The Browns succeeded again in defeating Wilson's Satellites yesterday by the score of 7 to 3 in a game that should have been the home team's at every stage but for an occasional display of stupidity. It was a pleasing game to watch and kept the fans on the uneasy seat during the entire time of the contest. Shields, while pitching a good game, seemed to get careless and unsteady at certain times, and it was only by the best of fielding that the score was kept down. The Browns have scored in the first inning but failed miserably. After the second inning the team settled down and played winning ball. Several times Seattle got dangerous, but couldn't muster power enough to produce runs. One young lady in the grandstand remarked that one of the Browns was playing to the ladies and departed himself in a silly manner, but his actions, in the estimation of the crowd, were perfectly natural, and not intended in the slightest for observation nor remark. It is hard for modest players to make a sensational play without going about it politely, and it is that sense of delicacy that is often mistaken for grandstand playing.

It can be safely said that not one of the Browns could be accused of the slightest intention or desire to play to the galleries. They are all good, hard-working fellows, anxious for victories, and having the best interests of the club at heart. The team has been playing sharp baseball and the players are confident of taking every game from the Northerners. Tomorrow there will be two games, 10:30 in the morning and 3:30 in the afternoon. Hogg and Butler will pitch for Portland, and Hughes and Carrick will perform for Seattle.

Detail of the Game.
First Inning—Ziegler started off for Seattle with a fly to Sammy. Zinsnar pushed one past second, but Schwartz hit into a double-play.

Spec Hurlburt caught the second pitched ball on the nose and took two sacks for the swat. Sammy Vigneux followed with a safe hit, and things looked pleasant for the Browns, but Sammy was nailed in an attempt to steal, and Hurlburt was caught between third and home, when Van Buren bunted to Schwartz, and all the lights went glimmering, as Nadeau died at first.

Second Inning—Two bunt hits, a single by Sample, and errors by Shields and Hess allowed Seattle to score two runs in the second, stole second, and tried to stretch it to third on Boettger's wild throw, but was caught by a pretty throw by Ward. Andy went out at first, Ralphy singled and Hess flew to Hughes.

Third Inning—Zinsnar singled to right, Schwartz sacrificed, Smith flew to Anderson, who made a pretty running catch, and Ward hit to Shields, retiring the side.

Two out at first and Vigneux's long fly to Ward finished the Browns in this inning.

Fourth Inning—Hannivan performed the only fanning stunt of the day. Boettger died at first, Sample negotiated a fly, but was caught a mile in an attempt to steal. Van Buren made one of the prettiest bunts seen on the local diamond, reaching first before Sample or Ziegler could pick the ball up. Nadeau advanced Van by a neat sacrifice and the long center fielder scored on Andrews' hit and pitched ball. Ralphy popped a little fly to Sample and Hess hit to Ziegler, forcing Anderson at second.

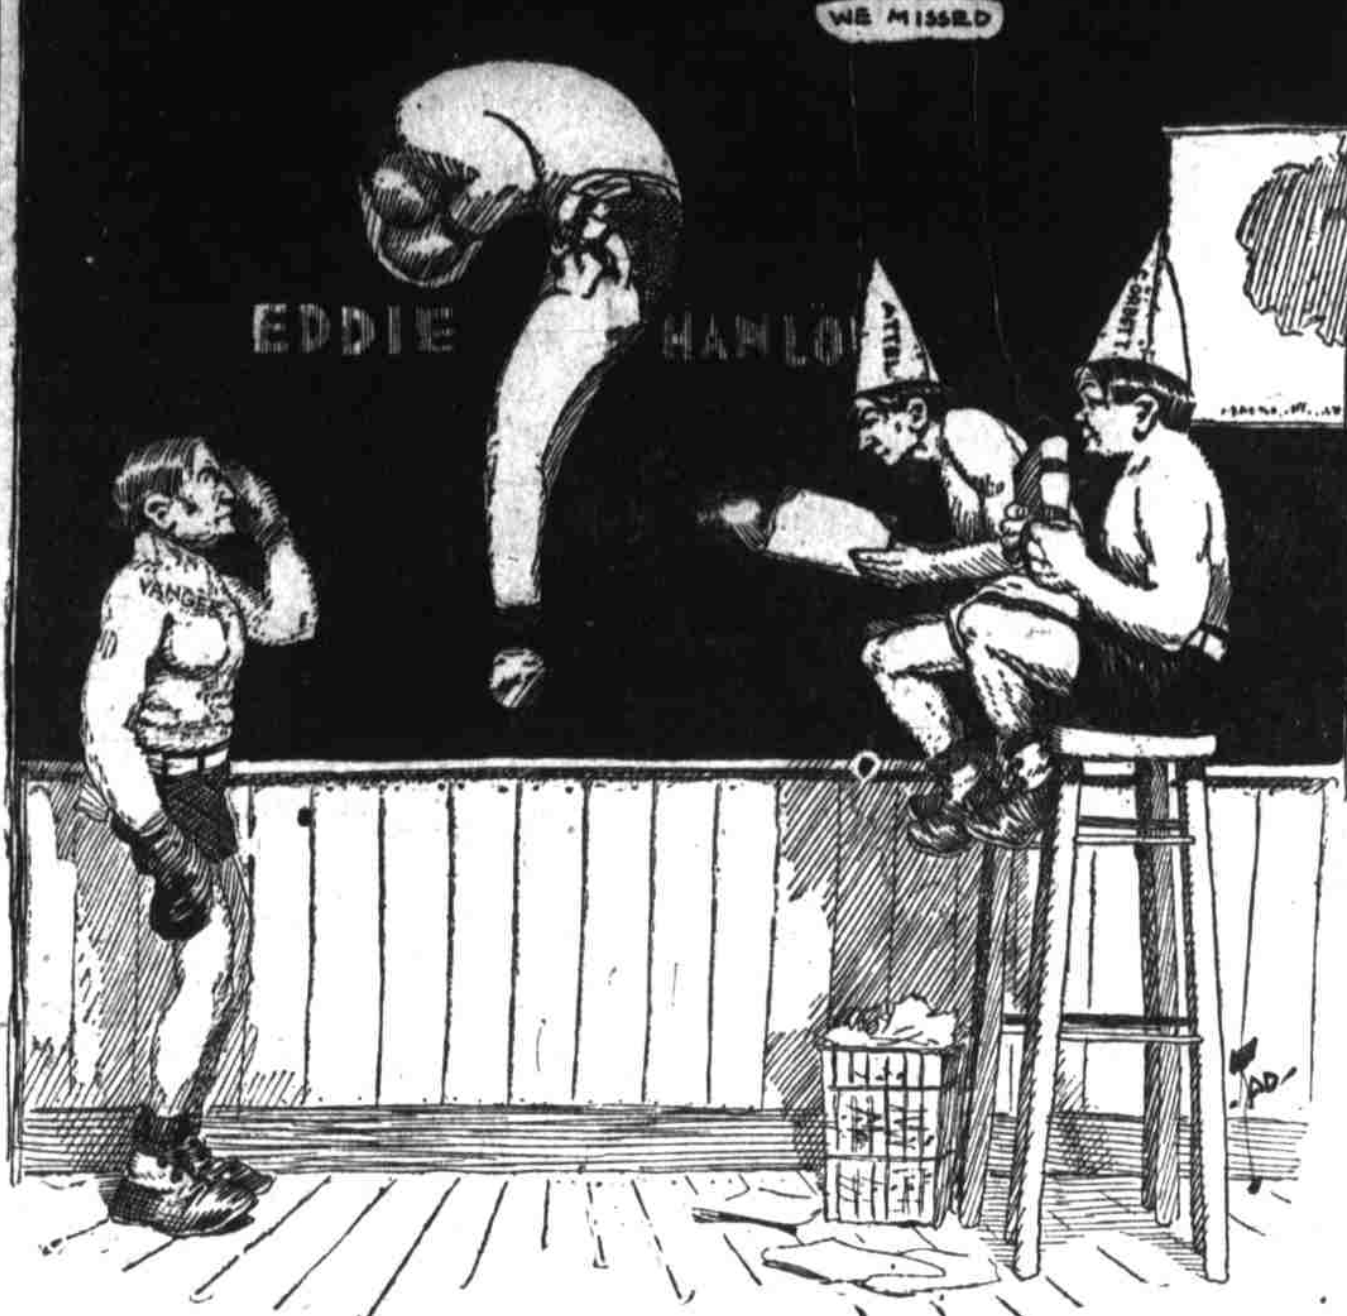

Fifth Inning—Hughes hit to Shields and was out, a nice one which he placed safe. Zinsnar out put him on second, but Charlie Schwartz could not get the ball past Shields, and Ziegler was stranded at the middle station.

Sammy negotiated a sacrifice and stole second, but Zinsnar blocked Van's drive and by a quick throw to first retired the fast middle guardian of the Browns.

Sixth Inning—A base on balls and a sacrifice hit landed Carlos Smith on second, but Hannivan hit to Andrews, who tagged Smith and then threw badly to first in trying to complete a double. A pretty catch by Van Buren of Boettger's fly retired the men from the hilly burg. Portland tied the score on Nadeau's hit, Andrews' sacrifice and a cracking single past second by Anderson. Andy was caught in an attempt to purloin the middle station, Ralphy singled, stole second, and Hess proved a good water, but Shields was not equal to the occasion and was out at first.

Seventh Inning—Sample walked and took third when Van failed to block Hughes' hit, and scored on Sammy's error in throwing Zinsnar's bunt badly to the plate. Zinsnar was caught off first by Shields, and Schwartz for the third consecutive time hit to the pitcher. Hurlburt and Vigneux went down via the Zinsnar-Smith route, when Van Buren fouled the Seattle infield, who were playing in for a bunt, by lacing one past Ziegler at the rate of a mile a minute. Van stole second, but Nadeau's line drive was gathered in by Hannivan.

Eighth Inning—Three flies put Seattle hors de combat. Jay Andrews started things for Portland by making a pretty hit, Andy Anderson with a bunt and Sample threw badly to second, Andrews going to third. Then hits by Ralphy, Hurlburt and Vigneux, which, coupled with errors by Boettger and Zinsnar, allowed five runs to score, which was sufficient to win the game, as Seattle

THE NEW PUPIL FAILS TO SOLVE THE QUESTION.

Benny Yanger was the latest aspirant for pugilistic honors to try conclusions with Eddie Hanlon, the clever San Francisco youngster. Young Corbett and Abe Attell had their chance with Yanger, but failed to disturb his equilibrium, and Hanlon's superb performance on last Tuesday night ranks him as one of the toughest propositions in his class in the prize-ring today.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

The baseball patrons and admirers of the great American game will celebrate tomorrow, Independence Day, by witnessing two spirited games of baseball at Twenty-fourth and Vaughn street grounds, between the Portland Browns and the strong Seattle team. To the natural rivalry, commercially, between this city and Seattle has been added the baseball rivalry which has been intense from the start. At the morning game, beginning at 10:30, Hogg will pitch for Portland, and Hughes will twirl for Seattle, and the afternoon crowd will witness Butler on the slab for the Browns and Carrick, Seattle's latest star, in the box for the Puget Sounders. Both nines are in the pink of condition and good games will be played.

was not equal to the occasion in the ninth, although with one out Sample singled and went to second on a passed ball, but some remarkable fielding by Spec Hurlburt, who made a sensational one-handed catch of Hughes' long fly, and by neatly gathering in Ziegler's sent the Seattle crew to the cars. KNOCKED OUT BY HERRERA

(Journal Special Service.)
SALT LAKE, July 3.—Aurelia Herrera, the clever Mexican, knocked out a fatter last evening who claimed to be the clever little Brooklyn Boxer, Jack Downey. It took the Mexican about one minute and 50 seconds to finally dispose of the would-be Downey. He knocked him down three times, the third time he hit him so hard that it was 10 minutes before the fatter recovered. Some 3,000 spectators had gathered believing it to be Downey who was to fight and when the truth was known a riot was almost precipitated.

Jay Andrews started the eighth when he led off with a hit, saying: "We'll break this game up right here, fellows," and perhaps the "Doc" wasn't a good prophet.

Diphtheria relieved in twenty minutes. Almost miraculous. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. At any drug store.

TRACK AND FIELD
MEET TOMORROWAthletes from Many Colleges to Compete On the Multinomah Field.

Tomorrow's Field Day at Multinomah Field promises to be the most spirited track meet since the old handicap games of 1895-96-97. There will be more competitors than have been seen on Multinomah Field for many a day. Entries from all over the Northwest.

These handicap events seem to attract more competition than ever before. The University of California is represented,
Stanford, University of Washington,
University of Idaho, University of Oregon, Corvallis, Albany College, Pacific University and Whitman College of Washington. Even Johns Hopkins and Amherst will be represented by several of their sons. Of the preparatory schools entering men are Portland Academy, Bishop Scott Academy, Hill Military Academy, Columbia University and the High School. But where more interest is shown and competition most keen lies between the members of the Y. M. C. A. team and Multinomah Athletes. The Y.
M. C. A. will be in the field with 10
of their picked men and Multinomah represented by about seven.

Of the Y. M. C. A. athletes and their records it is hard to say anything definite, for most of them are as yet unknown quantities. Those who have done remarkably well for young athletes are Connell, Smithson and Bachus. Con-nell's work in the hundred, which is 0:10 4-5, makes him good for a first or second. His broad jumping of 20 feet is more than good.

Hert Kerrigan, chairman of the Athletic Committee, and brother Oscar will don their track clothes and perform stunts as of yore. Oscar Kerrigan, M.
A. A. C. has entered the broad and high jump, pole vault, 120 and 220-yard hurdles, and the 100-yard dash. George Gannoh, M. A. A. C., is entered in the short sprints. Bert Kerrigan is entered in the 100-yard dash, 120 and 220-yard
hurdles, pole vault, shot put and high and broad jumps. The handicapping of the entries will be done this evening.
