WARM WEATHER SUGGESTIONS

Buy a GAS RANGE, then read over carefully and follow out the following suggestions and you will enjoy the coming Summer, no matter if it is a hot one.

GAS AN ECONOMICAL FUEL

PERTINENT SUGGESTIONS:

- 1.—Top burners should not be lighted until ready to use them. Oven burners lighted but a few moments before using, according to the temperature desired. Make all preparations first and then se only heat enough to accomplish the work to be done. In cooking, as soon as the water boils, turn down the fire—you can't make the water any hotter.
- 2.—Matches are cheaper than gas. Extinguish and relight the burners between operations. Turn off the burners the instant the work is done. Perfect results are obtained by using just so much, no more nor less gas than required.
- 3.—Learn the value of simmering burner.
- 4.—Plan your meals so that when the oven is in use you can do most of the cooking in the oven. Vegetables and fruits usually cooked over top burners may be transferred to oven, saving the gas and losing no flavor in this method.
- 5.—Follow these simple rules and with a little thinking and planning you will be able to make the gas bills exceedingly reasonable, and have a lot more comfort besides than could possibly be gained with the use of any other fuel.

Hermann, Oregon's New Congressman, Not Favorably Recalled By Any Person Found in Golden Gate City.

(By John J. Harrison.)
 SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—It may not be very flattering to your new Congressman-elect to find that in spite of the notoriety, whether savory or otherwise, he achieved in Washington, he is comparatively unknown outside of his district. I had occasion to talk with several prominent men here regarding Hermann's election, and in most cases had to tell them who and what he is. The new Congressman-elect from San Francisco—Livernash and Wynn—will doubtless be heard from in Washington when they cross swords with the Hon. Binger, for these two men were elected as the champions of the common people and have well defined views on the power and abuse of capital. They will naturally oppose all legislation suggested for the benefit of trusts and big corporations generally, and it is not difficult to surmise on which side of such questions Hermann will be found. The only remark made to me that could be considered favorable to Hermann was that of a prominent Democratic politician. When I asked him what he thought of the result of the election in Oregon, and explained that I referred to the choice of Binger Hermann for Congress, he replied: "Great Scott! Binger! How that man must be handicapped, burdened with such a name!"

Dimmick Was Clever.
 Now that Dimmick, the Mint robber, is putting in time at San Quentin, probably counting the days until he shall have an opportunity to make use of his ill-gotten fortune, people still discuss the embezzlement and speculate upon the manner of its accomplishment. I have an explanation from a Mint employe, part of which has never been published. It came out during the trial that Dimmick had the combination of the vault door from which the coin was abstracted when he held the office of chief clerk. When he was given another position his successor opened the door in order to change the combination of the lock. Dimmick stood on the other side of the safe door and observed the tumbler showing both front and back. But there was another "safeguard" to be considered, the time attachment. This contrivance being put into operation dropped a small bar of steel in such a position as to make it impossible to work the combination lock until a specified time, say 12 or 24 hours after being set, when the mechanism removed the bar and the lock could then be worked. Dimmick's ingenuity was equal to the emergency. At a favorable time he simply took the screwdriver and removed the little steel bar that stood between him and the coveted coin, and the man who continued to set the time lock did so all unconscious of the fact that the clock might just as well have been hanging on the wall outside for any security it was furnishing.

Will Get After Leaks.
 Referring to San Quentin recalls the recent announcement made by the Call that Warden Aguirre is to be relieved in July. During the last state campaign that paper charged, day after day, that the warden was guilty of almost every crime in the calendar, and published documentary evidence to prove its charge—at least to its own satisfaction, for the courts dismissed the case when the matter was brought up. Governor Gage was also made a target for the Call's bitterest shafts, and there are lots of Republicans today who think that the Call was responsible for Gage's defeat for renomination. I predict that if Aguirre is deposed and discovers Sam Leaks of the Call has at last succeeded in bringing about his downfall, there will be a hot time in the old town when the two men meet.

Jago Well Remembered.
 A pioneer of California named Jago committed suicide in Arizona on June 3 by blowing off the top of his head with a load of buckshot. His death brings to mind the old days when San Francisco was not much more than a village, and along through what is now a compactly built up portion of the city a road straggled out to the Cliff House, barred near the town end by a tollhouse, for this same man Jago for many years sat in front of the tollhouse and collected money from the travelers passing by on their way to the already famous resort on the ocean side.

Not Reconciled.
 A rumor was printed in the Eastern papers a few days ago that John Vance Cheney and his divorced wife had reconciled their differences and were about to renew marital relations. Unfortunately the rumor proves to be untrue, for each of the talented couple deny with considerable asperity that any reconciliation is possible. Professor Cheney was for a number of years librarian of the Public Library of this city and is an author of national reputation. Mrs. Cheney is scarcely less famous, and has been engaged in teaching art in Chicago for several years, in the same city where her former husband is librarian of the important Newberry Library.

Race Suicide.
 Vital statistics of San Francisco for the month of May show that the total number of deaths was 578 and births 422. A hundred and fifty more deaths than births is a proportion calculated to have its effect on the growth of the city were it not for the fact that immigration is exceedingly large. The greatest number of deaths was caused by consumption (80) and the next greatest by heart trouble (2). Misadventure and surgical shock were responsible for 42 deaths; there were four homicides, and 10 suicides.

Comedy of Tears.
 It isn't often one finds anything funny in the daily business of the Hall of Justice, for it is there crime, distress, vagrancy and all the dark sides of life come to the surface. There happened the other day, however, a bit of comedy to relieve the pitiable scenes one generally encounters. Mrs. Tami Hester arrived in the city and engaged a hackman at the ferry to take her to a boarding house, leaving the selection to the driver. She came to the city in search of her husband, Iva Dale Hester, who, it appears, had abandoned her in Alabama. She does not desire to have the man live with her again; she only wants to get his signature to some legal papers drawn concerning a legacy. Leaving the boarding house she appeared at police headquarters to obtain assistance in finding her missing lord. After contacting her business with the department she started to leave the hall, only to find that she had utterly forgotten the location or even the name of her boarding house. Returning to the office of the chief she confessed that she had lost herself as well as her husband.

The big Eastern cities no longer have a monopoly in furnishing illustrated sporting papers. Two well-known newspaper men of this place have started the publication of the Pacific Police News, "Admiral" Arthur Dutton and Elmore Leffingwell being the responsible editors and proprietors. Two numbers have been issued, and besides giving full sporting news a department is devoted to police intelligence. The half-tone work is admirable, both in selection of subjects and execution, of course the young women in tights being much in evidence.

Captain 'Bill' Leale, the popular owner of the steamer Caroline, and known far and wide as a club entertainer and generally good fellow, leaves for a trip to his native Jersey with his wife and daughter. Miss Leale graduated from the University a few days ago and is a charming young woman of many intellectual attainments. Captain Leale's boat has carried many an excursion party around the bay—generally the captain's own guests. As a raconteur and mimic he has few, if any, superiors on the Coast.

COUNT IN MARION

(Journal Special Service.)
 SALEM, June 6.—The official count of the vote cast for Congressman in this county last Monday, was made yesterday afternoon. County Clerk J. W. Roland and Justice of the Peace H. Overton of Woodburn, and D. A. Magnus of Champeog, the latter a Democrat, canvassing the several precincts with the following result: Hermann, 1,754; Reames, 1,597; Ingle, 209; Elmore, 183. Hermann's plurality, 157.

An interesting condition of affairs is noticed in that the precinct in which Hermann's personal representative in this county lives—Salem, No. 4, where Captain S. B. Ormsby resides—gave Hermann 74, and Reames 58. This is usually one of the strongest Republican precincts in the county. Butteville precinct gave Reames 68 to Hermann's 21.

HABERLEY NOT GUILTY

SALEM, June 6.—The preliminary hearing of the charges against J. M. Haberley and Clarence Beauchamp, the two young druggists of this city charged with larceny of goods and money, respectively, from the store of F. J. Haas, recently was held in the City Recorder's Court yesterday, and after hearing the testimony the court dismissed the cases against both defendants.

ROANOKE CELEBRATION

(Journal Special Service.)
 ROANOKE, Va., June 6.—The next four of five days will be a gala time for the students, faculty and friends of Roanoke College, the occasion being a celebration of the semi-centennial of the institution held in conjunction with the annual commencement exercises. An elaborate program has been arranged for the festivities. The baccalaureate sermon will be preached tomorrow by Rev. Luther A. Mann of Littlestown, Pa. The evening addresses will be delivered by Rev. Anthony T. Graybill of Linnaea, Mexico, and Rev. Rufus Benton Peerym of Saga, Japan. The senior class exercises will be held Monday. The next three days will be devoted to exercises in connection with the semi-centennial celebration. Governor Montague of Virginia, and a number of well-known graduates of Roanoke College will make addresses. As their offering in commemoration of the semi-centennial, the graduates and former students are raising a fund of $25,000 to enlarge, connect and remodel the three old college buildings.

SALEM TO INDEPENDENCE

(Journal Special Service.)
 SALEM, June 6.—The Greater Salem Commercial Club met last night and appointed a committee consisting of C. S. Hamilton, J. L. Stockton and J. G. Graham, to interview the business men of Salem with a view to raising the required funds to operate a steamer between this city and Independence. The club has a proposition from a former steamboat man, asking for a loan of $1,500 to enable him to build and operate the steamer needed on the route, and the plan now is to see if the Salem merchants are interested in securing this new transportation line.

WEDS ITALIAN PRINCE

(Journal Special Service.)
 ROME, June 6.—The wedding of Miss Ethel Bronson, an American girl, to Prince Camillo Rospigliosi took place here today. The bride has resided in Rome, occupying a magnificent apartment in the Palazzo Borghese, since the death of her mother several years ago. Prince Camillo is a nephew of Prince Giuseppe Rospigliosi, whose wedding to the divorced Mrs. Parkhurst of Washington excited great interest two or three years ago.
