

EASTERN OREGON

Large Representation in Portland Today.

MEN OF BIG AFFAIRS

Talk of Political and Other Interests—Mr. Robbins of Baker.

Eastern Oregon is holding the boards in Portland, large representations being here from the leading places, including Pendleton, La Grande and Baker City, scattered about the various leading hotels. Business, the courts and the Carnival have brought the visitors, not to forget state politics, in the opportunity for wire pulling, and exchange of public views. Among very prominent men here is Dr. C. J. Smith of Pendleton, who is President of the State Medical Society, and is attending its annual meeting, and who is State Senator for Umatilla County. Another is Judge John J. Balleray, also of Pendleton, one of the prominent jurists of the state.

One of the prominent business men and politicians also here is J. H. Robbins, of Baker City, who with Mrs. Robbins, is at the Portland. He is Mayor of his city, and Democratic member-elect to the State Legislature, sent there by the Democratic constituency of that part of Oregon in the expectation of important legislation at the coming session. Mr. Robbins is a banker of Baker City and has large commercial and mining interests in that region. Speaking for The Journal, this morning, he touched on National and State politics, and certain mining legislation that he will present at the coming session. Nationally he referred to his loyalty to Bryan, and his love and admiration for the great National leader, and also of the practical question before the Democracy, of how now to reach success. He does not expect Mr. Bryan to be a candidate again, although admitting his great strength with his party; but the signs of the times seem to be, as Mr. Robbins views it, that some other candidate will better promise success.

As to state topics, Mr. Robbins does not quite agree with a recent statement of Governor Geer that no legislation of prominence is demanded in Oregon. He thinks that there are material points that should receive attention.

"For instance," he said, "if we could take up the state school land question and reach some practical improvement of the system under which our state lands have been frittered away, we would find a field large enough for us all."

In this connection Mr. Robbins was asked what he said in his part of the state about the report that there is a Republican scheme for crippling Governor Chamberlain's administration by taking from him the appointment of the land commissioner, and continuing it in Republican control by a state board. Mr. Robbins said that he doubted any serious move of that kind, so apparent is it that the people desired to know more of the inside of affairs, as shown by the election of Governor Chamberlain. He apprehended that there would be found a strong sentiment in the state, both in and out of the legislature, for maintaining undivided responsibility. "I find that the only way in my own business," said he, "whether it be banking, mining or anything else, I can only succeed by relying on the one responsible for management of any one thing, and holding that one responsible. It will be found best as to state matters, and I apprehend Governor Chamberlain will not be seriously interfered with."

As to mining matters, which Mr. Robbins reported in fine condition in the Baker region, he said that he hoped to give particular attention to some needed legislation. "Our whole code," said he, "needs revision, especially as to regulation of mining corporations. Our miners want, for one thing, a law creating a mine inspector, and for another, protection of those risking their lives in deep mining, by the licensing of engineers of stationary engines. I shall present bills on those, as well as other subjects."

SHARKEY DECLINES

Says He Has Permanently Retired From the Ring.

(Journal Special Service.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—The San Francisco Athletic Club has received from Sharkey a statement in which he refuses a bout with George Gardiner, announcing that he has permanently retired from the ring.

WHERE IS E. C. STICKLE?

Inquiries have been received in Portland as to the whereabouts of Edgar C. Stickle, who left Good Hope, Ill., in April, 1901. When last heard of he was working as a weigher at one of the Portland docks. His brother, C. W. Stickle, of the Capital National Bank, of Guthrie, Okla., is the searcher.

A PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

Cleo Parker, aged 14 years, while working on the molder in Martin's planing mill this morning, met with a painful accident. His right hand got caught in the machine and the skin on both sides of his hand was literally shaved off. He was taken to one of the hospitals and is resting easily.

ACROSS THE RIVER

Improvement Association Meets.

A meeting of the East Side Improvement Association was held last evening at the office of Justice of the Peace Benton on East Morrison street near Grand avenue. The attendance was not large and it was decided to take no steps in the matter of securing a Farmers' Rest for the East Side at present. The following committee was appointed by the chair, President William D. Fenton: Messrs. H. H. Newhall, J. H. Heller, W. H. Markell, H. Baumer, Thomas Hiscop and Williamson. The committee was instructed to look into the matter and make a report at the next meeting.

It was also decided that at the next meeting, on September 23, the Association as a whole would endorse the site of the Lewis and Clark Centennial.

Forest Fire in Check.

After fighting a large forest fire in the vicinity of their home near Rockwood for several days, the farmers of the neighborhood have checked the flames and no further damage is expected. The partly completed residence of J. Palmer, south of the Base Line road, was destroyed. No insurance was carried. The home of George Cottrell was also in grave danger and was saved only after the furniture was removed and a hard fight made.

A fire on the Gravel Hill road, in the vicinity of Rocky Butte, north of Montavilla, destroyed several houses in its path.

Last Week of Baths.

The directors of the Portland Free Swimming Baths have decided to close the present season of the institution next Tuesday. There is some talk about enlarging the baths to double its present size. Then there will be two separate baths, one for the swimmers, and the other for the beginners. The addition will give the institution 200x30 feet of swimming room. It is estimated that the receipts for the season up to date have amounted to about $700. "This," said Edward Holman, President, "about pays all the expenses of operation."

Milton Mead Dies Suddenly.

From the effects of an attack of neuritis of the heart, Milton Mead, an old and prominent resident of Montavilla, died very suddenly yesterday morning. The attack came on about 4 o'clock in the morning as Mr. Mead was arising. The deceased has been a resident of Montavilla for about 12 years and was formerly a member of Montavilla Lodge, A. O. U. W. He is survived by a widow and one child.

Returned From Fishing Trip.

Charles Neal, a well-known East Side, has returned from a 10-days' fishing trip in the vicinity of the headwaters of the Sandy River. Mr. Neal reports that there are lots of fish in the Sandy but that there is likewise a great many fishermen ready to catch them. He is again stationed as foreman of truck 4.

Pears Are Plentiful.

Both of the canneries on the East Side are working full time canning pears. The supply has been so great that both of the concerns have had to refuse a large amount of the fruit. Apples, too, seems to be in abundance as the canneries are making preparations to run an indefinite period.

Died of Consumption.

Miss Anna Hepworth, aged 18 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Lando, died at her home, 675 Oregon street, yesterday, of consumption. The deceased was a native of England. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

East Side Briefs.

Miss Idell Woodworth, of Hood River, is spending a short vacation at the home of Miss Grace Campbell at Mt. Tabor.

Mrs. H. C. White has returned from a brief visit with friends at Seattle.

Mrs. E. Van Carnop, of Seattle, after spending a few days visiting friends on the East Side, has returned home.

Astra Circle, No. 122, Women of Woodcraft, will give a social dance at Woodman hall, Monday, September 13.

TO MAKE BOX CUT

Turpentine Operators in Session at Jacksonville, Florida.

(Journal Special Service.)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 10.—The Turpentine Operators' Association, which was organized last September, began its first annual meeting in this city today. More than one thousand lumbermen, naval stores men and others interested in the industry filled Burbridge's Theatre when the gathering was called to order by President Covington. The opening session was devoted largely to formalities, which included addresses of welcome by Mayor Fletcher and others.

The convention will continue its sessions through tomorrow. The principal business is to consider and act upon the recommendations prepared by the executive committee. Among other things the committee recommends that the operators make the box cut for the next season the same as was cut during the past season. It is also recommended that the scale of prices and all minor details be left unconsidered for another year, thus allowing each operator to act independently in these matters. The report of the Burbridge Covington shows that the operators saved $5 a barrel as a result of the operations this year through the regulations adopted by the association.

BELDING MURDERS

Second Day of the Trial Is On.

THREE WITNESSES

Detective Snow Says That the Defendant Is an Opium Fiend.

The trial of A. L. Belding, the triple murderer, was resumed in Judge George's department of the Circuit Court this morning. The selection of a jury was completed at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The panel was exhausted before the 12 jurors were accepted. The personnel of the jury follows: P. M. Sutford, William M. Taylor, George Robertson, Owen Carragher, James Shanessy, Sam M. Lacy, John Winters, John Blund Isaac S. Thomas, E. B. Madden, Philo Holbrook, N. A. Jensen.

Deputy District Attorney Spencer made the opening statement of the case. He briefly outlined the story of Belding's crime and called attention to the several acts that indicated the deliberate purpose with which he carried out the plans he had made to kill the whole McCroskey family.

Dan R. Murphy, Belding's attorney, replied that it was a case which calls for the most careful consideration on the part of the jury. That Belding's actions should be most carefully considered and if they showed him to be insane he should not be punished. The law makes insanity a defense. He assured the jury that the evidence would establish the unsoundness of Belding's mind.

The McCroskey family were responsible for the domestic troubles that had unseated Belding's reason.

Police Officer Bailey was

THE FIRST WITNESS

Called by the state, he testified that he heard the shooting, but thought it firecrackers. He met Belding who said: "You fellows are slow," and told about the shooting. He took Belding to the police station. Belding wanted to borrow the policeman's gun to shoot McCroskey. He thought his wife had got away. Bailey went back to the house. He found the body of Belding's wife in one of the rooms. The others had been removed.

P. A. Foster, a colored barber, was the first witness examined today. He had shaved Belding off and on for years. He heard all the shots and saw the one fired which killed Woodward. He took a drink after the shooting with Belding. On cross-examination he said that he did not think that Belding was insane, but that

HE ACTED STRANGELY.

Detective Frank J. Snow was the most important of the three witnesses examined this forenoon. He said that Belding stated to him that the cause of the shooting was the trouble he was having with his wife's folks over her living in adultery with a man named "Gyp" Woodward. He further stated that he shot at everyone in sight and threw one revolver in the street and the other in one of the rooms. The detective created some commotion in the court room when he suddenly drew both revolvers from his pockets and displayed them in a dramatic way. He said he was not positive whether they were loaded or not. They were partially loaded and Judge George required Mr. Snow to withdraw the charges before the revolvers were admitted in evidence. The detective said that Belding was an opium fiend and that he and his working partner, Jack Kerrigan, had SEEN HIM IN OPIUM DEN'S smoking several times. He was also under the influence of liquor, or some narcotic when he did the shooting. Lemanuel McCroskey, who was shot and slightly wounded by Belding, described the affray practically as related in a special edition of The Journal. McCroskey is Belding's father-in-law.

The case will certainly last some days.

FINISH ST. DAVIDS

Work is progressing on the new St. David's Episcopal church, corner East Twelfth and Belmont streets. The organ formerly used in Trinity church has been purchased and is being assembled ready to set up.

Work on the church has been delayed on account of the late strike and also on account of the scarcity of building material.

Work was started in 1892 and after building the walls up to a height of about 20 feet, construction was stopped on account of the panic of 1893.

The original intention was to construct the church building entirely of stone, but some time after the panic it was decided to modify the plans so that the construction work would not be longer delayed on account of the scarcity of funds. About a year and a half ago active work was again resumed. It being decided to finish the structure with wood instead of stone, as originally planned. This was carried out and nearly all the outside work has been completed.

The changing of the plans has not altered the inside of the church to any great extent, most of the changes being made on the outside. Two furnaces have been built in the basement and will be sufficient to furnish enough heat to keep the church warm during the coldest weather.

The sidewalks in front of the building have been laid in concrete, as have been the steps and porch of the structure. The entire building, when completed, will cost about $20,000. Entrance to the church can be secured in four places, the main entrance being on East Twelfth street, a side entrance on Belmont street, and two entrances in the rear.

SEARCHED 60 YEARS

Finds a Long Lost Sister in Joliet, Illinois.

(Journal Special Service.)

JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 10.—A search of 60 years for a sister from whom he parted in Canada, has terminated in Joliet by the meeting of James Bothwell and Mrs. Jane Herbert.

When they were children, 7 and 5 years respectively, their parents died. The boy was adopted by a resident of Montreal, Canada. Another family took the sister. Several years later the boy ran away to sea. When he attained his majority he had saved up $500, and with that he started out to find his sister. He had traveled all over the United States and Canada, in his search. When his money gave out he would go to work until he had accumulated enough to start again.

A few weeks ago he learned that Jane Bothwell, who had married Abraham Herbert, had moved to Illinois to a place his informants thought was Joliet, Ill. On looking at the map Bothwell concluded that Joliet was most likely the place.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Wisconsin Association in Session at Madison.

(Journal Special Service.)

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 10.—The Wisconsin Woman Suffrage Association began its annual meeting here today, with a good attendance of women prominently interested in the cause. Today's proceedings were devoted to organization and committee appointments and this afternoon there was a reception in the assembly hall of the State Capitol. The formal opening takes place this evening, when the visitors will be welcomed by Governor La Follette. Others taking part in the evening's program will be Jane Adams of Chicago, Mrs. Etta Gardner of Plattville and Mrs. Clara B. Colby of Washington. The sessions will continue through Friday.

TRUTH WILL OUT

After Twenty-Five Years in Prison Innocence Was Proven.

(Journal Special Service.)

PARIS, Sept. 10.—After 25 years' imprisonment for a crime of which he was not guilty, a man named Dauval has been released from the penal settlement at New Caledonia, and returned to Paris. In 1877 Dauval was convicted of poisoning his wife and sentenced to be executed, a sentence which was afterwards commuted to penal servitude for life. On account of his good behavior and his love to marry and his wife and three children accompany him back to France. It was only recently that it was discovered that Dauval did not commit the crime with which he was charged and his pardon was at once signed by President Loubet.

On his way home on the steamer the passengers took up a subscription for him and the chemists of Paris have re-established him in a shop in the center of the town, he being a chemist by profession.

TIRED OF HORNS

Wild Man of Borneo Betrays His Secret.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Calvin Bird, a negro who hails from Pearson, Ga., and who has been touring the country with side shows and circuses as the "Wild Man of Borneo," appeared at the hospital of the Good Shepherd recently and informed the house surgeon that he had come to have his horns removed. The physician was somewhat amazed at first, but upon noting the earnestness of the man made an examination of his head.

Under his scalp it was found that a silver plate had been inserted, in which stood two standards. Into these standards, when he was on exhibition, Bird had screwed two goats' horns, and thousands of people have paid admittance to see his horns and hear him bark.

OREGON MEDICS

Open Their Twenty-Ninth Annual Session

OF OREGON SOCIETY

Welcomed by Portland's Mayor—Outline of the Program Prepared.

The Oregon Medical Society began its 29th annual meeting this morning in the Public Library. Secretary McKenzie's register of attending members and of visitors bore witness to much interest in the session previous to the opening. Arrangements for the meeting had received the co-operation of citizens of Portland by the reception committee headed by Dr. Andrew J. Giesey.

The meeting was opened promptly, on the hour by the President of the society, Dr. C. J. Smith, of Pendleton. In appropriate remarks. His honor, G. H. Williams, Mayor of Portland, then welcomed the association on behalf of the city, and the society at once attacked the regular program, upon which the morning hour was consumed.

The work commenced with infectious diseases, the topics being presented as follows:

The Method of Spread, Dr. J. O. Cobb, U. S. M. service.

Milk and Meat as Factors in Infection, E. N. Hutchinson, V. S. Portland.

Diagnosis of Variola, Dr. J. C. Zan, City Physician, Portland.

Prophylaxis of Variola, Dr. C. A. Cordner, City Physician, Astoria.

East and Present in Epithemia, Dr. C. H. Wheeler, ex-City Physician, Portland.

General discussion followed, participated in with interest and enthusiasm. Then followed the subject of typhoid fever, the topics of which were assigned for presentation as follows:

"Modern Methods of Diagnosis," Dr. A. E. Mackay, Portland.

"General Treatment," Dr. Holt C. Wilson, Portland.

"Experiences in Military Camps at Vancouver and Cape Nome, Alaska," Major Ebert, U. S. A., Vancouver.

"Experiences in the Philippine Islands," Dr. Herbert C. Cardwell.

"Surgical Complications," Dr. A. C. Panton, Portland.

Following a general discussion of the above, were assigned Dr. E. P. Hershey, of Denver, on "General Treatment of Pulmonary Tuberculosis," and Dr. Harry Lane, Portland, upon the "Outdoor Treatment of Tuberculosis."

Of topics to be reached early in the session the following are the assignments, including those of eminent gentlemen from outside the state:

"Acute Rheumatism, Complication and Treatment," Dr. J. S. Kloeber, Green River Hot Springs, Wash.; discussion to be opened by Dr. J. R. Yocom, Tacoma.

"Diabetes, Etiology and Treatment," Dr. O. S. Binswanger, Portland; discussion to be opened by Dr. M. K. Hall, La Grande.

"The Preservation of the Perineum in Delivery," Dr. W. H. Ewin, Union; discussion to be opened by Dr. G. E. O'B. DeBar, Jacksonville.

The session is likely to prove of unusual interest.

A MONKEY ON THE WIRES.

A pet monkey of the Lafayette on Washington street, escaped yesterday from a window and was found perched on the outside telegraph wire. Meanwhile crowds on the street were having a tip-top monkey show without money or price.

The master, endeavoring to get the lively chap in, found his chain tangled up with the telephone wire, extending the current where it was not wanted. The monkey was cross and the current persistent, and the crowd had a good show while it lasted.
