BELLE MEADE STUD.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 22.—Today marked the beginning of the end of the famous Belle Meade Stock Farm, the greatest of all the world's nurseries for the running horse, and for more than a century a familiar name among all persons who own or admire fast horses. Before the end of the present week it is expected that the entire stud will have been disposed of. This is in accordance with the decision of General William H. Jackson, who for more than 30 years has been master of the famous establishment. General Jackson has decided to permanently retire from horse breeding because of advancing age and ill health. The sale is being conducted by the Fasig-Tipton Company. Altogether there are about 250 head of blooded horses to go under the hammer, including stallions, brood mares and young stock. The stallions include a number of successful sires of race horses and the dams of many winners in both America and England.

MORE TROOPS.

Notice has been received by the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company in this city of another movement of troops from San Francisco. These troops consist of 12 officers and 30 men, constituting three troops of the Ninth Cavalry, who have just returned from Manila, and will be stationed at Fort Walla Walla. They will pass through Portland about Friday.

BATTLE AT EUGENE

Whitman and U. of O. on the Gridiron Today.

(Journal Special Service.) UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Oct. 22.—The first football game of the season at Eugene will be played here today between the U. of O. and the Whitman College team from Walla Walla. Coach Dolph has made some changes in the line-up since last Saturday's game with Albany College.

The Oregon-Whitman game this afternoon will probably determine the Northwest intercollegiate championship for this year, and Captain Watts and his men will bend every energy toward a victory over the Sons of Marcus. The struggle promises to be an interesting one, as both teams are evenly matched as regards weight, experience and all around style of play.

Whitman will have had the advantage of one additional game this season, but this advantage will be offset by Oregon's playing on her home field.

The football squad has been materially strengthened the past week by the return of Fulback Clyde Payne of the famous 1900 eleven; Virgil Earl, right tackle on last season's team, and John L. Fenland, a sturdy guard of last year.

Elmer Seargeant, who played left end on the University of Washington team last year, has entered college and will try for his former position.

THE NEW MEN. Among the new men who are showing up in good form are Jordan at end, Prizell at guard, McKinney at center and La Tourette at quarter.

The old members of the squad are rounding into excellent form, and by Thanksgiving time, the 'Varsity eleven ought to equal the best in the Northwest.

The big Thanksgiving game with the Multnomah Club in Portland ought to be a great struggle this year, and both teams are determined to win.

The 'Varsity eleven will average perhaps 190 pounds, which is much heavier than last year. Manager Wright has scheduled games, in addition to the above, with Oregon Agricultural College, Pacific University and the Oregon State Medical College.

A SPECIAL SESSION

Growing Sentiment in Favor of an Early Meeting.

(Journal Special Service.) SALEM, Oct. 22.—The movement for the special session of the Legislature, which had begun to lag somewhat, has received a new impetus, by the support it has received and is receiving from the Portland Taxpayers' League, and the friends and advocates of the movement in this city are stated, knowing that the Legislature most desired can best be secured at an extraordinary session of the Legislature, where the Senatorial fight will not intrude.

Governor T. T. Geer would say little on the subject when it was presented to him for an expression yesterday, except that should the Portland Taxpayers' League petition him to call an extra session of the Legislature, the standing of the membership would have great weight in deciding the question.

It is evident from this statement, made by the Governor, that an extra session if petitioned for by a considerable number of representative citizens who will show the necessity for it, may be called at an early date.

There is a growing sentiment in this city in favor of an extra session, and there is a likelihood of the petitions being numerous signed here. One reason why people here are in favor of an early meeting of the Legislature is that Salem will come before the assembly and ask for amendments to the charter—important changes are desired this year—and it is urged that the charter legislation will fare better at a special than at the regular session when, it is believed, the Senatorial contest will interfere with and prevent much of the needed legislation.

The extra session has already been petitioned by a large number of citizens, petitions bearing the names of 802 people being now in the hands of Governor Geer. These petitions come from all portions of the state, and are based on the demand for flat salary legislation.

WOMEN MAY VOTE

Important School Election to Be Held in Walla Walla.

(Journal Special Service.) WALLA WALLA, Oct. 22.—The first balloting contest of the fall campaign will come when the votes are cast for members of the school board to succeed W. R. Criffield and H. A. Gardner. This election comes up on Saturday, November 1, and is one of the most important municipal matters of the year. Walla Walla District No. 1 contains four fine brick school buildings and employs fully three dozen teachers. For the past three years the primary departments of these schools have been over-crowded and as a result the Washington School was erected last year. Relief was both temporary, however, and within a month from the opening of the present school year, the old United Brethren Church had to be leased for primary purposes. At the same session of the board the name of the Paine School, a building erected in 1890, was changed to Lincoln School. This stirred up much bitter feeling here because Frank G. Paine, for whom the school was originally named, has a large personal following in this city. An effort was made to make political capital out of the event but this failed entirely. Criffield was one of the foremost in the name changing campaign and there is strong censure of his action.

The women may vote at the election which comes up Saturday and many have been registering at the office of the Secretary of the Board of Education in the city library building.

THINK IT OVER. THERE are many young people just drifting along, just existing, with little prospect of bettering their circumstances. They do nothing well and are forced to do menial work. The lack of an education keeps them down. They go on and on hopelessly, not realizing that a little strenuous effort for a few months would place them in a position to earn a good salary and to rise to places of trust and responsibility. It is the mission of a good business school to help these unfortunates, to quickly and unexpensively get them "on their feet." We have a business school with every facility for doing superior work, and we do it. We are interested in young people and in you in particular, if you are having a hard time. If you will write us we will gladly advise you and send our fine catalogue. Mention this paper.
