Committee on Police Have Engaged an Architect to Submit Plans.

Architect E. M. Lazarus is now making estimates for the committee on poce for a renovation of the city jail. Various recommendations have been made at various times by various grand juries and chiefs of police looking to an alteration of the iail to suit present requirements. At the last meeting of the executive committee the matter was referred to the committee on police, and Architect Lazarus kindly volunteered his services free of charge. This morning Mr. Lazarus and Chief Hunt went carefully over the building and investigated it thoroughly with a view to deciding on the feasibility of the renovation advocated by Chief Hunt. It is thought that the present outside walls can be left intact. It is proposed to take out the ceiling of the first floor and equally divide the space between the ceiling of the second story and the cement floor. By doing this several feet will be added to the height of the ground floor, and by taking out the cells much room and light be afforded the officers on duty at the station. Then in the space between the jail building and the next block, a matter of 19 feet, it is planned to erect a threetier cell structure, affording ample cell room for years to come, and by purely sanitary construction obviating the present detestable conditions. Mr. Lazarus will report to the committee the expense and feasibility of these plans, and then action will be

THE ALSTERNIXIE.

Several local shipping men have re turned from a visit to the mouth of the river, where they viewed the stranded bark Alsternixie. They report that the preparations being made to float the vessel are progressing satisfactorily. About 30 longshoremen from Portland vere employed in removing the ballast. The vessel had sunk considerably in the sand, but they are confident that she will be floated in a few days.

FRENCH-AMERICAN ART

In the artistic furnishing of the home today no point receives more careful attention than does its effective lighting. The designing of beautiful electroliers has grown fo such proportions that it is recognized as a distinct branch of art. For the front hall the lasters form is the most popular. For corridors, bracket lights are best, and statues are best standing in the archways leading into rooms. American and French artists have produced many of rare grace and beauty. A god shaking lighting in his hands, a woman reaching up to pick flowers, the light shining forth from petals of colored glass of of slik—these are some of the varieties of themes which the artists has worked out. In our warerooms we show the latest and lovellest examples of this fine workmanship, and a glance at our displays puts you in touch with the best creations. From these suprems leaders in lighting devices, down to the smallest detail of installing a lighting system in your home, we are constantly prepared to supply everything—and one of the most important points for you to remember is that we are the oldest and largest home of this kind in the Northness shows us to fix prices the lowest in Portland. We are searching far and wide for new things and pretty soon, now, when a certain appeals shipment of rare goods arrives we shall have another great supprise to offer our thousands of appreciative friends.

ANENT THE NEW SETTLERS' RATES

In Effect From February 15 to April 30.

All Lines Interested --- Al Agree That Wave of Immigration Will Exceed Prior Ones.

On February 15 there will go into effect on the several transcontinental their connections what known as settlers' rates. This will apply from every part of the United States as well as from points in Europe to all portions of the Pacific Northwest and West. All the lines will quote the same The rates as given by the Northern Pacific and Great Northern are the same rates quoted by their competitors. These rates will be effective up to and inclusive of April 30.

The rates quoted from St. Paul and Minneapolis and Missouri River points to Portland and to all points in the Willamette Valley as far as Ashland and intermediate points on the South-ern Pacific are $25. The rate from Chicago will be $33 and from St. Louis $30. All points east and southeast of these places will use these rates as basis rates.

Assistant General Passenger Agent Charlton in speaking of these settlers' rates yesterday said:

"The indications are that the immigration movement this year will be larger than ever before. We are receiving many inquiries daily from points in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and the New England states as well as from Texas and Michigan from persons was unquestionably have money, who are desirous of coming to Oregon to found for themselves homes. In many instances the inquiries come from h who have already raised their families, who have already sold or are about to sell their farms and come to Oregon, where they can buy larger tracts of land for less money, and thus give their sons an opportunity to get a start in the Lowest Ever. There never has been so low a schedule of rates in effect as these be-They cannot help but produce a y flow of immigration here. These persons will prove the very best kind of an advertisement for their friends in the East, for they are bound to influence shem to join the great procession. One well-satisfied settler will be the result of inducing hundreds of others to We know of plenty of instances of the kind. Of course, to accompany the low settlers' rates, our company will name an exceedingly low rate in its freight department on emigrant movables, which will help to push the good wor kalong. I can truly say that never in all the history of the North Pacific Coast have things looked so prosperous as now, and there is not nor will there be a boom, but just a good, healthy movement of business in all lines."

The Great Northern proposes to do its portion in building up the great Pacific Northwest. It has distributed immense quantities of literature showing the reources of this great section, and feels well satisfied at the outlook. ficials of this line declare that from data in their hands they believe, too, that the coming movement will vastly exceed that of any previous year. It exceed that of any previous year. It expects that every one of its west-will not transact any business on Satexceed that of any previous year. It period covered by the rates, will utilize from two to three sections per day with persons who will found for themselves new homes.

The Harriman Lines.

The O. R. & N. and the Southern Pacific, as members of the great Harriman system, will not be, by any means, at the tail end of the procession. The systematic means of inducing immigration set into motion a year ago will pear fruit, and is doing so. The new rates will greatly stimulate the movement making toward Oregon, Mr. Mc-Kinney, who has charge of its immigration bureau, has long had in the field efficient corps of workers with magic lantern outfits illustrative of the territory through which its lines run. These are accompanied by lectures. The various counties in Oregon, for example, have generously responded to the request to furnish data. This has been furnished in the form of neatly-printed brochures giving the advantages to be had in their respective localities. mense quantities of these have been dis-

Inquiries for lands have come during the past week to the O. R. & N. from Maine, Massachusetts and all other New England states and even from Florida. Plorence Roberts' Last Night.

This evening at the Marquam, Tuderman's greatest creation, "Magda," will be played, with Florence Roberts in the title role. Of the play, the characters are all unusual, only Marie and her lieuw tenant lover being photographed in conventional poses. Every character portrayed-and they are all alive and really human-is constantly taking the unconventional view of the tragedies of their life. To be sure the betrayed is always denouncing the betrayer, but in no other play is his soul so quickly shriveled, not by revenge or raving imprecations, but by a masterly scorn, uplifting one who has suffered and risen, not to the pinnacle of plety and goodness, but to a full appreciation of the power of self and self-control. As Magda says to the pas-"To become greater than our sin is better than all the purity you preach." It is said of Miss Roberts' "Magda." it is impossible to conceive that she can ever attain a greater success."

MANAGERS' ANNOUNCEMENTS.

"Muman Hearts."

The rugged life found among the sunkissed hills of Arkansas forms the ground work of a graphic story that is depicted in "Human Hearts." that drama of intense interest. This play will be offered at Cordray's next week, beginning with a matinee Sunday, and always appeals forcibly to popular interest of all classes. It is a romance worthy of Dumas and other famous writers. story told, in unfolding the plot, is a beautiful one, sweet, pathetic, natural, and it teaches a wholesome moral les-son. Like those patriotic songs, "Amer-ica" and "The Star Spangled Banner," it never fails to touch the hearts and minds of those who see it portrayed with vivid life-like action. Pathos and vil-lainy are happily blended with comedy so that laughter is mingled with tears and thrills. Special ladies' and children's matinee Saturday.

The Heart of Maryland.

Among all the first class genuinely dramatic attractions which the management of the Marquam has secured for the present season, none will be more gladly welcomed than David Belasco's phenomenally brilliant American play, The Heart of Maryland," which will be presented next Wednesday night and Thursday matinee, February 18 and 19 The cast will be presented by a company of capable players, and this added to the picturesque realism of its scenic settings, transcripts of the old 'colonial days of Maryland, the thrilling incidents, especially that of the scene in the beifry of the old church tower, when the courige and devotion of Maryland Calvert, the heroine, triumphs at last, will not fail to charm the large audiences which will surely be gathered during this engagement

The play will possess an added interest in being accentuated by the presence in the cast of many notable players. The leading character, Maryland Calvert, is impersonated by Miss Alma Kruger, whose portrayal of her heroine is said to be a forceful and impressive realization of the author's ideal.

James and Warde.

On next Monday and Tuesday nights and Tuesday matinee, America's foremost legitimate organization, the Louis James and Frederick Warde combination, will play a return engagement at the Marquam Grand in a big scenic product tion of "Francesca da Rimini." tragedy has not been presented here in a number of years; in fact the requirements for an adequate production are such as to obviate its being included in the repertoire of most traveling companies. A large audience will undoubtedly greet these famous players and intending patrons can count on a treat such as the average theatre-goers may not enjoy more than once in every decade Mr. James as "Pepe" is enabled to display his ability as a comedian and at the same time bring out his real strength as an actor in the lines that betray the deep malignity of the character hidden by the mask of hollow mockery. Mr. Warde's delineation of Lanciotto, the hunchback, is masterful. The paradoxical phase of this strange character calls for the expression of almost every human passion and is a severe test of versatility, covering a wide range. Mr. Hackett as Paoro nas ample opportunity to display his ability and Miss Maxwell as Francesca is artistic. The supporting company is a powerful one. All the scenery is especially magnificent and appropriate and aside from the beauty of the scenery and the richness of costuming innumerable electric effects are employed which add much strength and character to the bewildering stage pictures. Francesca will be given at the special Tuesday matines and on Tuesday night "The Tempest," which is universally recognized as the noblest effort of Shakespeare's sublime and amazing imagination, will be presented. It is promised the forthcoming performance will illustrate the highest limits of scenic art and mechanical ingenuity. Seats are now selling.

"All the Comforts of Home." "All the Comforts of Home," one of the prettiest comedies ever written, will be given an excellent production at The Baker Theatre all next week starting with the usual Sunday matinee. Portland theatre-goers are very fond of comedy which is proved by the large business done at the local theatres during the run of comedies with merit. The cares of life are usually so stremuous that one finds relaxation and pleasure in being able to pass the evening in genuine laughter. That "All the Comforts of Home" is a fun producer no one will deny. It was produced in Portland a number of years ago by Charles Frohman's Company, which made two successful trips over the country, and Froh mend it one of the most legite

"The Starbucks." Character plays like "The Starbucks," which is meeting with great success at The Baker Theatre this week, are seldom attempted by stock companies, owing to the limited time allowed for study pany deserves great credit for the munner in which they are handling Opie Read's character gem. "The Sharbucks" is a story taken from life and the scene's and incidents are from the Cumberland mountains of Tennessee. imagine there was a great deal of gun play, etc., but such is not the case. It is one of those quiet atmosphere plays that please because the comety is bright and witty with just enough pathos and heart interest to leave an impression on the hearer. It is doubtful whether Opie Read, who is a genius, will ever be able to duplicate the success of "The Starbucks." "The Starbucks" had a run of eight weeks at the Dearborn Theatre, Chicago, and was doing a phenominal business when they took it off. Business has been unusually large at The Baker this week, proving that Portland theatre-goers appreciate
