

TO CONTRACT FOR WILD BEASTS

Portland to Be a Depot for Strange Animals.

New Agency the Only One in the Country Outside of New York.

To make Portland the Western Hemisphere's headquarters for all wild beasts and birds from Asia and Africa is the aim and object of F. A. Stuhr.

Mr. Stuhr has contracted with the O. R. & N. Co. and all of his animal shipments will come from the Orient across the Pacific and to this city in the great liners of that corporation.

Thus far Mr. Stuhr has not contracted to bring elephants this way, but he is under agreement to Ringling Brothers' famous circus to furnish at the earliest possible date two leopards, several large tigers, a specimen of the famous orang-outang from the Southern Islands, a number of the largest and most dangerous snakes and between 30 and 40 hay-eating animals from the Asiatic continent.

Monkeys will be furnished to Norris & Rowe and to Gentry, for use in their famous children's shows, and a large contract has also been accepted for the Zoo in New York City.

By far the most important undertaking which has thus far been considered by the Portland animal shipping firm is to send in Asia and bring to this country for the Zoo in New York City, David's Deer, an animal that dates back into Bible times and which is now nearly extinct.

Stuhr Discusses Plans. F. A. Stuhr has for years kept a store at 304 Third street, Portland, but has only recently carried into execution his plans for general business and the division of the exclusive industry of the great American metropolis.

Portland to Be Depot. "I will do my purchasing in the Orient through a chain of agents which I have established in every section of Asia and the specimens will be carefully cared for and shipped in cages on the O. R. & N. steamers from the most advantageous points.

Mr. Stuhr has no objection on the Pacific Coast. "There is no other establishment of this kind outside of New York City in this hemisphere," he said.

Will Advertise Portland. "Of course I am in this thing for the money there is in it," he went on, "but it will be a great thing for Portland. Within a short time Portland animals will be known all over the country and this industry will have become of great importance."

SHUT OFF FILIBUSTERING. (Journal special service.) WASHINGTON, March 2.—The Senate this morning received the credentials of Levi Anshutz, the newly elected Senator from Washington.

Filibustering was resumed in the House. Richardson made the usual point of no quorum. Grosvenor of Ohio, from the committee on rules, reported a new rule, which shuts off roll call on demand for the previous question, and limits debate to ten minutes.

To Cure a Cold in One Day. Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. A druggist will refund the money if it fails to cure. W. Groves' signature is on each box. 25c.

Situation wanted ads are inserted in The Journal free. Those out of employment should take notice.

SCENE FROM "LOVE'S LANE" AT THE MARQUAM.

YOUNG WOMAN BADLY INJURED

Miss Emma Hutchins Fell From a Stool at Meier & Frank's.

Under the influence of a powerful opiate Miss Emma Hutchins lies at her home, No. 725 Hawthorne street, and even the most skilled medical assistance that could be procured in Portland has thus far been unable to determine her exact condition and whether she will live.

The young woman was standing on the stool endeavoring to reach a bolt of cloth, when the seat tipped up and she was precipitated to the floor.

Medical aid was at once summoned and the young woman was placed in a carriage and taken to her home. Being in great pain she was placed under the influence of an anesthetic, and it will be impossible until the effects of this drug fully depart to ascertain her exact condition.

SUPREME COURT GIVES DECISION

Reverses Circuit Judge Burnett on Appeal.

SALEM, March 2.—The Supreme Court today handed down a decision in the case of Bussard and Robson, appellants, vs. Ross E. Hibbler, respondent, appeal from Linn County, Burnett, Judge. The case was reversed and remanded, Chief Justice Moore rendering the opinion.

This was a suit brought by the appellant to recover $222.84 damages alleged to be sustained by reason of refusal of respondent to deliver to appellant 6,867 pounds of mohair respondent purchased for their account, but sold to other parties. In the Justice Court the plaintiffs secured judgment from which appeal was taken to the Circuit Court, where the trial resulted in a non-suit and the plaintiffs appealed.

PORT OF PORTLAND MEETS

The Port of Portland Commission met late Saturday afternoon and discussed the question of purchasing Moxie's Bottom for the purpose of using it as a site for the drydock now under construction. After much discussion the matter was laid over to the next meeting.

FOOD THROUGH A PNEUMATIC TUBE

(Journal Special Service.) NEW YORK, March 2.—The Hotel Casillac, has outdistanced the hotel builders of the new hotels that are being constructed on Broadway and Fifth avenue and inaugurated a new era in the hotel and restaurant business by the establishment of a new pneumatic tube service between the dining room and kitchen.

NOTES GATHERED IN OREGON CITY

Special Services in Honor of Pastor.

OREGON CITY, March 2.—Special services were held at the Congregational Church yesterday, the occasion being the commencement of the fifth year of work for Rev. Hollinger as pastor of that church in this city.

Williamette Hall was crowded Saturday evening by members of the local lodges of the A. O. U. W. and D. of H. and their friends who had gathered to hear Howard Osborn and Past Grand Master Feeney.

At a successful local institute of the Clackamas County Teachers' Institute, held at Canby Saturday, the following program was rendered:

"English Above the Eighth Grade," Prof. G. A. Prentiss, of the West Side Schools.

"Spelling and Word Study," Prof. L. A. Read, of the Milwaukie School.

"Letter Writing and Composition in Mixed School," P. L. Holman, of Marks Prairie School.

Address, J. H. Ackerman, superintendent of Public Instruction.

Other teachers present gave short readings on "School Law, the Teacher and His Qualifications and Duties."

On the grounds of desolation, Charles Austin Pettit has sued Ferna Pettit for a divorce.

May End His Own Life. Later—Sheriff Mills returned at noon and reports the man who was seen at Black Lake to be the wrong man. Benson is now supposed to be in the swamp by Moxie Creek, about two miles from here, as he was seen going in there from the Northern Pacific tracks which he took after getting away from the jail.

Excitement is running high and talks of lynching are to be heard on every side. The crowd is well covered, and he will in all probability soon be taken. The Governor has increased the reward of $300 offered by the County Commissioners to $500. A large posse is now being formed to surround the swamp and a fight is expected soon.

One of the pitiful things connected with the affair is the devotion shown by a little fox terrier, owned by the defunct jailer. In his vain search for his master, the little dog runs continually between the jail and court house, whining and searching everywhere.

A number of men attending the session of the Legislature have been Sheriff and deputies formerly, have joined in the hunt.

WILL ENTERTAIN.

Captain Craven and other officers of the Oriental liner Indragiri are going to give a grand ball in the Academy of Music Wednesday evening, from 8 to 12 o'clock, to which 200 invitations have been issued. Everest's Orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music. Refreshments will be served during the evening. Captain Craven says that he and the other officers of the ship have had several disputes as to which one of them has the most friends in Portland, and that the bar is being given just in order to put their popularity to a test.

GREAT CENTRAL MOVES TO COOS

Gives Up Offices in This City—Kinney in Charge.

The Great Central Railroad Company today gave up its commodious office rooms in the Alnowa block, and General Manager Daily will have a desk in future in the office of the Title Guaranty & Trust Company, in the Chamber of Commerce Building.

J. Thorburn Kinney, at the head of the Great Central, is very ill at his residence and was unable to be seen today, but Mr. Kellogg was temporarily in charge of Mr. Ross' business affairs, gave out the following interview:

"Major Kinney will assume charge of the property, which is to be shipped to Coos Bay, and will carry forward the work from that point. Kinney is still in the employ of this road, despite the stories to the contrary published some time ago. It is my understanding that the work of actual road building will be pressed forward as soon as spring opens. I believe that within a reasonably short time it will be found necessary for the Great Central to reopen headquarters in Portland, but for the present a temporary office will be run in connection with the Title Guaranty & Trust Company."

THE PRINTERS ELECT OFFICERS

Brock Becomes President After a Spirited Contest.

The following officers were elected yesterday by Multnomah Typographical Union, No. 48, for the ensuing year: Arthur Brock, president; Oliver Gallup, vice-president; Lon De Yarmond, secretary-treasurer; O. W. Athey, P. A. Campbell, Thomas Gibson, J. T. Johnson, R. H. Bingham, C. V. Beckstedt and F. M. Zeigler, executive committee; A. R. Lawson, Marcus Hoiling and Zenas M. Young, delegates to Federated Trades Council; W. W. Curtis, sergeant-at-arms; George H. Howell, director of Portland Labor Press.

There was an almost full attendance, and the contest for the presidency was spirited one, with Brock and Zenas M. Young, delegates to Federated Trades Council; W. W. Curtis, sergeant-at-arms; George H. Howell, director of Portland Labor Press.

There is comfort in the reflection that one good at least will result from this unfortunate misunderstanding—the publisher at last has the assurance from Mr. Scott himself, that despite all previous statements to the contrary, he was a candidate for United States Senator.

Out of justice to Mr. Brownell, it should be stated that he did not discontinue to The Journal the telegram which he received from Mr. Scott, nor did he give to this paper any information concerning it.

MEETING THIS AFTERNOON.

A private meeting of the Permanent Exhibition Committee of the Chamber of Commerce is being held this afternoon in the office of the Chamber on Washington street. The subject under discussion is the consolidation of this exhibit with the Oregon Information Bureau. It is understood that a vote will be taken on the subject which will be unfavorable towards consolidation.

NOBLE EARL IS ACTOR MANAGER

(Journal Special Service.) NEW YORK, March 2.—The Earl of Roslyn is starting in a new role—the ambition of his life. He is taking out his own company in a new play, "The Young Mrs. Pettifer," which is to be given its premier tonight at Peckskill. A tour through Canada will be taken until Easter, when Lord Roslyn hopes, if successful, to bring the play to New York. The play is by a young author, Mr. W. Mackay, and those who have read it pronounce it an unusually bright romance.

MARINE NOTES.

The steamer Eureka arrived last night from San Francisco, and docked at the foot of the wharf, taking on wheat for the return trip. The Despatch arrived here last evening from San Francisco for a cargo of lumber. The Prentiss will reach here tonight from the same place, and will also take on lumber.

ANOTHER CHARTER

The French bark General Neymayer, now enroute to Portland from Newcastle, England, was chartered on Saturday by Balfour, Guthrie & Co., to load wheat here for South Africa. The rate is not stated. The vessel is expected to arrive here in about a month. She registers 1,464 tons.

MR. SCOTT'S AMAZING CHANGE OF FRONT

ly the responsibility and the honor of naming the United States Senator." It now appears that on Mr. Brownell rests largely the responsibility and the honor of injecting Mr. Scott into the Senatorial race.

It is unfortunate that both Mr. Scott and Mr. Brownell are so much addicted to using words in a Pickwickian sense. Mr. Scott never meant the public to believe him when he said that he had never been a candidate for Senator, and had never asked the vote of a member of the Legislature.

Knowing one another as they did, neither of the gentlemen should have imagined that the other's words were to be taken in their literal meaning. Mr. Scott knew that he did not mean what he said. Mr. Brownell knew that he (Brownell) did not mean what he said. It is a pity to see their Damon and Pythias friendship marred by such a needless misunderstanding as has arisen.

Both gentlemen were too trusting. Mr. Scott is now regretting his misplaced confidence, and Mr. Brownell's regrets, the public is assured by Mr. Scott, will come later.

But the editor of the Oregonian has the consolation of knowing that he is not without plenty of company. He was not the only senatorial aspirant who failed to grasp Mr. Brownell's meaning. The gentleman from Clackamas is probably the most misunderstood man in the State of Oregon.

Charles W. Fulton had Mr. Brownell's promise to vote for him to the last moment of the session. Ex-Governor Geer held a meeting at which Mr. Scott was the fourth confiding candidate to whom Mr. Brownell's vote was promised. And every one of the four gentlemen was absolutely sure that he alone held the first mortgage upon the senator from Clackamas.

Mr. Brownell possesses a very benevolent and obliging disposition and to this circumstance are to be contributed any errors that he may have made. If he had not been so generous to please, he would not have felt compelled to promise his support to every candidate in the race. It was the error of a too generous nature. How could he suppose that he had taken at his word? He could have foreseen that each of the various promises of his vote would expect it to be delivered?

Mr. Brownell has enjoyed many diverse and seemingly incongruous friendships. He has been one of the most confidential terms with men whose political interests are diametrically opposed. When he ran for President of the State Senate he had the support of nearly all of the day. Phil Hiers appears as counsel for the defendant, and Deputy District Attorney Spencer represents the state.

The March term of the State Circuit Court began this morning, and the court house presented a busy scene. Three juries were on duty in the department, although there were no cases of great importance. The celebrated gambling cases are scheduled for this month, and much interest centers in them.

Post Larceny Trial. The case of the State against J. L. Post, charged with having burglarized the residence of Dr. Hamilton Meade three months ago, is being tried before a jury in Judge Georger's court.

Osgood in Court. Harry Osgood, the young Chicago man, charged with forging a number of checks in this city recently, was before Judge Sears this morning for arraignment. He has given up for a month. The excitement in London usually consists, as in large American cities, of a trip to some popular resort, and when the shop girl of London gets hungry for the English equivalents of loop-the-loop and pop and peanuts, she buys her sweetheart for a trip and takes a day off.

This is quite a common occurrence among London girls," said the manager of a great wholesale clothing factory recently. "And the young men are actually bought. The young woman bears the whole of the expense for both parties, and often thinks herself more than lucky if able to secure the companionship of a good-looking fellow for the day. I know this is done in nearly all large London houses of employment. A loveless girl, if fond of life and sightseeing, feels mighty proud to sport a sweetheart on holiday occasions."

There are no always the chance of the borrowed boat falling in love during the outing, the damsel doing her best to please and inspire him. As you may imagine, many happy engagements accrue and lots of marriages take place in the long run. The girl who is bent upon buying a lover prefers to make advances toward some young fellow who works in a different factory or is not mixed up with her work companions. If he is quite unknown to her associates, so much the better; she may, granted her conscience is of classic character, induce them to believe him to be a bona fide lover, and if she can secure his photograph it is exhibited with pride throughout the workroom.

What about the young men? They are of the free-and-easy class, who betray no shame in helping to spend the girl's hard-earned money. There is no real harm in their motives, and as for the lack of money on the part of the women, it never strikes either party as anything very forward, so used are they

MARCH TERM OF COURT OPENS

to independence and liberty of movement. Very soon they pick out the desirable young man. When he proves to be a jolly companion he is asked again, and the girl's purse is given into his keeping for the day—a pardonable piece of deception, no woman wishing to proclaim the fact that she is standing treat. A disappointing partner spoils himself on the trial trip; he may, indeed, be forsaken before the day's termination, his chances of an outing being slight in other quarters, a bad reputation soon becoming public property."
