Painters, However, Hopeful of Winning Out This Week.

Laborers Give Association Until Wednesday to Sign Scale.

A Big Strike Narrowly Averted in Southern Pacific Shops.

The differences between the Protective Laborers' Union and the Master Bricklayers' Association are yet far from settlement. A truce has been declared until Wednesday, and in the meantime most of the men have returned to work. If by Wednesday morning, however, the demands of the union are not granted, the men will all go out. H. C. SMITH. all go out.

"If the other master painters do not soon sign the agreement with the union they will lose their business."

This statement was made by the striking painters this morning when asked concerning the probabilities of a settlement of the present difficulty between them and their employers. They state that 36 master painters have signed up with them, and these have about 135 journeymen in their employ. These contractors, they aver, are securing new jobs every day, and they are doing a thriving business. Every day demands are being made for more men, and if the good weather continues for any length of time the business agents of the union believe that all the painters will soon be at work.

"The contracts taken some time ago cannot be put off indefinitely," said H. G. "The owners will not tolerate Every pressure is being brought to bear upon them now to complete their work. I would not be surorised to see the differences adjusted this week. There is one thing certain, they will either have to sign soon or go out of business. There are now only about 25 who have not signed. Everything looks favorable. Aside from a number of men going to work Yor the fair contractors, there is no material change in the situation.

Up to Association.

A truce has been declared until Wednesday, and in the meantime of the men have returned to work If by Wednesday morning, however, the demands of the union are not granted, the men will all go out. H. C. Smith. business agent of the Laborers' Union, is authority for this statement. Mr. lmith further says:

"It is now up to the association. If its members want to avoid additional troubles they will have to grant our de-mands for increased wages by Wednesday. We have given them a few days union meets Friday night, nd the asso-ciation has called a special meeting for do not conclude to grant our concessions then there will be a general walkort of the laborers the following morn-The several associations are still holding frequent meetings, but if they have arrived at any definite conclusion as yet to what course they intend to pursue they are not letting that fact be known. It was reported that work would be resumed this morning at the Failing Building, on the corner of Third and Morrison streets, with non-union mechanics, and a number of policemen were ordered to the place to prevent any trouble which might occur No work-men appeared, however, and nothing out of the ordinary transpired.

A BIG STRIKE IS AVERTED

Southern Pacific Machinists Get an Increase.

A strike of the machinists was narrowly averted at the Southern Pacific thops yesterday. The men were receiving 32% cents an hour, and some time wages be raised to 35 cents an hour. At first the company refused to grant the concession, and every preparation was made to strike. The men came very near going out on last Saturday. At that time Master Mechanic Younger was in the Southern part of the state, and they wired him that the increase must be granted at once. He replied that h would be home in the evening, and make the effort to have the matter settled.

Unon his return he made a proposition to the grievance committee of the consisting of Messrs. Clark. McGraw. Chancey, Concoff and Harpster, to the effect that he was willing to grant the increase asked to all but 12 of the men He stated that these men were being paid all they were worth, but if they wished to do so they could continue at work at 32 % cents an hour. Mr. Younger did not reveal the identity of the dozen men he referred to, and it was unanimously agreed by all the members of the union to take a vote upon the question as to whether or not they would accept the proposition by the mas-ter mechanic. This was accordingly done, and a unanimous verdict was reached that the 12 men would have to to. Yesterday morning they quit of their own accord.

The barbers met last night and dis-cussed the various sections in the new constitution and by-laws which were re cently drawn up by a committee appointed for that purpose. After June 1 the shops will be closed at 7 instead of 8 o'clock on week days, and at 19 on Saturday nights; and on holidays at 11 instead of at noon, as is the present rule On all days preceding holidays the shops On all days preceding holidays the shops will be closed at 8. The scale of wages and prices are the next features of the by-laws to be considered. Secretary Leabo says it is the latention to get all the shops on a uniform basis with regard to wages and prices, if possible.

The reception given last night at the Portland Hotel, complimentary to Ella Wheeler Wilcox, was a success in every sense of the word. The members of the Women's Club were the hostesses. It all about 300 guests responded to the invitations sent out by this popular organization. Those selected on this occasion to meet this noted writer were mostly men and women who possess some literary ability and in the assemblage many patrons of art, writers and deep students were ween.

The reception room and parlors were beautifully decorated with Oregon grape, Spring flowers and Easter and calla lilles. The state flower, which is so much admired by Mrs. Wilcox, was used n great profusion

Ella Wheeler Wilcox was faultlessly gowned in handsome white silk, ex-quisitely decorated with hand-painted pink roses. She also carried an arm ouquet of roses of the same shade. The reception committee, composed of Mrs. S. A. Evans, Mrs. G. M. Glines, Mrs. W. Wynn Johnson, Mrs. F. Glaske, Jr., Mrs. Merwin, Pugh. Mrs. J. P. Wager, Mrs. C. A. Pretty Afternoon Affair. Chinese luncheon given by Mrs W. A. Mears, at her home on North Twenty-second street yesterday, in hon-or of Elia Wheeler Wilcox, was one of the most enjoyable affairs given this celebrated anthoress since her arrival in Portland . The uniqueness of decorations of the rooms, the decidedly Oriental menu, coupled with the queen hinese dishes used in the serving, were all details noted with much pleasure by Mrs. Wilcox and all present. A handsomely carved incense burner which adorned a table in the drawingroom, was at one time used in an ancient Joss house in China and was a curio much admired. The rooms were lighted with Chinese lanters and on entering the reception hall, one glance at the Oriental surroundings would cause one to easily imagine they were in the home of a well-to-do Celestial. It may be said that the dining room was perfect in the attempted imitation. The walls were hung with panels of red crepe paper bearing Chinese inscriptions and a large inverted Chinese parasol, filled with ferns and Oregon grape branches was suspended over the dining table. Clust-ered about the rim of the parasol were many small lanterns which served to throw light on the guests beneath. Chinese wine, fruit nuts and candles were found upon the table and the first course was chop suey, but before the third course was trached the good old American way made its The place cards were of red paper, on which quotations from Ella Wheeler Wilcox's poems were written; also the guest's name in Chinese.

LABOR TROUBLES AIRED IN COURT

Union Carpenters Accused of Assault--Judge Hogue's Lecture.

The troubles arising from the strike situation have found their way into the Municipal Court. It is evident that Master Painter E. H. Moorehouse intends bringing several union carpenters into court on charges of assault and battery. He has already caused the arrest of J. M. Morgan and D. K. Iliff, whom he alleges assaulted him last Saturday in the Weinhard Building.

Morgan's case was heard this morning
by Municipal Judge Hogue. Moorehouse testified as did two other witnesses, that Morgan struck the complainant over the head with a paint can on the day in question. Morgan denied the charges, he also having witnesses who gave testimony in his behalf.

Judge Hogue Angry.
While Judge Hogue was hearing the Morgan case, Iliff, the second carpenter, was brought in on the charge of assault and battery, alleged to have been com-mitted on the same day. Judge Hogue thereupon took occasion to remark that such proceedings were very unusual, and that if Mr. Moorehouse desired to have any more cases brought before the Court, he had better bring them at once.

"I do not propose that the entire time of this Court shall be occupied in hearing these assault and battery cases, all of which occurred on last Saturday, said Judge Hogue. "If there are to be more arrests, they must be made at once, and all the cases heard together The cases were then continued unti-
