The Big Marine Battle Begins.

POTTER IS TIED UP

Owners Refused to Sign.

The marine engineers' strike is on in earnest. Engineers are calling at headquarters today and depositing their li-Matters are shaping themselves in precisely the same manner as was excluively forecasted in Saturday's Journal. Nearly all the boats are ou. on their regular runs, but it is stated at headquarters that the union men will walk out as soon as the vessels reach their home port, Both sides are determined and all indications are that the fight, which has been long brewing, will be fought to a finish.

POTTER TIED UP. The T. J. Potter, operated by the O. R. & N. tied up this morning and her entire crews came ashore. When the Tahoma, of the White Collar line, arrived from The Dalles last night the engineers and every employe on the boat tendered their resignations. A new non-union crew was employed, however, and she went out this morning on schedule time. It is believed that several of the smaller lines on which non-union men are at work. will continue in commission, and many of the owenrs are confident that some of the union engineers will refuse to leave their positions. The following is a copy of the agreement which the owners were asked to sign;

SCHEDULE OF WAGES. To take effect September 10, 1902:
First-class chief engineer, $110 per month; assistant engineer, $85 per month.
Segond-class chief engineer, $100 per

Third class to include and cover steamers Hustler, Kehani, Iralda, Chester, Republic, America, Leona, Paloma, Wenona, G. W. Walker, Gray Eagle, Albina, Ferry Boat, or like steamers in like service.

All engineers who vacated their positions on July 1, 1902, or previous thereto, on account of these difficulties, to be reinstated by the respective companies. Chief engineer to have the selection and appointment of his entire crew.

All complaints and grievances to be adjusted by owner, agent or manager and no engineer to be dismissed without a full, fair and impartial trial. No "black list" to be recognized or tolerated.

All steamers on runs of 13 hours or more to carry two engineers.

ENGINEERS' STATEMENT.

ENGINEERS' STATEMENT. The engineers made the following state ment this morning:

"When we agreed to return to work at the termination of the last strike of a few weeks ago it was with the understanding that we were all to go back to our old positions. Instead of complying with the terms of the agreement 10 of us were succeeded by non-union men. Not only that, but the owners have been guilty of indulging in the most petty work imaginable. They went among the engineers and exerted every possible influence to induce them to withdraw from the union and have nothing more to do with it. Every effort has been made by them to disband the organization. They made a systematic fight and conjured up every little grievance imaginable. Patience ceased to be a virtue. We u.d not care to work under such a constant turmoil. The men will all be out, but they do not intend to interfere with any non-union men who may be engaged. We have the support of the national organization and can afford to remain idle for an indefinite period if necessary. We expect it to be a long drawn out fight, but the engineers can stand it. They will neither starve nor suffer for the lack of employment." It is understood that

NATIONAL PRESIDENT UHLER is in Seattle and will personally direct the fight. The increase in wages asked amount to about 10 per cent. The main feature of the agreement to which the owners object is the clause stating that the chief engineer shall have the selection and appointment of the entire crew.

"We are entitled to this privilege," said one of the engineers. "For any mishap in the engine room we are held responsible by the United States government. Very frequently the owners put in a second engineer and firemen who are friends of acquaintances. In other words, they hold their positions by a pull, and they are very independent. They disobey orders, and if we say anything to them they retort that they get their positions from the owners and that we have nothing to do with them."

OWNERS ARE RETICENT. The owners do not have much to say of State W. R. Day, was married here on the subject, but are confident that today to Miss Estelle McKay daughter many of the boats will continue to run. of Hon. William McKay. It was the grandest day of the Carnival and the military parade was the most incpiring ever seen here. The Vancouver boys turned out in full force and made a magnificent appearance. PARADE WAS REVIEWED at Hotel Portland by Mayor George H. Williams, Governor T. T. Geer and his staff, and Governor-elect George H. Chamberlain, with his staff.

This afternoon the Carnival city was given up to the soldlers who were each provided with passes and given the liberty of the grounds. A great throng was at the entrance when the gates were opened. There was the soldiery intermixed with civilians in a most pleasing array. The boys were greatly pleased at the show and feel that they were well paid for the hard march of the forenoon Tonight the 17th Regiment Band of Vancouver barracks will give a concert for two hours at the Temple of Music. At 10:30 the second attempt will be made

TO RIDE THE LOOP By A. C. Feltham, a Boise City young man, who feels confident that he can succeed. The Park block has been carefully screened and roped off to prevent a repetition of Saturday night's catastrophe in case of the trial not being successful. The ropes will be lined with officers, who will keep the crowd back away from the enclosure, or else the rider will not attempt the loop.

The new rider was given a try yesterday by Mr. Jabour, and he satisfactorfly rode the incline. The management feel most that he will succeed in the attempt. "He has unlimited nerve, and he rode down the incline with only one hand on the bars." said Mr. Jabour, "besides this, he seems to have perfect control of the wheel. One other man, McDonald, who signed the contract for Friday night, seems a little more nervous than Feltham, but says he will be on deck when the crowd is ready for the big thing to come off. I can safely say now that no spectators will be injured in case either man does not succeed," added Mr. Ja-

WEDDING LAST NIGHT. In the presence of the Queen and beneath the flash of brilliant lights, Robert Yount and Bertha N. Silva were united in marriage at 8:45 last night. Thousands of people thronged into the gates from the time they were thrown open, and the crowd entertained itself by wandering from attraction to attraction, killing time until the crowning event came off. Rev. Henry Barden performed the ceremony that made two lives as one and then the crowd did its duty, cheers and cries for a happy wedded life were heard on all sides; confetti and a few other appropriate things were thrown at the

them in hand to give them a true start in life by a few words of good cheer and the more substantial presents that show the generosity of the citizens. A carriage drove up, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yount were driven to the Imperial Hotel, where they will sepnd the honeymoon.

Thursday will be Women's Day, when Queen Maybulle will give a reception. All the features of the day are in charge of the ladies and a most beautiful program has been arranged.

Friday will be Shriners' Day, and the followers of the camel will roam the Midway as they would the sands of the desert. In the evening they will escort the Queen in Oriental splendor through the streets to the Carnival City, where, at a dais erected for the purpose in Music Square, Her Highness will receive the nobles and will receive from them an appropriate souvenir of their esteem.

He complained at the retention of the Burghers in the Penal Colony in Ceylon and criticised the composition of the Commission of Inquiry and alleged that the British in Natal were hostile to the Boers, and appealed for more money for the relief of widows and orphans, claiming that three million pounds was inadequate. Secretary Chamberlain's reply in all cases were satisfactory with the exception of the increase of the relief fund, which he refused. (Journal Special Service.) TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 10, Republican Convention Hall.—Both sides in the great battle over Governor McBride's proposed railroad legislation are claiming that they will be victorious. Many are claiming that the commission bill will be defeated, and that the Governor will fail in the campaign that has been waged with such intense vigor here in Wash-

If the election of a temporary chairman be a criterion, and it usually is, then the railroad people have control of the Washington state Republican convention, for Falknor of Thurston County was elected temporary chairman without a dissenting vote. He was distinctly the railroad choice for the place. Falknor had been a candidate for the nomination for Congress, but withdrew.

The convention assembled at 11:10 this morning, with the large attendance of delegates and politicians that had been expected. After the temporary chairman had been selected, committees on credentials, order of business and platform were named, and the convention adjourned to meet this afternoon. There appears to be little doubt that the three Congressmen now serving from this state will be renominated-Jones of Yakima, Cushman of Pierce and Humph-

Inded, it has been apparent for some time that this was the case, and that although there has been generous action by County conventions in adopting resolutions indorsing McBride's railroad commission bill, yet Ankeny has been getting delegates elected who were for him-DELEGATES INDEPENDENT.

One phase of the convention is the independence exhibited by the delegates in reversing the action of the convention, and in declaring their hostility to the commission bill, notwithstanding the resolutions that have been adopted. If reports be true, the Spokane delegation is a notable example of this sort of attitude. for some of that delegation are reported to be determined to oppose any convention action that will look to the creation of a commission.

However, there may be a surprise when the votes are counted, and it may be that Governor McBride has won his great fight, in spite of the appearances that are against him.
