"Diamond Field" Jack Davis and the Crime for Which He Is Now in Prison.

(Journal Special Service.)

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 24.—It is almost certain that "Diamond Field" Jack Davis, the famous outlaw and murderer, will be pardoned and walk forth from the Idaho penitentiary a free man after having served but five years of a life sentence. At the time of his incarceration it was thought the man was in great luck to escape being hanged, but his lawyer made so much money, he never given up the effort to secure his release and they have even cast their interests along political lines to secure it.

The latest move in the game was when John Sparks, Governor-elect of Nevada, came here in the interests of the pardon and he is even now using his influence with the governor of this state to secure a full and free pardon for the celebrated murderer. It is generally conceded that he will be successful.

A FAMOUS CASE.
"Diamond Field" Jack Davis was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged for the wilful murder of John C. Wilson and Daniel C. Cummins, sheepmen. The murder occurred in Cassia County in 1896, and the trial and conviction followed the next year. Executive clemency was secured to the extent that the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

Davis at all times protested his innocence and two men who had confessed that they did the killing, alleging self defense, were tried and acquitted because they showed utter lack of acquaintance with the details of the crime. It was believed they had been persuaded, through use of money, to attempt to cast a shadow over the evidence against the prisoner.

John Sparks, soon to be Governor of Nevada, and now here in the interests of Davis, is an old friend and associate of the convict.

Story of Crime Told by Father

WALLA WALLA, Nov. 24.—At Touchet, a small station on the line of the O. R. & N. Railroad, 15 miles from here, resides Jerome Cummings, father of Daniel C. Cummings, one of the victims of "Diamond Field" Jack Davis, now doing a life sentence for murder in an Idaho prison. Wilful murder is the way old man Cummings classifies the crime and he declares that it was because his boy and the partner of the latter refused to quit certain ranges that cattlemen had laid claim to that the killing occurred. Premeditated, cold-blooded and utterly revolting was the deed. Details of the murder at Touchet are as follows:

J. P. MORGAN IS TO BE ENGLISH

He Has Purchased a London Home.

Noted American Capitalist Will Hereafter Conduct Business From London End.

MANCHESTER, Nov. 24.—A dispatch today states that J. Pierpont Morgan, the noted American millionaire, has decided that in future he will make his home in Daniel C. Cummings and John C. Wilson were sheepherders and prominent men in the range country of Nevada. In 1896 they drove their herds into the Cassia County country and pastured them on the forbidden grounds, claimed exclusively by the cattlemen. Then there was trouble.

The cattlemen warned the sheep herders to take their sheep and get off the range, but Cummings and Wilson, knowing their right to pasture the land was as good as that of any other person, refused to leave. Threats were dealt out, but still the determined herders stayed on. It was a question of remaining on the range or forfeiting the lives of their sheep.

Nothing was heard from the men for weeks and a party finally went in search of them. Both were dead. They had been shot—murdered.

DEATH IN THE DARK

Wilson had been killed instantly, it appeared, but Cummings, wounded in a dozen places, had crawled to shelter beneath the wagon and had there lain while his life blood slowly ebbed away and death crept ever closer out of the blackness of the night. Painfully and with a sick dip in his own blood he had scrawled a letter to his dear ones. This letter told the story of the tragedy.

Cummings and Wilson were asleep beside their campfire when a hail of bullets was poured upon them. Neither had been able to see who were the assailants. A few feet away from the corpses a pile of empty cartridge shells showed where the murderers had stood and deliberately shot the defenseless sleepers. The crime was traced to the case and traced the crime to "Diamond Field" Jack Davis, because of the peculiar call of his gun and tell-tale cartridge cases. Remarks made by him while in a drunken state also assisted in his conviction. He was followed to Salt Lake City, Utah, and was there arrested. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to death, but was afterward allowed his life on a change of the terms of life imprisonment.

BRAGGART AND BULLY.
According to those who knew him in the West, Davis was a braggart and a bully. He was ugly when intoxicated, but was considered as being something of a coward.

There are several families of the Cummings relations residing in the vicinity of Touchet Station and they all evince the greatest interest in the case and are loud in the declaration that Davis should not be in closer touch with them than if he were to reside in New York. With this end in view he has purchased a most beautiful residence in Grosvenor Square and will have it completely refitted in a style that will make royalty ashamed. Foxhall Keene will also expatriate himself.

Interest in the Morgan shipping combine continues unabated although the newspapers have ceased to comment upon the matter. There is a great undercurrent of popular feeling making itself felt throughout the nation, and what the result will be cannot yet be foretold.

GET-RICH-QUICK SCHEME.
Jones—Green sent a dollar to a man who advertised in the paper for making a quarter yield 30 per cent profit in less than two minutes.

Brown—So? And did he get the desired information?
Jones—He certainly did. The man wrote and told him to take a quarter and cut it in two, then he would have two halves.

CORVALLIS TEAM BIRDS 'VARSITY

Game an Eye-Opener for Gridiron Fans.

McMinnville Scores a Dozen Times While Monmouth Hatches a Goose Egg.

SALISBURY, Nov. 24.—An interesting football game was played on the Willamette University campus on Saturday afternoon, when the first team of the university met the Oregon Agricultural College team in a battle for supremacy. The game resulted in a victory for Corvallis by 21 to 0. In a game played between the two teams at Corvallis about five weeks ago the Corvallis team won by a score of 27 to 0, thus showing that great improvement has resulted from the faithful work of the Willamette University players since the first game. The Corvallis players were by far too heavy, and the game was uneventful, the visitors steadily driving the W. U. team across the gridiron. Miller and Pollard of the home team did excellent work, but their efforts were negated by the absence of organized team work.

During the game Roderick Nash, one of the Corvallis players, sustained a sprained ankle by stepping in a depression in the ground, while running, and he had to be carried off the field and medical aid was summoned. He was taken to the Hotel Willamette, where he was made comfortable. The injury, while serious and will probably prevent him from playing football again this season, will not be permanent.

The teams lined up as follows:
O. A. C. Position McMinnville
Thorp, L. E. R. Burdette
Bundy, L. T. R. Burdette
Bowers, L. G. R. Cashatt
Burroughs, L. G. R. Cashatt
Edgington, R. G. L. Gale
Abraham, R. T. L. Parsons
Rose, R. E. L. Young
Laughlin, R. H. L. Lucas
Nash, L. B. R. (C) Miller
Root, R. H. L. (C) Miller
Edgington, R. H. L. (C) Miller
Substitutes—O. A. C. Williams, Gelatly and Abrams; W. U. Knotts, Matthews, Hewitt, Winfield, Simpson.
Officials—Referee, John Fechter, Salem; umpire, Professor E. C. Hayward, Corvallis; timekeepers, Earl Riddell, W. U.; L. Johnson, O. A. C.; line men, Luther Whitman, W. U.; Waddell.
Time of halves—30 minutes.

REFORM SCHOOL TEAM.
Before the O. A. C.-W. U. game was called, the Reform School eleven and the W. U. second team played an interesting game on the university field, resulting in the defeat of the Reform School boys by a score of 12 to 0.

M'MINNVILLE AND MONMOUTH

Close Score in Which the Visitors Were Badly Drubbed.

M'MINNVILLE, Nov. 24.—The Monmouth football team met the first team of McMinnville on the college grounds Saturday afternoon. It was conceded by a majority of the spectators that Monmouth would be the winner, and there was a gloomy feeling among the friends of the college boys. In a short time it was decided that the brilliant playing of the McMinnville boys could be kept up, the visitors would receive such a drubbing that they would not soon forget it. It was seen that Monmouth was outclassed, and although they made a wonderful effort they were at all times at the mercy of the college team, who seemed determined to win back some of the glory lost in other games this fall. At the close of the game the score stood: McMinnville, 12; Monmouth, 0. The line-up of the teams was as follows:

Monmouth Position McMinnville
Smith, W. R. Burdette
Clodfelter, R. T. Burdette
Angel, R. G. Burdette
Bailey, L. G. Burdette
Sturgis, L. G. Burdette
Butler, L. T. Burdette
Stump, L. T. Burdette
Adams, L. T. Burdette
McClendon, L. T. Burdette
Smith, R. H. Burdette
Dewitt, L. H. Burdette
Ungerman, L. H. Burdette
Substitutes—Monmouth: Murphy, Fitzwater, Freeman and North; McMinnville: Morris, Gray, McDaniel and Moxley.
Saturday night the students of the college gave a reception to the Monmouth football and basketball teams. There was a large number present, including many friends of the college who had been invited, and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

BASKET BALL.
The basketball game Friday night between McMinnville and Monmouth was won by the former by a score of 27 to 7. The game was a snap for the Monmouth team, they being much taller and superior in strength.

ACADEMY BEATS HILL SOLDIERS

In the Fastest Contest of the Season.

Went at It Hammer and Rushes and Battled to a Finish.

In the most fiercely contested game of the season, Portland Academy defeated the Hill Military Academy Saturday afternoon on Multnomah Field. From start to finish the husky young fellows hammered and battered away at each other in a way to delight the hearts of the 600 enthusiasts who delight in the sport. The excitement was intense throughout, and at times the suspense was of the heart-disease kind. The Portland Academy boys, however, showed better form both on the offensive and on the defensive, and also displayed greater power.

ers of endurance. The score at the end was 7 to 0 in favor of Portland Academy.

For about the first 10 minutes neither side had the advantage, but after that the Portland Academy boys gradually forced the Hill Military Academy's down the field to their own three-yard line where they lost the ball on downs. The ball was then passed back to Martin for a punt, but he got "knocked in his dates", and thinking he was making a touchback, touched it down and made a safety, thereby giving the Academy two points.

THE SECOND HALF

In the second half the Academy had decidedly the better of it. They put the ball over for a touchdown, and would have repeated the operation if they had not lost time for just one more play, for they had the ball within a few feet of the Hill goal-line.

For the Academy, Chalmers at full-back, played a great game, particularly in his interference for the halves. His game was all the more remarkable when it is considered that he has been laid up for a week with a sprained back and a cold, and that his back muscles were restricted by tight bandages. He made the star play of the day by running back a punt for 25 yards, and enabling the Academy to make its touchdown in the next two plays.

Wood played like a veteran. His end runs gained much ground for his team, and his dodging is something phenomenal. On the defensive he was absolutely impregnable. First, at the other half, played up to his usual high standard, and directed his plays in good style. He outlasted Martin in punting, making one punt to 40 yards, and another of 50 yards. The best of the Portland Academy line men and to him is due the credit for stopping many of Hill's mass plays on tackle.

Of the Hill boys Holman was easily the best. He catches punts and then dodges the ends in running back is great. At quarter he passed the ball in good style. Kelly, at center, also puts up good work, as did Martin at end on the defense, and while running with the ball on offense. He punted better yesterday than ever before.

Substitutes—H. M. A. McDonald, M. A. C.; umpire, T. L. McFadden, Stanford; timekeepers, H. H. Herndon, Portland Academy; C. N. McArthur, U. of O.; line men, C. Jones, P. A., and F. O. Whiting, H. M. A.
Touchdown—Fenton.
Safety—Martin.
Halves—30 and 25 minutes.

ARE CHAMPIONS OF MINOR TEAMS

Portland Academy the Top-Notcher.

Games Played to Win the Interscholastic Honors of the City.

By winning the game Saturday with the Hill Military Academy, the Portland Academy team again wins the interscholastic championship of the city. This makes the third successive year that the Portland Academy representatives have carried off this honor, and they may well feel proud of the honor, for every year the contests have been such as to require good, hard football playing to win. The other teams in the race have given them a good run, and although they did not win first place they have no reason to feel ashamed of their records.

UNION MEAT COMPANY

MULTNOMAH WILL HAVE TO HUSTLE

To Defeat Eugene Eleven Thanksgiving.

Some "Dope" on the Relative Strength of the Two Teams.

The unexpectedly big score which U. of O. made against Pacific University on Friday has set some of the side line cranks to guessing. The opinion has prevailed among football enthusiasts here in Portland that U. of O. is not so strong as usual this year. They have argued this way: In years before U. of O. has beaten Albany College and the Agricultural College teams by big scores. But this year they have not been able to score against either of these teams, therefore Eugene is weaker than usual. Hence Multnomah, they say, will have no trouble in defeating them on Thanksgiving.

The simple truth of the matter is that both Albany and the Farmers are exceptionally strong this season. Coach Edwards of Albany has got together a team of husky fellows, who outweigh the Eugene boys by several pounds, and whom he has coached so that they play a phenomenal game. And Coach Hayward of Corvallis has a team which is the best ever turned out by that institution.

P. U. TEAM AVERAGE

The Pacific University team, which Eugene beat 20 to 0, is an average team for that college, and about equal to what Corvallis and Albany have been in years past. So Eugene is as strong as ever, if not stronger, and those who expect them to bring down an inferior team to pit against the Multnomahs on Thanksgiving Day will be very much surprised at the strength they show.

The Multnomah boys realize what they will encounter when they line up on Thursday, and they expect to have one of the hardest games of the season. Of course, they expect to win, but for that matter so do the Eugene lads. The teams are evenly matched in weight, with the advantage in speed lying with the college players. And with Multnomah in the present excellent condition, due to its having been covered and packed with sawdust, there is sure to be a battle royal.

BRAIN DEFEATED

COTTAGE GROVE, Nov. 24.—The local Y. M. C. A. eleven and the team from the Drain Normal School played a fast game here on Saturday, which resulted in a score of 17 to 0 in favor of the home team. The visitors had the advantage in weight, experience and age.

PLAYED A CLOSE GAME

CORVALLIS, Nov. 24.—The Salem public school team met the local school boys on the gridiron here Saturday. A struggle ensued in which neither side could score. At one time the home team had the ball near the Salem goal and were carrying it over the line, when the score was saved by the call of time.

INDIANS WERE SCALPED

PENDLETON, Nov. 24.—The Indians from the Umatilla tribe, on Saturday met the eleven of the High School here. The struggle was a close one, but the redskins were outplayed by the palefaces. At the end of the game the score was 6 to 0.
