LOCAL FLOUR IS ADVANCED AGAIN

Higher Wheat Quotations Cause a Rise of 10 Cents In Valley and 15 Cents in Eastern Oregon.

Egg Receipts Fall Off Again and Prices Are Held Firm at 20 Cents—Some Hop Sales Are Reported Near Salem.

PLOUR PRICES ADVANCE. Flour prices are advanced today on account of the higher prices of wheat now prevailing in the mar-kets of the country.

Local wholesalers today advanced the quotations on the various grades of flour as a consequence of the higher ruling quotations on all the leading grades of wheat throughout the country. Valley grade is quoted 10 cents up, try. Valley grade is quoted 10 cents up, while Eastern Oregon patents and straights are advanced 15 cents a barrel. This change in flour prices was exclusively predicted in The Journal prices began to make their since wheat prices began to make their present sensational advance.

Eggs Jean Fall Off.

The receipts of eggs in the local markets were not nearly so plentiful today as yesterday and as a consequence the market is reported considerably For a short time during the day yesterday it was thought that the heavy receipts were but the beginning of a large slump in quotations, but the falling off in various arrivals today that the business yesterday was but one of the spurts that usually occur in all markets at various seasons. The market still stands firmly at 20 cents a

The Wheat Situation.

The local wheat situation is hard to predict at the present time, as the prices are but nominal and those millers who are in need of supplies are paying as much as 10 cents a bushel over the quotation printed in order to Supplies of all grades, especially Valley and Walla Walla, are too short to give a regular quotation and today those grades are selling for just what price the growers and the miller are able to agree upon. Corner on Old Potatoes.

For awhile yesterday the local market for old potatoes was cornered and the stocks were in the hands of but few dealers. The steamer which is next to leave for San Francisco will take 1,200 sacks, of which 750 were shipped by McKinley Mitchell. Quotations on Oregon potatoes in San Francisco are climbing upward and those growers and dealers who sold their entire stocks at the time of the season when prices were down to bedrock are now saying that they will never do it again. The pres-ent situation in potatoes was predicted The Journal when the market was at the bottom and everybody was anxious to dispose of their holdings. Today the quotations on the older stock will stand strong at 75 cents and there is a likeof quotations making even another jump before the season is ended. The reason why there is so much demand for old stock this late in the season is due to the lateness of the season for news, and of which, it is reported, the crop will show a large shortage in the Coast states.

Meg Pickles Advance Again. Keg pickle prices were advanced 10 bents a barrel for the 5's on account of a continued shortage in supplies on the Coast. Further advances are expected before the close of the present season. The opening of the picnic season was also a factor in causing the advance.

Fine Wax Beans Arrive.

The street received some large ship-ments of wax beans from The Dalles this morning, the stock being the finest brought to this market during the presseason. One car of oranges, one car of bananas and one car of lemons were the receipts per rail from the Bouth today. Better Demand for Meats.

The demand for fresh meats of all kinds was more spirited today than for several weeks. The hog demand was especially livelier and what few stocks rrived on the street during the day ere disposed of at top quotations. Veal arrivals were few during the day and the demand was more lively. No mutton was received, and, as there was no call for that class of stock, none was wanted. Poultry Cleans Up Better.

It was reported that Horst, Lochmond & Co. of Salem purchased from a grower in that locality about 50 bales. have purchased 155 bales from a Lafayette grower at 19 cents. Catlin & Linn

The hop market is some weaker and a large number of the growers are now anxious to dispose of their holdings in a 20-cent market, when a few weeks ago they would scoff at an offer of 22½ cents for the same stock. The weakness in the market was brought about solely by the selling of nearly 500 bales by Luce, who up to the time of the sale of his entire stock, advised all the Oregon holders of last year's stock to hold for at least a 25-cent market, as he said that the constitution of the said that the said tha he said that the question of a few cents in price was entirely in their own hands and if they stayed out a few weeks longer they would be able to obtain any price within reason they might ask.

Dealers Have Few Orders.

Hop dealers in this city have not profited by the offers of the farmers to sell their hop holdings, as the minute it became known in the East that the Oregon market was slightly weaker the dealers who had telegraphed orders to their Coast connections for stocks, immediately withdrew them, and prices have already tumbled I cent on this ac-

75,000 Bales the Limit. According to the latest crop informa-tion the yield of hops in this state dur-ing the season of 1903 will not amount to over 75,000 bales, a loss of 10,000 loss will be even greater when it is taken into consideration that a large flumber of new yards will bear for the first time this season.

Butter Prices Slump. Store and dairy butter prices are weaker today on account of the lack of orders from the South and in consequence local quotations are down a trifle. Creamery is still arriving in an over supply and prices are weaker but still there is no likelihood of lower prices prevailing on this account, as all the surplus has been rushed into cold storage institutions as soon as it erritory Now Includes Parts of Western Minnesota, Northwestern, South and North Dakota.

Deficiency of Rainfall Since March 1-All Wheat Prices Show a Large Advance-Weather Turns Market.

Special permission of Bolton, de Ruyter & Co.) CHICAGO, June 26 .- The Record-

The Northwest wheat territory which is now complaining of drought, includes parts of Western Minnesota, Northeastern South Dakota and North Dakota There has been a deficiency of rainfall throughout this territory since March I, which escaped attention until the almost entire absence of moisture the past week made the fact prominent. Last night's close showed a 9-cent gain on July wheat, a rally of 8 cents on the September, of 7 cents on the December within three weeks. The advance had been in spite of the indif-ference abroad and without any leadership in this market. It has been on crop troubles largely, but the small stocks have made the upward move easier and faster. St. Louis started the buying on its information as to winter wheat deterioration, but half the advance has been very suddenly made this week on the discovery that this spring's wheat was suffering from dry weather. Louis advanced that future there 31/2 cents yesterday, to 86 1/2 cents. Armour evidently removed one of the bugbears to the bulls down there by stating his interest in the St. Louis market had been less than 200,000 bushels. There had been the fear in St. Louis that Peavy and Armour would exert themselves to hurry cash wheat into that market and create a load for the July

"The crops do not look right through he West and Southwest," says George E. Marcy, who was back from the Southwest vesterday. "Nothing looks right, and if it were only a crop prob-lem I should be inclined to say wheat had advanced enough." says Theron

There is usually exaggeration in the crop troubles of any sort. But there some features to the situation about which there is no room for dispute. We indication of plenty of hogs and so far know the stocks everywhere are inade- a good demand. Think we would sell quate. If we eliminate the No. 1 Northern wheat here at Chicago, which is at premium, there is about 1,200,000 bushels of wheat to supply the short sellers and to serve other purposes until the new crop arrives. We know there is only 18,000,000 bushels in the visible, with the prospect of some further decreases. It is possible that very small stocks may carry the market higher, irrespective of how much exaggeration there may be of crop troubles. J. F. Harris says: "I was on the Alton road Wednesday and saw the corn by daylight from Slater, Mo., to Joliet. It varies in height from two inches to one and one-half feet. It looks clean, long time past. Good opinion yesterday was that professional manipulators were the cause of the frequent setbacks. This sentiment is based upon the change which seems to be taking place in the views of well-informed men as to the future of general business. Another influence in the stabilfty of the stock market is furnished by the increased earnings of Missouri Sept.... of $49,000 for the third week in June July.... 16.45 show that the roads are recovering from Sept.... 16.65 show that the roads are recovering from show that the roads are recovering the effects of the overflow of Western July... The Chronicle says: The special weakness in Colorado Fuel & Iron which fell to an extreme 3% seemed due to a realization of the official announcement of the assumption of control by the Gould-Rockefeller interests. This an-nouncement also seemed to be the motive for a strong upward move in some Gould stocks early in the day, Denver and Reading and Wabash preferred ris-

NEW YORK SUMMARY

NEW YORK, June 26,-American stocks in London are dull and about There is a fair demand for stocks in the loan crowd, but there is no scarcity of Pennsylvania. The banks lost to the sub-treasury since Friday $3.955,000. The subscription for the new Pennsylvania stock continues very satisfactory. There are revived rumors of Gary succeeding Schwab in the United States Steel Corporation. It is considered certain that Colorado Fuel & Iron must do some new financing, but the method has not yet been determined upon.

WASHINGTON HAY

TACOMA, June 26 .- New hay from Eastern Washington is being received this week in Tacoma and a fall in Prices is expected. Bluestem from the Yakima country is selling at $18 per ton. The first new alfalfa is expected today and sell at the start at $15. California potatoes are going to be short and dealers in San Francisco are refusing to sell any advance orders. The prospects are good for a large crop in this state, though the acreage is said to be smaller than last year.

NORTHWEST WEATHER

CHICAGO. June 26 .- The weather CHICAGO. June 26.—The weather map shows not a drop of rain in the Northwest. Scattered rains in Nebraska and general in Missoufi. There were good rains at Sioux City. Cairo, III., and Nashville. In the extreme North and Northwest it is generally cloudy. The Northwest it is generally cloudy. The West and Southwest were partly cloudy. Sheep—Steady. West and Southwest were partly cloudy.

CHICAGO WHEAT WAS IRREGULAR

Market Was Very Active in the Windy City—Rain Reports Cause Liquidation:

(Special permission of Bolton, de Ruyter & Co.) CHICAGO, June 26.—Logan & Byran advise; The wheat market was very active and irregular. Reports of rain in Manitoba early caused a good deal of liquidation and carried prices off 1% cents per bushel. It transpired that rain was unimportant and the market more than recovered the early loss. There is a broad active speculative trade. Liverpool is still skeptical of any crop deterioration and follows advance only fractionally. There is no improvement in the general character of the crop advices. Current reports threshing machines in the wheat sections show almost uniformly disappointing results over a wide area. The extreme South-west seems to be the only exception. Nebraska is still getting too much rain and is complaining of rust. The cash situation is naturally being superceded to some extent by the relative strength and premiums for cash wheat are hardly so great. The market has had an important advance, but even with that we do not see the position as favorable material reaction. We would still buy wheat on the sharp breaks. Unless the Northwest gets immediate relief prices will quite likely go higher.

CHICAGO TIPS

CHICAGO, June 26 .- Liverpool wheat is % to % higher; corn is % to % higher. Liverpool is still asleep. Complaints continue to come in regarding the poor yield of the winter wheat There is a disposition to attribute this to the poor quality of the seed. Nebraska again has rain and complaints of rust are increasing. There is some abroad speculative trade upon which the small stocks are no burden. That is the reason the market has so few reactions. As long as there is so much bullish sentiment and so little wheat there must be all the time a considerable short interest. We would still buy wheat on the weak spots. Corn and oats are active, but the last day or two seems to be influenced a good deal by the strength in wheat. The weather is rather more favorable for the crop and the general outlook is improving. This is particularly true of oats. Both are likely to be weather markets for the next few weeks. The strength in grains helped the provision market yesterday, but it is a dull affair and there is every provisions on any rally.
