Trust Company, Chamber of Commerce. HE TESTED IT HIMSELF.

"A friend of mine who is way up in sociology determined to test the honesty of his fellow citizens by the umbreils method." said the little man on "Yes," said the man with the blue waistcoat, "and how did he succeed?" "Pretsy well," said the little man "He put the umbreila out on the side-walk with the handle leaning up against the fron railing. It was a nice looking umbrella with steel rigs and handle, and he fell that it would attract attention. He went back in the house and sat at a parlor window with the curtains hiding him Pretty soon along came a stout men and caught sight of the umbrells. He looked all around cautiously and then he picked it up. At least he started to pick it up. He took hold of the handle and then seemed to change his mind. Anyway, he hastly relaxed his grasp and hustled along without looking back.

"Time one minute.

"Then came a small boy. He whistled when he saw the umbrella, and backing up to it reached for the handle. grasped it his hat fell off and he sat down hard on the sidewalk. When he got to his feet he took to his heels and ran away at full speed. Thirty seconds later a woman with a big cape and a market basket came along. She smiled furtively when she saw the umbrella and, siding up to it, prepared to tuck it under her case. As she caught hold of the handle she flung the basket into the road-way and leaded into the air with the way and leaded into the air with the agility of a geaf. At the same moment she let out a shrick like the first attempt of a young locomotive, and then, gath-ering up her basket and cloak and a ering up her basket and close and a half-dozen hairpins, started at full speed in the direction the man and boy had taken-leaving the umbrella behind. "My friend was satisfied with his experiment. He had proved that a valuable umbrella could not be left out on the

WILL TRY AGAIN

Fruitmen to Meet Saturday to Perfect Organization.

President C . H. Welch of the Emilt Growers' Association says that the next meeting of the association will be held Saturday at Odd Fellows' Hall, instead of next Wednesday, as was previously reported by another paper. Mr. Welch feels rather discouraged over the pros-pect of getting 75 per cent. of the fruit men of the vicinity into the organization. "Without this number," said Mr. Weich, "it will be impossible to do business."
