President Roosevelt's Letter Recommending that Attorney-General Knox Retain Aid Is Published.

o Stone to Be Left Unturned, Says the Chief Executive, to Bring the Guilty to a Speedy Punishment.

Postmaster-General Payne and Assistant Wynne Are Not Very Friendly-Latter Accused of Too Much Say.

(Journal Special Service.) WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24 .- President Boosevelt's letter to Attorney-General Knox instructing him to retain special attorneys to assist him in the postal prosecutions, was made public this morning. After reviewing in brief status of the investigations to date the President says it is probable that other indictments will be hereafter asked and continues by saying that there n be no greater offense against the evernment than a breach of trust on the part of a public official or the dishonest management of his office. "Every effort must be made," says

Mr. Roosevelt, "to bring such offenders to speedy punishment with the utmost rigor of the law. The district at-torney's office of the District of Columbia has faithfully and zealously seconded the efforts of the postoffice department throughout the entire matter, but the amonut of work that office has it will be impossible, without neglecting other important public duties, to devote all the time necessary for a thorough prosecution of these cases. I suggest, therefore, that if you can not detail some of your present staff, you must appoint special assistants not only to take up the cases on which indictments are found, or hereafter may be found, and examine into all charges that have been made against officials in the postal service with a view to the prosecution of all guilty men whether now in not barred by the statutes of limitation." Postmaster-General Payne has set in

Mr. Payne this morning received a spir ited letter from Madden, who is now in Detroit. In which he denounces the charge as malicious, cruel and without the slightest foundation in fact, and demands an investigation as to the authorship of the story. Payne h had called Bristow and Wynne up by telephone when the matter private office, where the matter was riven a full and free discussion. Mr. Payne is not in the best of humor over the incident and is out of patience with Madden in making public a matter that he felt should have been left to the discretion of the head of the department. This feeling is aggravated by the knowledge that much private information een given out by some one in high posi-tent, are puzzled over his letter which they claim is tantamount to an assistant cabinet officer addressing open cen-sure to his superior. Both Wynne and Bristow this afternoon deny that they have ever given the public any information reflecting upon, or tending to embarrass Madder

THE AMERICAN THEATRE

The American Theatre is everything the name implies. It is a high-class polite vaudeville includes a number of stars of the first magnitude. act is a pleasing feature and the entertainment given is far superior to anything ever seen upon the West Coast. The beautiful facade speaks for itself. The American Theatre is one of the 15 magnificent shows composing the great Southern Carnival Company which will furnish amusement for the "Woodmen of the World Street Fair" and Mid-Summer Festival, July 14-25.

To the casual observer the Carnival will be a tremendous success. Queen's coronation is attracting attention far and near. The all-important event has been heralded even unto other states and the accommodations of Portland will be tested to their capacity. Mr. George L. Hutchin, who, with Mr. Baird, is conducting the queen voting contest, has just returned from the Puget Sound country where the Woodmen of the World are enthusaistic over the grand "gala days" projected for this city. Seattle and Tacoma will each elect a queen, who, together with a large escort, will attend the coronation at Portland on Woodmen's Day, and assist in the elaborate, gorgeous and spectacular ceremonies.

A rate for the round trip to Portland has been asked, and, if granted, the "neighbors" guarantee five train loads of Woodcraft enthusiasts. The Elks were given a similar rate during their Carnival three years ago, and it is confidently believed that a similar concession will be made to the
