MEN ARE LAID OFF

But Six Employes at O. R. & N. Docks.

A WAITING GAME

Indications Are That Boats Will Be Tied Up Indefinitely.

It looks as though the O. R. & N. Co. has abandoned the idea of operating the steamships Ruder and Columbia for some time to come, at least. This morning all the employes at the Ainsworth and Alaska docks were paid off excepting four at the former and two at the latter.

There were about 50 men employed permanently at the two docks, filling positions as clerks, sailmen, watchmen, etc. When vessels arived the force was increased to about 150 men, the greater number of whom were longshoremen. Those retained on the payroll are two clerks and four watchmen.

LOOK DESERTED.

The docks presented a deserted appearance this morning, the usual noise and stir giving place to a general stillness that gives one a lonely feeling. The impression among those discharged is that the big coast liners lying alongside the docks will remain there for an indefinite length of time. They believe that the company is preparing to fight the Marine Engineers' Association in the same maner as the latter has introduced—that is, a game of freezeout. The company, it is reported, is resourceful in both brains and finances, and the engineers lay claim to the same features of distinction. There is no doubt but that a war to a finish is on between the opposing forces, although neither side is making any great ado over it.

THE SITUATION.

Undoubtedly the company could secure non-union engineers, but whether the boats could be operated in this manner or not for any length of time is problematical. It is believed that the engineers are making a move to form an alliance with longshoremen, and if this is brought about there would likely be another tieup before the vessels should make many trips. At least this is the way the situation looks to disinterested parties who have been watching the developments closely.

PIGEON ROOST MASSACRE.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 29.—The Indiana state society of the Daughters of the American Revolution began its annual meeting in this city today with delegates present from all of the various chapters throughout the state. A delegation from Jeffersonville is present with a memorial asking the co-operation of the state society in the effort to have the legislature appropriate funds for the erection of a suitable monument to the memory of the pioneers who fell at the Pigeon Roost massacre, near the present site of the city of Jeffersonville, September 3, 1812.

WHITNEY WON.

NEW MARKET, England, Oct. 29.—William C. Whitney's famous horse Plantrae came under the wire first in the great Cambridgeshire Stakes race today. The first money was $3,000, but the honors could not be purchased for a hundred times that sum. It is one of the most famous sporting turf events of the year and has again proved the superiority of the Whitney stables.

GRAND JURY FINDS NO REMEDY FOR GRAFTING

printed report. As to Mr. Fred Merrill: Either he was mistaken in his accusations or the grand jury did not bring out the proofs for them from him. Mr. Merrill should be asked either to prove his accusations or retract them. I, personally, have not made a study of this matter, but it is plain to be seen even to a blind man that there has been grafting going on for quite a while."

SHERIFF STOREY DOESN'T CARE.

"I have nothing to say concerning the grand jury report. It has a right to inquire into whatever it sees fit, and this it has evidently done, but it doesn't concern me an iota. I am an officer of the law and am here to do my duty and I am going to do it, grand jury or no grand jury. It is not for me to say anything about it. The report has now been made public, and let the people do the talking."

"How about Charley Lord?"

"Lord, Lord, I do not know such a man; oh, yes—the reformer, that's so. I do remember him, but it has been so long since I received a communication from him that his name has escaped my memory for the present."

JUDGE SEARS' IDEA.

Judge Sears, who received their report, begged to be excused from saying anything. He said it was not the functions of the court to express an opinion. If there were any particular features of the report that the court thought necessary for judicial atention it would be brought to the attention of the District Attorney at the proper time. But he did not intimate that he would do anything of the kind with this report.

CHIEF KNOWS NOTHING.

Chief of Police McLauchlan, when interviewed this morning on the findings of the grand jury, was non-committal.

"Was the grand jury justified in making the statement that the special policemen had a graft of $1,000 a month?"

"I don't know a thing about it."

"Is there any truth in the accusation?"

"I don't know."

"Are you aware that the specials are collecting money from the fallen Whitechapel women?"

"I don't know."

"If the grand jury had the evidence of corruption that their report inferred, would it not have been the proper thing to bring in some indictments?"

"It was up to them; I don't know."

"Do you intend to take some action in reference to the specials to stop the alleged graft?"

"I don't know."

GROUND FELL IN

Mines Engulfed But No Lives Lost.

JOPLIN, Mo., Oct. 29.—Although two acres of ground fell in today and completely engulfed the Stewart Mill and other valuable property, and filling the Prosperity to a depth of 100 feet, no lives were lost. Fifty miners were warned by the groans and crackling noise of the earth as it began to cave, and fled from the shafts. They escaped with their lives. The panic was great and it seems a miracle that no one was killed. Seven shafts of the zinc mines are filled.

PARISIAN FORTS.

PARIS, Oct. 29.—Alterations in the fortifications of the City of Paris will be made at a cost of $10,000,000.

MRS. STANTON BURIED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The funeral of Elizabeth Cady Stanton was held quietly at her home today.

SPECIAL SESSION

The Movement Not Dead by Any Means.

ONLY POLITICIANS

The Opposing What Is So Badly Needed for the 1905 Fair.

The movement for a special session of the Legislature is not dead. Opposition to the project was subtly planned and the tactics were of no mean order. When the opposition came out with their chunks of wisdom anent the legal phases, they uttered platitudes that have been known to everyone who has given attention to the subject with common information as to the statutory and constitutional requirements in the premises. The fact that the Legislature could vote for a Senator at a special session was patent all of the time prior to the publication of that fact. The possibility that "flat salaries" and the initiative and referendum might be effective without action by the Legislature prior to the first of the year, was also understood.

The situation appears to be that those who urge that flat salaries are effective now, in view of the constitutional provisions, are not really favorable to the inauguration of flat salaries for the state officials. The men who represent the Secretary of State, and the State Printer and other officers who are now drawing immense sums from the treasury, were among those who opposed the flat salary matter in the last campaign. They did not want flat salaries then; they do not want them now. If the matter go over to the regular session, the State Printer, for instance, will continue to draw the same sums he draws now, with no power to reduce them until the end of the term for which he was elected.

REMAINS IN STATU QUO.

The need for the Lewis and Clark and city charter legislation is as imperative as it has been at any previous time. Nothing has occurred to alter the status. If it was needed a week ago, it is needed now.

The constitution limits the special session to 20 days. If the session were called to convene on a Wednesday, there would be 13 days in which to transact business of a special character, before a Senator could be balloted for. If the election of a Senator were injected into the special session, it would be simply because the candidates for that position themselves injected it; and hence all claims against the special session that the Senatorship would become involved are proof that those candidates will do it with disregard for the interests of the whole state.

It is claimed that the saving in the sums taken by the State Printer alone during the four years, under a flat salary regime, would more than equal the entire cost of the special session, which would be no more than $15,000.

The Taxpayers' League will proceed to prepare the petitions to the Governor, regardless of the recent utterances on the subject. The meeting in the directors' room of the Ainsworth National Bank on Tuesday afternoon, by the executive committee of the league, was determinative of the attitude of the organization as that of continued support of the special session.

The members of the committee are: A. L. Mills, J. C. Ainsworth, Leo Friede, J. Thorburn Ross and J. N. Teal.

OPERATORS TRY TO ORGANIZE

Work of the Telegraphers' Union at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—A movement to organize the telegraph operators of the country, affiliate them with the American Federation of Labor, and then announce the principle and promulgate the doctrine of government ownership of the telegraph is declared on reliable authority to have been in successful progress for some months.

It is estimated that there are fully 100,000 telegraph operators in the country. Since the strike of 1883 there has been no organization until the present movement. A union was formed in New York city recently, which, it is declared, completes the organization of the operators in all of the larger cities of the country. The next move will be to bring the Canadian operators into the fold. The union formed in New York enrolled 4100 members out of 300 who attended the meeting. The prediction was made, however, that the organization would grow rapidly

The speakers at the meeting impressed upon the operators present that strong opposition might be expected from the Western Union company. This was based on the fact that this company is understood to have discharged operators in its employ at various times for attempting to form unions. The organizers of the New York unions believed no opposition would be made to the organization of the operators by the Postal Telegraph company.

A movement to organize the Washington telegraph operators is now on foot, the preliminary meetings having been held and a charter applied for some weeks ago. The exact strength of the Washington union has not yet been announced, and it is understood that the matter has been conducted in the most quiet manner possible on account of possible hostility from the employing companies.

On September 28 an international convention was held in Chicago, which was attended by delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada, and at that time the international organization was effected, with the following officers: J. J. McDonald, Chicago, president; M. J. Reidy, Boston, first vice-president; E. A. Douglas, Milwaukee, secretary and treasurer, and an executive committee consisting of well-known operators from every section of the country.

FUNERAL OF JOHN GRAHAM

John Graham, father of J. F. Graham, master mechanic of the O. R. & N. Co., died last night about 10 o'clock, at the residence of his son, 489 Goldsmith street, Albina.

Mr. Graham was 93 years, 2 months and 7 days old, and has resided in Oregon for about 17 years. He came here from Dallas, Tex., where he lived for six or eight years, and where he has a daughter living. Mr. Graham was born in Brownsville, Pa. Forty nine years ago he buried his wife, and for the past 17 years he has made his home with his son, J. F. Graham.

It will be remembered that two sons of Mr. Graham were killed on the O. R. & N. quite a while ago. One was killed about 14 years ago, while engineer on the Washington division, and the other while brakeman near The Dalles.

The funeral services will be held from the residence of his son, at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon. The remains will be interred at The Dalles, where the two younger Grahams are buried.

MATTERHORN HAS ARRIVED

The British bark Matterhorn, Captain Warren, arrived in port last evening and moored at the Greenwich dock. She came direct from Hamburg, bringing 15,800 barrels of cement, consigned to the James McCraken Company. The vessel is not yet chartered for an outgoing cargo.

The Matterhorn made the passage in 136 days and Captain Warren reports that it was an uneventful one. He has visited Portland twice before, once with his father, 20 years ago, when the former was master of the Bellona of Windsor, Nova Scotia. He was also here in 1895 and has extensive acquaintances in port. His wife and son are accompanying him on this voyage.

The Matterhorn moved this afternoon to the Greenwich dock, No. 2, where she began discharging.

A GIANT TRUST

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—The combined harvester has for several years been a feature in the harvesting of America's grain crop and now the harvester combine is to be sprung. The International Harvester Company is the name of the corporation which is to control the world's output of harvesting machinery. The capital stock of the new concern is to be placed at $120,000,000, and all of the details of the giant combine have been formulated. More than $30,000,000 will be spent in paying off the minority stockholders in the firms that are merged into the larger venture and there will be a working capital of $40,000,000 still remaining on hand. C. McCormick is the ranking stockholder and Deering is close behind him. By cutting down the clerical and office forces of the various companies and factories swallowed up, a great saving will be made and competition will be stopped.

WOMEN ARRESTED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—An unlicensed bucketshop raid was pulled off at 8 o'clock this morning and resulted in the arrest of eight women. No other "operators" were taken into custody. Three of the women were married and the rest single.

CASTELLANE TO PAY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The famous Castellane case brought by Wertheimer, the London dealer, was settled here last night. The Castellanes will pay the sum of $347,000 in monthly payments, with interest at 4 per cent until paid.

TWO MEN KILLED.

COVINGTON, Oct. 29.—Two men were instantly killed here last night by being run over by the Clover Leaf passenger train. The were David Hutts, County Councilman, and Allen Smith.

REPORT GARBLED

Both Sides Score Morning Paper.

FALSE STATEMENTS

Waterfront Federation Met Last Night in A. O. U. W. Hall.

The Longshoremen, Marine and Transport Workers, composed of seven local unions, met last evening in the A. O. U. W. Hall and many important matters came up for consideration, although the officials are very reticent about giving anything out for publication. Alexander Keegan, president of the Riggers' and Tinners' Union, acted as chairman. President Keefe, of the International organization, was in attendance.

Fourth Vice-President Madsen was seen this morning, and in reply to a question stated:

"The report in the morning paper in reference to action we took against the firm of Balfour, Guthrie & Co. is a misstatement of facts from beginning to end. That firm pays identically the same wages as any of the other exporters in the city, or on the coast for that matter. They pay 35 cents an hour straight for regular time and 50 cents for overtime, Sundays and holidays being included in the latter. So far as wages are concerned the firm is perfectly fair, but we have some difficulty with it on another score. The company discriminates against union men, and that is the entire sum and substance of the difference existing between us and Balfour, Guthrie Co."

FIRM EXPLAINS.

W. J. Burns, manager of the firm of Balfour, Guthrie & Co., is indignant about the report which appeared in the morning paper to the effect that the company he represents pays less wages to longshoremen than any other firm in Portland. He says:

"The report was an absolute fabrication, pure and simple. There was no foundation for it at all. We are paying the regular wages of 35 cents an hour and 50 cents for overtime."

ENGINEERS PRESENT.

A delegation from the Marine Engineers' Association was present at the meeting last night, but for what purpose they refuse to divulge. It is generally believed, however, that the advisability of their joining the Waterfront Federation was one of the objects of the visit. Were the engineers in no labor trouble, they would be admitted without opposition, and be warmly welcomed, but under the circumstances there may be some hesitancy about their admission.

President Keefe departed this morning for San Francisco. He expressed himself as well satisfied with the situation here.

WANDERING FLOCKS

WINNIPEG, Oct. 29.—Starving, suffering, almost dead, a party of Russian Duokhbors is marching through this section of Manitoba. There are 1,000 of them and they present a terrible and heart-rendering appearance. These people came into the Canadian Northwest two years ago and have lived like serfs. They work their women to the plow and have introduced Russian methods into the new world. Laboring under an excess of religious fervor, they have taken up their wanderings like the children of Israel. Leaving their homes, their crops and their only means of obtaining food or shelter, they began to march. For nearly two weeks they have been in the field and many of them have died on the way. Half-clad women carry their almost wholly nude children through the bitter cold nights or lie on the bare ground. Hundreds are ill, yet all manage to stagger onward. They say they are "searching for Jesus."

MORE TURN OUT.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 29.—At noon today 400 more Doukhobors arrived here to join forces with the army already in this vicinity. Advices state that 300 more are preparing to desert their homes and give their lives to a search for Jesus. The immigration officials have not yet decided what action to take and the unfortunate zealots have no plans, no food and but little clothing.

The mounted police have been ordered to mobilize as several small riots have broken out among the pilgrims. Two old persons died this morning and other deaths will follow.

DELIBERATE FALSEHOOD

Asked about the proposed Snake-River bridge and a roadbed along that river, President Mohler of the O. R. & N. Co. said:

"There is no question that the Snake-River undertaking will in time be completed. As to statements made in an evening paper purporting to come from me in regards to this matter, I would rather not say anything."

Col. Crook, at the head of the president's office, asked about the same question, said:

"There is not a word of truth in it. The report published in a local evening paper in regards to plans of the O. R. & N. Co., in regards to any Snake-River matters and construction of a joint line between this and other lines is erroneous. As to the Snake-River proposition, the statement is a deliberate lie. That is all I have to say."

AWFUL CRIME

WYNNE, Ark., Oct. 29.—Three daughters of Farmer Thomas Gibson, while their parents were absent, were killed this morning. Their heads were crushed in with an axe. The eldest child, Marie, aged 14, was criminally assaulted. David Cross, a negro, was arrested. He denied he was a principal, but said he witnessed the triple tragedy which was committed by another negro, Tom Johnson. A great crowd is pursuing Johnson and his capture is expected at any time. Probably both negroes will be burned.

WOMAN HAS GRIEVANCE

Fish Story to Be Heard in Justice Reid's Court.

Constable Adkins last evening arrested W. H. H. Reed, upon complaint of Jennie Lawton, for threatening to kill. Reed was released upon putting up a cash bail of $100 to appear for trial before Justice Reid this morning, but did not show up, and a bench warrant will be issued for his arrest at once.

Mrs. Lawton has a lodging house on Ninth and Flanders streets. She claims that Reed has been annoying and threatening her life for a number of days. When interviewed this forenoon she stated:

"The trouble is of a strictly private character and concerns no one but myself. It is no one's business, and I do not care to make any statement for publication, but when the time comes will tell my story in court."

FINANCIAL TROUBLES.

She was asked: "Is it true that the trouble has for its basis a love affair?"

She answered: "It is nothing of the kind. Reed owes me some money. He borrowed $1,000 from me to go into the fish business on the Upper Columbia. He gave me a mortgage on a fish wheel as security. Later I learned that the wheel was already mortgaged. The money I loaned him is now due me and I want it. Because I have insisted on collecting it he has threatened my life. I am a poor lone woman, but am determined to protect my rights and not allow myself to be imposed upon by any man. When the case is brought into court my action will be shown as correct. Good day, sir."

BRYAN ON TIME.

In Spite of a Wreck He Kept His Dates.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., Oct. 29.—William J. Bryan, the noted silver advocate, spoke here last evening after an exciting day. The special train on which he was traveling came in collision with a freight train without serious injury to anyone and the noted Nebraskan was loaded into a freight car and hauled through the run on time. In his speech here he told how the straitened money market had been relieved by the gold from Nome and the Klondike.

THEY DEBATED.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 29.—At the Armory last night Mayor Tom Johnson and W. R. Hopkins debated for three hours. They were listened to by a vast audience. Just taxation and home rule were the principal points under discussion and Johnson presented the Democratic side of the argument in a convincing manner. Hopkins, Republican, was eloquent and bitter by turns.

CLEVELAND IS OUT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Morning papers here print dispatches from Trenton, N. J., in which Grover Cleveland is quoted as saying that he will take no active part in the campaign this year.

J. W. Fuller a prominent man in the business and social affairs of the city, has mysteriously disappeared. His friends and family are in a state of great anxiety.

It is thought that he has wandered into the woods and been lost, or took his own life. Mr. Fuller has for years been the Western agent of the Towle Syrup Company of St. Paul.

He is described as being 40 years of age. Medium height and size, with brown mustache and hazel eyes. He wore an Oxford gray sack coat and vest, gray striped trousers and a black Derby hat.
