ACTOR MARRIES WEALTHY GIRL

Joe Willard Captures Pretty and Rich Miss Toone.

(Journal Special Service.)
CHICAGO, Jan. 25.-Miss Bessy Toone, daughter of a railroad official and niece of the president of the New York Central Railroad, has married Joe Willard, an actor, in Chicago.

The marriage is reported to have occurred about the first of this month in the rooms of the Church Club in the Masonic Temple, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. O. Musson, pastor of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal clergyman. John S. Cole and Rev. Henry C. Miller, as witnesses.

In running away to marry her lover, Miss Toone is believed to have forfeited an inheritance from her uncle, W. H. Newman, of the Chicago and North Western American Theatre, North Clark and Kinzie streets, in "La Belle Marie," and he and his bride are living at the Revue House.

THE OLD, OLD STORY.
The tale of the marriage is the old story of the infatuation of a girl for a man who is entirely out of her class. Miss Toone's father is Robert R. Toone, auditor of the Texas division of the Union Pacific and Texas Pacific Railroads. He lives at Marshall, Texas. Before he left there on December 27, ostensibly to spend the winter with her uncle's family at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. But it appears that she had an understanding with Willard, who met her in Chicago.

She is an ardent Episcopalian, so they went to the Church Club to be married. Joe Willard and the girl met in Marshall a few months ago, when he played in that town. Her relatives frowned upon the friendship, and later took every possible means to keep them apart.

The invitation to go to New York was given for the purpose of getting the girl away from the influence of Willard. She is said to have followed him to several cities, visiting friends, and meeting him as often as possible.
