

TAILED LEADING TOPICS

Candidate Reames With the People of Junction City.

Explains Just Where He Stands on National Issues.

If He Had the Record of His Opponent He Would Most Certainly Remain at Home.

(Journal Special Service.) JUNCTION CITY, May 21.—Hon. A. E. Reames, Democratic candidate for Congress in the First Congressional District, spoke to an enthusiastic audience here yesterday. Those who had heard of Mr. Reames' ability were not disappointed, since his efforts were frequently applauded. Comment on the street after his able arguments were concluded, proved most conclusively that several voters did most tall thinking in a very few minutes, and will support Mr. Reames, although he is not their first candidate.

In his remarks, he laid great stress on the fact that the harbor of Manila was the key to the great markets of the Orient, and that the Pacific Coast should control the key to such markets, through its geographical position.

Following are a few extracts from his speech: "Capital and labor in their present relation are creating the great unrest now prevalent in this country. I believe labor organizations are the only check to consolidation of capital for the purpose of controlling the markets of today, and that still the time will come when capital and labor will march side by side."

"Trusts are selling cheaper abroad than they are at home." Here he read Reames' last utterances on this question, and made the statement that Mr. Roosevelt and the rank and file of the Republican party were in accord with this idea, and that Mr. Reames, who is trying to occupy Mr. Reames' place, does not believe in this. Mr. Reames then read from Reames' speech at Cottage Grove, on May 6, substantially this statement:

"Trusts in Control. Continuing, Mr. Reames said: 'Trust operators have bought controlling interests in many small concerns, and by shrewd manipulation have managed to control the small holders. The Sherman law does not reach the trust in this form of their combinations. Hermann's idea of grabbing the trusts by the throat won't work on this kind of trust.'

"Hermann is in harmony with the Republican party—not the rank and file of the party—but with the trust representatives in that party, and since Roosevelt's statement that he would stand on the Iowa platform, Mr. Hermann has changed his views on tariff revision to the extent that he now favors a revision of the tariff. It must be made by friends of the tariff."

"Hermann's Policy. 'Hermann's policy destroys the commerce of the West.' Here Reames gave an illustration of a ship flying the American flag and carrying a cargo of American products to the Philippines. At Manila the ship was boarded by revenue officers and a tariff imposed. When this same ship returned laden with goods from the recently acquired islands, it was met at San Francisco, or at the Port of Portland by another set of revenue officers, which demanded the payment of another tariff bill."

"Hermann believes in this policy. How on earth will our commerce ever build up under such adverse circumstances? Won't such a policy drive us away from our Eastern capital, and behind this move, because the Pacific Coast offers such a splendid market for their products, and it wouldn't do to give the islands too great a chance."

"Reames' Policy. In speaking of his position on this point, Mr. Reames said: 'I am taking off the tariff between our islands and the home country.' Referring to Mr. Hermann being out of office, he said: 'I don't care how he got out. He is out, anyway. His whole career has been a failure. He is not to explain. He resigned a good office, according to his story, to accept a poor one.'

"Regarding an editorial in a certain Lane County newspaper, which claimed that Mr. Hermann was named because he would not stand in with certain railroad land grabs, the speaker emphatically said: 'I feel it my duty as a citizen to defend the Chief Magistrate of this nation against such insinuations as this statement casts. Hitchcock could not kick out Mr. Hermann. The President alone had this power, and to make such an assertion as this paper does casts a reflection upon the acts of our President.'

"The 'old-fashioned' handshake with the 'low-are-you-old-man' talk of Hermann's, as depicted by the speaker, was more than a smile-bringer, and he stated that even should the Republican nominee be elected, he would not be in a position to use this old handshake and 'How are you, old man?' at Washington."

"Regarding Work in Congress. Continuing, the speaker said: 'Hermann's statement that a Representative in Congress elected from the minority party could do nothing for Oregon, was a mistake. In fact, he is just the kind of a representative that will be able to do something. He can control the Democratic support for his measures, and when they are of an important nature the Republican delegation would be forced to vote for them, thus giving a Democratic member a pull that no Republican could secure.'

"No Need of Speeches. 'If I had a record of twenty-five years in public service and a party majority of 7,300 votes, as Mr. Hermann. I would be ashamed to advertise sixty-two political speeches in my behalf during the last few days of the campaign, and especially to bring in speakers from the outside to assist me. If, after that long a record, I could not be elected without making such an effort, I would stay at home and not ask for the office.'

WANTS TO EARN AMERICAN WAYS

Baron Von Rheinbadon on Visit Here.

(Journal Special Service.) NEW YORK, May 21.—The Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse had for a passenger yesterday none other than Baron George von Rheinbadon, the Prussian Minister of Finance. The baron, who is prominently mentioned as the successor of Count von Buelow, was accompanied by Privy Councillor Moritz Boker and the Deputy Vice-Consul of the United States at Berlin, Frederick von Versen. He was met at the pier by Carl Buzen, the German Consul-General at New York.

"I do not come here on any official mission," said the Baron, "but to inform myself on the reasons for the extraordinary economic and commercial progress of the United States—I hope to learn much which will be of benefit to my country. Your methods here, so far as I can learn, are so strange and many-sided that I have long felt they could only be understood by a personal visit to the United States."

"Despite the fact that you are subject to strikes—I think you say—you lead the world in new ideas and in the amount of your output in many trades. I have learned that when you manufacture any machine you make the parts of that machine interchangeable, so that a broken part may be readily supplied. We in Germany, and also in Austria, are only lately adopting this method."

"I have only six weeks to stay here, and my chief interest will be in the study of your financial system, your transportation methods and the iron industry, to which end I shall visit Pittsburgh. The details of my tour have not as yet been arranged, but after a short stay in New York I shall go to Pittsburgh and from there take that wonderful trip through the Great Lakes to Chicago and St. Louis."

"Will you visit President Roosevelt?" the Baron was asked. "I certainly expect to do so," he replied, "and shall surely go to Washington."

Anyway, this is a good time to clean Republican politics in Oregon. "Hermann stated in an interview in the Post that he resigned so as to get a much-needed rest and to take a trip to Europe, and when I heard that, I vowed to use every moment of my time until the evening of June 1 in an effort to give him his trip and rest."

"At Ashland the ex-Congressman said that 'since the time of the immortal Lincoln my heart has been in sympathy with the grand old Republican party.'"

Commenting on this, Reames said: "Then, for seven years, Hermann's heart forgot to beat for it was that length of time it took him to forget the old party while he supported Tilden, and himself ran on an independent ticket in opposition to the regular Republican nominee."

"Hermann's manner of dealing with his opponent created a decidedly good impression."

"Hermann's policy destroys the commerce of the West." Here Reames gave an illustration of a ship flying the American flag and carrying a cargo of American products to the Philippines. At Manila the ship was boarded by revenue officers and a tariff imposed. When this same ship returned laden with goods from the recently acquired islands, it was met at San Francisco, or at the Port of Portland by another set of revenue officers, which demanded the payment of another tariff bill."

"Hermann believes in this policy. How on earth will our commerce ever build up under such adverse circumstances? Won't such a policy drive us away from our Eastern capital, and behind this move, because the Pacific Coast offers such a splendid market for their products, and it wouldn't do to give the islands too great a chance."

"Reames' Policy. In speaking of his position on this point, Mr. Reames said: 'I am taking off the tariff between our islands and the home country.' Referring to Mr. Hermann being out of office, he said: 'I don't care how he got out. He is out, anyway. His whole career has been a failure. He is not to explain. He resigned a good office, according to his story, to accept a poor one.'

"Regarding Work in Congress. Continuing, the speaker said: 'Hermann's statement that a Representative in Congress elected from the minority party could do nothing for Oregon, was a mistake. In fact, he is just the kind of a representative that will be able to do something. He can control the Democratic support for his measures, and when they are of an important nature the Republican delegation would be forced to vote for them, thus giving a Democratic member a pull that no Republican could secure.'

"No Need of Speeches. 'If I had a record of twenty-five years in public service and a party majority of 7,300 votes, as Mr. Hermann. I would be ashamed to advertise sixty-two political speeches in my behalf during the last few days of the campaign, and especially to bring in speakers from the outside to assist me. If, after that long a record, I could not be elected without making such an effort, I would stay at home and not ask for the office.'

DEATH IN PLACE OF PLEASURE

Breaking Through of New Tunnel Turns Out Fatal.

One Man Succumbs to Foul Air When Opening Occurs.

Seven Others Were Found Unconscious But All of Them Were Revived.

(Journal Special Service.) LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 21.—Instead of a jubilee over the breaking through of the headings of the Santa Susana tunnel, one of the engineering triumphs of the age, a tale of suffering and death reached here this morning. The headings of the great 7,000-foot opening went through last night. For more than two years that occasion had been looked forward to by the men who have dug the tunnel. From either end they worked toward the center. The breaking through of the headings was to have been a happy incident, thousands of feet underground, where such incidents are few.

The moment the blasts had been discharged there was a rush for the opening. One of the men, a driller named A. V. Smith, fell on his face in a pool of water overcome by foul air. He was probably unconscious when he fell and when found an hour later he was dead.

News of the predicament of the men reached workers in the rear and rescuers hurried to the headings. Many men were rescued barely in time, for seven of them were unconscious and were worked over for hours. A measurement of the lines of centers from each side of the tunnel showed the calculations of the engineers to have come within a quarter of an inch, remarkably close upon so long a tunnel.

OMAHA STRIKE STILL SERIOUS

Hope of Settlement Is Not in Sight.

(Journal Special Service.) OMAHA, May 21.—An immediate settlement of the great strike here was abandoned this morning when the unions discharged the conference committee named at the request of the Governor to meet a similar committee of business men. The latter refused to confer on arbitration unless the union abandoned the boycott system, sympathy strikes and recognition of all union demands. Teamsters here this morning started a co-operative transfer company. Two of the biggest restaurants in the city, which opened Tuesday with non-union help, voluntarily closed their doors this morning and are now conferring with the striking waiters.

PICKPOCKETS TURN TRICK AND GET $60

They Do the "Rush Act" on Leonard Smith, a Farmer, and Escapes.

It cost Leonard Smith, from Tualatin, Ore., just $60 and a receipt for $40 to see President Roosevelt, for as he was about to alight from the railway train at the Jefferson-street depot two clever and skilled pickpockets ran their long, tapering fingers into his trousers, left him without waiting to say good-bye, left him to discover his loss. Smith soon learned that he had lost his purse with its contents, and telephoned immediately to police headquarters, giving a detailed description of the "dips." It was at first thought by the bureau detectives at headquarters that the trick was turned by Wilson and O'Brien, the two criminals arrested here and sent to Oregon City, where they were released on $100 bail yesterday. This suspicion proved incorrect, however, by the receipt of a telephone message from Tacoma to the effect that the two crooks mentioned had been arrested by Detective Fitzgerald as they stepped from the train there this morning. Fitzgerald was in Portland when Detective Gray arrested the two men, and he took a good glimpse of them, and consequently knew them at a glance. He had been informed previously that they might go to Tacoma.

IOWA SONS OF HERMANN COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA

The annual meeting of the Iowa Grand Lodge of the Sons of Hermann, which opened in this city today, is the largest gathering ever held by the order in this state. Upwards of 500 visitors are in attendance from Des Moines, Sioux City, Davenport and other cities of the state. This session will continue three days, and will be devoted to the transaction of business relating to the affairs of the order.

FUGITIVE LOCATED

(Journal Special Service.) PENDLETON, Or., May 21.—Alf Cooper, who robbed the Freewater saloon August 18, 1902, was sentenced to life imprisonment in Santa Fe, N. M., for killing his jailer in an attempted jail-break. He was in jail for robbing a train in New Mexico. He was located in the Santa Fe jail by Sheriff Taylor of Santa Fe.

GENERAL STRIKE MEN'S HANGING FIRE

All the Unions Have Not Yet Voted on Subject.

Full Returns Are Expected to Be in by Monday Night When the Council Meets.

A special meeting of the Building Trades Council was held last night, but regarding the general strike proposition nothing was accomplished. Some of the unions connected with the Council had not acted in the matter, but it is expected that they will do so between now and Monday. Business Agent H. G. Greene says: "It is expected that the unions only meet every month, and during the past week they failed to call special meetings. It is quite probable, however, that they will be ready to report by Monday night at the regular meeting of the Council."

It was confidently expected by many of the labor representatives that the general strike question would be definitely settled last night, and the result of the referendum vote announced this morning. The votes of the unions which have taken action in the matter have been counted, but the result will not be made public until all have given an expression on the subject. When the votes are all in and it is found that two-thirds of the membership are in favor of a general tie-up, a strike will be ordered immediately. If it fails to carry, however, matters will proceed on very much the same lines as at present.

Will it Carry? At first it seemed to be the prevailing opinion that the general strike would carry by an overwhelming majority, but at present doubt exists. Outside of those who compose the Executive Board of the Building Trades Council no one is in a position to render an intelligent opinion on the subject. They refuse to talk for publication as to how the vote is going, and the balance of the labor men are just as much in the dark as is the general public. Carpenters were busy this morning detailing different members to go to every job in the city and learn who the contractors are and how many men are at work. They are supposed to make a full report by Saturday night. Officials of the union report that plenty of all kinds of lumber is being received from outside points and that everything is progressing as satisfactorily as could be expected under the circumstances. Many of them have secured contracts and have quite a number of men at work for them.

The small number of votes that were secured on the petitions in Portland every job in the city and learn who the contractors are and how many men are at work. They are supposed to make a full report by Saturday night. Officials of the union report that plenty of all kinds of lumber is being received from outside points and that everything is progressing as satisfactorily as could be expected under the circumstances. Many of them have secured contracts and have quite a number of men at work for them.

LABOR LAW IS NOW OPERATIVE

Many Candidates for Office of State Labor Commissioner in Field.

Today the act passed by the last session of the Legislature creating the new office of State Labor Commissioner went into effect. Just who will have the honor of occupying the office for the first time is furnishing food for considerable gossip in labor circles. A number of well-known union men aspire to the position, among them being W. G. Greene, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; David Roberts, of the United Brotherhood of Railway Employees; C. Bomberger, secretary of the Carpenters' Union; H. G. Greene, president of the Electrical Workers' Union; and J. H. Howard, of the Painters' Union at Oregon City. The first Commissioner will be appointed by the State Executive Board, comprising the Governor, the Secretary of State and the State Treasurer. The board has from May 21 to June 1 been releasing the appointment. While a selection will hardly be made today, it is believed to be quite probable that the appointment will come within the next day or two. It is not yet definitely known whether or not organized labor will be given recognition in the matter, but those at the head of the movement seem very positive in their assumption that it will. When asked if he expected to secure the office, Mr. Bomberger this morning said: "I am a candidate for it, but I am a candidate for the position some time ago. I have been endorsed by the Carpenters' Union, as well as several other labor organizations, the names of which I do not now recall."

Mr. Bomberger's appointment has been urged by a large following of railroad men, who do not hesitate to say that he is the best man who could possibly be chosen for the office. He is a machinist by trade, and is said to be well qualified for the position to which he aspires. All want a union labor man in the office, because they regard such a person as being better fitted to look after the details of the work.

LABOR MEN ENJOY PRESIDENT'S VISIT

The labor unions as organizations did not participate in the parade, but the individual members were present in large numbers at all the proceedings which had been arranged in honor of the Chief Executive of the nation. Early this morning union men began to flock around the different labor headquarters and the President's commission was one of the chief topics of conversation. The union men were clad in "Sunday clothes" and it was at once evident that they did not intend to permit strikes and lockouts to disturb them for one day at least. Many of them were fashionably dressed and they presented the appearance more of prosperous business men in quest of pleasure than representatives of manual toil. The platform built by non-union labor had apparently been forgotten. It was not even made a subject for dis-

KING OF ENGLAND NOT WELL

Another Operation Is Thought Necessary by His Physician.

Has Fallen Asleep Twice During Receptions in Court.

His Household Alarmed Over the Indications That Are Now Apparent.

(Journal Special Service.) LIVERPOOL, May 21.—The Post today publishes an account of the physical condition of King Edward, which is considered alarming, as the facts were secured from a member of the King's household, and are considered authentic. It is stated that another operation is very likely to be required, and in such an event his physical condition is such that the result would be very doubtful.

His recent trip abroad has not been beneficial at all, and the strain under which he has labored has been very hard to stand. On two different occasions while being received His Majesty fell asleep, in one particular instance while he was seated by the Queen of Italy. While holding court in Edinburgh he went to sleep while the ceremonies were in progress. This condition is considered alarming by members of the household and at no time is he without the personal attention of Dr. Laking, the court physician. This precaution has been taken owing to the frequent occurrence of the half-comatose condition of the King, as it is feared he may have a sinking spell at any time that will prove fatal.

One course of treatment that has been ordered by his physician has been frequently ignored and that is absolute rest at regular intervals. There have been so many calls for his presence at various functions that he has complied with, that the strain is proving too much for his strength, as the repetition of the sleeping spells indicate.

Only in a casual way it is mentioned at all and then but briefly, as the conversation quickly turned to more agreeable subjects. In the afternoon the favorite resorts for congregating were almost totally deserted. All union men were out to have a hearty meal and the owners from a vantage ground or to mingle in the multitudinous throng. Whenever cheers were given for the hero of San Juan Hill they were taken up and echoed by the workmen of Portland as a hearty acclaim and cheer issued from the throat of civilized man. It was a gala day to them all. Many workmen were accompanied by large families, perhaps partly with the view of proving the falsity of the race suicide theory. The bright-eyed and rosy-cheeked offspring by their sides had a well-kept appearance and very few were seen who looked as though they had ever experienced the pangs of dire poverty.

When the parade formed and headed for the City Park where the great event of the day was to occur, the representatives of the great plain people followed and greatly added to the success of the occasion with their presence. Many of them had gone to the grounds previously in order to be near the platform from which the President was to make his address.

WOODBURN GREETS THE PRESIDENT

(Journal Special Service.) WOODBURN, May 21.—Three thousand people greeted President Roosevelt as his train stopped here at 12:35 p. m. for two minutes. The President thanked the people for their presence and referred particularly to the members of the Grand Army Post present. The train departed with the cheers of the people ringing in the President's ears. Several bouquets were handed to him. The city was decorated with bunting and those turning out were Civil War and Spanish-American War Veterans and Company D. O. N. G. The President seemed well pleased with Woodburn's enthusiastic greeting. Binger Hermann was with the President and pushed himself well forward so that the people would see him.

BIG STRIKE IN SPARTA DISTRICT

(Journal Special Service.) BAKER CITY, May 21.—Miners at work in the Gray Eagle mine in the Sparta, district yesterday made a strike of ore assaying $2,000 to the ton. The pay streak is small, but is in a two-foot vein of $1,500 milling ore. Owners will work the mine at full capacity and mill the ore at the Gem mine, owned by the Geisler family.

OF INTEREST TO THIN, WEAK PEOPLE

It is perfectly understood by every sick man or woman that if they can get some relief that will stop the gradual loss of flesh and strength, their recovery is assured. People that are nervous and unsteady, have dizzy spells, with weakness of memory, and loss of ambition, their blood is thin and watery. It shows in their sallow complexion and tired manner, soon as they command, get gain from food better and sleep better. To gain from 1 to 3 lbs. of good, solid flesh per week, the blood must be made rich and pure. Dr. Gianni's Blood and Nerve Tonic puts in the body the very pith of what makes pure, rich blood in the most direct way, and cures disease by making strength. This Tonic is in tablet form, to be taken right after meals. It enriches the blood, making force where there was faintness. For women's weakness a better remedy was never made. Sold by all druggists for 75c per box, or three boxes for $2, or sent by mail. Write us about your case. Address, Dr. Bosanko Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

Preferred Stock Canned Goods. Allen & Lewis' Best Brand.

A SALE ON

Ladies' Reception Rockers

That offer a choice value Tomorrow Only at $1.10

Regularly at $1.75. We present an article that for height of style and durability are seldom available. Visitors At this time should note the economy of this offering.

Made of hard wood of finest quality with saddle seat and brace arms. The pattern is artistic and displays the highest gloss finish.

Our $2.00 values at $1.30 Our $2.25 values at $1.55

Ira F. Powers Furniture Co. 190 FIRST STREET

LAUNDRY STRIKE MAY BE SETTLED

Chicago Troubles May Soon Subside.

(Journal Special Service.) CHICAGO, May 21.—A settlement of the laundry strikes is expected this afternoon. Committees representing the unions of the Federation of Labor and employers met this morning and they made mutual concessions. The unions agree to withdraw their demands for recognition of their demands for contracts preventing future strikes, also to grant an increase of wages. The committees will submit their proposals to all organizations which are represented this afternoon.

ROB CASH REGISTER AND EAT A CAKE

Burglars Had Gala Time on East Side Last Night.

Burglars entered E. W. Ball's drug store, at the corner of East Seventh and Stevens street, some time between the hours of midnight and 5 o'clock this morning, and after robbing the cash register of one dollar's worth of pennies, sat down in a rear room and smoked cigars and ate a layer cake left there by the proprietor.

The grocery store and meat market operated by Shields & Schneider, at the corner of Eighth and Grant streets, was also burglarized and it is the supposition the job was done by the same men. In the grocery store $20 was taken, and in the meat market $8.

The burglars at first attempted to gain an entrance to the drug store by boring holes in the rear door. They evidently intended cutting out a place large enough to crawl through, but changed their minds when they discovered that it would be easier and quicker to go in through a basement window. This they finally did. They entered the grocery store and meat market in the same manner. The burglaries were reported to Captain Parker in command of the police station at the time they were discovered, and District Officer Myers was detailed to investigate.

EVERY WOMAN

is interested and should know about the wonderful MARVEL Whirling Spray. The new Vaginal Spray. Join in and Suffer. Best-sold. Most Convenient. It cleanses naturally.

For Unnatural Discharges, Stricture, Especially in old cases where doctors fail, use ZY-MO

H. B. ADLER, DENTIST REMOVED TO LABBE BLDG. M. E. Corner Second and Washington. Over Barr's Drug Store. Rooms 40 and 41, Third Floor.