GEORGE UHLER IS PROMOTED

Now Chief of Steamship Service.

He Is National President of Marine Engineers—Union Men Are Pleased.

Local union men have been apprised of the appointment of George Uhler, national president of the Marine Engineers' Association, as chief of the steamship service in the Treasury Department to succeed General James A. Dumont, who has resigned. Mr. Uhler will assume the duties of the office on April 1. This decision was reached at a conference participated in by Secretaries Shaw, Cortelyou and Armstrong.

Members of the local Marine Engineers' Association have long contended that Uhler had political aspirations, and the appointment was no surprise to them. They even went so far as to say some time ago that they would have won their strike had not Uhler's ambition to become a Federal office-holder been in the way. He ordered the strike here, they state, and when he was later convinced that it might make him unpopular with the national administration he withdrew his support and let the Portland branch fight its battle unaided and alone. Defeat was made easy, and the strike was soon lost.

But notwithstanding all this, they are pleased at Uhler's appointment. They still believe him to be a good union man, and realize that he is in a position now to do more for organized labor than when he was president of the association. When an appeal case is carried up to him they believe that justice will be done, and that the complaints from a workman will be accepted just as much attention from him as will those coming from a big corporation.

THE PAINTERS.

At the meeting of the Painters' Union last evening the committee which had been holding conferences with the contractors reported that no agreement had been reached on the wage question. The offer of 40 cents an hour by the master painters was rejected by the union, and it is probable that no further conferences will be held. The agreement now in force expires on April 6. Some time ago the union endorsed C. Bomberger for the position of Labor Commissioner, and apprised the State Appointing Board of its action. Governor Chamberlain acknowledged receipt of the endorsement by sending to the organization a communication which was read at the meeting.

LABOR MEETING.

A big labor mass meeting will be held at Oregon City tonight, and a number of the local union men will attend. The meeting will be quite a delegation from here were it not for the fact that the Federated Trades Council meets this evening. The object of the gathering in the metropolis of Clackamas County is to consider plans for the betterment of the wage earners' condition. Several prominent speakers will be in attendance, and it is altogether probable that several new unions will be formed. An interesting literary and musical program has been arranged for the occasion.

WAGES INCREASED.

After April 1 the minimum scale of wages which will be paid the members of the Electrical Workers' Union of Portland will be $3.50 for an eight-hour day. A communication to this effect was sent to the union at its meeting Wednesday night by the Employers' Association. It had been expected all along that the new scale would be granted without opposition, and the receipt of the communication caused no surprise.

HIGHER LICENSES FOR PRIZEFIGHTERS

An Ordinance to Charge $100 Fee Will Be Presented.

An ordinance to charge $100 license for every prize fight pulled together will be presented at the next meeting of the City Council. The present fee is only $5. At the recent Britt-O'Keefe battle over $4,200 is said to have been received by the sale of tickets. The Councilman who will present this new high license ordinance stated this morning to the Journal:

"The city might just as well make a little something out of these fights. San Francisco charges $100 for every match and Portland can get the same. At the last fight here 15 policemen were stationed in the building where the bout was held. How much of their salaries would the $5 license fee pay? I think the ordinance will pass."

TWO HUSBANDS ARE BAD ONES

Three divorces were granted by Judge Sears this morning. Antonio J. Sologner secured a decree from his husband John, with very little trouble, as she proved that since her marriage April 22, 1882, her husband had been addicted to strong drink to such a degree that in 1901 she was compelled to leave him and support herself. The couple came to Portland from Duluth, Minn., two years ago.

H. B. Westfall secured a divorce from her husband, N. D. Westfall, and from the testimony the court decided that the husband is as poor an excuse for a man as he has ever seen. It was alleged by the young wife that shortly after her marriage in January, 1902, Westfall proposed that she take to a life of prostitution in order to support him. When she refused the proposition he beat her, and she ran screaming to her neighbors. She returned to her home the next day and remained with her husband until his cruel actions forced her to seek her own living.

J. W. Menzies married Lovica T. Menzies May 6, 1897, but after a few months of wedded life, the wife deserted, and he has not seen her since. He was granted a divorce on the grounds of desertion.

MULKEY WILL RUN.

J. C. Olwell, a resident of Central Point, and one of the most extensive orchardists in the State of Oregon, is in the city today on business. Mr. Olwell is a leading Democratic politician, and was a member of the recent legislative session. Mr. Olwell rode on the same train for a portion of last night with State Senator B. F. Mulkey, and says that from conversation with the latter he is of the opinion that Mulkey will be a candidate for Congressional nomination. Olwell believes the Democrats should centralize on some strong candidate, and thinks that if they will stand together they would stand a chance to win.

"While winter weather has been on in Portland, the central districts of the state have been under the mellow influences of warm rains," Mr. Olwell said.

SEWER COMMITTEE ACT

The Sewer Committee of the Council this morning granted a petition for a sewer on Front street, from a point 230 feet north of Bancroft avenue to connect with the sewer on Bancroft. A petition for a sewer on East Madison, between East Twenty-third and East Twenty-fourth streets, was also granted.

A remonstrance was read against the construction of a sewer on Fifth street, from Gilex to Irving streets. It is said to have been presented by the Fifth street warehouse owners. The members of the committee are of the opinion that warehouses should have sewer connections as well as other business blocks. The remonstrance was referred to the City Engineer, but the committee thinks the sewer should be laid.

ELDER HAS ACCIDENT

The steamer George W. Elder lost two blades off her propeller while coasting up the coast on this trip, and as a consequence the voyage was considerably prolonged. Had it not been for the fact that the wind was greatly in her favor it is altogether probable that she would have had a very long passage. How the accident happened is not known. Nothing was noticed wrong with the propeller until the vessel was several hours out from San Francisco. Machinery worked all night last evening repairing the damage in order to have the steamer go out on schedule time today.

WEATHER FORECAST.
A disturbance of considerable energy is central this morning over Nevada. It has caused general rains in Northern California, and Southern Oregon, and light snow in Eastern Oregon, Southeastern Washington and Central Idaho.

A moderate cold wave prevails in the Canadian Northwest, which has spread over Montana and the Dakotas. Zero temperatures are also reported in British Columbia.

The indications are for cloudy and threatening weather in this district Saturday, with snow east of the Cascade Mountains.

Western Oregon—Tonight, cloudy and threatening, with rain or snow south portion; Saturday, cloudy and threatening; northerly winds.

Washington—Tonight and Saturday, cloudy and threatening; brisk to high northerly winds.

Eastern Oregon, Eastern Washington and Northern Idaho—Tonight and Saturday, rain or snow; cooler east portion.

FAIR COMMISSION HAS ORGANIZED HANFORD GIVES A GREAT COMEDY

Prepares for Exhibit at St. Louis Fair. "Much Ado About Nothing" Well Received.

Lewis and Clark Fair Directors and State Commission in Conference This Afternoon. Cleverness and Dash of Players Cloth Shakespeare in Modern Dress.

This afternoon F. G. Young, chairman of the Lewis and Clark Fair Commission, will report to the Lewis and Clark Fair Board of Directors the decision arrived at the meeting of the commission yesterday, regarding the relationship between the commission and directorate. At the meeting of the commission yesterday resolutions were adopted and motions passed, the result of which was the organization of the commission into an unofficial body.

The meeting was presided over by Prof. F. G. Young of Salem, who was unanimously elected temporary chairman. Henry E. Reed was unanimously elected temporary secretary. Besides these officers those present at the meeting were:

J. H. Albert, Salem; W. E. Thomas, Portland; Richard Scott, Milwaukie; Dr. David Raffety, Portland; J. C. Flanders, Portland; Jefferson Myers, Salem; Frank Williams, Ashland; G. Y. Harry, Portland; Senator Wehrung, M. D. Wisdom (of G. Chandler of the Oregon State Board of Agriculture, were also present.

Powers of Commission.

Previous to organizing the question of the powers of the commission was brought up by Commissioner Albert. Regarding this an opinion from Attorney-General Crawford was read, stating that the commission could do nothing officially, but that individuals could advise with the members of the Board of Directors of the Fair. After much discussion and passing and withdrawing of motions, the following resolution, introduced by Commissioner Flanders, was read and adopted:

"Resolved, That this temporary organization resolve itself into an advisory committee to confer with the Board of Directors and the Executive Committee of the Lewis and Clark Centennial and American Pacific Exposition and Oriental Fair, and under its resolution in such advisory capacity all meetings of the Board of Directors and the Executive Committee at which our presence is requested by said corporation, and that six members of this organization shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and that no expenditures of money shall be made or obligations for the expenditure of money shall be incurred hereunder."

St. Louis Exhibit.

The committee of the Agricultural Board addressed the board about cooperating with the commission in preparing an exhibit for the Louisiana Exposition. Senator Wehrung, one of the committee, then submitted the following resolution, which was adopted at the recent meeting of the State Board of Agriculture:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the State Board of Agriculture that it cooperate with the Lewis and Clark Centennial Commission in its efforts to make a first class exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition in 1904, and to that end a committee of three members to be appointed to confer with the above named commission at its preliminary meeting in Portland on the 12th and 13th inst."

After some consideration the above resolution, introduced by Commissioner G. Y. Harry:

"Resolved, That the Lewis and Clark Commission in informal meeting, recommend that the State Board of Agriculture use their best efforts in promoting the special growth of exhibits for display at the State Fair, and expresses its intention to purchase the best class of such products for the purposes of display at the St. Louis Fair, when this board becomes legally organized and the act creating it takes effect."

Transportation.

The resignation of Stephen A. Lowell as one of the commissioners on account of press of business was read and placed on file.

Jefferson Myers, Frank Williams and J. C. Flanders were appointed a committee regarding transportation for the members of the commission. At the conclusion of the meeting the commission visited the Fair grounds, where they were shown around by Superintendent Huber.

"Arizona" People.

Appropos of the coming next week of Kirke La Shelle's production of "Arizona," a slight biographical sketch of some of the members of the company might not be amiss.

Mr. John W. Cope, the Canby of the piece, has portrayed the character ever since the originator, Mr. Theodore Roberts, retired from the cast. Previous to his engagement Mr. Cope had had a pronounced hit in the then popular farce "What Happened to Jones."

Miss Muir, the Bonita, is a very young and attractive girl, who received her training in a stock company, as did Miss Robson, her predecessor, having been for four years the leading ingenue in the Castle Square Company in Boston.

Miss Alma Bradley, who assumes the character of the German servant girl, "Lena," is also a New England girl, and has played in a number of important roles in such prominent companies as Stuart Robson's "My Friend from India," the Boston Theatre production of "Burneh," and others which cannot be called to mind at present.

Mr. Dustin Farham, whom the ladies will at once vote a matinee idol, is a brother of Mr. William Farham, of "Ben Hur" fame, and his charming rendition of the role of "Lieutenant Denton," in Mr. Thomas' delightful comedy drama bids fair to bring him as much prominence in attendance as his gifted brother has attained.

Messrs. Campeau and Dean are both well-known in the theatrical world, the former having made a decided hit with the late Frank Mayo in "Pud'shead Wilson," and Dean is equally well known for his masterful portrayal of the leading role in "The Soudan."

Miss Edith Lammer, who is entrusted with the role of "Estrella," is a California girl, and until the present season has been at the head of her own company, and has made distinctive hits in such well known plays as "Cleopatra," "Fedora," and others of equal note. Seats are now selling for the entire engagement.

As a separate case for action the plaintiff sues for $15 on a joint promissory note, with interest at 8 per cent, and $10 attorneys' fees.

CAST BREAD UPON WATERED ROADS

A Bakery Delivery Horse Strews Wheat Product on

Several hundred loaves of bread were cast upon the waters lying on the pavements of Grand and Union avenues yesterday afternoon, and the water was used as a horse attached to the delivery wagon of the Ann Arbor Bakery became frightened and ran away. The animal ran down Grand avenue to East Stark street; thence down Union avenue for several blocks. The wagon was filled with bread, and the jolting caused by the too swift running over the slabwood-paved streets scattered the entire load of bread and pies over the several streets. No damage was done to the horse or vehicle.

PERHAPS A NEW PARK.

Bids for the removal of the old Mechanics' Pavilion are to be readjusted for, there having been some misunderstanding about the work when the bids were first advertised. All the members of the Council health and police committee this morning expressed the opinion that "the big shack should be torn down at once." Councilman B. P. Cardwell remarked:

"We might make a park out of the block where the pavilion now stands." The other committeemen were of the same mind.

HOLD IMPRESSIVE SERVICES

The funeral of the late Mrs. Bridget O'Reilly, mother of Rev. C. J. O'Reilly, was held in St. Mary's Church, Albion, yesterday. The services were very impressive, the sermon being delivered by Rev. Father Lambert. A very beautiful song service was sung by the members of St. Mary's choir, assisted by a part of St. Lawrence Church. There was a large attendance of church officials from all parts of the state. The body was interred in St. Mary's Cemetery on the East Side.
