TYPOS' SMOKER

Given in Honor of President Lynch.

ENJOYABLE EVENT

Present Who Delivered Addresses.

There were about 300 people present at the smoker given by the Multnomah Typographical Union last night in honor International President James M. Lynch. The meeting was called to order at 7:30 o'clock by Local President Geo. H. Howell, who made a short but interesting address in which he stated that it is not the mere wage question that union men have uppermost in mind by having strong organizations, but more for the purpose of raising the standard of American eithenship. At the conclusion of his remarks the guest of the evening was introduced. President Lynch said in part:

"Printers have played an important part in bettering the condition of mankind. From the moment that moveable type was discovered an intelligent and successful fight has been waged against all forms of slavery and degrading influences. By means of type people became enlightened and the yokes of bondage which had been weighting down the mass of tollers for centuries were gradually cast aside.

"The first typographical union ever formed in the United States was in 1834, and it was shortly followed by about a dozen other organizations of the art precorvative. It was not until 1852, however, that the first national union was formed, and from then dates the improvement of the great army which makes up the industrial forces of this country. Today there are 'locals' all over the American continent, with a total membership of 42,000. Since organizing we have passed through the most gigantic industrial changes ever seen in the world's his-

SCOFFED AT IDEA.

"But a day which was to prove disastrous to printers was near at mand. All the talk concerning the perfection of labor-saving machines to set type was ridiculed by the hand compositors. They did not believe it possible to bring it about, but as all know, the Mergenthaler proved a success, and thousands of printers were thrown out of employment. The organization was preserved intact, and all energies were bent toward scuring control of the machines. We succeeded, and | jury was completed at noon today.

LABOR STRIKES. Mayor Williams was introduced and talked for a few minutes on the subject of strikes. In the settlement of these Many Distinguished Guests Were difficulties which he said were frequently necessary, he favored arbitration. "The party that offers to submit the disputes to a Board of Arbitration," he continued, "strengthens itself before the public. Very frequently employers say that they have nothing to arbitrate. At that very moment, in my opinion, their position becomes untenable. In New Zealand there is a compulsory arbitration law which proves very satisfactory, but some say that it would be impracticable here. As to that I do not know, but I venture to say that when a strike occurs and the party offering first to leave the matter in dispute to an Arbitration Board is the one which is invariably right in its contention. That is what gained the great victory for the coal miners in Pennsylvania. It forced the coal barons to ferms, I realize that laborers are not getting just rewards for their work. Millionaires multiplying on every hand and workingmen getting barely enough to keep body and soul together convinces me of this." B S Cobb then favored the audience with a recitation entitled, "Dream of

BEFORE SUPREME COURT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.-Considerable interest is manifested in the case of the Indiana Manufacturing Company which was called for argument today in the United States Supreme Court. The case involves the right of the state to tax patent rights. It has been in the state and federal courts for several years, but the point at issue has never been passed on by the United States Supreme Court.

PUBLIC HANGING

Of Murderer Belding Won't Come Off.

SHERIFF CONCLUDES

To Defer to the Ideas of Many Prominent Citizens.

Sheriff Storey has abandoned the idea of admitting the public to witness the hanging of Belding, as stated exclusively in The Journal Saturday. Mr. Storey is still of the opinion that the object is a worthy one, but in deference to public opinion he has concluded to abandon the To The Journal reported this morning he said:

"I have concluded not to admit the general public to witness the hanging of Belding. I still believe it would be a good thing, as it would have been the means of raising a good many hundred dollars for the boy, but public sentiment seems to be against it. Rabbi Wise and many prominent people whose judgment and friendship I respect have been to see me this morning and requested me not to carry out my intention.

"I was acting from the purest of motives and had no thought of making it a spectacular affair. There is no question that legally I have the right to carry but ins plans, but I give way to the advice of those whose positions entitle them to consideration.

The Sheriff quoted the old saying that A wise man changes his mind, but a fool never," and while he isn't posing as a wise man he says it answers his purposes in this case. The hanging will be strictly private, only officials and representatives of the press being admitted.

Attracted by reading descriptions of Oregon, Mrs. Alice P. Bishop, of Marshall. Mo., a woman of wealth, has come to Cormick, Nels Sager and John Mickey. Portland, willing to invest in timber or other lands. Mrs. Bishop came by way of J. Kadderly, violators of occupation tax Salt Lake City, where she stopped over and invested in land in the Bear River Valley. She will remain in Portland a few days only and then will tour Oregon. The coming of Mrs. Bishop is directly due to the system of commercial organization in Oregon known as the Columbia River Basin Board of Trade. Mrs. Bishop says that she has received literature describing al! portions of Oregon from this organization and finds that it is not at all exaggerated. Since her arrival she has been approached by all kinds of men with propositions for her to invest money in but has withheld doing so until she can see what she is getting.

COUNCILMEN HERE

Mr. Ball is still indisposed but is endeavoring to bear up that the trial of the case can go on without further interruption.

> The state ended its case just before the noon hour. Chief of Police McLaughlan was the last witness on the stand and was an important one for the prosecution, He testified that when Smith was brought into the station under arrest, he denied having killed his wife and said it was his uncle who did the shooting, because of some trivial grievance he had against Annie, his wife, but the chief told Smith his story was very improbable. He would not believe it, etc., and then Smith said: "Well, Chief, there is no use of lying > to you any more. I killed Annie myself and I am sorry for it. You can hang me or do anything you want to with me. I killed her, I killed her." Other witnesses for the prosecution brought out unimportant facts, and was to substantiate more direct evidence. The defensee opened this afternoon.
