

FAR IS CERTAIN TO EXCEL

Outlook is All That Could Be Desired For the Lewis and Clark Exposition—Commission Organized.

Work of Grading and Preparing the Grounds Will Be Taken Up Wednesday and $55,000 Spent Immediately.

General Feeling That Outcome Cannot Be Anything but a Success—President Myers is Satisfied.

On Wednesday, June 3, will be inaugurated the third stage of the work of preparation for the Lewis and Clark Fair. Portland's mammoth exposition to be opened in 1905, commemorating the exploration of the Pacific Northwest and exemplifying its wonderful growth and development from a trackless wilderness into a humming hive of modern progress and activity.

The grounds below Willamette Heights have been cleared and fenced and the country road that once divided them has been diverted so that it no longer forms an impediment to correct decoration and development, but nothing in the way of grading and beautifying the tract set apart for the Fair has as yet been done.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the committee on buildings and grounds will meet in the office of Contractors Huber & Maxwell to determine just what will be undertaken first, but it is known that all lines will be worked out in accordance with an established grade, and terraces, plots, lakes, catwalks, tunnels and excavations will be made in preparation for the buildings, walks, gardens and gondolas which are to follow.

Spend $55,000 on Grounds. Fifty-five thousand dollars is the sum to be spent in beautifying the grounds of the Lewis and Clark Fair; more than this may be required before the work is completed.

Employees are to be hired by the day and teams and scrapers will be used. It is estimated that fully three months will elapse before this work can be completed, and preparations made for the building to begin.

With the meeting and organization of the State Lewis and Clark Fair Commission, on Saturday, it is felt by all interested in Oregon's Exposition that the end is in sight, and that such end can be nothing but thorough and complete success.

President Jefferson Myers and those other officers associated with him in the work have already taken firm hold upon the general plan and details which falls to them to be carried out and no moment will be allowed to go to waste. President Myers feels that nothing remarkable undone in the preliminary stages of the work, and declares he can see nothing before the Fair project but a pathway of success.

has been general satisfaction manifested as a result of Saturday's election. The committee of six which is to confer with the Lewis and Clark Corporation, and which has been named as Myers, Thomas, Wade, Alber, Harry and Scott, is believed to be a wise selection.

Not since the report which followed the work of canvassing on November 11 and 25, 1901, when it was announced that within the phenomenally short time of two days the sum of $340,000 had been subscribed, has interest in the Lewis and Clark Fair been so close to the people of the Pacific Northwest as now. Within a comparatively few days the effort to "involve" the referendum against the state fair appropriation of $500,000 has fallen through, the State Commission has been organized and placed in working order and actual preparation of the grounds is to begin.

Subscriptions and the state appropriation aggregate more than $1,000,000 to be devoted to the Fair, and the following states have already assured Oregon and the Northwest of their willingness to help the Exposition to complete success by the sums named: Montana, $60,000; Minnesota, $70,000; North Dakota, $40,000; California, $30,000; Idaho, $10,000; Utah, $10,000; Missouri, $1,000; Arizona, $5,000. This makes a total of $328,000 which will be spent by other states in making a display of their beauties and resources in this city.

The fact that portions of this total are to be used by various states in preparing exhibits for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis does not discourage Lewis and Clark Fair Commissioners at all, because they realize that "Where Rolls the Oregon" they will reap full advantage of whatever the Louisiana Fair would be a hanker of the Mississippi, the "Father of Waters."

Aid from the national government is expected, also. While this has not as yet been obtained, and while it is known that should the effort to secure it fail, the Oregon Fair would be carried to completion without a falter, it is realized that anything coming from the general government would add to the resources of the Fair and make possible important features that might otherwise have been impossible.

General Committees. The following general committees have been appointed by the State Commission, the president being ex-officio a member of each: Executive—Myers, Spencer, Young, Wade and Thomas. Agriculture and livestock—Scott, Wade, Rafferty, Young. Grounds and buildings—Albert, Young, Harry, Rafferty, Scott. Mines and mining—Wade, Williams and Rafferty. Exhibits and transportation—Myers, Spencer, Williams. Fish and fisheries—Rafferty, Williams, Scott. Forestry, irrigation and water supply—Young, Williams, Myers, Rafferty, Wade. Ways and means—Williams, Wade, Albert, Rafferty, Young. Press and publicity—Myers, Thomas, Harry. Auditing—Scott, Harry, Flanders. History, education and educational congresses—Young, Flanders and Spencer. Manufactures and liberal arts—Harry, Spencer and Flanders. Fine arts—Thomas, Flanders and Albert. CHANNING ANNIVERSARY (Journal Special Service.) BOSTON, Mass., June 1.—Today, which is the 100th anniversary of the ordination of William Ellery Channing, the founder of Unitarianism in this country, witnessed the unveiling of a handsome statue of the famous clergyman, erected at the corner of Boylston and Arlington streets, near the Arlington Street Church, of which Dr. Channing was pastor for many years. The statue, which is the work of Sculptor Herbert Adams of New York, is a gift to the city from the late John Foster, a life-long member of the Unitarian Church and a great friend and admirer of the famous clergyman. The unveiling of the statue was accompanied by interesting exercises, including addresses by President Eliot of Harvard, Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale, Lieutenant-Governor Curtis Guild and others.

VOTE ON BONDS NOW UNDER WAY

Fate of Morrison-Street Bridge and Free Ferries' Projects in the Hands of Citizens of Portland.

The Polls Will Be Open Until 7 O'clock Tonight and All Saloons Must Be Closed Until That Hour.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the voters of Portland began to cast their ballots for or against the proposed issue of bonds authorized by the last Legislature for the purpose of securing a new Morrison street bridge and two new ferries, one at Sellwood, the other at Albina. The balloting will continue until 7 o'clock this evening, and workmen will therefore have ample opportunity to cast their votes.

Up to the hour of going to press a sufficient number of votes had not been cast to give any idea of the probable result. The vote in all precincts up to 3 o'clock this afternoon was very light and apparently the contemplated increase in the bonded indebtedness of Portland, to the extent of $465,000, had not aroused a great degree of interest among the masses of the people.

The propositions voted upon today are as follows: 1. For the issuing of bonds to the amount of $400,000 for a new Morrison street bridge. 2. For the issuing of bonds to the amount of $50,000 for a free ferry at Albina. 3. For the issuing of bonds to the amount of $15,000 for a ferry at Sellwood.

HIS EYE INJURED BY AN EXPLOSION Geo. Wild, Owner of Ashland Foundry, Brought Here to Be Treated.

George Wild, one of the proprietors of the Ashland Foundry, accompanied by his wife, arrived in the city on the Southern Pacific train this morning and was conveyed to the Good Samaritan Hospital for treatment for injuries received in the foundry Saturday. While pouring molten metal into one of the moulds the casting exploded, inflicting a serious injury to the right eye. The head and face were severely burned.

Wild was formerly assistant master mechanic for the Southern Pacific Railroad Company at Dunsmuir.

A BEAUTIFUL SIGHT. Elegant Decorations at Shanahan's for the June White Sale—Surprising Bargains.

One of the most beautiful nooks in Portland is Shanahan's dry goods store, at 144-146 Third street, during these days of the June White Sale. Mr. Shanahan has exercised wonderful genius and remarkable refinement of taste in the decorations, so that the interior is a perfect bower of beauty. The attraction afforded the eye are marvelously becoming, such an occasion, and must be a source of satisfaction to the management of the big concern. The momentous event in this store's history was inaugurated this morning, the doors opening upon a display of merchandise that must have astonished the early buyers at the place. The stock has been carried from shelf to shelf, and the bargains offered the public for this week only can be understood by an inspection of the cost and quality of the goods. Prices have been next to annihilated. The bargains remind one of the panicky times of a few years ago, such values not being obtainable before for a long, long time. Here is an opportunity now for bargain-hunters that will most likely be taken advantage of. Let slip, the like may not be had again this year. The advertisement announcement elsewhere tells the story in all its details.

SANTA CRUZ RUNS ONTO HIDDEN REEF

Report Comes From Caycos Which Might Have Been Serious.

(Journal Special Service.) CAYCOS, June 1.—The Coast steamer Santa Cruz, Captain Eagle, while making port from Port Harford at an early hour yesterday morning, was lost in a dense fog and ran on the Constantine Reef about two miles northwest of this place. The steamer struck bow on, careened and went entirely over the reef, which at low tide is covered by only a few feet of water. The vessel soon righted and came slowly into harbor. The extent of the injury is not fully known, but her shaft was bent and several blades of her propeller lost. It is feared that her bottom is injured. She is leaking, but it is not believed that the pumps will be able to keep the leak from becoming dangerous. After taking on a small cargo the steamer left for San Francisco this morning.

They Demand the Abrogation of the Berlin Treaty or the Fulfillment of Their Threat of Disease Follows.

(Journal Special Service.) The correspondent quotes the leaders as saying that if within eight days after the warning is given, the great powers do not guarantee the abrogation of the Berlin treaty then, "we may die, but we will not die alone, for there shall follow us into our graves myriads of people of the European continent, which has rolled in upon us like a flood. ## ROBERTS DENOUNCES GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Mormonism Is Here to Stay and the Entire United States is Defied.

(Journal Special Service.) SALT LAKE, June 1.—Brigham H. Roberts hurled Mormon defiance at the entire United States in the Tabernacle Sunday afternoon, and in an address remarkable for eloquence, sarcasm and denunciation, scored the Presbyterian General Assembly. Mormonism, he said, has come to stay. He referred with withering sarcasm to the warning uttered by one of the delegates to the General Assembly last week, who likened Mormonism to an octopus, and said it could not be civilized, reformed nor educated, but must be crushed, and that the time to strike was now.

TOOK EACH OTHER FOR A FOOTPAD

Duel With Pistols Happens By Mistake Between Two San Jose Policemen.

(Journal Special Service.) SAN JOSE, June 1.—In the dark hours which preceded dawn Sunday, Police Officers Plummer and Roberts, watchmen in the Hall of Records, met in St. James Park and fought a rapid-fire duel with pistols. Each was under the impression that the other was a footpad. Taat both do not occupy slabs at the morgue is one of those strange freaks of fortune, as they stood 10 feet apart and emptied the contents of their pistols at each other.

Plummer's life was saved by a button on his coat. The life-saving button changed the course of the bullet, leaving only a flesh wound. Five of the bullets fired at Roberts passed through his clothing and the sixth just grazed his neck. After discovering his mistake, Roberts took Plummer to the station and locked him up.
