THINK HE IS A LEPPER.

The town of Willamette Falls on the west side is excited over what they think to be a case of leprosy. An old Chinaman made his appearance near the postoffice of that town a few days since and is camping under a fallen tree. He seems to be Chinese and he says that his fellow-countrymen will go near him, and he keeps entirely to himself. He has nothing but a few rags which are on his back, and what he eats no one seems to know. Detectives Kerrigan and Snow came up from Portland and examined the man in the hope that he was a Chinese murderer whom they are looking for. Mr. Morris will go over today and ascertain whether or not the man has leprosy or any contagious disease.

ARBITRATION COMMITTEE.

The printers' and owners' arbitration committee was named this morning. J. A. McLaughlin will look after the union interests, Charles Albright will attend to L. E. Porter's interests, and these two men have asked Postmaster George F. Horton to be the third member and he has accepted. These men will meet tonight and try to arrive at some conclusion so that the matter will be settled by tomorrow night. It is thought that no difficulty will arise at the meeting, as the question is plainly put.

WILL FIGHT TONIGHT.

Ed Gallagher of Oregon City and Young Irwin of San Francisco will meet tonight in what is scheduled to be a 20-round boxing contest for the bantam championship of Oregon. Gallagher has a good record as a fighter, having won every battle in which he has been engaged. Irwin claims to hold the bantam championship of his city and has fought several good fights. Jack Thornton and Ed Clevering will meet in a preliminary bout which ought to be interesting.

TO OBSERVE HALLOWEEN.

Hallowe'en will be occasion for several parties this evening. The words of Rev. Mr. George C. Brownell will entertain.

VANCOUVER AND CLARKE COUNTY NEWS.

MAY WIN IN CLARKE COUNTY

Democrats Predict That a Victory Is Ahead for the Ticket.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—The Journal reporter today had an interview with a leading Democrat of this county, who made the following statement: "Clarke County will go into the Democratic column this fall with a safe majority. This is not conjecture, nor will it be a surprise to those who have studied the situation, but it is the result of the present condition of our ticket, and the fact that we stand for economy in the affairs of the county."

A GOOD PRODUCTION.

"On the Stroke of 12," the sensational hit of the past three seasons in the East and Middle West, is the attraction to-morrow night at the Auditorium. The story is an interesting one, with many exciting incidents, and the dramatic element runs through the entire play. The company is a capable one and should give a pleasing portrayal of the play.

GOVERNOR MERRIDE TALKS.

Governor McBride and Harold Preston addressed a large audience at the Standard Theatre last night. The house was crowded to the doors. The Seventeenth Infantry Band furnished music for the occasion. The meeting was called to order by C. W. Bowler, chairman of the Republican central committee.

FUNERAL OF MR. BREWSTER.

The funeral of County Auditor William H. Brewster, who passed away Monday evening, took place yesterday at the family residence, 22nd and C streets. An Episcopal service at the house was conducted by Rev. R. Yeatman, pastor of the Baptist Church, and the exercises at the grave by Ellsworth Post No. 2, G. A. R. A large number of friends attended the services, many coming from Portland and Northern Washington. Many beautiful tributes showed the esteem and love in which Mr. Brewster was held by his numerous friends. The words of Rev. Mr. Yeatman were solemn and impressive and bespoke the emboding character of the deceased. The remains were taken to the City Cemetery, at 3 o'clock, escorted by the Knights of Pythias. An Order of United Workmen, Grand Army of the Republic, and Army and tertain members of the Presbyterian Church at her home on the Hill. Miss Nell Cochran has issued invitations for a gathering at her home, while Miss Laura Pope has also invited a number of her friends to spend the evening at her parents' house on Water street.

PORTLAND KING CRIMP DEFIES COURT'S ORDERS

present. The allusion to Mysterious Billy Smith as the "prizefighter" by Hedden, one of the witnesses, added to the discomfort of that worthy gentleman.

ORIGIN OF THE CASE.

This case arises, as has been published in The Journal, out of the fact that the White boys and "Mysterious Billy" boarded a foreign vessel while in port and endeavored to intimidate several of the crew by threats and blows into leaving the ship. The result being a "knock-out" blow for "Mysterious Billy" by the negro sailor, Hopkins.

THREATENED MURDER.

James White, one of the crimps, threatened to kill any of the crew that might go ashore. Similar threats were made by other members of the sailor kidnapers.

JUDGE BELLINGER TALKS.

Judge Bellinger said this morning, on being apprised of the facts, "If it is a case of leprosy, it is a case of leprosy. I will have him up for contempt of court. It is about time that sailors should be protected from such men. If they think to defy the United States Courts, they will find that there is a power there that they have never experienced. I will make it hot for them. The courts will stand no 'monkey business,' and they will find that they have a power to deal with in the United States Courts that they have never been 'up against.'"

HUME MEANS BUSINESS.

W. T. Hume, attorney for the plaintiff, when seen this morning, said: "If Larry Sullivan, or any other sailor boarding house man, has been aboard the vessel, I'll have him up for contempt of court. It is about time that sailors should be protected from such men. If they think to defy the United States Courts, they will find that there is a power there that they have never experienced. I will make it hot for them. The courts will stand no 'monkey business,' and they will find that they have a power to deal with in the United States Courts that they have never been 'up against.'"

BEFORE JUDGE HOGUE

Story of the Sunday Battle on the Morven.

Sluggers "Mysterious" William Smith, Four White Bros. & Co., the firm which operates the Albina "Finnling" establishment, are on trial today before Judge Hogue for assaulting British sailors on board the ship Morven. The disclosure in the case are typical of the system of crewing up the sailing ships throughout the world. They are characteristic of the measures resorted to by these people who cling to the skirts of the merchant marine, and prey upon the ignorance, credulity or passions of the vast army who manipulate the ships in their long monotonous voyages over the turbulent seas.

The defendants boarded a ship flying a foreign flag. There were objections raised by some of the seamen to their actions, when a vicious assault was made on the defenseless marines by the boarding house thugs. One sailor was hit on the head with an iron bailing pin, and that he is not now out of death is due to the fact that he was a negro, with a double-decked skull.

SAILOR TELLS THE STORY.

H. Hopkins was placed on the stand, and told a story substantially as follows: "The White brothers started to take some things aboard the ship, and I tried to prevent. A fight ensued in which I was knocked out by being hit on the head with a bailing pin in the hands of Harry White. At the time I was hit I had Smith up against the rail, holding him by the ears and being struck in the face with my head. He was shouting for help, which brought White to the rescue. STORY CORROBORATED.

William Hedden, another seaman of the Morven, gave testimony which corroborated the story of the other witnesses as to the attempt to almost forcibly take Jones off from the ship, the starting of the battle, and the subsequent rioting of the boarding-house forces. The case is continued this afternoon.

THE CRIMPS' SIDE OF IT.

The defense of the crimps will be, substantially, that Sailor Jones of the Morven had frequently come to them and with tears in his eyes begged them to take him from the ship, as he was weary of salt-horse diet and sea-sickness, and desired to live on terra firma in the future. In answer to this prayer they, in a spirit of humanity, went aboard him in taking his wardrobe to their seaman's hostelry. That they were attacked on boarding the vessel, was fairly brilliant with knives, canons and clubs. That it has since been learned, and witnesses are on hand to prove it, that the affair was a deep-laid plot of murder. Jones was used as a decoy to lure the innocent boarding-house men on board, when they were to be torn limb from limb.

WAGE SCALE TO CHANGE NOV. 1

caused momentary comment as they passed.

Watkins this morning stated that the homes of the miners would be visited. It is believed this course is being followed in the effort to ascertain whether the wage scale being paid enables the miners to live in comfort. Not a few dollars will be entered, but they will all be seen, thus giving a basis for an estimate on general conditions.

THREATEN A STRIKE.

TAMAYUJA, Oct. 31.—There is a decidedly ugly feeling among the miners of the Panther Valley District over the discrimination of mining officials against the labor leaders. The men openly declare that unless the managers recede from their present attitude, they will lay down their tools and quit next Tuesday. Six thousand miners are employed in the valley. General Schall said this morning he would return no more troops to their homes until after the present difficulty had been settled.

THREE BURNED.

ELKHORN, Wis., Oct. 31.—William Wickersham, his brother Albert Wickersham and their sister, Julia, were found burned to death in the ruins of their home yesterday. The burning may have been accidental.

OUTLOOK FOR SIDEWALKS

The Good Work Commenced This Year to Continue Next.

The season which is now drawing to a close has been a fruitful one for the cement sidewalk contractors and material men. As before stated in The Journal, something like 30 miles of cement walk will be put down in Portland this year. When the season opens next year it will be taken up more vigorously, and before the close of 1903 several more miles will be added to the gratifying features to the authorities is the willingness with which property owners comply with the new order of things, and it is feared that the contractors and material men will not be able to supply the demand upon them next year. In anticipation of a big business next year the material men are already placing large orders for material. One firm placed a single order a few days ago for 20,000 barrels of cement to come from Germany.

SEARCHING PARTY IS OUT

No light has been thrown on the sudden disappearance of J. W. Fuller on Monday last. The statement that he had been found at Umatilla was run down, but found to be without foundation. A. B. Steinbach, a brother-in-law to the missing man, stated that there was nothing new in the case for publication, which left the inference that some clue had been discovered which might lead to results. Sheriff Storey has sent out a force of a dozen men to make a search; it is understood that since the refusal of the commissioners to pay a bill of this nature a subscription has been made up by the business men to conduct the search. The party will beat the thickets in the suburbs of the city, in the hope of finding some solution to the case.

ANNUAL SESSION

Manufacturers to Fight for Lower DISTRIBUTIVE RATES

For Freight—Annual Meeting of Manufacturers' Association Well Attended.

The captains of industry of Portland met last night both in business and social sessions in the Alsbury Building, the occasion being the annual meeting of the Manufacturers' Association. After hearing the annual message of the president and the reports of the secretary and treasurer, a nominating committee was appointed to select eight directors to serve till 1905. The committee reported and their nominees were unanimously elected. Those present then repaired to a handsomely set table loaded with toothsome delicacies, out of which were produced of Oregon. After doing justice to this and smoking cigars as a settler, brief remarks were made and the meeting adjourned.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The meeting was opened by the president, W. H. Morrow, with an annual address. In which, after welcoming those present, he gave a brief account of the work that is being done by the Manufacturers' Association, stating the number of members, and that the United States and even beyond the seas are turning their eyes toward Oregon. This, he said, is mostly due to the secretary, who by his amiability and knowledge of the situation concerning Oregon has made it a pleasant duty for every manufacturer looking for a location to first look to Oregon.

You take a box of Eastern strawberries, you take Mr. Morrow. You are struck by their beauty and buy a box for 60 cents. You take it home and think of the fine repeat you will have. When you get home you take off the top layer, and what do you find at the bottom? Oregon products have won the respect of the world because what you find on top you find at the bottom, and it is all good. This should be the same with factories, honestly and conscience must lay at the bottom of them."

REPORTS OF SECRETARY AND TREASURER.

Secretary McIsaac then read his report. After commenting on the number of factories established here in the last year, he reported that the growth of Portland as a manufacturing center, and the furtherance of the motto, "Patrolize Home Industry," he read the following statement of the gains and disbursements of the association from October 25, 1901, to October 30, 1902, viz:

Table with financial data: Balance on hand Oct. 25, 1901... $ 225 41; Amount remitted treasurer during year... 1,215 15; Total... $1,440 56; Disbursements... $ 590 00; Office rent... 120 00; Telephone... 100 00; Printing... 292 56; Cash on hand... 328 20; Total... $1,440 56.

ELECTION OF DIRECTORS.

It was then decided that the president appoint a nominating committee of three to name the eight new directors. Those appointed were Messrs. Devers, Holmes and Mack. After a short recess the committee reported and the members chose for directors: Dan Kellaher, D. J. Zan, L. N. Fleischer, W. H. McIsaac, John Montag, F. S. Doernbecher, F. L. Knight and D. M. Dunne. These were elected by unanimous vote.

MANUFACTURERS SPEAK.

Brief addresses were then made by A. H. Devers, Robert Inman, H. W. Irwin, D. M. Dunne, T. Neppach, R. J. Holmes and R. Lutz. The latter, in all of the above spoke of the general business prosperity in Oregon and exchanged ideas which will do much good to the state if acted upon. Mr. Devers' remarks were mostly on the subject of Clark Fair and the necessity of a special session to make the necessary appropriation for it.

ACROSS THE RIVER BOARD TO MEET.

Warm Time Expected at Montavilla Next Friday.

Montavilla residents are all excited over the coming meeting of their board of trade, which will be held next Friday evening.

A great many questions of importance will be brought forward for discussion, and the officers of the organization have made a request that all members who can possibly spare the time attend the meeting Friday evening.

WHICH WILL IT BE?

The most serious question that now confronts the residents of the growing little suburb, is annexation or incorporation. A majority of the members of the board are now in favor of coming inside the city limits of Portland, while some of the others want to build up a little city of their own. A great majority of the residents of the Villa, are, however, noncommittal, and it is these people that the members of the board of trade want to hear from.

DR. DEVENY TALKS.

Dr. William Deveny, secretary of the board, says of the matter: "I have no doubt that when it comes to a final vote of the residents that a big majority of them will vote in favor of annexing the suburb to the City of Portland."

There are many reasons why they should vote that way. Montavilla is growing very fast, and already the water that is supplied by the Mt. Taber Water company is not nearly enough to get a satisfactory service. I have no kick to make on the quality of the water, as it is perhaps about as good as any that can be obtained in this vicinity.

HIGH SCHOOL WANTED.

"Our school system, although very good for a suburb, is not good enough for people who reside so close to a large city. Many of the children need a higher class of training than can be given in such a school as ours, and for these a high school is badly needed. Many of the residents cannot afford to pay a separate tuition for sending their children to the Portland high school, and every head of a family should certainly be in favor of the annexation project."

FIRE PROTECTION WANTED.

"Since the burning of Oriental Hall at Mt. Taber, a large number of our people have come over into the annexation camp. Fire protection is what we want, and we want it badly. The population of Montavilla is now about 1,500, and to leave these people at the mercy of the fire demon would be nothing less than a crime. For all the fire protection that we now have we might as well be located in the woods, many miles from the city limits. It would be a good thing if those who are opposed to annexation would come to our next meeting and explain why they take that stand. I think that they would be convinced otherwise if they would attend."

STREET WORK

East Burnside, Couch and Davis Streets Being Graded.

A number of street improvements are being made along East Twenty-eighth street in the vicinity of the City & Sunnyside. The city engineer has completed the erection of his two-story brick store building on Belmont, near East Thirty-third street.

Pipe Nearly Delivered.

Nearly all of the 20-inch pipe for the large main on Margaret avenue and East Thirty-fifth street has been delivered and in from the car barn. The remainder of the trench will be begun in a few days. The main streets at the corner of Division street and Margaret avenue and ends for the present at East Thirty-fifth and East Stark streets. The main will probably be continued through to Irvington in time.

New Rooms to Open.

The new rooms in the Sunnyside school will be occupied by the pupils Monday morning. The school with the new addition now contains 1,000 pupils and a monster assembly hall. The carpenters are now busily engaged in putting the seats and benches in the additional rooms. For the present old seats will be used on account of the inability of the board to get new ones.
