

THE WEATHER.
Tonight and Tuesday, occasional rain; south to west winds.

The Oregon Daily Journal

Second Edition

VOL. I. NO. 270. PORTLAND, OREGON, MONDAY EVENING, JANUARY 19, 1903. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

FATE OF FAIR HANGS IN THE BALANCE LEGISLATURE RECONVENES--FIRST BALLOT FOR U. S. SENATOR WILL BE TAKEN TOMORROW

FAIR DIRECTORS TO HUSTLE FOR APPROPRIATION

Multnomah Legislators Caucus Tonight --Hawaii Asked to Aid--Utah's Grant Should Be Increased.

The fate of the $500,000 appropriation bill now before a committee appointed by the Oregon Legislature, is causing some anxiety to the Lewis and Clark Fair directors. This evening there will be a caucus of the Multnomah delegation at Salem, when the bill will be one of the main topics of discussion. A report on the bill will probably be made by the special committee to the house tomorrow morning. If it is favorable, which it probably will be, it will have a third reading and then a vote on its passage will be in order. Afterwards it can be recommitted for engrossments, if necessary. For its passage it must receive 31 votes in the House, and when it comes before the Senate it must get at least 16 votes.

REPORT OF CHIEF CLERK.

If passed, the chief clerk of the House will make the following report to the Senate:

"House of Representatives, Salem, Ore., Jan. 21, 1902.—Mr. President: I am directed by the Speaker to inform you that the House passed House bill No. 1, a bill for an appropriation of $500,000 for the Lewis and Clark Fair and the appointment by the Governor of a commission of 11 members to have charge of this amount.

"And the same is herewith transmitted to you for the consideration of the Senate."

A copy of the bill accompanies this report.

Actions are then made in the Senate for the first and second reading of the bill by title. It takes suspension of the rules each time the bill is read. The President then states that this is the second reading of the bill and asks the pleasure of the Senate, whether to commit, refer or order to third reading. In this case it will probably be referred to the special committee appointed last week. When this committee reports, there will be a third reading of the bill

FAIR WORKERS HUSTLING.

The Lewis and Clark Fair board of directors are after the appropriations from the other states in earnest. Even Hawaii has been gone after. A letter to Governor Dole was sent this morning, explaining to him the objects of the 1905 Fair and requesting him to include a recommendation for an appropriation for the Lewis and Clark Fair in his message to the Hawaiian Legislature, which commences its session on February 18.

Another state to be reckoned with for an appropriation is North Dakota. This morning a telegram was sent to Special Commissioner McIsaac ordering him to proceed to that state as soon as he completes his work in Helena. Mr. McIsaac is at present at Salt Lake City, Utah. Here he will endeavor to remedy the defect in the report of Utah's commissioners of the Lewis and Clark Fair. The Legislature, in this report the commissioners recommend that $10,000 be appropriated for the Fair. This is considered too small a sum. It is thought that an appropriation of $50,000 from Utah would not be too high. By the time Mr. McIsaac completes his labors in Utah, Montana and North Dakota, he will be ready to go to Washington and then to British Columbia. He will then return to Portland, but may start out again on a second tour.

A TEXAS EXHIBIT.

A letter has been sent to C. H. Marquam, of Houston, Tex., by Secretary Reed, of the Lewis and Clark Fair, requesting him to do his best and obtain an exhibit from Texas. Mr. Marquam was formerly located in Portland as general freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad. By an act of the Legislature he was appointed director of the American line for permitting the St. Louis to sail in bad condition. It is declared that Manager Grison's statement given out yesterday was sufficient to condemn the company's methods.

WAS IDA BROWN STOLEN ALIVE?

Claims She Was Abducted by a
S. P. Conductor.

(Journal Special Service.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Charged with the abduction of Miss Ida Brown, the 15-year old girl who has been missing from her home in Oakland since last Tuesday, Conductor Beach of the Southern Pacific is under arrest today. He declares his innocence, but it is believed a strong case can be made against him.

THE TRUST AND THE SICK COW.

The memory of John Thomas and his consumptive cows has not passed from the minds of Portlanders. Mr. Thomas is the gentleman who said that he would be glad to sell out and get out of America. This genial and patriotic citizen was supported in his stand by the evening supplement of the local newspaper trust. Last Saturday the trust supplemented, in a moment of levity over the selling of the consumptive cows, caused to be published an article favoring consumptive beef and dealing with John Thomas' delinquencies in such a truly humorous vein that even Mark Twain is put in the shade, and recollections of Dickens flutter through the average brain. However, the trust tips its hand and stands sponsor for consumptive beef. Here is an exact reproduction of the trust's article, so judge for yourselves:

CONSUMPTIVE BEEF IS GOOD

Buyers of It Found It Succulent and Nourishing.

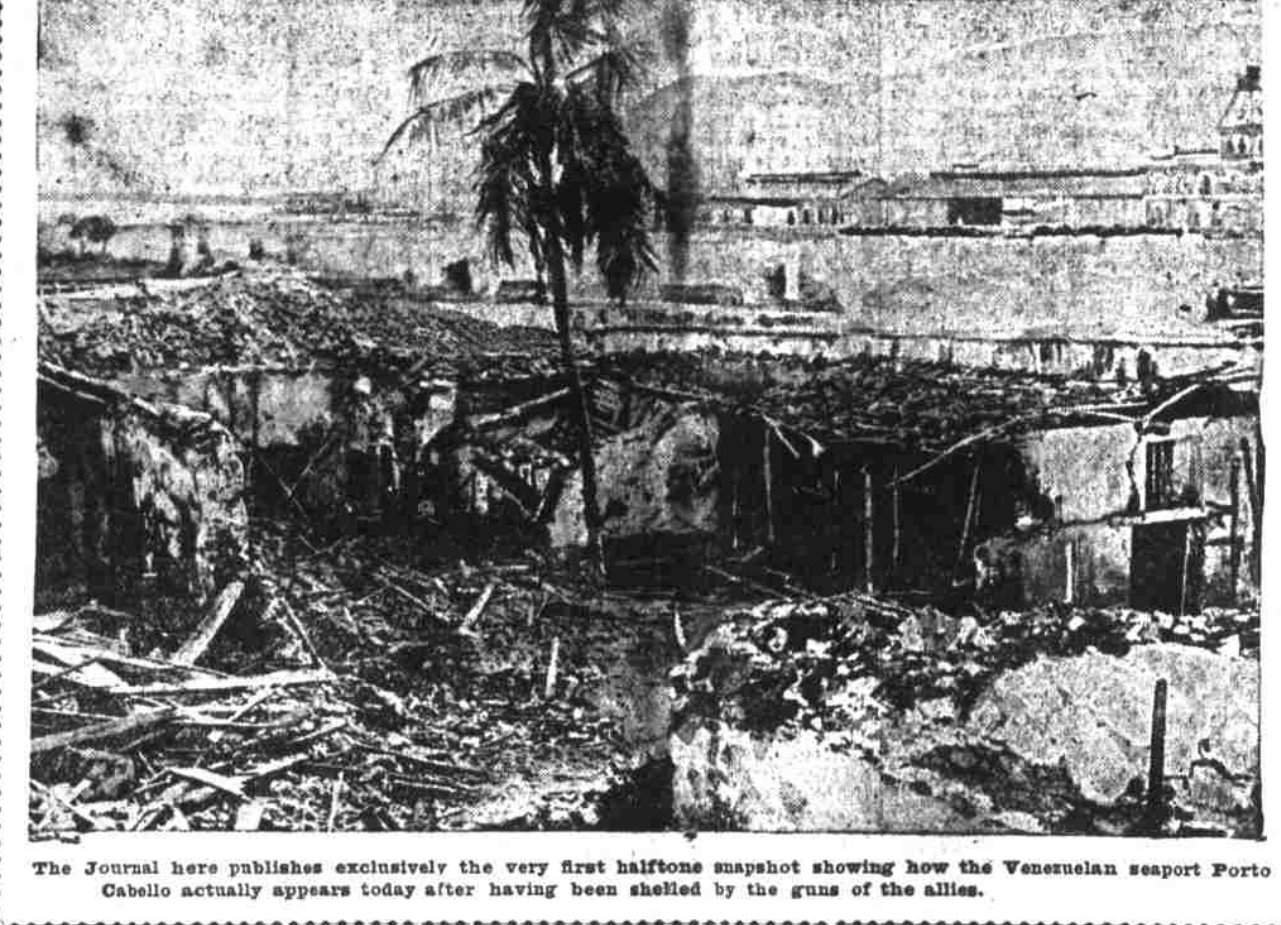

Fate of Mr. Young's Tubercle-Infected Cow--Is No Law Against Sale of Such Animals for Meat.

The law which provides for the condemnation and killing of cows afflicted with tuberculosis does not forbid the disposal of the carcasses for beef, judging from the fate of a cow belonging to Mr. Young, a logger, on the East Side. This bovine had been purchased from John Thomas, a dairyman of Fairview, whose cattle were afterwards condemned by the state veterinarian. This was fat and sleek and her milk was of splendid quality, but she had a hacking cough and on inspection by the state veterinarian last week proved to be suffering from consumption. She was turned over to Frazier & McLean, the lively stable men of this city, in a moment of levity over the selling of the consumptive cows, caused to be published an article favoring consumptive beef and dealing with John Thomas' delinquencies in such a truly humorous vein that even Mark Twain is put in the shade, and recollections of Dickens flutter through the average brain. However, the trust tips its hand and stands sponsor for consumptive beef. Here is an exact reproduction of the trust's article, so judge for yourselves:

from the fate of a cow belonging to Mr. Young, a logger, on the East Side. This bovine had been purchased from John Thomas, a dairyman of Fairview, whose cattle were afterwards condemned by the state veterinarian. This was fat and sleek and her milk was of splendid quality, but she had a hacking cough and on inspection by the state veterinarian last week proved to be suffering from consumption. She was turned over to Frazier & McLean, the lively stable men of this city, in a moment of levity over the selling of the consumptive cows, caused to be published an article favoring consumptive beef and dealing with John Thomas' delinquencies in such a truly humorous vein that even Mark Twain is put in the shade, and recollections of Dickens flutter through the average brain. However, the trust tips its hand and stands sponsor for consumptive beef. Here is an exact reproduction of the trust's article, so judge for yourselves:

HOW SHELLLED CABELLO LOOKS.

The Journal here publishes exclusively the very first halftone snapshot showing how the Venezuelan seaport Porto Cabello actually appears today after having been shelled by the guns of the allies.

FACED DANGER TO REACH A CLAIM

Miss Jessie McCubben's Exciting Experience.

Time of Filing Had Elapsed and Young Woman Hurried to Renew It.

(Journal Special Service.)
BAKER CITY, Ore., Jan. 19.—Miss Jessie McCubben, a pretty, accomplished and vivacious young girl of Alamo, is just now the heroine of one of the most novel and exciting adventures of the mining camps for the past year.

In the midst of a blinding snow storm and a biting blizzard Miss McCubben walked over two hours on snow shoes and reached a claim at midnight on the last night of the year, posted her location notice and secured a valuable gold-bearing ledge.

The property adjoins the famous Quebec mine and her ledge is a continuation of the Quebec ledge. The claim was located by Andy Larson, who failed to do the required amount of location work. His claim lapsed on December 31. Miss McCubben knew of this and as Larson could not relocate it under the law she determined to secure it for herself. At a o'clock on the last night of the year she hired a sleigh and team at Alamo and a driver named "Scotty," an old prospector. This drove in the storm to the Quebec mill, abandoned the team and set out on snow shoes to find the claim. The storm was severe, but after almost insupportable accidents and mishaps Miss McCubben and old "Scotty" found the ledge. "Champion" Smith had been there previously and posted a location notice, not dreaming that anyone would brave the elements at midnight and post a notice that would make his null. Just at the birth of the new year Miss McCubben posted her notice that made her the owner of a ledge worth thousands of dollars.

The heroine is the daughter of a Scotch mining man and is one of the most accomplished, cultured and beautiful young ladies in Eastern Oregon. She is only 19 years old.

VICTIMS NOW NUMBER SEVEN

Roll of Dead on Battle- ship Is Growing.

Disaster on the Massachusetts Proves More Serious Than at First Reported.

(Journal Special Service.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The list of dead in connection with the disaster on the battleship Massachusetts' now numbers seven. A dispatch from San Juan, Porto Rico, to the Navy Department this morning says that another of the injured gunners died in the hospital yesterday.

Another victim of the explosion is expected to die before night.

Helena Man Escapes.

Among the few that escaped without injury in the fatal explosion of a gun in the turret of the frigate Massachusetts at Porto Rico was Ensign Ward Wortman, who captained the Helena (Mont.) Academy Baseball Team and was prominent in Montana amateur athletic circles.

GONZALES DEAD AT COLUMBIA

Tillman's Victim Dies From Wound.

Pistol-Wielding Lieutenant-Governor of South Carolina Must Face Charge of Murder.

(Journal Special Service.)
COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 19.—N. G. Gonzales, the editor who was shot by James H. Tillman, Thursday last, died here at 1:10 p. m., and this afternoon the Lieutenant-Governor of South Carolina was formally charged with murdering the editor.

The physicians decided this morning that Gonzales could not live and his relatives were notified to expect the end at any time. Pontifex set in late last night and when this sign appeared the surgeons gave up all hope. Editor Gonzales was unconscious for an hour before he passed away.

Lieutenant-Governor Tillman, who supplies, comfortably furnished quarters at the county jail, was informed that the victim of his bullet was dead and was asked for a statement. He declined to talk of the shooting and sent for his attorneys. Tillman and his legal advisers are now in consultation. In almost every school in South Carolina yesterday this morning prayers were said for the recovery of Gonzales.

In the shadow of the State House last Thursday Tillman encountered Gonzales, editor of the State, and an old enemy of the Tillman family. Without a word being uttered on either side, according to the testimony of witnesses, Tillman drew a revolver and fired at Gonzales. The editor, after exclaiming, "You coward, shoot again!" sank to the pavement and Tillman lowered his weapon and walked away.

In a subsequent statement given to the press after consultation with attorneys, Tillman said he was under the impression that Gonzales was armed, and that he thought he was firing in self-defense. Friends of the editor deny that he was armed, and stamp the shooting as a cold-blooded murder.

ARRESTS COME FAST AT SEATTLE

Rainier Grand Proprietor Is "Pulled."

FITTING OUT NAVY WARSHIPS

(Journal Special Service.)
VIENNA, Jan. 19.—The Austrian Government is hurriedly fitting out 14 warships, the supposed object of which is the coercion of Turkey into introducing the necessary reforms in Macedonia. This is a direct result of the combine of Russia, Great Britain and Austria to prevent any further atrocities being committed by the Turks in Macedonia. The recent massacres in that country have stirred the blood of every Austrian and it is in direct accordance with the wishes of its people that the Austrian Government is taking this step.

ARRESTS COME FAST AT SEATTLE

Rainier Grand Proprietor Is "Pulled."

FITTING OUT NAVY WARSHIPS

(Journal Special Service.)
VIENNA, Jan. 19.—The Austrian Government is hurriedly fitting out 14 warships, the supposed object of which is the coercion of Turkey into introducing the necessary reforms in Macedonia. This is a direct result of the combine of Russia, Great Britain and Austria to prevent any further atrocities being committed by the Turks in Macedonia. The recent massacres in that country have stirred the blood of every Austrian and it is in direct accordance with the wishes of its people that the Austrian Government is taking this step.

ARRESTS COME FAST AT SEATTLE

Rainier Grand Proprietor Is "Pulled."

FITTING OUT NAVY WARSHIPS

(Journal Special Service.)
VIENNA, Jan. 19.—The Austrian Government is hurriedly fitting out 14 warships, the supposed object of which is the coercion of Turkey into introducing the necessary reforms in Macedonia. This is a direct result of the combine of Russia, Great Britain and Austria to prevent any further atrocities being committed by the Turks in Macedonia. The recent massacres in that country have stirred the blood of every Austrian and it is in direct accordance with the wishes of its people that the Austrian Government is taking this step.

SCARE IN CONGRESS.

(Journal Special Service.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Consternation and what for a moment threatened to become a panic was brought about in the House of Representatives early this afternoon by the work of an amateur photographer who attempted to take a flashlight picture of the interior of the building without permission. When the flash was set off Congressmen and spectators thought a bomb had exploded, and it was feared that anarchists were operating in the halls of the capital. When the truth became known there was a general laugh.

SAVING WRECKAGE.

(Journal Special Service.)
GENOA, Jan. 19.—While the weather is favorable to unloading the wrecked German steamer Tabus and work is progressing as rapidly as possible, a disastrous change in wind is expected. Among the passengers were Poultney Higelow, Richard Pearson, United States Minister to Persia; Rev. Lawson of New York; and Major Irons.

LIVES FORFEITED IN TWO FIRES

Conflagrations at Pittsburg and Cleveland Result Fatally.

Another Fatal Fire.

(Journal Special Service.)
PITTSBURG, Jan. 19.—An aged couple were burned to death and it is feared two children also lost their lives in a fire in a private hotel here this afternoon. A young woman, in jumping from an upper window, was so badly injured that she will die.

Death threatened a number of inmates in the new hospital this morning, when the gas mains sprung a leak. The patients were rescued with difficulty, many narrowly escaping suffocation.

Another Fatal Fire.

(Journal Special Service.)
CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 19.—In an early morning fire two women were burned to death and a number of others were severely injured in jumping from the windows of the blazing house. The financial loss was small.

SCOTT LIKELY TO ATTEMPT TO WIN THE PRIZE

Fulton in the Lead as Yet But Issue Uncertain--New Charter to Be Rushed Through.

(Journal Special Service.)
SALFEM, Jan. 19.—The first gun in the Senatorial battle will be fired tomorrow. As to the outcome all are guessing.

The chief topic of speculation relative to the Senatorial matter is the probable attitude of the Multnomah delegation, which will hold a conference tonight for the purpose of agreeing, if possible, upon some candidate. It is not certain that absolute harmony will reign in the delegation, for though it is being predicted that the Multnomah members will vote as a unit, there are strong reasons to doubt this. The only thing reasonably certain is that all or nearly all of the delegation will vote for some Multnomah man.

The first ballot, which will be taken at noon, both houses sitting separately, is not likely to be much of an indication of their real attitude. Active work is being done on behalf of Harvey Scott, who has some strength in the Multnomah delegation, but it is doubtful if the editor will venture to show his hand in the early stages of the fight. The main effort is to keep Fulton, who is undoubtedly in the lead, from doing any promising. Scott's hope lies in disintegration of the forces of Fulton and Geer.

The presentation of the editor's name as a serious candidate is certain to arouse strong opposition, and the managers of his fight are evidently anxious to keep him in the running merely as a dark horse until the present leaders begin to lose ground.

A waiting game is clearly Scott's only chance.

Several prominent Republicans of Multnomah County are being talked of as likely to receive votes from that delegation.

Jonathan Bourne's strength is problematical, and he like Scott, may decline to show his hand at the outset. Judge M. R. George, School Director Williams, and Fenton, the railroad attorney, all have been mentioned as likely to receive some votes from Multnomah.

Charter Meets No Opposition.

The Legislature reconvened at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The matter of greatest immediate interest to both houses was the appointment of standing committees. Many members who have bills to introduce have been waiting to have personal committees in order to determine what reference to ask for their bills. The committees already have a great amount of work on their hands, about 175 bills having been presented in the two houses.

Portland's new city charter will be presented as soon as possible for the second passage, the amending clause having been amended to correct the defect in the original measure. It is expected to meet with no opposition.

The great majority of other bills introduced last week have to be similarly altered, this is to be done by amendment in committee. Portland's charter is the only measure which has passed

Senate Committees are Announced.

The standing committees of the Senate were announced this afternoon by President Firwell as follows:

Agriculture and Forestry—Croisan, Dimmick and Wehrung.
Assessment and Taxation—Booth, Williamson, Mulkey, Holman and Miller.
Claims—Myers, Daly and Miller.
Commerce and Navigation—Holman, Howe and Sweek.
Counties—Kuykendall, Booth and Marsters.
Education—Daly, Kuykendall and Marsters.
Electricity and Privileges—Steiner, Mays and Marsters.
Engrossed Bills—Hunt, Farrar and Johnston.
Enrolled Bills—Marsters, McGinn and Miller.
Federal Relations—Wade, C. J. Smith and Hunt.
Fishing Industries—Johnston, Dimmick and Williamson.
Games—Carter, Howe and A. C. Smith.
Horticulture—Wehrung, Myers and Mulkey.
Insurance and Banking—Carter, Booth and Steiner.
Printing—Mulkey, Marsters and Farrar.
Irrigation—Williamson, Hobson and Smith of Yamhill.
Judiciary—Rand, Fulton, Mays, McGinn and Pierce.
Medicine, Pharmacy and Dentistry—A. C. Smith, W. Tyler Smith and C. J. Smith.
Military Affairs—Myers, Hunt and Carter.
Municipal Corporations—McGinn, Dimmick and Sweek.
Mining—Booth, A. C. Smith and Rand.
Penal Institutions—Hobson, Daly and Miller.
Public Buildings and Institutions—Hobson and Myers.
Public Lands—Steiner, Mays, Mulkey and C. J. Smith.
Railroads—W. Tyler Smith, Holman and Croisan.

(Continued on Page Two.)

INDICTMENTS ARE RETURNED

Chicago Special Grand Jury Names Forty-Four Conspirators Including Prominent Financiers.

(Journal Special Service.)
CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Consternation reigns in the ranks of the coal conspirators. The work of the special grand jury appointed to investigate the causes of the fuel famine has come to a close with 44 indictments against individuals and operators. All are charged with conspiring to do illegal acts injurious to the public trade and prohibited by the laws of the State of Illinois.

Included among those indicted are such prominent financiers as Walter Bogel, Hugh Shirkie and John Shirkie. The publication of the names of the conspirators, as given by the grand jury, has created a sensation here, some of the best known men in the city being included.

INDICTMENTS ARE RETURNED

Chicago Special Grand Jury Names Forty-Four Conspirators Including Prominent Financiers.

(Journal Special Service.)
CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Consternation reigns in the ranks of the coal conspirators. The work of the special grand jury appointed to investigate the causes of the fuel famine has come to a close with 44 indictments against individuals and operators. All are charged with conspiring to do illegal acts injurious to the public trade and prohibited by the laws of the State of Illinois.

Included among those indicted are such prominent financiers as Walter Bogel, Hugh Shirkie and John Shirkie. The publication of the names of the conspirators, as given by the grand jury, has created a sensation here, some of the best known men in the city being included.

Yanqing Coal Here.

English operators of coal mines are already taking advantage of the action of Congress in suspending the duty on this product for one year, and preparing to rush enormous quantities of coal into the American markets.

Four steamers, laden with coal, left here for America late this morning and others will follow as quickly as they can take on cargoes. Advice from Australia state that large shipments of coal will be made from Newcastle to the United States, the port of entry being San Francisco.

Superintendent Testifies.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—There was a noticeable falling off in the attendance at the coal strike Commission this morning. The chief witness was Superintendent Phillips of the Lackawanna Company.

Phillips contended that the men were really better satisfied with the car schedule than with the weight system of payment. In the former way 10 per cent more men were employed to accomplish the same production.

In other words, remarked White sarcastically, "you now store men, where as you once stored coal."