that the wheat has all been threshed without some rain falling, and the Oregon farmer is to be congratulated at the splendid condition in which the crop has been saved.

Picking commenced in some hop yards last week, but the majority of yards commenced today. Mr. Estey, who has a yard 9 miles west of this city, says the quality of his hops are splendid, and he is getting about one-third more off the same ground than he did last year.

Edwin Tyler has sold his property on North E street to John Bolinski, for a residence.

Frank Spencer has sold his fine farm west of Amity to Mr. Becker, a near-by neighbor.

The new creamery building will soon be ready for occupancy, and none too soon, as the gentlemen who will engage in that business are anxious to place their machinery and commence business.

J. Brumback spent Sunday in Portland.

The Journal, a Free and Fair newspaper. It has no axe to grind.

WALLA WALLA.

(Journal Special Service.)
WALLA WALLA, Sept. 8.—R. B. Caswell, manager of the local baseball team, has been charged in the Superior Court of this county, with maintaining a nuisance in allowing ball games to be played, and the matter is likely to be threshed out in the courts. Miss Kate Hoptman, who resides near the park, made the complaint, and the case constitutes a new phase in legal complications here. Nothing like it has ever been known in Walla Walla County. The matter will create considerable interest until finally settled.

Whitman College will open for the fall term next Wednesday and a large attendance is anticipated. The academy and conservatory of music will likely receive much larger number of students than was the case last year. A business course has been added in the academy.

The city schools open today and it is expected that nearly 1500 pupils will be enrolled the first week. This is about 100 in excess of the enrollment last year.

Last week two cars of fruit and vegetables were shipped direct from this city to the markets of Winnipeg, Manitoba, where a good price was realized by the shippers. The produce was loaded in refrigerator cars, and sent by fast freight, landing in excellent condition.

DOINGS IN OREGON CITY

Clackamas County Items and Matters at the Big Falls.

(Journal Special Service.)
OREGON CITY, Sept. 8.—Rifle practice by members of Company A. O. N. G., was commenced yesterday morning and will continue every Sunday morning until each man has shot away his allowance of shells. Last year an order was issued ordering every member of the National Guard to shoot during each year a certain number of times at targets over a measured range. Company A has established its range on the west side of the river.

Privates Adams, McNish and Graham had good averages. Sergeant Miller, however, was the best marksman with a score of 21 out of a possible 25.

Captain Kelly intends to have a team by Thanksgiving with which he will challenge any other company of the National Guard of Oregon. Several of his best shots, who have been away during the summer, will soon be back and practicing.

DR. WHITE DEAD.
Word was received Saturday evening from Roseburg, stating that Dr. Leonard White formerly of this place, had died at the Soldiers' Home. His body was sent to Sheridan yesterday where it was buried during the afternoon. Dr. White leaves many friends in Oregon City while he was a dentist here several years ago. He was a member in good standing of Fall's City Lodge No. 59, A. O. U. W.

The funeral of Mrs. Annie Ross, who died in Phoenix, Ariz., was held from the Baptist church yesterday at 11 o'clock. Rev. Ecken officiated.

DISAPPOINTED PEOPLE.
There were many disappointed people in town yesterday afternoon who came to walk around the brink of the falls, dry shod. The cars and boats brought many would-be climbers and they took them home again but only a very few venturesome boys made the trip from bank to bank. If all had been willing to wade and had carried long boards they might have made the trip but they had read that all they had to do was to start at one side and walk across dry shod, as all of the water was being used by the mills.

Yesterday, however, fully one-half of the river was passing any place but through the big wheels which was soon noticed by those interested, as all had to content themselves with standing on the rocks of either side and then to go home disappointed.

GOLDENDALE.

(Journal Special Service.)
GOLDENDALE, Wash., Sept. 8.—Republican county convention of Klickitat, on Saturday, nominated a full ticket with the following delegates to the state convention, which are said to bear the earmarks of Mr. Levi Ankeny, of Walla Walla, and are to-wit: Senator Herbert Baker, Dr. A. F. Bruckman, Geo. W. Bowen, Wm. Coates, Chas. Timblin, Abe Ahola, Will Burgen, Tom Crofton, C. Alvord, W. Darch, Melville Warner.

William Coates, of Trout Lake, was nominated for Representative. It is very probable Senator Baker will be renominated jointly by Skamania and Klickitat Counties and his opponent will likely be a prominent attorney who will run Mr. Baker an even race. Democrats are united in Klickitat and with some dissatisfaction in Republican forces it is estimated the Democrats have a fighting show for victory this fall.

DAYTON.

(Journal Special Service.)
DAYTON, Wash., Sept. 8.—The Republican county convention met in this city Saturday, and placed in nomination a full county ticket, also naming 10 delegates to the state convention. The convention was harmonious throughout, there being but one contest. For the sheriff's office there were three candidates, Otto Stine, at present deputy in the office, being chosen on the fifteenth ballot. Nearly every delegate was present, despite the fact that harvest is not over and farmers are busy. The platform endorsed the national administration and said but little about anything else.

The ticket follows: Representative, Conrad Niblock; Sheriff, Otto Stine; Auditor, E. V. Thompson; Treasurer, Dr. C. Guernsey; Clerk, R. M. Campbell; Assessor, Wilbur Hopkins; Attorney, R. B. Brown, incumbent; School Superintendent, W. W. Hendon, incumbent; Surveyor, John Patrick; Coroner, Dr. C. H. Day; Commissioners, C. W. Sanders and R. A. Jackson; delegates to state convention, M. B. Kinney, Cornelius Lyman, Preston Steadman, J. N. Dodge, Daniel Calkins, J. D. Smith, H. E. Gihlan, D. C. Guernsey, Dr. M. Pietryski, J. N. Fall.

ALBANY.

(Journal Special Service.)
ALBANY, Sept. 8.—The new opera house is almost completed. It is a credit to the city and fills a long-felt need. Saturday it was placed in the circuit of theatres controlled by John Cordray, of Portland. The building was leased to Mr. Cordray for five years by Messrs. Burggraaf and Schults.

At a meeting of the directors of the Albany Public schools Saturday, September 6th, the resignation of Superintendent J. M. Martindale was accepted. Although there have been many applicants, as yet the vacancy has not been filled. The teachers were assigned to their grades for the coming year. Efforts are being made to complete the new school building on Maple street by the time school opens September 22d.

The Journal, an acorn of newspapers, for several months, becoming now an oak of newspapers. By carrier, in city, 10 cents a week.

ASTORIA.

(Journal Special Service.)
ASTORIA, Sept. 8.—The fishermen of the Lower Columbia River are now circulating an agreement which has for its object the protection of the men from their employers. The cannery cut prices every year and limit the boats whenever fish become plentiful. Now the fishermen are signing an agreement which authorizes a committee to make arrangements with the packers to take the fish of the men for the entire year. The agreement specifies that the committee shall accept not less than 6 cents a pound and that the lowest limit which may be imposed on the boats shall be 100 pounds daily. Both cannery and fishermen will be required to give bonds for the faithful performance of the contract. If the plan fails, it is quite probable that steps will be taken to establish a new co-operative cannery. The movement now on foot is the most important ever taken by the fishermen, and may have much to do with settlement of future difficulties between employer and employee.

Wong Chung, an aged Chinese, was among those who returned from Alaska on one of the cannery tenders. The old man had been unable to work in the North and came home penniless and sick. When he went to his former lodging his countrymen refused to assist him, but kicked him into the street to die. He was found by City Physician Cordner, who removed him to St. Mary's hospital, where he is being cared for.

The body that was washed on Sand Island a few days ago has been positively identified as that of James Mitchell, a Greek fisherman, who was drowned August 15 at Peacock spit.

The shingle mill owned and operated by Johnson & Bijle, at the mouth of the Chinook River, was burned Thursday afternoon, together with 100,000 shingles. The loss was $4000, and there was no insurance.

The water commissioners have secured from the Chinook hatchery 250 young salmon, which have been marked and placed in the reservoirs. The marking of the fish will give Warden Van Dusen an idea of the growth of young salmon during a year. The fish grow much more rapidly in salt water than in confinement.

City Treasurer Dealey has called in $5000 in municipal warrants. This is the first reduction made on the debt of the city in many years. The bonds just called in were issued in 1887 and bore 6 per cent interest.

The bark Harry Morse, of the Alaska Fishermen's Packing Company, is discharging her cargo. She brought back 57,000 cases and 4 barrels of salmon. The funerals of Emanuel Greenberg, the sailor who was killed by falling from the rigging of the ship St. Nicholas, and Claude Clausen, the boy who was drowned Friday evening, were held yesterday.

According to the report of Clerk Mansell, the receipts of the Astoria Water office for the month of August were $256.80. The commission is to make extensive repairs to the system.

TURNER.

(Journal Special Service.)
TURNER, Sept. 8.—Miss Alma Schmidt is home again from Eastern Oregon. She has been at "Mitt." Laughlin's near Caleb postoffice on Derr's Mountain, Wheeler County, for the last two months. The most familiar sight in Turner these days is the wagon loads of hop-pickers on their way to the hopfields. Hop-pickers and pickers are each tasting a bit of prosperity this year.

L. C. Cavanaugh will be picking his hops on Monday the 8th. Fifty cents per box will be paid.

Much grain is now coming into Turner and the hum of the elevating and cleaning machinery makes music all day long.

ROSEBURG.

(Journal Special Service.)
ROSEBURG, Sept. 8.—Mrs. Randolph Rose, of Dillards, died September 5, 1920, of dropsy, aged 62 years. Mrs. Rose and her husband, who still survives her, were among the earliest settlers in this county.

Mrs. John W. Davis, who has been visiting her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hardin Davis, near Wilbur, has returned to her home in Kansas City, Mo., where Mr. Davis enjoys a large clientele in the legal profession.

E. R. Hannan and family arrived here Saturday from Ft. Klamath, where they spent the summer.

The Eagles, of which he was to have been a charter member, attended in a body. The floral tributes were both numerous and beautiful and the words uttered by Chaplain Easterbrook were very impressive. Crawford, who with six other persons, under guard of Private Trout, when about to enter the dining room dodged through the recreation room and out a side door. He was recognized by Corporal Ryder of Company H, who happened to be passing. Ryder called Privates Baker and Harris to his assistance, and they immediately gave chase. He was caught just as he was getting into a buggy. Trumpeter Grandon, who with two other prisoners, was in charge of Private Trout made a break in front of Company H's quarters, and succeeded in getting away. Crawford was sentenced to nine months and Grandon to one year and a "bob."
