BROWNS DEFEAT SAN JOSEANS

Portlanders Had on Their Batting Togs.

Although Several of Vigneaux's Men Are Crippled the Outlook for Season Is Bright.

(Journal Special Service.)

SAN JOSE, March 23.—The Portland Browns donned their new uniforms yesterday and, despite their badly crippled team, defeated San Jose 8 to 4.

Andrews is suffering from a sprained ankle and will not be able to play for a week. Vigneaux covered third well. Anderson has left the hospital, but cannot play for another week at least. Smith played with a bad ankle. The Browns shut out the San Jose team in six, two, three order no less than four times, their stick work being unsurpassable, securing 14 hits.

The Portlands seemed to place the ball well, hitting it at will, and doing clever bunting. Honors, however, were easy until the third inning was reached. With all bases full, Nadeau singled, scoring 2. Vigneaux got a two-bagger, and two more runs were scored. Shaffer reached second on a wild throw, Vigneaux scoring.

In the fourth inning Portland scored twice on error and single by Smith. In the fifth inning Shaffer, Zinger and Harlow singled in succession, scoring one. For San Jose, Perrera reached first on Thatcher's error, Keefe and F. Foley singled. With bases full, Thatcher walked Kent, forcing a run. Hammond singled and two scored. Both teams gingered, and Van Buren made a good running catch, Shaffer singled and stole two bases. In the seventh inning, a hit and a sacrifice netted San Jose another run.

Summary.

Hits—Off Engle, 9; Thatcher, 3; Shields, 3.

Double play—Smith to Shaffer.

Base on balls—Tyson, 1; Engle, 2; Thatcher, 1; Shields, 2.

Struck out—Tyson, Engle, Thatcher, 2 each; Shields, 1.

Left on bases—Portland, 9; San Jose, 7.

Sacrifice hits—Van Buren, Vigneaux, Nadeau and Zinger each scored three hits, Engle and Shaffer two each. Shaffer and Thatcher, one error each; both hard chances.

The attendance was the largest of the season and the day perfect. The general opinion, however, is that the Portlands need more outdoor practice.

Ballplayer Injured.

(Journal Special Service.)

VENTURA, Cal., March 23.—Charley Schwartz, Seattle's second baseman, was seriously injured while at the bat yesterday, being hit on the left temple by a pitched ball delivered by Pitcher Franklin. Concussion of the brain is feared, and Schwartz is now in a delirious condition.

Little Rock Meeting Opens.

(Journal Special Service.)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 23.—The spring meeting of the Arkansas Jockey Club opened today under favorable auspices. The principal event of the opening day is the Capitol stakes for 2-year-olds, four furlongs. The feature of the meeting, which lasts one week, will be the Arkansas Derby, one mile, which is to be run next Thursday. The stables are filled with fast horses from many parts of the country and with favorable weather during the week the meeting should prove one of the best in the history of the club.

American Cyclist Won.

(Journal Special Service.)

SYDNEY, N. S. W., March 23.—Hopper, the American cyclist, captured the mile cycle event in the record time of 1:53 2-5, and won the $5,000 prize. Walker, the Australian champion, was second.

SAMMY VIGNEAUX.

Popular Manager of the Portland Browns, Whose Good Work is Appreciated by the Owners of the Club and the Public at Large.

GANS TO MEET JACK BENNETT

Colored Champion to Defend His Title Tonight at Allegheny City.

(Journal Special Service.)

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 23.—Before the North Side Athletic Club tonight Joe Gans will defend his championship title against Jack Bennett, the McKeesport welterweight. The two fighters have met twice before and as Bennett was knocked out both times Gans is naturally the favorite in what betting is being done on their encounter tonight. Bennett, however, has been fighting in splendid form of late and says he will surely give the champion a good argument for the big end of the money. Both have been training faithfully for the contest, Gans at Hot Springs and Bennett at Atlantic City. The articles of agreement call for a 10-round go at 138 pounds.

Horse Show Opens.

(Journal Special Service.)

PARIS, March 23.—From the Riveria and elsewhere many Americans have returned to Paris for the horse show which opened today and will continue until April 13. Judging from the number and high class of the entries and the great amount of interest society is taking in the event the exhibition this year will be one of the most successful ever held here.

Popular interest centers largely in the championship for chargers, for which a prize of $1,600 is offered. The tests are to include a steeplechase course, with speed and jumping contests. The total amount of prizes for the show is nearly $25,000.

Texas State Shoot.

(Journal Special Service.)

BRENHAM, Texas, March 23.—The leading amateur marksmen of Texas are gathered here for the state shoot, which began today and will continue until Friday. The program is one of the best ever arranged for a tournament in this part of the country. It provides for three medal shoots open only to Texas shooters. The rest of the score is open to all comers. The medal shoots are: Live bird championship, trophy valued at $450; bluerock championship, trophy valued at $400; team medal, valued at $400.

Sportsmen's Show.

(Journal Special Service.)

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 23.—The feature of the Sportsmen's Show, which opened in this city today under the auspices of the International Forest, Fish and Game Association, will be the various aquatic contests. These are to include contests at water polo and long and short swimming races. Some of the best amateurs of Milwaukee, Chicago and other cities are entered in the different events.

RACING BEGINS IN ENGLAND

Lincoln Track Opened Auspiciously Today.

Royalty Will Patronize Goodwood This Season, Making Sussex Fixture a Big Draw.

(Journal Special Service.)

LONDON, March 23.—Today the English flat racing season commences in Lincoln, several miles north of London. The piece de resistance of the meeting is the mile handicap, worth $10,000, which has for nearly a century been the first important race of the year. After January 1, when the entries are made, the Lincoln is always a popular medium of speculation, and all the 20 or more starters who are expected to show up tomorrow have been heavily backed. Though the soil of the Carholme, as the moor on which the race track is situated is called, is a sandy loam, the going at this season of the year is generally holding, so lightly weighted old horses are usually to the fore in the race. This is not always the case, however, for though the course, which is perfectly straight and almost level, is said to be 17 yards over a mile, Bendigo won in 1885 in the phenomenal time of 1:38, although he carried 117 pounds.

The famous filly Sceptre, for whom her owner, R. S. Sievier, paid the record price of $50,000 as a yearling, and who won four out of five of the classic events on the English turf last year, has been allotted top weight this year, 127 pounds. The American horse Conroy II, owned by J. R. and F. P. Keene, and who won the Brooklyn handicap of 1901 as a 3-year-old, being the only racer of that age to accomplish the feat, has been assigned 114 pounds. Cap and Bells, owned by Foxhall Keene, has forfeited for this event. William K. Vanderbilt's French-bred colt Bright, a 4-year-old, is in at 109 pounds. Watershed, the American horse, who won the Cambridgeshire of 1901 for W. C. Whitney, but who is now owned by Lord de Walden, has been assigned 106 pounds.

The Lincoln meeting lasts only three days, after which racing is transferred to Liverpool to finish up the week. There the Spring Cup is a feature, but it is entirely overshadowed by the Grand National, which, with the exception of the Derby, attracts the biggest crowd of any race in the world. The distance is four and one-half miles, and the number of obstacles to be crossed 32.

The Derby will be run on May 27, and the Oaks, for once in a way, on Oak-Apple Day. Ascot, which promises to be a grand meeting this year, will be held on June 16 and the three following days. As Royalty intends patronizing Goodwood, the Sussex fixture is expected to prove a big draw. It opens July 28. The St. Leger, another big race of the year, will be run early in September.

BIG AUTO SHOW

Lieutenant-General Miles Officiated at National Capital Exhibition.

(Journal Special Service.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—Lieutenant General Miles officiated today at the opening of the third annual automobile show in the Light Guard Armory. The big hall is filled with motor vehicles of every description, from the light runabout to the heaviest delivery trucks. An interesting feature of the show and one not included in the recent large exhibitions in New York, Chicago and Boston, is the large display of automobiles intended for army use. This includes ammunition wagons, balloon carriages, ambulances and an automobile battery of rapid-fire guns, invented by a professor of the Northwestern Military Academy at Evanston, Ill. The exhibition will continue throughout the week.

Business College Wins.

On Saturday afternoon the Portland Business College baseball team met the Columbia University team on the grounds at University Park. The grounds are enclosed by a large building, and, notwithstanding the fact that the Business College boys were unused to playing indoors, they carried off the honors, and the larger portion of the gate receipts, by a score of 6 to 3. Both teams possess some good material and will no doubt furnish some interesting games before the summer is over. Score by innings:

Innings—	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Columbia	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	1	0	—3

Pastime Club News.

The Pastime Athletic Club of this city received letters today from the following boxers as to securing dates under its auspices:

Otto Sieloff, the Chicago 135-pounder, wants a date with any man in his division, and especially mentions his willingness to meet Joe Gans, Mattie Matthews or Tom Couhig.

Young Scotty of Chicago, who scales at 130 pounds, is also desirous of making his initial bow at the Pastime Club.

"Kid" Parker of Denver, the clever lightweight, writes: "I have no one in my division or any one within five pounds of my weight."

Pug Muller Arrives.

Fred Muller, the San Francisco lightweight boxer, is the latest arrival noted in Portland boxing circles.

S. M. S. S. Defeats Blanchets.

In an interesting baseball game on Saturday the S. M. S. S. team administered a sound thrashing to the Blanchet Institute nine by the large score of 15 to 3. Both teams played good ball, but the effective pitching of Fred Dresser was too much for the Institute boys. A good-sized crowd witnessed the contest. The line up of the teams was:

S. M. S. S.	Position.	Institute
R. Gleason	Catcher	L. Stuart
F. Dressar	Pitcher	E. Ward
J. Caraper	Shortstop	J. Nolan
S. Douglas	First base	J. Campbell
F. Crusby	Second base	E. Givers
E. Dressar	Third base	M. Conway
J. Hurley	Left field	D. O. Hanlon
C. Springer	Center field	D. Moreland
V. O'Hare	Right field	R. McKinnon

Lively Practice Game.

The John Drew and Bunker Hill baseball teams of this city played a five-inning practice game yesterday, which ended in favor of the Drewites. The members of both nines displayed excellent form in batting and running the bases. The line-up was:

Butler	Catcher	Farmer
Harden	Pitcher	Sandersock
Miller	First base	Kennedy
Garner	Second base	M. Anderson
Fleming	Third base	Anderson
Ward	Shortstop	Trowbridge
Henry	Left field	Hurlburt
Armstrong	Center field	Frank
Price	Right field	Nell

Coming Men Victorious.

At 10 o'clock Sunday morning the Coming Men of America crossed bats with Meier & Frank's and defeated them by a score of 14 to 5. Up to the eighth inning Meier & Franks were unable to score. Reed, the twirler for the C. M. A. did wonderful work in the box, and he was supported by Groves, who did the backstop act. The line-up was as follows:

C. M. A.	Position.	M. & F.
Groves	Catcher	Matlock
		Kotteman and
Reed	Pitcher	J. Crosby
Dane	First base	Gaines
Yerian	Second base	White
Gray	Shortsop	Thompson
Wells	Third base	Taylor
		Shea and
Dudley	Left field	Kotteman
Meadows	Center field	Chenoworth
Harold	Right field	Kaiser

Umpire—Harry Crandall.

Winners and Losers.

An interesting game of baseball took place yesterday afternoon on Portland Field, Twelfth and East Davis streets, between two picked teams composed of some of the best amateur ball players in the City of Portland.

The game resulted in a victory for the team of which Fleming and Joe Don were the battery by a score of 5 to 2. The line-up was:

Winners	Position.	Losers.
Joe Don	Catcher	Slavin
Fleming	Pitcher	Hoyt
A. Parrott	First base	G. Parrott
Chas. Gell	Second base	Trowbridge
Cal. Gell	Third base	Gardner
Newal	Shortstop	Druhitt
Reed	Left field	Reed
Jacobs	Center field	Woodward
R. Parrott	Right field	Toadfust

BUSINESS GOING TO WASTE HERE

Portland Not Getting Her Share of Trade.

Juneau Mining Manager Tells of Chances That Are Slipping by Unnoticed.

"Why does not Portland put a steamer line into service to Alaska?" was the question a reporter for The Journal found himself faced with when he accosted C. D. Garfield this morning in the lobby of the Hotel Portland.

"There is every reason why Portland should get her share of the Alaskan business and not one reason why she should not," Mr. Garfield continued. "The demand is there, the money is there and only the enterprise seems lacking. It was Alaskan gold that made Seattle what it is. Seattle supplied the necessities of life to those in the North and when they made their fortunes they went back to Seattle to spend their money or to locate. We will admit that Portland is already prosperous and does not require to be 'made' in the common acceptance of that term, but there is always room for improvement."

C. D. Garfield arrived in this city this morning and will leave again tonight for Seattle. He has been three weeks out from Juneau, where he is manager for the Lemon Creek Hydraulic Mining Company, and during his brief stay in Portland was in consultation with several capitalists. He will sail for Alaska on Wednesday of the coming week.

A Market for All.

"What could Portland furnish to the North that would bring good prices and meet a ready demand?" was asked of Mr. Garfield and he replied:

"Everything." Mr. Garfield looked as if he meant it, too, and when he went on there was evidence of thorough familiarity with the subject in hand.

"All kinds of farm produce, hay, grain, vegetables, poultry and dairy products, and meats as well, are greatly in demand," he said. "There would never be a worthy article go to waste if shipped into the North and the price brought would be excellent. The wholesale houses, too, could make large returns on goods. Even as it is, there is some business done with Portland wholesale firms, but the consignments have to be freighted to Seattle by train and from there shipped on the boats. This is a terrible drawback to business from Portland's point of view, even though this city has older and better qualified wholesale stores than Seattle or any other point in the Northwest.

He Asks Investigation.

"If the business men of Portland would only investigate the Alaskan trade, they could not help seeing the great advantage that would result to them from participating in it. They made the mistake of a lifetime when they withdrew their steamers from the Alaskan run. They may have thought the gold finds were over and that the rush into Alaska would cease, but if they did they were far wrong. There is more gold there than has been taken out, and the rush, while it may have slackened off, will never cease, for possibilities are unlimited."

Mr. Garfield declares that, although much of the gloss and glitter of the fabulously rich Klondike has been removed, the true worth remains and that business established in that country today will be upon a firm and substantial basis. He points to the coal and oil fields as well as to the gold mines and says that agricultural openings are wonderful.

"The Tanana and Copper River Valleys are rich in agricultural possibilities," he said, "and hundreds will go in there this year to locate farms. The seasons are shorter there, but the climate is no more rigorous than is that of North Dakota. And in Alaska," he continued with a smile, "there is more sunlight while the season lasts and the hardier vegetables and cereals can see to grow by night as well as day."

Mr. Garfield thinks Portland steamers should go North by the inside passage and touch at all points where trade centers.

SOCIALISTS PARADE.

(Journal Special Service.)

BUDAPEST, March 23.—A monster meeting of Socialists was held here today and proved the largest assemblage of the kind that has ever been held in Hungary. Twenty thousand men were in line, all wearing red carnations. They swore to resist the government military bill and the progress of clericalism. There was no violence.

WORKS MAY RESUME.

(Journal Special Service.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—It is rumored in this city that the recent closing of the Crockett Sugar Works following the sale of the property to the trust, was intended to be only temporary. It is now said that the works will resume operations within a short time, and the 800 men who were thrown out of employment by the closing will be reengaged.
