The Federated Trades Do Themselves Proud.

Evening of Rare Entertainment Consisting of Songs, Stories, Dancing and Speeches.

The A. O. U. W. Hall, in which the Federated Trades Council gave its annual smoker and entertainment last evening, was crowded to the doors, many in the rear being obliged to stand. Almost every union in the city was represented.

A highly interesting program was rendered, during which refreshments were served. Among those who assisted in providing entertainment were some of the best specialty artists in the city. They sang, danced and related short stories which kept the vast audience in the best of humor. Every number was loudly encored, the professional as well as the amateur.

Journal Dispatches.

During the progress of the exercises The Evening Journal dispatches from Salem, giving the latest developments in the Senatorial situation, were received and read every few minutes by Chairman G. H. Gram. This service was greatly appreciated by the union men, and a motion to extend a vote of thanks to The Journal was carried by a unanimous rising vote. Secretary A. R. Lawton was instructed to make known to the management the action taken in this respect. The program rendered was as follows:

Piano solo ... E. L. McKenzie
Address of welcome ... G. H. Gram
Song ... F. Fitzsimmons
Juggling ... Fredericksburg Talent
Banjo duet .E. L. Bradbury .E. R. Long
Address ... Wm. H. Barry

Recitations ... Boyd S. Cobb Buck and wing dance Boyd S. Cobb Recitations Boyd S. Cobb Song Valentine Barker Short stories J. Kiter M. D. Mills Address M. D. Mills Songs and stories . . Roberts and Fulton Comicalities Geo. A. Bird Home Industry.

The address delivered by William H. Barry was on the subject of Home Industry. He limited himself to a five-minutes' talk, but in that short time managed to make some telling arguments in favor of building up the re-sources of the city and state. If organized labor would give all its patron-age, he said, to the local firms having union employes it would mean a branching out of business and an increased pay roll. As an illustration of what might be accomplished along this line he cited to the remarkable growth made by a local cigar factory during the past few years. Not long ago, the speaker said, it employed but two men; now it has over 40 on the pay roll. He explained that the reason for this is because the union men, when buying cigars, demand the brand having the union label. He stated that other industries could be made to thrive if the same practice in regard to them should be followed.

M. D. Mills, of the Leatherworkers Union, spoke on "Unity," and held the close attention of the audience. Cnionism is being felt locally, and this is one of the desirable things that

TO PROTECT GAME.

Owing to the large number of instances of reported illegal deer shooting, and other violations of the game laws of the state, a number of sports have agreed to band together, and, if necessary, pay for game protection out of their own pockets. They are very inxious to see the game of Oregon protected, and feel that at present it is not being done. The state fund does not allow enough money for the employment of sufficient deputy game wardens to protect the game, and it is the inten-tion of the men who have banded together, to raise enough money to employ some competent deputies for this
