TERRIBLE CRISIS NEAR AT HAND

Conference of Which So Much Was Expected Is Adjourned Till Next Tuesday—Morgan Enraged.

He Tells Reporters to Mind Their Own Business —Operators Say No Pressure Whatever Can Induce Them to Change—Miners Firm.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The conference ended at 1:30 o'clock, but no formal statement is made. However, Governor O'Dell and Senator Platt said that an adjournment had been taken until next Tuesday and that nothing definite had been decided upon. Wall street says that Morgan told Governor O'Dell that he could not interfere, as he had given his promise to keep his hands off. He said, however, that he would put no bars in the way of a conference with the operators. Senators Quay and Penrose expect to return to Pennsylvania this afternoon.

to take action against the United Mine Workers, under the Sherman act, on the ground that the organization is illegal and conspiring to restrain trade among the several states.

FRENCH STRIKERS CONTROL.
PARIS, Oct. 10.—The strikers have placed their own men at the pumps to protect the mines. The cabinet is in conference to decide on a method of arbitration. There are many slight disturbances among the strikers who are controlling the situation, effectively preventing any resumption of work.

CONTEMPLATES NEW MOVE.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Commissioner Wright held an hour's conference with President Roosevelt this morning. He stated that Roosevelt contemplates a new move, but did not say what it was.

GET BAIL QUICKLY.
PATRICKSON, N. J., Oct. 10.—McQueen and Grossman, the leaders of the Dryers Strike Riots last June, were arraigned this morning on seven indictments for inciting riot and murder. They pleaded not guilty and $15,000 cash bonds were furnished by their fellow anarchists immediately when it was demanded.

ANOTHER BULL PEN.
WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 10.—Stringent orders were issued by Governor Stone this morning to General Gobin to prevent all interference with men wanting to work. All prisoners will be tried by the military and not turned over to the civil courts. A big stockade is being built in which to keep the prisoners.

GIVES IT TO KNOX.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—President Roosevelt received President Wilcox's letter, which he turned over to Attorney General Knox for consideration.

ARMED MEN FILL STREETS.
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10.—The Mayor is trying to arbitrate the street car strike. No attempts have been made to run the cars today, and thousands of armed men are patrolling the streets.

BOYS STRIKE.
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—The Postal Messenger boys struck this morning because girls were being employed by the company.

SCHOOLS CLOSED.
SCHENECTADY, Oct. 10.—The public schools here were closed today, owing to colder weather and no coal.

MORGAN ANGRY.
NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—A forceful attempt to settle the strike is being made today, by pressure being brought to bear upon the operators. The latter admit the pressure, but say they cannot be forced by political or other pressure to surrender their attitude. The conference yesterday left ill feeling among them, and as a result Senators Quay and Penrose direct this morning, being closeted with the financier for an hour and a half. The Senators then returned to Platt's office, leaving O'Dell with Morgan. Governor O'Dell left a short time after and was followed by the financier, who told the newspaper men that he had nothing to say, but for them to mind their own business. Governor O'Dell went to Senator Platt's office immediately.

MAY USE FORCE.
It is the common belief on Wall street that the Governor had threatened to call a session of the Legislature to seize and operate the mines by right of eminent domain. Morgan was apparently very angry.

President Baer arrived at Senator Platt's office at noon and was followed by President Thomas. Hundreds of clerks and brokers are in the hallways and on the pavements. President Mitchell remains at the Ashland House and is constantly apprised of the conference through agents. Regarding the Denver offer of a Western miners' sympathetic strike, he said this morning that he had corresponded on the subject, but as most of the Union miners in the West and Northwest were quartz miners, the coal miners being in the minority, he had not yet reached a conclusion. The general tenor of his remarks leads to the belief that he won't accept the offer.

WANT PROTECTION.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The Delaware & Hudson, through Vice-President Wilcox, has appealed to President Roosevelt

THE JOURNAL MONK INTERVIEWS J. P. MORGAN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The Monk is today with Mr. Morgan, J. Pierpont himself. He is not at all abashed in the presence of the great man, but meets him with that calm and self-confident bearing the superior naturally feels when in the presence of his inferiors. As a smoker he is a success, and the brand of cigars he took with him, made in Portland, one of which ornaments the great man's mouth, has evidently found favor with him.

Mr. Morgan was affable and pleased to see The Journal's representative, and though his time is worth $332.43 a minute, gave him half an hour, and asked him out to lunch.

not pulling his political chestnuts out of the fire, not by a jug full. If he had sent for me instead of that small fry I would have helped him out; but he didn't invite the right man. Mr. Roosevelt is a very nice little fellow, but he mustn't show his teeth to me. He has got to learn that there are others, and that I am several

MR. CHRISTENSEN DESCRIBES TRIP.
Julius Christensen, manager of the Philadelphia office, on being interviewed, said: "Of all the trips that I have ever taken to the Pacific Coast, this was the most pleasant. The weather could not have been nicer during the whole trip. We left Philadelphia last Thursday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, arriving in Salt Lake last Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock, and remaining there until 8 in the evening. The Mormon Church tendered us a special organ recital after their services, and Miss Gates, a granddaughter of Brigham Young, sang two very fine soprano solos, which all of us greatly enjoyed."

MORRIS & WHITEHEAD'S PLANS.
The local representatives of this firm, together with those of Philadelphia, have planned an extensive itinerary for their distinguished guests, which will include Portland and the Eastern part of Multnomah County, the Willamette Valley, Columbia Valley, the lines of the Oregon Water Power & Railway Company to Canemah, from which point they will probably be driven over the extensions of the company's lines now under construction as far as the headwaters of the Clackamas.

MR. MORRIS IS IN CHARGE OF THE ITINERARY
while the party remains in Portland. The main object of Morris & Whitehead's Pacific Coast excursion is to show the Eastern bankers, with money to invest, an opportunity of seeing this part of the country, and to give them the best facilities for making a thorough inspection of our resources.

TO REMAIN IN PORTLAND TILL 16TH
"We expect to remain in Portland until the 16th, in the meantime making a side trip to Seattle, to look over our interests there. We are going to Oregon City this afternoon, on an inspection trip. On Monday next it is our intention to spend a few days in the Sound country."

MR. HURLBURT COMPLIMENTED.
Mr. Hurlburt, in whose charge the party was, is an old railroad man, and no better man could be found who could show them the resources of this country. Each and every one of the party were very grateful to Mr. Hurlburt for the royal and hearty manner with which they were entertained since leaving Philadelphia. In fact it is unanimously agreed upon by all the party that the trip was made doubly pleasant by having Mr. Hurlburt in charge.

FREE EXCURSION.
Fred Harris, president of the Oregon City Water Power & Railway Company, asks members of the City Council to participate, with others, in the company's hospitality, in an excursion by boat to the mouth of the Columbia on Monday. Most of the Councilmen will go.

THE VISITORS.
Joseph Fling, treasurer Standard Mutual Fire Insurance Company, Philadelphia, Pa.
C. L. Eberle, capitalist, Germantown, Pa.
Hugh B. Eastburn, president Bucks County Trust Company, Doyleston, Pa.

INDIAN LANDS
of great interest to the people of Umatilla County, and may affect many titles to Indian lands on all reservations of Oregon. The case involves a quarter section of land worth about $3000 near Adams, in this county, and there comes with it five other cases, involving $14,000 more.

BRUTAL CRIME OF BOY MANIAC

With an Axe He Attempted to Murder the Entire Family—Beat Mother and Sister's Heads to Jelly.

Crushed Life Out of a Helpless Babe—Fatally Injured Three Small Children While They Slept—Brothers Fight for Their Lives.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 10.—Charles Cawley, aged 17 years, at 3 o'clock this morning killed his mother and 12-year-old sister and wounded fatally four smaller sisters, one of whom was a baby.

When he had beaten the innards from his victims till he was satisfied that they were all dead he left the room, taking the axe with him, evidently intending to meet out the same fate to his brothers, who had not been aroused by the disturbance in the room of the mother. He walked silently down the hall to the front room, where the brothers were sleeping, first striking the light in the hall. Just as he opened the door one of the brothers awoke and beheld a sight which almost caused the blood to freeze in his veins. There in the doorway, directly in the center of the panel of light which streamed in from the hall, stood the maniac, still grasping the bloody axe and staring wildly at the occupants of the bed. At first the awakened brother thought he must be dreaming, and shook his brother who was in bed with him to wake him. No sooner had he made the move than with a cry resembling that of an enraged beast the murderer, raising the axe above his head, leaped into the room, slamming the door after him and rushed for the bed, striking with all his might the place where he supposed his brother was lying. But the boys, realizing that their lives were in danger, were wide awake in an instant, and at the same time the door was closed they slipped from the bed to the floor. The room was now in darkness and the demon began striking right and left, in hopes that his intended victims would get within range of the death-dealing weapon.

IN THEIR SLEEP.
About 3 o'clock this morning, while the members of the family were asleep in their various apartments, the boy Charles stealthily arose from his bed, where he had been sleeping with an older brother, dressed and went to the basement, where he secured the axe with which the terrible deed was committed. He then ascended the stairs and at once went to the room where his mother and sisters were sleeping peacefully, little dreaming of the horrible fate that was about to overtake them. The fiend, evidently thinking that the light in the room was burning too bright to suit his purpose, turned it down until only the dim outlines of the forms of his intended victims could be seen, which probably accounts for his failure to kill outright every occupant of the room. The first to suffer at the hands of this insane monster was the mother. She was sleeping soundly and without the least intimation that danger was near. The boy, holding the axe poised above his head, crept slowly to the bed and with all his strength struck his mother squarely on the forehead, crushing the skull and killing her instantly—she never knew by whose hand she died. The sight of blood made him furious and he struck her again and again, until her head was crushed into a jelly.

ATTACKS SISTERS.
The force of the blows falling upon the mother jarred the bed sufficiently to awaken Bell, a sister of the murderer, 12 years of age, but before she had entirely realized what had taken place she received a blow that rendered her unconscious. Not content with this he struck her again and again, until he was satisfied that she was dead. The girl did not regain consciousness before she died. After beating his mother and Bell till he was thoroughly convinced that they were dead he turned his attention to another bed in the room, where the twin children, Adeline and Ray, were sleeping, whom he attacked, fracturing their skulls with a single blow before they could utter a cry for mercy. The next to receive the onslaught of the maniac was Agnes, aged 10, whom he struck with such force as to crush her head into a jelly at a single blow. He returned to the twins and struck them both a number of times on their bodies.

A HELPLESS BABE SUFFERS.
Even the innocent little baby did not escape the maddened brute. The disturbance had awakened it, and not receiving the usual attention from its mother, who lay cold in death at its side, began to cry. This seemed to increase the frenzy of the boy, who made a rush to the bed and struck the helpless infant a terrible blow on the chest, from the effects of which it died soon after. The little victim was just 15 months old.

FOUGHT FOR THEIR LIVES.
The boys both remained on the floor, keeping absolutely quiet, scarcely daring to breathe for fear it would attract the attention of the fiend to where they were hiding. After belaboring the bed until he thought both the boys had been killed the frenzied boy started to leave the room. Just as he opened the door, letting in the light, he discovered one of the brothers, James, aged 20 years, arising from his position on the floor. Like a flash he turned upon him and struck him a glancing blow, slightly cutting his arm. In an instant James grabbed a rocking chair to protect himself as best he could. Around the room they struggled for some time, the insane boy striking the chair as rapidly as possible, literally cutting it to pieces.

FIGHT LIKE DEMONS.
Finally the weapon, the handle of which was wet with the blood of his mother and sisters, slipped from his grasp, enabling his brothers to grapple with him, which they lost no time in doing. Then ensued a terrible struggle between three brothers, one of whom was a raving maniac and the others fighting for their lives. Round and round the room times it was feared the boys would be unable to get the upper hand of their antagonist. Finally, after the struggle had lasted over an hour, James and his brother succeeded in overpowering the maniac, and at once delivered him over to the police.

WELL KNOWN INVENTOR.
The perpetrator of this horrible crime was an inventor and for some time he has been greatly worried over an air brake that he had invented and on which a patent was pending. On being questioned in regard to last night's work he could say nothing about it, as his mind was entirely blank as far as the tragedy was concerned. He, as well as the entire family, are well known and highly respected.

ROADS TO COMBINE

ALSO STEAMSHIPS

Bancroft, of the Short Line, to Be Manager of the Entire System.

SALT LAKE, Oct. 10.—The Deseret News says: "Tonight the action of the special meeting of the stockholders of the Oregon Short Line held yesterday, whereby the charter of the company was amended, providing for the engaging in the business of operating steamship lines, is to be followed by the consolidation of that system and the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company, also its steamship lines, with W. H. Bancroft, vice president and general manager of the Short Line, as general manager, and T. M. Bohmacker, general traffic manager, to take effect January 1."

THE KING'S GUESTS

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Great preparations are being made by the royalty in view of the intention of King Edward to officially receive American Generals Corbin, Young and Wood next Monday.

PRESIDENT WALKS

With the Aid of Crutches, He Takes a Short Stroll.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—There is much gratification being expressed on all sides at the rapid recovery of President Roosevelt and it is expected that he won't be many days before he will be able to attend to the duties of his office as usual. This morning, with the aid of a pair of crutches, the President was enabled to walk a short distance. This is the first time he has been on his feet since he underwent the operation. The exercise caused him very little inconvenience, and it is thought that within a few days he will be able to do away with the crutches altogether. However, it will probably be necessary for him to use a cane for some time to come.

CALL MEN FLUNKED

Got Cold Feet When It Came to Organizing a Union.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—At a meeting last night to form a reporters' union the call men backed out. However, the Examiner men formed a union by themselves. Other reporters then formed a union which will be affiliated with the International Typographical Union and under their jurisdiction.

WALLA WALLA DEMOCRATS.

WALLA WALLA, Oct. 10.—The opening Democratic rally will occur on Monday evening, when, at College Place, the Democrats of the county are supposed to turn out and jollify. On Wednesday evening George Cottrell, candidate for Congress, will hold a meeting at the opera house in this city.

INDIAN LANDS

Important Decision Affecting Umatilla Agency Allotments.

PENDLETON, Ore., Oct. 10.—The case of Philomene Smith versus He-yu-te-milkin, decided in the plaintiff's favor by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at San Francisco last Monday, is of great interest to the people of Umatilla County, and may affect many titles to Indian lands on all reservations of Oregon. The case involves a quarter section of land worth about $3000 near Adams, in this county, and there comes with it five other cases, involving $14,000 more.

Mrs. Philomene Smith selected for herself and children 630 acres of land on the Umatilla reservation in 1888, under the allotment act. After occupying and improving it, the allotting agents in 1891 refused to allot her on the land selected. The Interior Department rejected her petition to be placed on the land chosen by her, but said she might have other land. All

Casey Given Instruction Not to Be Too Severe.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Modified instructions were sent Admiral Casey, directing him to use judgment and not to be extreme in severity, and endeavor to avoid arousing the opposition of the Colombian government towards the Americans.

Next Encampment Goes to the Golden Gate City.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—San Francisco was selected as the place where the next Grand Army encampment will be held.

TO TAKE CHARGE

The following notice was received yesterday by Mr. Bernard McGinnis, who has temporary charge of the local hydrographic office:
"Navy Department, Washington, D. C.—Mr. W. H. Ledbetter has been transferred from the branch hydrographic office at Port Townsend, Wash., to take charge of the branch hydrographic office in Portland, Or.
W. H. E. SOUTHERLAND,
Commander U. S. Navy, Hydrographer."
Mr. McGinnis will remain in the office as messenger.

CUBA CELEBRATES

Prisoners Get Amnesty on Anniversary of First War With Spain.

HAVANA, Oct. 10.—There is a great celebration in Cuba today, it being the thirty-fourth anniversary of the first war with Spain. In honor of the day President Palma granted amnesty to all short term prisoners and reduced the sentence of all others.
