> Minnesota and Dakota Farmers Attracted by Better Prices on This Coast.

TACOMA. Nov. 28 - For the first time the history of the West Puget Sound a market place for wheat grown in Middle West. This was brought about the battle which has for weeks been progress between the milling men in this section and the exporters. Each wants the remainder of the Northwest rop and each is willing to pay for that wheat more than is now being offered on the Chicago board. This is causing Dakota and Minnesota wheat to move to ward this point as a gateway to the

The Tacoma market is generally 10 ats lower than Chicago quotations, but his year the fight between those who had large shipping orders on hand and home who had certain quantities of four o supply became strong. The mills at yerett forced the market early in the on and caused wheat from the Walla Walla Valley to be shipped out way, when always in the past they had drawn their grain from Northern Wash-All this is caused by the ex essive drain upon the granaries in 180 During that year wheat that had been held by farmers for several years was old at profit, and when the season closed there was less grain on hand in Oregon and Washington than before since 1896. This condition rendered necessary the early in 1962, and as soon as the harvest was well under way bidding for the crop In many sections of the Northnegan. west wheat was bought while still stand n this district The yield this year was less than had een expected, and this proved another incentive toward higher prices. The re-sult has been a rise in the price of wheat unparalleled in the West until the Chicago market was dominated and the nd is not yet. Wheat from the Middle West is now being marketed on the Pa cite Coast, and before the fight is ended till other states than Minnesota and the Dakotas may contribute their portion.
