Standing of the Clubs

(Journal Special Service.) BAN FRANCISCO, June 26 .- It took Pete Lohman's crew one extra session yesterday to get the Browns to pre-sent them with the ladies' day game. This feat was accomplished with the assistance of one Joshua Reilly, who covers the third corner for the Browns during the time Jay Andrews recuperating. Josh has put up an excellent game, yesterday being the first had day he has had since wearing a Portland uniform.

Portland, by some clever batting and base-running annexed a run in the first and another in the third. Oakland got a man across the rubber in the sixth with the assistance of J.

O'Hara put the ball out of the lot the eighth for the tying run. A hit and Reilly's second bad throw allowed the winning run to score when two men were out.

When the game started the Oaklands presented a new lineup. The new shortstop, Kling, and second baseman, Walters, from Terre Haute, having arrived, Pete rushed them into uniforms and the Both men showed up well, considering their long ride, and on that account neither displayed much ginger. The score follows:

BIG HEAVYWEIGHTS DOWN TO WORK

Both Jeffries and Corbett Are Doing Heavy Training for Their Go.

James J. Corbett and Jeffries, who are to battle for the heavyweight cham-pionship of the world next August, have finally settled down to real hard work. Not willing to take any chances of overtraining neither Corbett nor Jeffries has done any too much work, al-though both have been keeping at a When Good Judgment Would steady stride so that they would be ready to jump into their regular schedule when the proper time arrived. As a result the champion and former champion are in pretty fair shape, and with six or seven weeks' time yet to put on the finishing touches there is no reason why the rival heavyweights should not enter the ring in perfect condition. In the coming battle condition will

a very important part. it is a well-known fact that big men tire much more quickly in battle than the little men, and to be able to stand the gaft, as well as the excitement oc principals must be at their best.

The stories of Corbett's wonderful system of training have been circulated over the country, and those who at first vere inclined to make light of his efforts are satisfied that he is sincere and may give the champion a hard battle, if Corbett Is Confident.

Corbett himself is confident of victory, and if he fails to carry off the championship it will not be his fault. No fighter ever trained more conscientiously for a contest than Corbett. For the last 12 months few days have passed on which he has not passed an hour or two in the gymnasium. Surely this work must have done the Californian considerable good, and his ability to keep the pace proves that his system is not such a wreck as many would

Fitzsimmons has already summed up the battle, and judging from what the Cornishman says it would appear that t was all over but the shouting. Fitzimmons, who has fought both men in the ring, picks Jeffries to win inside of 10 rounds

"Corbett is a clever boxer," said Fitzimmons, 'but when it comes to fighting he is not in it. Jeffries will defeat him easily. That is the surest thing I know. Make no mistake about Jeffries' He has been taking good care of himself ever since our battle in San Francisco, and his present training will fit him for a hard contest. How long do I think the bout will go Well. I will give Corbett about 10 rounds.

Jeffries Needs Work.

"Jeffries needs lot of gruelling work him in shape for the contast. This will keep his weight down. Then he will quicken up his footwork. Jeffries has become much speedier than he was when he last appeared in the East. is really quick on his feet, and, although Corbett may be fast, he will find Jef-

Although Fitzsimmons will do much to get Jeffries in shape for his bout, it is said that the Cornishman will have little to say regarding the cham-pion's methods. Jeffries has his own ideas about training. It will be remembered that he and his manager, Delaney, had a falling out a couple of years ago the over the same matter, and the champion finally carried his point by training the Hulseman-Durrett affair.

A fistic event in which sporting men all over the country are interested is the meeting between Jack Root and George Gardner, which takes place be-fore the International Athletic Club of the Yale-Harvard boat race which was in circulation before any contemporary yesterday, was thoroughly appreciated by the reading public of Portland and the sons of those two great educa-tional institutions who are residents of this city. The interest displayed in local circles was just as keen and sincere as the terrific applause and boundless demonstration that characterized the feel-ings of the multitude that lined the banks of the American Thames during the great races, the events marked an epoch in the lives of the young men who composed the crews. Graduates and admirers of the Blue and of the Crimson, the world over, are today discussing the result of yesterday's contest. Such affairs are worthy of being chronicled, and The Journal takes pleasure in publishing the fullest particulars, fourteen hours ahead of the morning papers.

SPLENDID SERVICE

The Journal's splendid account

the champion featherweight boxer, knocked out Hugh Murphy of New THE SONS OF YALE York in this city last night in the sixth

Murphy was outclassed by the Denverite at all times. Young Corbett knocked him down three times in the opening round. Corbett fought hard, using both hands with telling effect. The New York lad suffered severely from Corbett's terrific body blows. The last round was gone about one minute, when Corbett, after using both hands effectively on Murphy's body, sent terrific right to Hughey's jaw, and

Murphy was down and out. The New York lad put up a game fight and some of his defense work was exceedingly clever. Over 3,500 people witnessed the fight and Corbett was cheered to the echo.

ARE VERY JOYFUL

Yesterday's Triumph Proves Yale's Superiority in Coachand Training.

Yale men throughout the world are rejoicing today over yesterday's great victory at New London, and everywhere are heard sung the praises of the mema bers of the crew and Coach Kennedy for the splendid triumph. There can be no question as to the superiority of the Yale stroke as taught by Kennedy. That admirable coach had figured out the entire race, inch by inch, and stroke by stroke, and knew to a second what his men could do. The lead of the crimson crew and their various spurts did not disturb the sturdy sons of Yale in the least, because they knew that if they maintained their regular 32 strokes per minute that they would surely win, as that would bring them within 9 4-5 seconds of record time. The superb training and discipline of the Yale crew told at the finish, as the men were not fatigued to any extent, while the Harvard crew was considerably weakened. The great multitude that witnessed the race is but another attestation of the devotion of the people of this country to the worth of amateur sports of every description. The best of feeling prevailed and the better crew won.

This year again, all hail Yale. At the election which took place at the Harvard quarters after the races, H. G. Dillingham, '04, of Honolulu, cap-tain and stroke of the four-oared crew. was unanimously elected captain of the 'varsity crew for the next year. The Yale 'varsity rowers elected W S. Cross of Fitchburg, Mass., captain.

Redwald, a Heavily-Played 3 to 5 Favorite, Got Left at the Post, and There Was Weeping and Gnashing.

(Journal Special Service.) SEATTLE, June 26 .- The bangtails had to travel over a heavy track at The Meadows yesterday afternoon and the effect was apparent in the time made in all the races. It looked as though it would be a good day to expect upsets, but as a rule the starters ran close to form and the honors of the day were about evenly divided between the talent and the bookies.

When the field went to the post for the first race there was a mixup caused by the bad acting of Blondera. The horse finally reared and fell, giving Hilderbrand, who had the mount, a nasty spill. The boy was no sooner back in the saddle than the brute reared and fell again. He scrambled to his feet and bolted, running away half a mile. He was caught and taken back and finally got away with the bunch. He was only beaten out a nose for the show.

Redwald, a 3 to 5 favorite, in the fourth race, was left at the post, thereby burning up a big bunch of good money. The hurdle handicap furnished a few thrills not down on the card. Mellocole, ridden by Pendergast, fell at the third-hurdle, but both horse and rider escaped with a few scratches. At the next hurdle Jim Bozeman, with Wilbert up took a cropper that put him out of the race. As in the first fall, both the rider and the horse escaped without injury other than a good shaking
